Pastoral Letter.

Of His Lordship, the Bishop of Peterborough, after his return from Rome. 1886.

John Francis Jamot, by the grace of God and the authority of the Holy See, Bishop of Peterborough, to our devoted Clergy, the Religious Communities, and the beloved Laity of our Diocese, health and blessing in our Lord.

DEARLY BELOVED BRETHREN,—

On the tenth of November last, we took leave of you and turned our steps towards the Eternal City, to lay at the feet of the Holy Father a faithful report of our administration, to assure Him of your love, esteem for His sacred person and supreme authority.

On our way to Rome we have first visited dear old Ireland, the birth-place of many of you or of your fathers. We passed eight months in that country before coming to Canada, some thirty-two years ago. We were anxious to see again All Hallows' College in Dublin, and those of our old masters and friends who are still alive. Travelling from Dublin to Longford, to visit our venerable friend, the Bishop of Ardagh, and continuing our journey a short distance westward, across the Shannon, we had opportunities to witness again by ourself, especially in Churches and some Convent Schools we visited, the strong faith and stirling piety of the dear ones you have left behind. How glad we were to be able to tell them that the largest portion of our beloved flock had come from their blessed, though in another case, unhappy island! That most of them were true children of Catholic Ireland, so deservedly styled the Island of Saints. We have prayed fervently that God, through the intercession of St. Patrick, may continue to protect the faith of the Irish, not only of those who are in Ireland, but of those who had gone far away, and for those of the Diocese of Peterborough, so dear to our heart. We have earnestly asked of God that the children of Ireland, whether at home or elsewhere, wherever Providence has directed them, may continue to be united to their devoted clergy, be always docile sons and daughters of the Catholic Church.

After a short stay in England, where we had time to visit some schools, attended principally by children of Irish parents, we passed over to France and spent some time in the land of our birth, with some of our dear relations. Impossible for us to relate the most hearty and most warm welcome we have met everywhere from relations and friends! They love us, as we love them; still we were obliged at times to tell, though it was hard for them to hear, that there are others we love yet more tenderly, our most dear and most beloved children of the Diocese of Peterborough. We told them, (for we were obliged to speak of everything, they compelled us to do so,) that though we came to Canada a perfect stranger thirty-two years ago, stronger ties of mutual friendship had been formed between our dear flock and ourself, so much so, that nothing but death could separate us from them. We have been repeatedly asked to speak of our country of adoption, of our priests and religious, of our schools, of all our dear people. How glad we were to say that our clergy, our religious, are most devoted to their important duties, that our beloved people are docile to their clergy and to us, that we have flourishing schools, that, with hardly any exception, our people are practical Catholics; that a great many amongst them receive frequently the Sacraments of the Church.

Though Catholic France, which for one hundred years has passed through so many revolutions, has been at times and is still harassed by bad men, members of secret societies, justly condemned by the Church, France may yet be considered with Ireland, as the centre of generous Christian sentiments. France is yet the country of charitable institutions; and her charity extends beyond her boundary lines. Let us fervently pray that God may soon put an end to her struggles, that her zealous Bishops and Priests may soon have that full liberty which Christ has given to His children, the liberty to fulfil their sacred duties to their God and to their flock.

If we have been happy in Ireland and in France, we have still been happier in the Eternal City, the City of the Vicar of Christ. It is true, that in Italy, in Rome, as in France, a cloud overhangs the Church. In His own City of Rome, the Holy Father does not enjoy that full liberty He requires for the good of us all. In His infinite wisdom, Jesus Christ permits sometimes that His beloved spouse, the Church, and her visible Head, be subjected to persecutions. Let us also pray that God may give better days to Italy and to Rome.

On the 9th of January, we had a long audience of 50 minutes with Leo XIII., that great and good Father, whom His devoted children love so well, and whom great many of those outside the Church respect and esteem, on account of His eminent wisdom and administrative talent, who received us with the greatest kindness. He inquired about our clergy, our religious communities of men and women, the children, the schools, and whether our people were docile and respectful to their Pastors, and attentive to practice Christian virtues and to receive the Sacraments of the Church. To all those questions we were able to give an answer which cheered His loving heart. How happy He was, when we assured Him that the 32 Priests who share our responsibility were all working hard in the portion of the vineyard allotted to them; that the Jesuit Fathers, charged with the difficult missions of the District of Algoma and Parry Sound, were men whom no obstacle could keep back from their duty, that all our Priests were respectful to us, and sincerely devoted to His supreme authority! We spoke of the piety of the good Nuns belonging to the six Convents of the Diocese, of the great consolation they give us in fulfilling the task, at times rather hard, allotted to them. We spoke of the dear children intrusted to them, of the progress those children make in the various branches of education, specially of the efforts they make to learn well the christian doctrine, and of their success at several public examinations, assuring Him that all our schools, whether kept by Nuns or by lay teachers, are in no way inferior to the public schools, sometimes they are superior. We spoke of the respect which our faithful laity entertain for the clergy, and above all, for His supreme authority; we spoke also of their great spirit of faith and of their sincere piety; we told Him that good many of them receive every month with great fervor the Sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist. The Holy Father listened to all those details with great interest. He had a blessing for the Priests, for the Nuns, for the School Children, in fact for all the people. He pronounced, from the bottom of his heart, these cheering words: "God bless them! May Jesus Christ always protect them!" We then asked His Holiness to be allowed to present Him the offering you had commissioned us to lay at His feet. How happy we were, when we heard Him saying He cheerfully accepted it! He commissioned us to thank you, and to bless you in His name in return for your offering!

Amongst other blessings, we obtained from the Holy Father two very great favours, not for you only, our dear Irish people, but for all the members of our beloved flock. You are all equally dear to our heart. So we asked and obtained that favour for all. It is a Plenary Indulgence, applicable to the souls in Purgatory, to be gained by all those who on the 17th of March, Festival of St. Patrick, shall with due disposition receive the Sacraments of Penance and Holy Eucharist, and, visiting the Church of their mission, shall then offer pious prayers for the propagation of our holy faith, and according to the intention of His Holiness. This concession lasts for seven years and no doubt will be renewed, when asked.

You will not forget, dear people, to approach the Sacraments in great numbers on the Festival of Ireland's Holy Apostle, that way of keeping St. Patrick's Day will bring innumerable blessing on us all, especially on the children of dear Ireland.

The second favor which we obtained for five years is the privilege of gaining, by going to Confession twice a month, when you cannot easily go oftener, all the indulgences which can be gained, though actual Confession may be required as one of the conditions, provided your conscience be not burthened with mortal sin, remarking that by this the Holy Father in no way intends to derogate from the Decree of the Sacred Congregation of Indulgences of the 9th December, 1763, concerning the Indulgences of Jubilee both ordinary and extraordinary, and the other Indulgences granted ad instar Ju. bilei.

I am sure that many of you, dear Brethren, will take advantage of that blessing. With the Holy Father, we expect that you will endeavor to receive often the Holy Sacraments. But some of you cannot go to Confession as often as you would like. So endeavor to gain as many Indulgences as may be gained during the month; go to Communion as often as may be required, even several times a week. Though you would make only twice a month your Sacramental Confession, you will lose nothing, provided you are not guilty of any mortal sin.

It is hardly necessary for us to remark that our intention in asking, and that of the Holy Father in granting, that favor, must nowise be interpreted as an encouragement for you not to receive often holy absolution. If we desire that you receive Holy Communion every week and oftener, we desire also that you purify your souls in the Sacrament of Penance once a week when possible. But on account of scarcity of Priests and for other good reasons, you cannot always have that opportunity. So the Holy Father does not wish that you lose any blessing; He desires on the contrary, that you appropriate to yourselves a large part of those heavenly treasures.

Dear Brethren, you have prayed fervently for us during the time of our absence; through the great mercy of God we have enjoyed good health and peace of mind during our journey to Rome. We have not been disappointed, every one has endeavored to do his duty well. We are very thankful to our devoted Priests for having worked so earnestly. We bless them and you all from the bottom of our heart.

We have not forgotten you, dear brethren, at those Holy Shrines we have visited, especially in Rome. Always and everywhere the remembrance of our dear Priests, of the religions, of the children, of you all, was present to our mind and to our heart.

Now, that we are again in your midst, in the place Providence has marked out for us, we ask of you to join us in thanking God for all his blessings. You will continue to pray that we fulfil well our duty to you, that we sanctify ourself in working in your midst and for you, to the end of our days.

Our Vicar General, who has administered with much ability the Diocese during our absence, has lost no time publishing the Encyclical of the Holy Father concerning the Jubilee. He has very faithfully explained the conditions to be complied with to gain the Indulgence. You will endeavor, dear brethren, to gain that Indulgence as soon as possible. Those of you who cannot comply with some of the conditions, and desire to obtain some commutation will give their reasons to their Confessor, who is authorized to commute for other pious works, and who has power to dispense from communion children who have not made their first communion.

It will be well to have in the Church a box marked "Jubilee Alms," in which the faithful may put their alms. Each one may choose the object he professes, which will tend to the propagation and increase of the Catholic Church. However, the Holy Father recommends two objects in particular:—Primary Schools for children and Seminaries for the Clergy. Then, unless another plan has been adopted, we suggest that those Jubilee Alms in all or in part be sent to us; we shall see that they are employed according to the direction of the Holy Father.

Although the exercises of the Jubilee may be performed any time during the present year, we suggest that each Priest, having charge of souls, select a convenient time, longer or shorter, as may be required, during which he may have special exercises in his church, morning and evening, amongst others, appropriate instructions, bearing on those points which form a condition of the Jubilee, and particularly on the necessity of Penance. He will do well to call to his assistance some Priests of the neighboring missions to help in preaching and hearing Confessions. It will, therefore, be necessary that a different time be selected for those neighboring missions. Let the Priests concerned have an understanding between themselves.

A word about the holy season of Lent, which we have just commenced. Lent is considered by the faithful children of God as a time of special blessings. We are commanded to abstain from flesh-meat, and to fast, every one of us according to our age, state of health and condition of life. We are expected to hear Mass even on week days, when our occupations permit, and to join in the other public exercises of the Church. We are recommended to have special devotions at home, amongst others the recitation of the Rosary. Some pious reading and considerations on the sufferings and death of our Blessed Saviour, will also prove to be most wholesome to our immortal souls. Using the words of St. Paul in the Epistle read at Mass on the first Sunday of Lent: "We do exhort you, that you receive not the grace of God in vain, * * * * Behold, now is the acceptable time; behold, now is the day of salvation." (2 Corinth. vi. 1, 2.)

This Pastoral Letter shall be read in all Churches, Principal Stations, and Religious Communities, as soon as convenient, after its reception.

Given at our residence, Peterborough, this 12th day of March, 1886.

Bishop of Peterborough.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Fifth Parliament—Third Session.

FRIDAY, MARCH 26th.

The third session of the Fifth Parliament of Ontario was formally closed at 3 o'clock this afternoon with the usual formalities. Lieut.-Governor Robinson delivered the speech from the throne.

The speech recounted the chief legislation effected among, which was the act creating an Advisory Board of experienced farmers, to assist in the management of the Agricultural College; the act throwing open the Rainy River district to settlement; the act for the prevention of contagious diseases; the act for more fully protecting the interests of working men and for compensation of workmen for injuries; an act amending the Franchise Act; an act improving the license laws, besides a great many other useful and beneficial legislative enactments.

Anxious Hours in Britain.

Awaiting the Premier's Plan for Ruling Ireland.

LONDON, March 26.—The information has been allowed to leak out that the forthcoming budget will be arranged so as to avoid that bugbear of the English taxpayers, an increase of the income tax. This statement comes opportunely to create a favorable impression for the Government at a time when its difficulties are approaching a crisis. Mr. Chamberlain threw down the gage of battle, yesterday, by causing his newspaper to publish a statement of what he thinks ought to be done in Irish affairs. This is substantially to grant Ireland a legislature similar to that of the American States with limited powers, the general powers to still remain with the national Parliament at Westminister. Nothing authentic has been learned as to whether Mr. Gladstone is likely to yield to the newly organized pressure from certain quarters to waive the land purchase scheme and insist only upon the Home Rule part of the programme. His sudden illness upsets all calculations. The date of the announcement of the Irish proposals has been deferred three days on this account, from the 5th to the 8th of April, and if the Premier does not speedily gain his health, a still longer interval may be necessary. The Parnellite members are greatly depressed by these constant postponements, and chafe under the long deferment of their hopes. A singular rumour current a few days ago that Mr. Morley was at loggerheads with Mr. Gladstone on the land question is effectually disposed of by an interview with the chief secretary, in which, without revealing any secrets, he declares the Premier's plans are masterly and will inspire the confidence of all Liberals.

Items of Interest to Working Men.

TORONTO.

The carters' and teamsters' union of this city have decided that on and after April 1, the rate of wages to be paid for hired horses and carts will be $2.50 per day.

At the next regular meeting of Typographical union, the election of officers for the year will take place. The election of a representative to the International union, which meets at Pittsburg on June 7, will also take place at this meeting.

The stonemasons met in Temperance hall last Wednesday evening. A reply from the master builders, stating that they would give thirty cents per hour from the 1st of June next, was discussed. The union decided that they would adhere to the terms of the resolution of December last, providing for nine hours a day and thirty cents an hour, from the 1st of April.

The trades and labour council will hold a special meeting this evening in Dufferin hall. The report of the special committee regarding a new trades hall, will come up for discussion.

GENERAL.

St. Thomas has now six assemblies of the Knights of Labour.

The bricklayers and plasterers of Meriden, Conn., have formed unions.

The Boston Globe has raised the price of composition to 45 cents per 1,000 ems.

The boss tailors of Philadelphia are to form an assembly of the Knights of Labour.

Six hundred employes of the Norway Iron works, South Boston, struck last Friday for higher wages.

After April 5 the Brooklyn carpenters and joiners will require $3 per day of nine hours, with eight hours on Saturday.

There are 40,000 women in Chicago who work for wages. They are beginning to organize for their protection.

The delegates representing the building trades of Washington have decided to quit work, after May 3, at four o'clock in the afternoon.

The plumbers and gasfitters of Brooklyn have resolved to adopt the eight-hour system on the 3rd of May

An Old Acquaintance.

A few days ago, while an old grey-haired man was sitting in one of our hotels, a stranger got off a train which had just arrived and passed through the waiting-room. He eyed the old man closely, and over the face of the latter flashed a look of recognition.

"Pardon me," said the stranger, "your face has a familiar look to me, yet I can not place you! Perhaps I'm mistaken."

"Oh, no," answered the elderly gentleman, "I know you are not mistaken. I know you like a book."

"Indeed!"

"Yes, sir. You used to board with me."

"Is it possible," said the stranger.

"Yes, sir; and you left without paying your board."

"That, sir, can not be," said the newcomer, very much confused.

"Oh, but it can. I say you left without paying your board, and you left in the night."

By this time the stranger was furious. He grew red with anger, and intimated that only the grey hairs of the tormentor saved him from violent treatment.

"You need not get mad," said the old man coolly, and enjoying immensely the stranger's discomfiture. "You did all these things and left your baggage behind you."

"See here, old man, who in —— are you any way, and where are you from?"

"I am, sir, Captain Jack Warner, and you are Quartermaster Murphy, and you escaped from the prison at Libby while I was commissary of that institution."

"My God!" was the stranger's ejaculation, as he warmly clasped the hand of the old ex-rebel, "are you, indeed, the old commissary? Well, you are right. I did board with you; and I gave you the slip, too," he continued, laughing.

Quartermaster Murphy belonged to a New York Regiment and was captured and sent to Libby. It was the practice of the rebels to allow those persons who were practitioners of medicine to attend the sick in the prison hospital. They were allowed the freedom of the grounds, to go and come at will. One day a green sentry would not allow the man to pass, when he was sharply reprimanded by Captain Gibbs, and told that those men who wore red ribbons on their coat lapels (this was the insignia of the doctors) should pass unmolested. Murphy overheard this and profited by it. In the inside of his vest he had some red flannel, and, tearing off a strip, he pinned it to his coat, and, watching his opportunity, he got past the guard and reached the Union lines in safety.

The meeting described herein is the first since those days when, as captor and captive, they dwelt within the walls of the famous southern prison.—St. Louis Republican.

Learning that the defendant had just been buried, the deputy marshal crept into the graveyard and quietly laid the copy on the defendant's grave. The return read as follows: "Served by leaving copy at defendant's last residence."

"I want a good wife. I am a farmer or anything else she wants. Any sort of a complexion will do. No difference how high or low she is, so she will be true to my little ones. I have just returned from Arkansas, where my wife died the 1st day of August, 1884. I prefer a light complected woman, and she must have straight hair. I have got my own corn and seventy-five to 100 bushels of sweet potatoes. I have been wanting to get a good woman, and I will respect one when I find her. This offer will be open for ten days. THE MARRIAGE RING.

Talmage's Tenth Treatise on the Tie that Binds.

Influence of Sisters on Brothers.

(Concluded from Yesterday.)

Let sisters not begrudge the time and care bestowed on a brother. It is hard to believe that any boy that you know so well as your brother can EVER TURN OUT ANYTHING VERY USEFUL.

Well, he may not be a Moses. There is only one of that kind needed for six thousand years. But I tell you what your brother will be—either a blessing or a curse to society and a candidate for happiness or wretchedness. He will, like Moses, have the choice between rubies and living coals, and your influence will have much to do with his decision. He may not, like Moses, be the deliverer of a nation, but he may, after your father and mother are gone, be the deliverer of a household. What thousands of homes to-day are piloted by brothers! There are properties now well invested and yielding income for the support of sisters and younger brothers, because the elder brother rose to the leadership from the day

THE FATHER LAID DOWN TO DIE.

Whatever you do for your brother will come back to you again. If you set him an ill-natured, censorious, unaccommodating example, it will recoil upon you from his own irritated and despoiled nature. If you, by patience with all his infirmities and by nobility of character, dwell with him, in the few years of your companionship, you will have your counsel reflected back upon you some day by his splendour of behaviour in some crisis where he would have failed but for you.

Don't snub him. Don't depreciate his ability. Don't talk discouragingly about his future. Don't let Miriam get down off the bank of the Nile and wade out and upset the ark of bulrushes. Don't tease him. Brothers and sisters do not consider it any harm to tease. That spirit abroad in the family is one of the

MEANEST AND MOST DEVILISH.

There is a teasing that is pleasurable and is only another form of innocent raillery, but that which provokes and irritates and makes the eye flush with anger is to be reprehended. It would be less blameworthy to take a bunch of thorns and draw them across your sister's cheek, or to take a knife and draw its sharp edge across your brother's hand till the blood spurts, for that would damage only the body, but teasing is the thorn and the knife scratching and lacerating the disposition and the soul. It is the curse of innumerable households that the brothers tease the sisters and sisters the brothers. Sometimes it is the color of the hair, of the shape of the features, or an affair of the heart. Sometimes it is by revealing a secret or by a suggestive look, or a gullaw, or an "ahem!" Tease! Tease! Tease! For God's sake quit it. Christ says, "He that hateth his brother is a murderer." Now, when you by teasing, make your brother or sister hate, you turn him or her into a murderer or murderess.

DON'T LET JEALOUSY EVER TOUCH

a sister's soul, as it so often does, because her brother gets more honour or more means. Even Miriam, the heroine of the text, was struck by that evil passion of jealousy. She had possessed unlimited influence over Moses, and now he marries, and not only so, but marries a black woman from Ethiopia, and Miriam is so disgusted and outraged at Moses, first because he had married at all, and next because he had practiced miscegenation, that she is drawn into a frenzy and then begins to turn white, and gets white as a corpse, and then whiter than a corpse. Her complexion is like chalk; the fact is, she has the Egyptian leprosy. And now the brother whom she had defended at the Nile came to her rescue in a prayer that brings her restoration. Let there be no room in all your house for jealousy either to sit or stand. It is

A LEPROUS ABOMINATION.

Your brother's success, O sisters, is your success. His victories will be your victories. For, while Moses, the brother, led the vocal music after the crossing of the Red Sea, Miriam, the sister, with two glittering specks of brass uplifted and glittering in the sun, led the instrumental music, clapping the cymbals till the last frightened neigh of pursuing cavalry horses was smothered in the wave and the last Egyptian helmet went under.

How strong it makes a family when all the sisters and brothers stand together, and what an awful wreck when they disintegrate, quarrelling about a father's will, and making the Surrogate's office horrible with their wrangle. Better when you were little children in the nursery that with your playhouse mallets you had accidentally killed each other fighting across your cradle, than have come to the age of maturity and having in your veins and arteries the blood of the same father and mother, you fight each other across the parental grave in the cemetery; if you only knew it, your interests are identical. Sister, do your part, and brother will do his part. If Miriam will lovingly watch the boat on the Nile, Moses will keep her when leprous disasters strike.

WHEN FATHER AND MOTHER ARE GONE, and they soon will be if they have not already made exit, the sisterly and fraternal bond will be the only ligament that will hold the family together. How many reunite for your deep and unfaltering affection for each other! Rocked in the same cradle, bent over by the same motherly tenderness, toiled for by the same father's weary arm and aching brow; with common inheritance of all the family secrets, and with names given you by parents who started you with the highest hopes for your happiness and prosperity—I charge you, be loving and kind and forgiving. If the sister see that the brother never wants a sympathiser, the brother will see that the sister never wants an escort. Oh, if the sisters of a household knew through what terrible and damning temptations their brother goes in this city life, they would hardly sleep nights in the anxiety for his salvation! And if you would make a holy conspiracy of kind words and gentle attentions and earnest prayers, that would save his soul from death and hide a multitude of sins. But let the sister dash off in one direction in discipleship of the world and the brother flee off in another direction in dissipation, and it will not be long before they will meet again their blistered feet in the hot ashes of a consumed lifetime. Alas! that brothers and sisters, though living together for years, very often do not know each other, and that they see only the imperfections, and none of the virtues.

AT THE IRON GATE OF DESPAIR,

Brother and sister, you need, in many respects, an introduction to each other as they did. You do not know each other. You think your brother is and he thinks you are selfish and proud and unlovely. Both wrong! That brother will be a prince in some woman's eyes, and that sister a queen in the estimation of some man. That brother is a magnificent fellow, and that sister a morning in June. Come, let me introduce you: "Moses, this is Miriam." "Miriam, this is Moses." Add seventy-five per cent. to your present appreciation of each other, and when you kiss good morning do not stick up your cold cheek, wet from the recent washing, as though you hated to touch each other's lips in affectionate caress. Let it have all the fondness and cordiality of a loving sister's kiss.

Make yourself as agreeable and helpful to each other as possible, remembering that soon you part. The few years of boyhood and girlhood will soon slip by, and you will go out to homes of your own, and into the battle with the world and amid and on paths crossed with graves, and up steps hard to climb, and through shadowy ravines. But, oh, my God and Saviour! may the terminus of the journey be the same as the start, namely, at father's and mother's knee, if they have inherited the kingdom. Then, as in boyhood and girlhood days, we rushed in after the day's absence with much to tell of exciting adventure, and father and mother enjoyed the recital as much as we who made it, so we shall on the hillside of Heaven rehearse to them all the scenes of our earthly expedition, and they shall welcome us home, as we say, "Father and mother, we have come and brought our children with us." The old revival hymn described it with glorious repetition:—

"Brothers and sisters there will meet,
Brothers and sisters there will meet,
Brothers and sisters there will meet,
Will meet to part no more."

I read of a child in the country who was detained at a neighbour's house on a stormy night by some fascinating stories that were being told him, and then looked out and saw it was so dark he did not dare go home. The incident impressed me the more because in my childhood I had much the same experience. The boy asked his comrades to go with him, but they dared not. It got later and later—seven o'clock, eight o'clock, nine o'clock. "Oh," he said, "I wish I were home!" As he opened the door the last time a blinding flash of the storm and a deafening roar overcome him. But after a while he saw in the distance a lantern, and one of his brothers was coming to fetch him home, and the lad stepped out and with swift feet hastened on to his brother, who took him home, where they were so glad to greet him, and for a long time supper had been waiting. So may it be when the night of death comes and our earthly friends cannot go with us and we dare not go alone; may our Brother, our Elder brother, our Friend, closer than a brother, come out to meet us with the light of the promises, which shall be a lantern to our feet, and then we will go in to join our loved ones waiting for us, supper all ready, the marriage supper of the Lamb.

A Western pork raiser thus tells how he cured his drove of hog cholera: "As soon as the animals were taken sick I turned them out of the pens and began to drive them to warm up their blood. The first day I drove them three miles and the second day two miles. They would vomit freely while being driven. After the second day they showed signs of improvement, which continued, and finally all the hogs recovered." An Abbeville County, S. C. farmer, whose hogs have never been attacked by the disease, attributes their immunity to a quart of turpentine slops which he gave them weekly.

"Will you pay me this bill, sir?" said a tailor in Regent street, London, to a gentle masher who owed him a pretty long bill. "Do you owe anybody anything, sir?" asked the youth. "N . sir," said the tailor. "Then you can afford to wait!" and off he walked. A day or two afterward the tailor called again. The masher was not at his wit's end yet; so, turning to his creditor, he says: "Are you in debt to anybody?" "Yes, sir," said the tailor. "Well, why don't you pay?" "I've not the money." "That's just my case, sir. I am glad to see you can appreciate my condition; give us your hand!"

KING ARTHUR.

When, in a historic mood, you look back in the chronicles, to see what all this started from, you do not find great comfort. Here is a very frank confession of Geoffrey of Monmouth, who wrote six hundred years after the time he said Arthur died.

"While occupied on many and various studies, I happened to light upon the history of the kings of Britain, and wondered that in the account which Gildas and Bede, in their elegant treatise have given of them, I found nothing said of those kings who lived here before the incarnation of Christ, nor of Arthur, and many others who succeeded after the incarnation; though their action both deserved immortal fame, and were also celebrated by many people in a pleasant manner and by heart, as if they had been written. Whilst I was intent upon these and such like thoughts, Walter, archdeacon of Oxford, a man of great eloquence and learned in foreign histories, offered me a very ancient book in the British tongue, which, in a continued regular story and elegant style, related the actions of them all, from Brutus the first king of the Britons, down to Cadwallader, the son of Cadwallo. At his request, therefore, though I had not made fine language my study, by collecting expressions from other authors, yet contented with my own homely style, I undertook the translation of the book into Latin."

You see that this excellent Geoffrey was surprised that in the two best histories of England which he knew, the great King Arthur's name was not so much as mentioned. This is probably due to the fact that he belonged in romance and not in history. The truth is that there were, in those ages, many kings and many lords. Where the Saxons landed and made a raid, the Britons gathered and opposed them. But gradually the Saxons made head against them, and established their permanent colonies exactly as, later down, their descendants established Massachusetts, and Providence plantations, and Maryland and Virginia in America. In after years, more or less was remembered of the British chieftains, and on this more or less, the romance writers, when the time for romances came, hung their stories.

"Dr. Lingard says of him: "We know neither the period when he lived, nor the district over which he reigned. He is said to have fought and to have gained twelve battles: In the most of these, from the names of the places, he seems to have been opposed to the Angles in Lincolnshire, from the last, at Mt. Bacon, to the Saxons under Cerdic or Cynric. This, whether it was fought under Arthur or not, was a splendid and useful victory, which for forty years checked the advance of the strangers. Perhaps when the reader has been told that Arthur was a British chieftain, that he fought many battles, that he was murdered by his nephew, and was buried in Glastonbury, where his remains were discovered in the reign of Henry the Second, he will have learned all that can be ascertained at the present day, respecting that celebrated warrior."

It is a good deal as you might read a good history of the United States for the first half of this century, and possibly not find the name of Tecumseh; or as you might read one of the last half of this century which should not mention Sitting Bull. But, if a hundred years hence, you went among a spirited tribe of Indians, who had advanced a century toward civilization, you might find enthusiastic accounts of Sitting Bull and of Tecumseh preserved in ballads and stories. And these accounts very likely, would surpass anything which was true or even possible in the real lives of those chiefs.

I may say, in passing, that both Tecumseh and Sitting Bull were men quite as accomplished as the real King Arthur was. As for weapons and arts they were quite in advance of him.

Both Lord Tennyson and Lord Lytton in our time have felt that in this legend of Arthur was the best subject for a great English poem. Lord Lytton once said that he had more hope of being remembered in another country, because he had written "King Arthur," than for any fame which any of his novels would have than. But you will find it hard to buy a copy to-day, and there are good public libraries which do not contain "Bulwer's King Arthur." I am afraid in truth Bulwer had "to pump." That is a phrase Mr. Emerson once used to me when he was speaking of another poet. The story is difficult to follow, it is long-winded, it is not founded on the real legends, and you cannot help feeling that Bulwer determined to write three verses a day, and wrote them regularly. Still there are noble passages in it. I remember that dear Starr King was very fond of it, and used to quote exquisite verses from it.

But as every boy knows, who will read these lines, the tenderness, the vigor, the simplicity, and the truth of Lord Tennyson's "Idyls" have made men and women forget all other poetry about King Arthur. The "Idyls" have been published at various times, and are now published in the chronological order of their own story. But in the late editions you will find them in the order the author means that they shall be read.—Edward Everett Hale, in Wide Awake.

A GEORGIA SCENE.

How the Boys and Girls Used to Amuse Themselves in the Olden Time.

After the writer had grown some older and had been regularly adopted in the family of "we uns" and ran with the boys he was allowed all the privileges of the young men of the community and was told to consider himself at home, which he did with a good will. On a certain occasion it was decided by the young ladies and gentlemen to have a frolic at J. W.'s, and I was warned to be on hand with a few pounds of sugar for sweetening and a couple of skeins of silk for fiddle strings. Strings were scarce about here then and they asked you a quarter a piece for them. I was on hand at the time appointed with the sweetening and the silk and ready to go after my "gal." It was different then from now. If you carried no partner with you, you had to take the chances, as every man had the exclusive right to his own partner. When I got there she was ready with a new homespun dress which had never been worn. I, of course, praised the check, and the stripe, and the fit. It only took six yards of cloth to make a girl a dress in those days. But she announced that she was ready to start and out we went. I jumped upon Bark Mill. She lit up behind me and caught a good hold. And that pony might rear, but she was there if I did not come off. Away we went, and came in sight of J. W.'s about sundown. The crowd was gathering in rapidly, but no fun had commenced. As we rode up some of the girls sung out:

"Now we will have some fun. Here comes J. and his gal."

My partner rolled off like a bag of rolls. I tied my pony to a fresh sapling and we went in. The girls all yelled out:

"Why, here comes J.," like they did not know I was coming, and that I was always on hand at every frolic.

"Now we will have a reel," they said. "Did you bring the silk?"

"Certainly. Did you ever know me to fail?"

The old lady wanted to know where the sweetening was, as she wanted it for the "gals." W. B. spoke up and said by all means give it to the "gals;" we would get it back in kissing them. We took our partners, away went the fiddle and on went the dance a long one. We danced for a while and then we would play awhile. "Old Sister Phebe," "Johnny Brown," "It rains and it hails," "The London bridge is breaking down" and "The big cat kicked out the little cat's eye" were among the favorite plays. The beauty of it was every play wound up with a rain of kisses. It was a glorious frolic. The kissing made all hands feel like they were at home. The writer made a small mistake and liked to have caused trouble by merely an oversight. We were playing a play where kissing was mixed up smartly. One young lady was using tobacco and snuff freely. Her tooth-brush was in her mouth and a little stream of amber ran down at each corner. I kissed her on the cheek. She stopped the song and yelled out:

"J. is not playing fair. He kissed me on the cheek."

I begged her pardon and meekly asked her to hold her face around. Doing so I bussed her square in the mouth. You might have heard the echo a quarter. But this restored peace and the frolic went on. W. B. was in his right element. He called all the sets and arranged all the couples. No frolic could get on without him. Uncle Jack was there, too, and along toward the morning hours he wanted to dance. We began to see signs of red-eye. Men began getting noisy, dancing stronger, and betting on their manhood, and finally wound up in a little row; but with a few skinned heads and some bruises, about day all made for their partners and carried them home to think and fix for another frolic soon.—Franklyn (Ga.) News.

Too Realistic.

Among others who saw the "Gold King" at the Park theater last night was a young man of fair complexion, blue-eyed, and neatly dressed, who, after taking several glasses of wine at the bar, went up-stairs, and took the right proscenium box. In the play, toward the close of the second act, is the cue for Hector, the Newfoundland dog, to spring from behind the scenes upon W. J. Thompson, the villain of the play, and apparently choke him to death as the curtain goes down. Accordingly, at the appointed time, a large, dark object was seen to launch itself forward and settle with a growl upon the shoulder of the villain. The two fell to the stage, and the seeming struggle of death began. Just at this moment the young man in the proscenium box leaned forward out of the box, and, pointing a pistol toward the man and dog, not twenty feet away, fired. The audience rose as one man and made a rush for the street. They thought a tragedy was being enacted. The young man dashed out of the box and ran down-stairs. A moment later he was collared. Search revealed the pistol, a 38-caliber. In explanation of the shooting he said that he thought the dog was killing the man, and he wanted to kill the latter. He was put behind the bars. The bullet, which lodged in the scenery could not have missed Mr. Thompson by over a foot.—Nashville American.

"Killy-manjahro," that is the way in which "the sole monarch of African mountains, remote, inaccessible, silent, and lone," would have his name pronounced. It signifies the mountain of the cold-making demon, and is applied to the loftiest of the range of extinct volcanoes which form an irregular chain along eastern Africa from Abyssinia to Natal. It lies inland about 200 miles from the sea-coast, and is inhabited to a hight of from 3,000 to 7,000 feet above the sea-level. Above the inhabited region the lofty peaks of the snow-covered mountain ascend to a hight of 18,880 and 16,250 feet. Vegetation climbs up to an altitude of 15,000 feet. Mr. H. H. Johnston managed to climb 1,315 feet higher, and then he stopped. Kilimanjaro is still virgin to the foot of the explorer.

The completeness of the work done by the earlier astronomers is shown by the fact, recently stated, that out of the 6,000 or more nebulæ now known the Herschels had discovered 5,000.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, of its kind. An article having a large sale, and on which [illegible] can make from [illegible] per week. We have [illegible] and can prove all we say. We do not want you to buy anything in order to secure the agency, but if you mean business, write us at once, and we will explain our offer fully. We have no space to explain it here, but it is not a scheme, nor a lottery, but an article that can be sold to every householder. It might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have [illegible] not only in the [illegible] but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $300 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a three days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment, who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and canvassers in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

CAMPBELL'S
TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

RUPTURE CURED

IN FROM 20 TO 90 DAYS BY WEARING

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 26th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 20 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. E. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child born; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be reasoned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Sociable and Men's Meeting.

A meeting of those who have been converted through the instrumentality of Mr. Schiveras, will this evening be held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms, where the lady friends of the movement will serve tea. At the conclusion of this meeting a men's meeting will be held in the George street church, commencing at 7.30 o'clock.

Schiveris.

The evangelistic meeting at St. Paul's Church was very largely attended last night. The interest in these meetings is unabated. Mr. Schiveris has been induced to remain until next Friday, after which he will go to Lindsay, where he will commence his work on Sunday next. It is probable the meetings during next week will be held in the George Street Church.

To the Ladies

Miss Delaney has just received a large assortment of dress goods in a great variety of new shades, with lace and trimmings to match. Having determined to make a special feature in future of this branch of her business, she calls especial attention to the prices for these goods, which will be found exceptionally cheap. Miss Delaney is also making a specialty of ladies' and children's underwear, a department which has long been wanted in Peterborough. The millinery department is also complete.

Mashed by a Bill Board.

A young lady of Lindsay had an exciting and very unpleasant adventure last week. The Post describes it thusly:—"During the violent storm on Saturday night about nine o'clock, the bill boards on the east side of Lindsay street were blown down, falling on a young lady named Hattie Growden, who happened to be passing that point. She was thrown to the sidewalk and held in that position unable to free herself until the boards had been removed by a number of men who came to her assistance. The young lady was fortunately uninjured."

Mr Hilliard's Apocaryphal Productions.

We noticed in last evening's Review, Mr. Hilliard's elaborate spread of peculiar statements in assumed reply to the dressing down administered by the Examiner on Monday last, and under which Mr. Hilliard seems to be smarting in several tender spots. We shall devote a little attention to Mr. Hilliard's distortion of facts on Monday, and furnish proof—not mere assertion—of the facts we shall produce. There are demands on our space which make a reply impracticable to-day. This explanation is due Mr. Hilliard lest he should feel ignored. He may rest assured, however, that we shall by no means neglect him and his course.

New Spring Dry Goods.

Messrs. Giroux & Sullivan, this week, will exhibit the finest assortment of new spring dry goods in every department throughout their vast establishment. We are now prepared to show in each department throughout our establishment the most complete stock of staple and fancy dry goods ever placed before our patrons at any previous season. We have carefully studied the interest of all classes in their wants, and our selections are only first-class and reliable goods, from the cheapest to the finest qualities. We have no hesitation in stating that our stock and assortment are the most complete in town, and at prices beyond the reach of all legitimate competition. Inspection invited. See our advertisement in another column. GIROUX & SULLIVAN.

Shooting Match.

The Gun Club will engage in a shooting match at their rinks at Riverside Park. H. W. Kent, and R Tilley, will captain the Peterborough and Ashburnham sides, respectively.

For the best value in groceries, wines and liquors, go to Morrow, Tierney & Co's, where will be found a full stock of the cheapest groceries and purest liquors. Call and secure the full value of your money.

To the Afflicted

Dr. N. Washington, M. D., L. C. P. S. O., Toronto and Halifax, will be at the Grand Central Hotel, Peterborough, on March 29th, 30th and 31st for consultation upon and treatment of Throat and Lung Diseases, in the successful treatment of which he has a well-earned pre-eminence.

"Risen From The Ashes."

The Egbert Company's bill for this evening is the celebrated comedy "Risen from the Ashes," one of the liveliest and most brilliant plays ever written or played. The Egbert's presentation of "Montie Cristo" last night was especially good. The company is becoming more popular with every performance. On Monday night the delightful drama of "Fast Lynne" will be given.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the W.C.T. Union will be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall, Monday, March 29th at 4 p.m. As a subject of general interest will be discussed, viz. "The possibility of holding a memorial service in honor of the late John B. Gough." Will all members of the union and others whose hearts are in the work, please attend?

Why?

Why continue to drive around with faded and shabby Buffalo Robes, when you can have them dyed a rich Black or Brown. Bring your Robes and Coats to the Blyth Mills and have them dyed and made equal to a Black Bear Skin, before you store them away for the season. J. M. MASSON, Blyth Mills, Peterborough.

Ready to Admit.

Every one is ready to admit, there is a great advantage in getting their boots and shoes made to order, providing they have not to pay the price of two pair for one. Johnston Carey is making them to order as cheap as they can be bought ready made. He is now ready to fill all orders on short notice, as he has a full set of first class workmen in the custom department.

Market Items.

There was a slim market this morning Roots and vegetables were the chief commodities offered. There was no perceptible change in prices. Butter, in prints, 17 to 20c.; eggs 12 to 13c.; beef, per cwt., $4.50 to $5.50; pork, cut up, 6 to 7c. per lb.; apples, 75c. to $1.00 a bushel; potatoes, 65c. per bag; carrots, 60c. per bag; parsnips and beets, 75c. per bag; cabbages, 4 to 5c. per head; hay, $10.00 per ton.

A Corner in Tweeds.

Mr. H. LeBrun, always an energetic and live business man, has in the interests of the public secured a "corner in tweeds." Witness the angle formed by his well displayed piles of fine spring tweeds in the south show window of his shop. For vis a vis, in the opposite is a splendid spread of shirts, the central figure of which is a mammoth shirt that would fit John Smith, Esq., now of Milwaukee, formerly familiar in town by the popular name of "Pants."

Police Court.

The docket at the police court this morning was composed of two criminal cases. John Edwards, was brought before Police Magistrate Dumble charged by Teddy Sediment, with having stolen a silver watch from him. Edward's pleaded not guilty. The plaintiff stated that he met Edwards at the station last night. Edwards told him he had no place to sleep. Sediment invited him to come and sleep with him, when Edwards countered him by inviting him to sleep in a passenger car which was standing in the yard. This they did. Sediment awoke in the morning, and looking at his watch found that it was 5 o'clock. He closed his eyes and took another nap. When he awoke a short time afterwards he found that his little companions, Edwards and the watch, had disappeared. He immediately started in pursuit; meeting Edwards at the station he asked him if he was not the person who had slept with him in the car. Edwards answered that he had not had that pleasure. Sediment, informed the police of the circumstances and had Edwards arrested. The watch was not found on Edwards. The Magistrate on the strength of the evidence, and on consideration of former acquaintance with the prisoner, remanded him to gaol until Wednesday, to allow the police to work up the case. John O'Meara appeared for the prisoner.

Alexander Hamill, photographer, of the firm of Hamill and Ball, was arraigned before the magistrate, charged with having feloniously forged nineteen bank notes on the Bank of Toronto. The prisoner pleaded not guilty. The information was sworn out this morning on the strength of the telegrams from Chief Sparling, of Orillia, who arrested Ball in Orillia, who confessed to having passed several bills, and who implicated Mr. Hamill as an accomplice.

The telegrams were produced in court, also some stamps and ink found in Hamill and Ball's gallery. The figures corresponded in size to those on the numbers of the bills.

The magistrate remanded the prisoner for one week to allow of further evidence being produced, offering to accept bail of $1,000, the prisoner $1000 and two sureties of $500 each. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., appeared for the prisoner.

PETERBOROUGH R. E. I. CO. VS. MCQUAID.

An action for the recovery of money obtained by an alleged fraud. Verdict for the defendant. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., and G. F. Shepherd, Toronto, for the plaintiff, and F. Peppler, Barrie, for the defendant.

DUMBLE VS. TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

An action for the recovery of salary, the plaintiff claiming that he was entitled to a salary of $1,200 per annum, the statute placing the salaries of police magistrates in towns of a population of over 5,000 inhabitants at that sum. The defendant held that the salary should be regulated by the last census. Judgment for plaintiff, and $150, the full amount claimed.

The Dominion Mills Destroyed by Fire.

Nothing Left But the Shame—Loss, $18,000—Insurance $10,000—Mills to be Rebuilt.

Last night about 9 o'clock, Wm. Head, servant man of Mr. Richard Hall, discovered a fire in the second story of the Dominion flouring mills, opposite Mr. Hall's residence. The alarm was at once given, but it was some twenty minutes before the fire alarm bell sounded. The firemen turned out promptly but it was so late before the engine began to play upon the fire that there was no hope of saving the structure. A few minutes after the fire was discovered the mill was wrapped in flames. Mr. Hall and Mr. Hazlitt were promptly on the spot, but succeeded in saving only a couple of pairs of scales and six or eight sacks of flour. In spite of the exertions of the firemen, the building was soon a mass of glowing coals, but the flame was saved without any serious damage to it.

The fire is supposed to have originated from the chimney on the second floor, the brick being boarded in its whole height. Thomas Kempt who has been doing custom work in the mill, was working all day. Mr. Davidson visited the mill at 6 o'clock at which time there was a fire in the stove.

These mills were erected some 22 or 23 years ago by Mr. J. R. Benson, Messrs. Nicholls & Hall supplying the funds. The first lessee was Mr. W. Martain now living in Cavan. Seven years ago Mr. Richard Hall became proprietor of the mills; subsequently Mr. W. Davidson, and the Dickson estate company took possession. At the time of the fire, Mr. Davidson had some 600 or 800 bushels of wheat and a quantity of flour stored in the mill; his loss is covered by and insurance of $2000.

The mills were five run mills, and were considered among the best mills of the kind in the country. Mr. Wm. Packenham had made arrangements to lease the mills as soon as certain repairs could be effected. The loss by the fire is about $18,000, of which the larger part is machinery and fixtures. The insurance is divided as follows:—In the Citizens', on buildings, $1,000; on machinery, etc., $3,000; Lancashire, on buildings, $1,000; on machinery, $3,000; Western, on buildings, $250; on machinery, $1,750; total, $10,000. It is understood that the mills will be rebuilt without delay.

Charged With Counterfeiting.

A Photograph Firm Accused—John Ball, of Hamill & Ball, Arrested at Orillia Yesterday. Charged With Passing Counterfeit Money and Committed for Trial—His Partner in Business Charged With Being His Accomplice. Arrested, Arraigned and Remanded.

Last evening citizens were astonished at the rumor that became current about town that John Ball, of the firm of Hamill & Ball, photographers, has been arrested at Orillia, charged with passing counterfeit money, and astonishment was increased when additional intelligence was received to the effect that Ball had made statements implicating his partner, Alex. Hamill.

The arrest of the latter and his appearance at the police court this morning, naturally followed. The information supplied by Chief of Police Cooper, throws the following light on the matter. Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock that officer received a telegraphic message from Chief Sparling of Orillia, stating that he had arrested John Ball of the firm of Hamill & Ball, photographers, Peterborough, on a charge of passing counterfeit bills, on the Bank of Toronto, and that Ball had informed him that Alexander Hamill was an accomplice. On the strength of this information Chief Cooper detailed P. C. Adams to watch Hamill's movements. In the meantime he got out a search warrant and proceeded to the photograph gallery to search the premises.

Two other telegrams were received by Chief Cooper stating that Ball had been committed for trial and sent down to Barrie jail. Ball had further stated that Hamill had assisted him and that he had photographed the bills. The third telegram stated that Ball had passed eight bills in Orillia, two at Lorneville station, and eleven were also found under his bed. The numbers on the bills were all the same, 39,-

They were all $5 bills.

In searching the photograph gallery the police found a stamp in which there were figures, the size and style of which corresponded exactly to those on the bill. Red stamping ink corresponding with the ink used on the bills was also brought to light.

Chief of Police Cooper communicated the intelligence he had received to Mr. D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate, and procured a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Hamill, and executed it about midnight looking up the accused in the police station.

The prisoner was arraigned at the court this morning and at his arrest seemed very little moved as if confident that he could prove his innocence. His wife appeared in court and when he was taken back to the station followed him to the cell. Mr. Hamill denies all knowledge of the matter.

Shooting Accident.

Wm. Boswell, of North Monaghan, shot himself through the thigh on Thursday afternoon when attempting to jump out of a vehicle. He was on his way to a target to practice the art of pistol shooting. Dr. King attended the sufferer, but could not extract the ball, which is imbedded in the flesh. He is doing well under the circumstances, and will not be crippled by his misfortune.

Personal.

Mr. J. M. Kennedy, manager and editor of the Whitby Chronicle, paid the EXAMINER a visit to-day.

Mr. Alex. Graham, formerly clerk for Mr. H. Rush, of this town, passed, with high honors, his first examination at the Ontario Veterinary College, at the recent examinations. Mr. Graham is now in town spending a few holidays with friends.

The Board of Health.

To the Editor of THE DAILY EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I noticed in the columns of your paper some time since the names of several gentlemen who were appointed members of the Board of Health, and in consultation with one of these persons, I asked for information with reference to certain matters pertaining to the Board. His reply was that he had noticed his name in the papers, but had not received any official notification of his appointment to the position referred to. Will you allow me space to call the attention of the Board and its secretary to the following clause of the Public Health Act:

Section 18 says:—

"It shall be the duty of the Secretary to report to the Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health the names of the members of the local Board within one month after the regular meeting, which shall be held on the second Monday after the members, who are not ex officio, have been appointed."

Such meeting, I am informed, has never been held, and as a consequence no proper report can have been made to the Government in accordance with the statute.

As I am interested in the health of the town, I trust the Board of Health will not shirk the responsibility that has been placed with them.

Yours truly,
X.

Sunday's Sermons and Services

Mr. Schiveras Preaches in the George Street and St. Paul's Churches to very Large Congregations.

On Sunday morning Mr. Schiveras, the evangelist, occupied the pulpit of the George Street Church, from which he delivered an able and impressive sermon to a very large congregation, the immense edifice being thronged with eager listeners. His text was the 3rd verse of the 3rd chapter of John:—"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of Heaven."

He called attention to the mistake of Nicodemus, who supposed that Christ meant that he should undergo another natural birth, which was the interpretation many others had of the same words, and explained the nature of the new birth, the implanting of the Holy Spirit in the human soul.

AFTERNOON SERVICES.

In the afternoon Mr. Schiveras conducted services in St. Paul's Church. His based his discourse upon the latter part of the 3rd verse of the 9th chapter of Ecclesiastes:—"Yea, also the heart of the sons of men is full of evil, and madness is in their heart while they live, and after that they go to the dead."

In his remarks he showed the insanity of living without Christ. The madness spoken of by Solomon in the Ecclesiastes was an insanity of the heart, which like insanity of the mind, compelled those suffering from it to follow the dreams of their fancy. Another point of similarity was that the sufferers from it were pleased with the worthless baubles, baubles of time such as wealth, position, fashion, and the pleasure of sin, rather than the precious things of eternity; and like insanity of the mind caused those affected by it to love and follow their worst enemy (the devil) and to reject their best friend, (Jesus Christ). He made an earnest appeal to those who were affected by the madness spoken of by the Preacher, to put their case in the hands of the great physician. About twenty or thirty testified that they were anxious to put their trust in Jesus.

THE EVENING SERVICES.

Mr. Schiveras also occupied the pulpit of St. Paul's Church in the evening, and preached a powerful sermon from the words, "How long halt ye between two opinions?" contained in the 21st verse of the 18th chapter of 1st Kings. He compared his hearers to the children of Israel, who knew by God's wonderful dealings that he was the God, but they were not willing to follow God as it was not fashionable in those days. They thought more of their false gods of gold and other metals than of Jehovah. He gave as the false gods of to-day, love of wealth, fashion, sinful companionship, intoxicating drinks, the lusts of the eye, of the flesh, and the pride of life. The question was not who was God, but to decide who should be followed, God or Baal. It was a matter all had too decide and he asked his hearers to conscientiously decide out and out for God or against Him. A large number remained for the inquiry and after meeting. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity during the services, chairs having to be placed in every available place.

SPECIAL SERMONS.

In the evening Revs. Messrs. A. H. Munro, I. Tovell, A. Bell and F. H. Wallace delivered special evangelistic sermons from their respective pulpits.

Bitter Bread,

Complaint is frequently made by those who use baking powders that they leave in bread, biscuit, or cake raised by them a disagreeable, bitter taste. This taste follows the use of all impure baking powders, and is caused either by their containing alum (introduced to make a cheap article), by the impure and adulterated character of other ingredients used, or from the ignorance of the manufacturers of the proper methods of combining them. These baking powders leave in the bread a residuum formed of lime, earth, alum, or other deleterious matters, not always, though frequently, tastable in the food, and by all physicians classed as injurious to health. The Royal Baking Powder is free from this serious defect. In its use no residuum is left, and the loaf raised by it is always sweet, light, and wholesome, and noticeably free from the peculiar taste complained of. The reason of this is because it is composed of nothing but absolutely pure materials, scientifically combined in exactly the proper proportions of acid and alkali to act upon and destroy each other, while producing the largest amount of raising power. We are justified in this assertion from the unqualified statements made by the Government chemists, who after thorough and exhaustive tests recommended the "Royal" for Governmental use because of its superiority over all others in purity, strength, and wholesomeness. There is no danger of bitter bread or biscuit where it alone is used.

Madre E Hijo,
What Does it Mean?

MENDACITY CORRECTED.

Light Let in on Mr. Hilliard's "Ways That are Dark."

Interview with Mr. E. Phelan.

How Facts Collide with Reckless Statements.

That "Judastic" Denunciation.

In the Review of Friday, Mr. Geo. Hilliard, M.P., for the West Riding of Peterborough, calcimines two columns of that journal with "white lies"—that is, to a believer in "political exigencies" which makes every sin committed for the good of the party or an individual member thereof, a venial sin of a very slightly reprehensible character. The EXAMINER in dealing in a recent issue with Mr. Hilliard made several charges of a more or less direct nature. These Mr. Hilliard takes exception to and denies the correctness of them. The EXAMINER is not accustomed to making charges of this kind without a reserve of truth massed behind the "thin red line." Therefore were reiterate for Mr. Hilliard's enlightment, those impugned

ASSERTIONS BUTTRESSED WITH PROOF.

To specify the statements of the EXAMINER, which Mr. Hilliard denies:

The veracious member for the West Riding, referring to the charge that a former political supporter of his called him a Judas and accused him of betraying him like his venal prototype, practically denies its correctness and says that the publication of it by the EXAMINER "was the first intimation of the occurrence he ever had." Mr. Hilliard's memory on this subject shall be refreshed further on.

He denies the fact that the Government, disgusted with his double dealing wrote him a letter reprimanding him, and in the same paragraph admits the existence of such a letter and calls upon the EXAMINER to produce it. Very well, Mr. Hilliard, it shall be produced.

Mr. Hilliard denies that he first recommended Mr. E. Phelan's lot for the post-office, and since, as he asserts, Mr. Phelan did not tell the EXAMINER anything to that effect, he asks where the EXAMINER got its information. This is a reasonable question and shall have an answer which if not pleasing to Mr. Hilliard, will be so because the truth is unpalatable to him.

It is not proposed to deal in detail with the above positions assumed by Mr. Hilliard, but the evidence will be submitted in bulk, leaving the reader to make the application.

On Saturday morning a representative of THE EXAMINER had an interview with Mr. E. Phelan, in which a mass of facts were elicited, which go to show that the member of the West Riding runs against proof, whether verbal or documentary, with an utter regardlessness of consequences.

The public are well aware that there has been a little world of trouble over the post-office site, and the statements here submitted go to show that no small amount of and injury of the public interests resulting from the unsettled state of the matter, rests upon the broad shoulders of Mr George Hilliard, M.P.

"Mr. Phalen, you noticed, of course, Mr. Hilliard's letter in Friday evening's Review? Are his statements correct?

"I will give you the facts of the matter as far as my personal knowledge goes and you can judge for yourself. When the Government decided in Peterborough I naturally approached the member of the riding to support my claim to have my site selected. The answer Mr. Hilliard made was that he did not propose to interfere in the matter—' he would remain perfectly neutral." After I had got my petitions signed, by those in sympathy with the selection of my lot as the best site for the post office, Mr. Hilliard gave me the advice that my best way was to go to Ottawa and push my interests in person. In February, 1884, I took advantage of the visit of the Trent Valley deputation to Ottawa and went with them. Of course the House was in session and during my stay at the capital at that time I had several interviews with Mr. Hilliard. I omitted to mention that before my visit to Ottawa Mr. Hilliard gave me two letters to ministers, endorsing my claim and giving me the highest recommendations for and doing, as I thought at that time, the handsome thing by me. On my arrival at Ottawa, I went to the Windsor Hotel and saw Mr. Hilliard. As it was getting late at night he asked me to come up and see him at the hotel in the morning. I then left him and returned to the Russell. Early next morning I went to the Windsor and met him. He then invited me out for a walk and asked me if I had had my breakfast; on my saying I had not, he said he had the advantage of me.

TO ERECT A NEW POST OFFICE BUILDING

FAITHFULNESS AND LENGTH OF PARTY SERVICES,

After walking for a time we came in front of the Parliament Buildings, and I said:

'Mr. Hilliard, you had better settle this matter now.'

'What do you want me to do?' he asked.

'You gave me two good letters before; I want you to give me a better one now.'

'I suppose,' he replied, 'you want me to put the cap sheaf on?'

'Yes, sir,' I answered.

'Go back and get your breakfast and then come up to the House and I will give you a letter that will finally settle the matter.'

After breakfast I arrived at the House and found Mr. Hilliard awaiting me according to appointment, in his seat to which a messenger showed me. Mr. Hilliard had ready a letter which he gave to me with the remark, 'Here, this is a letter to Sir Hector;

THIS WILL PUT THE CAP-SHEAF ON IT.'

Afterwards Mr. Hilliard introduced me to Mr. Fuller (the Government architect of Mr. Hilliard's letter,) and Mr. Hilliard told him 'If Mr. Phalen's credentials and recommendations are not satisfactory, apply to me.' An interview was arranged with Mr. Fuller in half an hour, but this did not take place. I then went to interview Sir Hector Langevin, accompanied by Mr. John Garvey, whom I introduced to the Minister, and at the same time presented Mr. Hilliard's 'cap-sheaf' letter. After reading it, Sir Hector remarked:—'Mr. Hilliard could not have given you a stronger title to favourable consideration,

NOW WE WILL SETTLE THE SITE.'

Mr. Fuller was then called in, and in presence of him, of Mr. Garvey, and of myself, the question of site was settled, my lot being selected. I sold, and the Government bought my site, and the price was agreed upon. I then retired from Sir Hector Langevin's presence perfectly satisfied that the matter was settled.

Some time afterwards I heard rumours which made me seriously doubt Mr. Hilliard's straight-forwardness in the matter. At a meeting called at Clancy's hotel, of George street merchants and others favorable to my site, Mr. Hilliard was present. When the matter was being talked over, Mr. Hilliard openly expressed the opinion that the bargain with the Government respecting my lot for the post-office was

'A BONA FIDE SALE.'

It was also decided at this meeting that Mr. Hilliard should telegraph to Ottawa requesting the Government to stay any proceedings respecting a change of site, till they heard from me, and Mr. Hilliard, accompanied by Mr. James English, went out to send the telegram as agreed upon.

Several weeks passed, and Mr. Hilliard asserted that he had got no answer to the telegram. I, of course, thought it was queer that there should be so much delay in getting a reply to an important telegram. So, one day when I was at Hilliard's mills on business, Mr. Hilliard told me he wanted to see me down town at three o'clock. At two o'clock I met him in the post-office. Mr. Hilliard then and there said to me,

'THE FAT'S IN THE FIRE,

the post office is settled—going to be on Sawers' corner.'

It was then and there that I abused him, I suppose, pretty bad and called him a "Judas" and said he had betrayed me.

On a Saturday afterwards I met Mr. Hilliard on the street and he had the cheek to speak to me, and I replied in a pretty strong style. I called him an infernal scoundrel and forbade him to speak to me either in public or in private. On Monday I got a long letter from Mr. Hilliard—

"Was it written on Sunday?"

"I don't know about that, but I got it through the post on Monday and it covered six pages of foolscap. It was a letter of apology and went on about 'old times' and 'it was too bad for such old friends not to speak together, that I was his best friend and he hoped matters would be as they were before, and so on. In the letter Mr. Hilliard said:

'MR. PHALEN, DON'T BLAME ME, blame the parties that did it; blame the Government, blame the minister."

"Have you that letter now, Mr. Phalen."

"Be easy a little; I'm coming to that. I at once wrote a letter to Sir Hector Langevin enclosing Mr. Hilliard's big letter of apology, and I asked Sir Hector, 'Am I to blame the Government or Hilliard for the change in the site for the post office, which it is rumoured has been or is about to be made?'

"Then Sir Hector, has the six foolscap pages of humble pie Mr. Hilliard addressed to you?"

"Yes he has it; and whats more here's the answer, he sent to that part of it wanting me to blame the Government not him. This is a copy of the letter and when you've read it I'll tell you how I got it:"

[COPY.]

OTTAWA, 9th Dec. 1884.

MY DEAR MR. HILLIARD,—Your letter of the 8th is received, Sir John has not yet arrived, and I must give him some time before I lay your matter or any other before him. I must, however, say that I CANNOT ALLOW YOU TO PUT ON MY SHOULDERS OR THOSE OF THE GOVERNMENT THE CAUSE OF ANY DISCONTENT IN PETERBOROUGH. IF YOU HAD IN THE FIRST INSTANCE, WHEN THE QUESTION OF SELECTION OF A LOT CAME UP, GIVEN YOUR OPINION OPENLY, AS YOU DO NOW, ALL THIS TROUBLE WOULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED.

Yours obediently, (Signed)
HECTOR LOUIS LANGEVIN.

GEO. HILLIARD, ESQ., Peterborough.

"That shows, Mr. Phalen, how much Mr. Hilliard's solemn declaration is worth. He positively denies, in his letter to the Review, that he ever received such a letter."

"But he did get such a letter, and this is how a copy of it was got. One day in John Garvey's store, Hilliard, whose conscience was troubling him, I suppose, was explaining himself to John Garvey.

AND IN ORDER TO CLEAR HIMSELF

he took a letter from his pocket and held it out and gave it to John Garvey—"There, read that,'—and he must have done it by mistake for that letter would have been the last he would have put into our hands. And he soon found out his mistake for he came back in a grert fluster and demanded the letter. A copy of the letter you have just read was taken and the original was handed to Mr. Hilliard back.

Mr. Bergh has his eyes on no less a place than Paris, where cruelty to horses is said to be distressingly common. A cruel thing that is ceaselessly happening all over Paris is the cracking of the whip just over the horse's head, so as to cause it to make a detonation like a pistol shot. In a satirical writing of 1819, and then it's not given as new, occurs the saying: "Paris is the paradise of women, the purgatory of men and the hell of horses."

The United States consumes tin in vast quantities, one great use for tin plates being the manufacture of preserving cans. It is said that upward of $12,000,000 per annum are expended for wages alone in our various tin-plate factories, while the sum paid for similar work in Great Britain does not amount to much more than $5,000,000. American tin work is very much lighter, and more graceful than that of England, and in England the art of pressing tin has not yet been acquired.

The following anecdote is told about the composer of the "Queen of Sheba:" At a fashionable dinner party Goldmark is introduced to a pretty young lady from the country. It appears to him that she does not seem sufficiently impressed with the honor she has just received, and so he adds a gentle reminder: "Carl Goldmark, the composer of the 'Queen of Sheba!'" Whereupon the rural belle, with charming naivete, replies: "Remunerative position; isn't it?" Goldmark withdraws in disgust.

Professor Arnold quotes in a half approving way the opinion of a German chemist that beer is a better food for nursing mothers than milk made from brewers' grains. The mineral constituents are largely leached out of barley in malting, and consequently the material for bone growth is lacking. But milk from brewers' grains is for this very reason the best for adults. What is needed for adults is heat producing food, to supply waste, not bone and muscle producing food to assist growth.

POLAR CLIMATES.

Only a Slight Change Would Cover Greenland With Verdure.

The theory has long been advanced that the poles of greatest cold are not coincident with the terrestrial poles, and that the lowest mean temperature is to be found in the region of the Lena river Siberia. This idea was encouraged by the fact, among others, that the Polaris party reported a milder climate at Thank God Harbor than Kane experienced about 200 miles further south. The part of the argument, however, which relates to the Lena river valley is directly contradicted by Lieut. Greely's observations for two years at Lady Franklin Bay, where he found the lowest mean temperature yet observed, about —4° Fahrenheit. Grinnell Land, therefore, as far as we yet know, is the coldest part of the northern hemishpere.

Danish Greenland, whose mean temperature hovers around the freezing point, is buried under hundreds of feet of ice simply because about two inches of ice forms in winter more than is thawed out in summer. The authorities in terrestrial physics agree that it would require only a slight change in climate conditions to remove Greenland's ice blanket and cover the land with verdure. Were it not for the presence of these immense ice masses constantly refrigerating the air, the summers of Danish Greenland would be as warm as those of England. Mr. Wallace is of the opinion that if the two arctic currents that flow south along sides of Greenland were diverted from that country, the great ice mantle would rapidly disappear, and the country might even become forest-clad and habitable. Mr. Croll agrees with him in this opinion, and both Mr. Croll and Sir William Thomson believe that it would not take a very large increase in the temperature and volume of the arctic branch of the gulf stream to produce the same result.

The powerful modifying influence that the great ocean currents from the south exert upon climates is nowhere so strikingly manifested as along the north coast of Norway, which has a milder temperature than any other part of the world in the same latitude. At this moment the little town of Boesekop, lying at the foot of a fiord which opens into the icy waters of the Arctic Ocean, wrapped in the twilight of the winter night, is subsisting largely on the grain that was raised last summer on the valley farms in a latitude about 600 miles north of the south end of Greenland. This fertile spot is the most northern place in the world where wheat and rye ripen.

It is the opinion of Sir William Thomson and other physicists that the prolific animal and vegetable life which covered Greenland and the neighboring lands in a former geological age, whose fossil remains have been found in abundance, was due to warm ocean currents flowing north at a time when our continent had not yet risen above the surface to impede or divert their course. There seems, after all, to be no inherent improbability in the theory, to elucidate which two books have been recently written, that human life existed, and perhaps originated, in these polar lands before the present populous part, of the earth were habitable.—*N. A Peculiar People.

A correspondent gives some curious facts concerning the "jumpers" among the French-Canadians. He says: They attracted my attention as presenting some points of interest bearing upon the nervous system, showing to what a hyper-sensitive condition it may be brought by certain influences early begun and long continued.

I had from time to time heard lumbermen and others whose invocations led them to spend much time among the French camps speak of these "jumpers," but had given no credence to the, as I thought, absurd stories they related in regard to them, until one day, while attending to my duties in the waiting-room of my fumigating station, I incidentally let fall the window near my desk by turning the button suddenly, thus letting the frame fall a short distance, making a quick sharp noise, when three out of seven French-Canadians who were sitting near, awaiting their certificates of inspection, leaped into the air as if they had been shot, at the same time uttering a yell which would have done credit to a North American Indian. From that time I was on the watch for these strange characters, and, when possible, made inquiries of them through my interpreter in regard to the cause of their condition.

Before speaking of this, perhaps it will be well to enumerate some of the manifestations which give them the characteristic name of "jumpers." One or two instances will be sufficient. Recently one of them, a French-Canadian of small stature, came out from an adjacent camp to the postoffice. Just as he was about to ask the postmaster for his mail, he being a total stranger to the official, a man of 65 years of age, someone knowing the fellow to be a "jumper" mischievously cried out: "Grab him by the throat!" The fellow sprang like a cat and grasped the old man by the throat, and held on until removed, the irate postmaster pouring forth torrents of invectives on the poor fellow, who really was perfectly guiltless.

Another unfortunate woodchopper had just come into camp from two days' work, and was standing near the large camp-heater, in which was a very hot fire, when somebody cried: "Grab the furnace!" No sooner were the words said than the poor fellow obeyed the order, and as a result left a scorched pattern of each hand on the nearly red-hot pipe, thus rendering him unfit for his work in the woods for some weeks.

As stated above, I have endeavored, when possible to investigate as to the cause of this peculiar and distressing condition; and while I find, without doubt, that primarily it is due to an inherited nervousness, the immediate cause is in taking such children, when small, and while firmly held tickling them until convulsive symptoms appear.

MR. HILLIARD'S POSITION.

It is an old saying, "get a public man to write a book then you have him in your power." In defiance of this wise maxim we observe that Mr. Hilliard again appears to be "dabbling in literature," in Friday's issue of the Review, and we are afraid that in attempting to explain his position and thus escape the smoke, he has fallen headlong into the fire. As a general rule, it will be found much more creditable for a man like Mr. Hilliard when they find themselves to have taken a palpably inexcusable and dishonest step, to gracefully confess their mistake and not by wild and stubborn plunging, sink themselves deeper and deeper into the mires so that finally not even by the united exertions of their friends are they able to escape. Up to the time that Mr. Hilliard started his correspondence, he cannot but say, we gave him fair treatment as a public man and that we never went out of our way to attack him. We know of no man who received a more tolerant or less hostile criticism for his public acts, and we regret that he now should compel us to stigmatize him as he deserves.

In asserting that the EXAMINER has ever been hostile to the Trent Valley scheme, and in again reiterating it, without the slightest tittle of proof or the shadow of a reason to support his contention, Mr. Hilliard takes a dishonourable stand and states a deliberate falsehood. We again publicly challenge him to produce a single editorial or statement of like nature in the EXAMINER during our management in corroboration of so gross and scandalous an untruth, and in default thereof, we brand him in the clearest and most unmistakeable language as unworthy even of contemptuous notice.

To assist him in his allotted task, we offer him the back files of the EXAMINER for the purpose of search, and we guarantee to do everything in our power to facilitate his herculean and impossible labour. We will not allow Mr Hilliard "to treat this charge with silent contempt." Either falsely or justly he has made the charge, and we defy him to prove it, and if he does not prove it, then he has stultified and belied himself, and has not the moral courage or integrity to confess the impeachment. Our columns for years have not been silent in reference to the Trent Valley canal. Editorial after editorial bespeak our sentiments in the matter. If we have opposed the work, the opposition is on record and let Mr. Hilliard produce it. If he is unable to do so, then that "discerning public" referred to in his letter "will give that credit to the charge it is worthy of," and will treat Mr. Hilliard as an unscrupulous falsifier and a man whose statements are unworthy of respect by an honest public.

Doctors assert that there are various morbid phases of the intellect that do not amount to derangement. In writing that "I (Mr. Hilliard) never recommended Mr. Phelan's lot" (for the post-office), Mr. Hilliard has either closely missed the line verging on derangement, or else he possesses a wonderfully docile memory, or has wilfully mis-stated the facts. Let us compare the assertions of Mr. Hilliard and Mr. Phelan and other facts:

MR. HILLIARD'S STATEMENT.	MR. PHELAN'S STATEMENT.
I never recommended Mr. Phelan's lot. I never recommended any lot.	In February, 1884, I took advantage of the visit of the Trent Valley deputation to Ottawa, and went with them. Of course, the House was in session, and during my stay at the capital at that time, I had several interviews with Mr. Hilliard. I omitted to mention that before my visit to Ottawa, Mr. Hilliard gave me two letters to Ottawa to members ENDORSING MY CLAIM, and giving me the highest recommendations for faithfulness and length of party services, and doing as I thought, at that time, the handsome thing. During my stay at the capital, * * * Mr. Hilliard had a letter ready which he gave me with the remark, "HERE, THIS IS A LETTER TO SIR HECTOR; THIS WILL PUT THE CAT SHEAF ON IT." Afterwards Mr. Hilliard introduced me to Mr. Fuller, ("the Government architect" of Mr. Hilliard's letter) and Mr. Hilliard told him "if Mr. Phelan's credentials and recommendations are not satisfactory, apply to me." * * * I then went to interview Sir Hector Langevin, accompanied by Mr. John Garvey, whom I introduced to the minister, at the same time presenting Mr. Hilliard's "cap-sheaf" letter. After reading it, Sir Hector remarked, MR. HILLIARD COULD NOT HAVE GIVEN YOU A STRONGER TITLE TO FAVORABLE CONSIDERATION. Now we will settle it. Mr. Fuller was then called in, and in presence of him, Mr. Garvey and myself, the question of site was settled, my lot being selected.

The above evidence of Mr. Phelan does not need much comment. It is backed and supported by that of other men and other circumstances which indubitably give the lie direct to Mr. Hilliard's statement."

It happened that during the course of this question of the post office site a meeting of those in favor of and in sympathy with Mr. Phelan's site was called in Mr. Clancy's hotel parlour here at which about 20 persons were present. Mr. Hilliard was present and he certainly led those present to believe he was in favor of Mr. Phelan's lot. According to Mr. Phelan and others Mr. Hilliard openly expressed the opinion that the bargain of Mr. Phelan with the Government respecting his lot for the post office was a "bona fide sale." "It was also decided at this meeting that Mr. Hilliard should communicate with Ottawa requesting the Government to stay any proceedings respecting a change of site till they had heard from Mr. Phelan, and Mr. Hilliard accompanied by another party, whose name we can give if necessary, went out to send the telegram as agreed upon, and at this same meeting a letter was written by Mr. Garvey at the dictation of Mr. Hilliard favoring the Phelan lot, which was to be sent to the Government by Mr. Hilliard. But the matter did not end here. Only a short time thereafter a friend of the Sawers' lot hearing of the meeting and the issue thereof, hurried to Mr. Hilliard and by hook or by crook got Mr. Hilliard to communicate again with Ottawa to pay no attention to the former message. It was not apparently in Mr. Hilliard to act squarely in the matter. He had not the backbone to refuse one or other of the parties but by running too closely on the line that divides insincerity and careless rascality he wrecked the ship.

We are unable to comprehend the stupidity of Mr. Hilliard on denying our charge backed up with evidence so reliable and trustworthy and incapable of contradiction.

Mr. Hilliard says he is at a loss to know how he should have been publicly called a Judas without his knowledge. That our editorial was the first intimation of an occurrence of this kind he has had. We are unaware whether it is a matter of such ordinary routine in his daily life that such an opprobrious or even more opprobrious epithets should have been applied to him without their being fixed on any little memory he has, but for his edification we would refer him to Mr. Phelan's interview in another column.

It might seem a matter of supererogation in face of what we have said and in face of what the ordinary reader knows, to disprove the statement of Mr. Hilliard that he never received a letter from the Government reprimanding him for his double and unstable position we the post-office, but as the EXAMINER is not accustomed to make statements which it is unable to prove, we now give it. Mr. Hilliard may quibble with us that such a letter was not written by the Government but by only one minister of the Government. We will not discuss this delicate point.

OTTAWA, 9th Dec. 1884.

MY DEAR MR. HILLIARD,—Your letter of the 8th inst. is received. Sir John has not yet arrived, and I must give him some time before I lay your matter or any other before him. I must however say that I cannot allow you to put on to my shoulders or those of the Government the cause of any discontent in Peterborough. If you had in the first instance when the question of selection of a lot came up, given your opinion openly, as you do now, all this trouble would have been avoided

Yours obediently, (Signed)
HECTOR LOUIS LANGEVIN.

It is not enough for Mr. Hilliard that he should treat with contumely and treachery Mr. Phelan and his friends who had connection with the post-office site in Peterborough, but he must go out of his way to insult men who did their work well and faithfully, while holding a public office.

What reasons does he give for supporting the Franchise Act? In order, he says, "to wrest from the EXAMINER's friends in Toronto the power to wrest the honest votes of the electors of the province from them." We do not desire to go far from Peterborough to see the absurdity of this position. Why should Mr. Hilliard thus wilfully, and we hope without reason, charge Mr. Bennett, of North Monaghan, of wilful dereliction in duty? Why should he impute such grave charges against Mr. Stevenson, of Ashburnham? What substantial grounds has he for directing such criminal accusations against Mr. Cornelius McGrath, Mr. Joseph Lundy, and Mr. Robert Rowe, of the town? Were not the interests of the Conservative party safe in these men's hands as assessors? Does the Dominion Government through Mr. Hilliard accuse them of Reform leanings or Liberal sympathies? Such an unprovoked insult to the honour and integrity of these men comes not well from Mr. Hilliard, and is both senseless and ungrateful.

We state again that "West Peterborough has been grossly deceived in Mr. Hilliard, his fairness and honesty of purpose, and so well is he aware of the fact that we venture to say that he will never again have the boldness to appeal in the county for election, and for this assertion we do not rely on our own powers of discernment alone. Only a short time ago, at a meeting of the Young Liberal Conservatives of this town, called for the purpose of whitewashing Mr. Hilliard in reference to his political course, he knowing the estimation in which he was held by his fellow-citizens mentioned the name of Mr. James Stevenson as Tory candidate for the next Dominion election, and stated that he did not think he could again carry this riding, that there was a strong feeling against him, and that circumstances had altered since the last election, and that the latter gentleman was the proper party. Mr. Stevenson got no seconder. As for ourselves, we are not seeking parliamentary honours, but think that if elected, we could fill the position in a far more honourable and disinterested way than Mr. Hilliard.

It is a disagreeable duty to thus so plainly and clearly present the character of Mr. Hilliard to the public view, but we can only regret that he brought the downfall on his own head. In publicly misrepresenting the EXAMINER's position on public questions, and accusing us of acts dishonest and misleading, of which we were never guilty, Mr. Hilliard must understand that if he is treated without gloves, he has only his own want of prudence and discretion to blame.

I would take this opportunity to assure all in want of superior stock, to introduce new blood that will surely improve their stock, and also those who are about to start new in the breeding of Fancy Poultry, that my stock stands second to none in Canada. Having mated for this season's breeding 7 pens of choice birds, many of them prize winners, of large size, vigorous constitutions, and extraordinary laying qualities, the chicks hatched from eggs laid cannot fail to please all.
Orders booked for eggs on receipt of 50c. First come, first served. Eggs for hatching P. Cochins, L. Brahmas, $1.50 per 13. P. Rocks and B. Leghorns $1.00. (Specialty, Wyandottes, Half Strain, $2.00.) Send stamp for circular. My prices are reasonable and I guarantee satisfaction.

THE BATTLES OF THE DEAD.

It is midnight in the brick farmhouse at Chancellorsville—the new building on the site of the one partially destroyed when Hooker marched his troops into the wilderness to get in the rear of Lee at Fredericksburg. In the yard are the rotting wheels of gun carriages; in the south wall are a dozen cannon balls firmly imbedded; half a mile below is the stone marking the spot where Stonewall Jackson received his mortal wound; here is the same dark forest which sheltered friend and foe.

"Are you asleep?"

"No."

The last stroke of 12 had scarcely died away when the farmer opened my bedroom door to ask the question.

"Then maybe you'd like to see it?"

"What?"

"The battle of Chancellorsville. The Federal troops are now in sight on the Ely's Ford road."

I hastily dressed and passed out into the yard with him. I noticed that he had on a Confederate uniform, dusty and worn. I looked at my own garments; they were blue. He pointed his finger down the road, and I saw through the mist of the summer night a great army approaching. There was cavalry, infantry and artillery—there were flags and banners and ambulances. In two minutes more the head of the column had reached the Chancellorsville plank road. Some turned to the right, some to the left, some plunged into the gloomy pine thicket beyond.

"But I hear no noise—not the footstep of a horse nor the clank of a saber," I protested.

"Hush! 'Tis a battle of the dead! The spirits of the thousands who fell here have come to fight the battle once again!"

I looked at him more closely and I saw the light of battle in his eyes. His form grew erect, his feet seemed impatient and he scented the air as if eager to join in the fray.

Now the highways and byways—the cleared fields—the open woods—the lonely thickets well full of blue uniforms. Couriers and aides galloped here and there—staff officers turned heads of columns to the right or left. It was so strange to witness those thousands moving with such order and yet giving out no sound.

"Look—see!" whispered my companion as he pointed down the plank road.

There was a cloud of smoke rolling up out of the pine woods and blotching the starlit sky like a stain of blood. It spread and grew until half the stars of heaven were hidden. Meanwhile the face of every man in blue was turned that way. We saw battery after battery, regiment after regiment, brigade after brigade, move down to the scene of conflict. Tongues of flame flashed through the smoke-cloud and lighted up thicket and field, but there was no sound. The stillness of night was almost painful.

"Here are the results!" whispered the Confederate, and I looked to the right and left to behold the dead and wounded. I could see them in the fields, under the pines, on the highway. Some faces showed fear and horror others expressed vindictiveness. There were horses lying dead others hobbling about and seeming to appeal for mercy.

"It is horrible!" I whispered.

"Aye! but it is over."

I looked again and the vision had faded. The highways were barren of life—the fields and forests at peace. The smoke cloud had disappeared, and the dead and wounded had been spirited away.

"And so the dead of the armies fight their battles o'er?" I asked.

"As you have seen," he solemnly replied. "Until the hate and rancor of men is no more—until all men are at peace—the spirits of those who fell in battle cannot rest. They must plan campaigns and fight their battles as of old. The vision you have seen here is repeated at Antietam, Gettysburg, Vicksburg, Franklin—on a hundred battlefields of America. Let us go in."—Detroit Free Press.

Col. McBride Sumpter, of Austin, while in New York, dropped into a fashionable restaurant, and having surprised his stomach with a small repast, asked the waiter what was the damage. On being told, Col. Sumpter handed out a $5 bill, but on receiving back his change he made the ghastly discovery that there was a dime missing. He demanded an explanation from the waiter, who was a Frenchman. "Ze dime is for my deucer." "I didn't order any, and I won't pay for it," retorted Sumpter. "I mean, sare, ze dime is for my pour boire." "It's for your poor boy, is it? That's a different thing. I didn't know you had sickness in your family. Here's a quarter for him, poor feller." And, with the consciousness of having relieved the sufferings of the sick and afflicted, Col. Sumpter put his hat on the side of his head and sauntered out of the hostelry.—Texas Siftings.

Jones came into the office of the Austin Water Works Company. He was mad. His eyes gleamed with a baleful light. "What is the matter?" asked the clerk. "I want to tell you that I've found another fish in our water." "How large was the fish?" asked the clerk, blandly. "About an inch long. It's a shame and an outrage." "My dear sir, do you think we can furnish you with whales ninety feet long every day for $10 a year?"—Texas Siftings.

History of the Bicycle.

In the year of 1816, says the Philadelphia Record, Baron von Drais constructed a curious vehicle, consisting of two wheels of equal size, placed one in front of the other, and connected by a bar on which was a small seat. The rider sat astride the bar and propelled the vehicle by striking his feet against the ground. The machine, very simple in mechanism, was named the Draisine, and was the progenitor of the modern bicycle. In 1818 his contrivance was introduced to use in England, and the year following made its appearance in New York, Philadelphia and Boston, and was for a time quite popular. In 1863 a Frenchman applied cranks to the fore wheels of the Draisine, having discovered that a certain speed would maintain the equilibrium of the two-wheeler, and in 1866 further improvements were effected, the new machine being introduced in New York. It received little or no attention until 1878, when a sudden popularity honored it, and everybody began to use it. This continued something more than a year, when it was as summarily abandoned as it had been enthusiastically taken up. Some English mechanics continued to work upon the plan, however, and in 1876 the first improved bicycle was imported and put on exhibition at our centennial fair. In 1878 the first American company for the manufacture of bicycles was organized, and that rattle in these articles has since increased so steadily that no less than 6,000 were manufactured and sold in this country last year, and it was estimated that there were then 30,000 in use in the United States, exclusive of boys' machines. The manufacture this year will be much larger, the constantly growing popularity of the bicycle annually increasing the demand.

Compassion and the Dog.

Among the most faithful and intelligent companions of man is the dog. To raise a hue and cry against him by a stupid invention of cases of rabies is to play the part of a barbarian. The man of fine instincts and true courage will not treat domestic animals, especially the dog or horse, with unnecessary harshness. In urging its readers to look to the comfort of live stock during the winter months the Nashville American says:

"No higher compliment was ever paid General Jackson than the one recorded by Henry A. Wise, who, when a young man, drove in a buggy from Nashville to the Hermitage one cold wintry day. When he reached that place he found General Jackson in a comfortable room nursing a motherless lamb. The same compassionate feeling led him to take a live infant from the breast of a dead squaw, on the battle-field of the Horseshoe, and have it carefully raised.

"Brave men are filled with compassion for the suffering of all inferior animals. One could almost point out the best and bravest in every community by the care and attention which they give to their domestic animals."

The muzzle is irritating to the well-nourished dog, and to take him out for an airing with a chain to his collar is to restrict his freedom. He does not get the exercise which he should have. It partakes of cruelty to muzzle and chain a dog when there is no necessity for doing so. The compassionate feeling which led that resolute type of man, Gen. Jackson, to care for the motherless lamb, demands that dogs shall not be hounded into a species of madness by people whose fears have been excited to an unnatural degree by the spread of false stories. It also demands that they shall not be compelled to wear muzzles when no dangerous symptoms are manifest. John Hollingwood's definition of hydrophobia is excellent. He said some years ago that it is a "peculiar madness that seizes men and impels them to destroy dogs."—Turf, Field, and Farm.

Country Merchant (to Chicago drummer)—A St. Louis firm offers me eighteen months' time. Chicago Drummer—Only eighteen months? They're trying to swindle you. Merchant—What time can your house give? Chicago Drummer—Four years are our usual terms, but I'll tell you what I'll do. You give me an order, and if the account is not paid in thirty days I'll take 10 per cent off; if not paid in sixty days, 20 per cent off; and, if not paid in ninety days, 30 per cent off. Merchant—And if not paid in four months? Chicago Drummer—Then I'll wipe the account off the books altogether and send you a framed photograph of our monster establishment. No St. Louis firm can do business in this territory while the representative of Alexander Rockbottom & Co. is abroad.—N. Y. Sun.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want active Energetic and Capable agents in every county in the Dominion. Parties making from $5 to $10 daily and upwards can be made at once. Any active, intelligent person can secure the agency and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages, to our agents, and knowing that we have an article that sells itself to almost everybody, it might not be necessary to make all "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $100 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through subagents for twenty days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 28th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child once; best send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Every one is ready to admit, there is a great advantage in getting their boots and shoes made to order, providing they have not to pay the price of two pair for one. Johnston Carey is making them to order as cheap as they can be bought ready made. He is now ready to fill all orders on short notice, as he has a full set of first class workmen in the custom department.

The Evangelistic Meetings.

Mr. Schiveras will remain in town until next Saturday, conducting the evangelistic services until Friday evening. The evening meetings to-night and Tuesday will be held in St. Paul's church and for the remainder of the series will be held in the George street church. The daily morning meeting in the Baptist church, noon meeting at the Y.M.C.A. rooms, and the afternoon meeting in the Charlotte street church will also be continued.

Runaways.

Chief Cooper received word from a Napanee gentleman this morning, notifying him to be on the lookout for two boys, 13 years of age, who ran away from their homes on Thursday last, taking the G. T. R. going west, and to arrest the boys on sight. The lads are Morley Hill Detlor, son of the late W. V. Detlor, County Clerk of Lennox and Addington, and Fraser Bowerman, son of Mr. J. Bowerman, head master of the Napanee public schools. The police have a minute description of the runaways and will keep a careful watch for them.

College Notes

Mr. D. W. Dumble, Lecturer on Commercial Law and Business forms at the Peterborough Business College, completed his second course of lectures there this morning. He will conduct the examinations in these subjects this week at the college. Sixteen students are preparing for graduation this week.

The Business College will be open all next week every night from 7 to 9 p.m., and all night students are requested to attend promptly each night. The closing will take place on Friday night of same week.

Converts' Social

By the request of Mr. Schiveras a social meeting of young men who have been converted during his work in town, the officers of the Y. M. C. A. and others interested in Christian work, was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Saturday evening. A number of lady friends provided an excellent tea which was served in the reading and lecture rooms. There were about three hundred present and a most enjoyable social hour was spent. After tea Mr. Schiveras read a portion of sacred Scripture and in a short address encouraged the new converts to be steadfast. He was overjoyed at the number present. Rev. Messrs. A. H. Munro, E. F. Torrance, F. H. Wallace, A. Bell and I Tovell, and Messrs Williams and Flavelle each gave short addresses. A vote of thanks was tendered the ladies who so willingly provided for the occasion, managed the tea and added to the enjoyment of the occasion by their presence. Shortly before half past eight the gathering dispersed.

Instantly Killed.

Sadly Fatal Accident to Mr. R. J. Kidd, of Dummer.

On Saturday afternoon, Mr. R. J. Kidd, a prosperous Dummer farmer, met with an accident which caused his death in an instant.

Immediately after dinner Mr. Kidd, who lived on lot No. 9, in the 1st concession of Dummer township, started with a team and sleigh for the quarry east of Warsaw, to procure stone for the purpose of building a furnace for boiling sap. He was accompanied by a lad some ten or eleven years of age, son of Mr. Charles Condon. After arriving at the quarry, Mr. Kidd and the lad proceeded to load a large stone on the sleigh. In the course of this operation, the stone slipped and fell with considerable force on the end a "hand-spike" or lever in such a way that the opposite end flew up with terrific force, striking Mr. Kidd on the head. For an instant he remained on his feet and then reeled backward three or four steps and fell dead to the ground. There is little doubt that death was instantaneous. The lad went to the prostrate form and attempted to raise it up but the effort was beyond his strength. He then ran with all his speed for assistance. Fortunately he met near at hand Mr. Alfred Saunders, who went as rapidly as possible to the spot but when he arrived life was extinct, as it had probably been from the moment of the fatal blow. The body was at once placed on the sleigh and taken to his home, where the scene on its arrival was

A FATALLY VIOLENT BLOW

HEARTRENDING BEYOND DESCRIPTION.

Imagination only can picture the feelings of the stricken wife, who had parted with her husband full of life and health only a short hour or two before, when she saw him brought home a lifeless corpse.

The deceased was thirty-two years of age, and leaves behind him a wife and one child. He was the seventh son of Mr. Wm. M. Kidd, one of the pioneer settlers of Dummer who is still living, brother of Mr. A. R. Kidd, warden of the county and brother of Mr. M. R. Kidd, in Turnbull's dry goods store, town. He was highly respected and in his sudden taking off, in the prime of life, his bereaved wife and relatives have the deepest sympathy of a large circle of friends and neighbors, which sympathy as well as the high esteem in which the deceased was held by all who knew him was testified by the immense cortege that followed the remains to their last resting place to-day.

Men and Women.

Specially Addressed by Schiveras, the Evangelist.

LADIES' MEETING.

The ladies' meeting in the George street church on Saturday, addressed by Mr. Schiveras, was largely attended, there being present about a thousand ladies, besides a number of men. The evangelist took as the basis of his remarks the words, "Is all well?" contained in the 21st verse of the 5th chapter of 2nd Kings. In his address he impressed upon his hearers the influence mothers, wives and sisters had for good or evil; the opportunities they had for doing good and the responsibility that rested upon them by reason of their influence and opportunity. He gave examples of Christian mothers who had taught their children to walk the narrow way, and whose children had risen up to call them blessed. Also of wives and sisters who through their Christian influence and example had brought husbands and brothers to the Saviour of men; and exhorted those present to follow their example. A prayer meeting was held after the service which was largely attended. Special prayers were offered for the men who assembled later on in the evening.

MENS' MEETING.

On Saturday evening, Mr. Schiveras addressed a large gathering of men in the George street church. He took his text the last clause of the 35th verse of the 11th chapter of Daniel, "For that that is determined shall be done." He impressed upon his hearers the necessity of determination, which was recognized as the foundation of success. If a man determined to be a Christian, he would be one, and if be determined not to be a Christian no power could compel him. He pleaded with young men especially, to determine to be Christians, for their own sake and for the sake of sisters and mothers, to whose cheeks they brought the blush of shame by their deeds of sin and infamy. At the close of the discourse several young men intimated that they were determined to become Christians, and these with a large number of others held a prayer and inquiry meeting after the regular services were over.

Trent Valley Navigation.

Report of Acting Engineer Rogers.

The following is the report of Mr. R. B. Rogers, Acting Superintending Engineer of the Trent Navigation works, as it appears in the last report of the Minister of Public Works:—

ENGINEER'S OFFICE,
PETERBOROUGH, 31st August, 1885.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the annual report on the works temporarily under my charge for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1885.

From 1st July, 1884, the water on the several stretches was maintained at a height of 5 feet on the mitre sills of the locks.

The total number of lockages was 1,777. The greatest number at any one station was 1,225.

Navigation on the upper stretches closed about 10th November, and on the lower stretches 12th November. It opened again 25th March. Navigation continued throughout the year uninterrupted.

The traffic on these waters has considerably increased this season. Four new steamboats being added to the fleet already on this route.

The following is a brief statement of the repairs executed at each of the stations during the year.

FENELON FALLS.

The boom dividing the steamboat channel from the log channel was repaired and placed in position. The new locks and canal under construction at this station are nearing completion.

LINDSAY.

The hulls of several old steamboats have been left in the river. One of these which had sunk near the wharf was removed last fall.

SCUGOG RIVER.

The sunken logs and snags which had drifted into the navigation channel were removed.

BOBCAYGEON.

The cribwork on the north side of the upper entrance to the canal was raised one stick and the whole filled with gravel. This now constitutes a solid embankment. A coat of Portland cement was placed on top of the pier of the swing bridge. The dams, which retain the water at Sturgeon Lake at navigable height, are in a very decayed condition and leak very badly. A new dam is urgently needed. A line of crib work was placed on the shore of the island at the lower entrance of the lock, to prevent boats and barges from grounding. This has been of great benefit to navigation.

BUCKHORN.

The piers of the south sluice were raised four courses high. The new lock and canal at this station are completed with the exception of the lock gates.

BURLEIGH.

The works at this station were erected for the benefit of the lumbermen, by a committee appointed by themselves. The works are much out of repair, and a memorial has, I believe, been addressed to the Department praying that the necessary repairs be done. New locks and dam are under construction at this point.

YOUNG'S POINT.

The new dam at this station has been about completed. The channel between the island and the Dummer shore was cleared of boulders to enable the logs to pass through.

LAKEFIELD.

The trade between this point and the upper lakes has much increased of late. A new steamboat has been placed on these waters this season. A boom is being placed on the stretch between here and Young's Point to separate the steamboat channel from the log channel. This will be of great benefit to navigation as the block of navigation by logs has been a great source of annoyance.

PETERBOROUGH.

The accumulations of sawdust in the lake and river have become so great that navigation in many places will cease in a very short time. An appropriation was made some two years ago for the removal of the sawdust, which was done, but it has all filled up again. The entrance of the river into Rice Lake is by three mouths, two of which formerly used for navigation have been closed by sawdust. Boats are now compelled to take the western channel, which adds considerably to the length of the route.

WHITLAW'S RAPIDS.

A cribwork 150 feet long was placed on the east side of the lower entrance of the lock to prevent the current from the river striking vessels approaching the lock. The upper lock gates were removed and some repairs done to the rollers and track. The sawdust is also a great source of annoyance here, as it banks up against the gates rendering them almost impossible to open.

HASTINGS.

Two new courses were placed on the tops of all the lock gates, and the opening gearing repaired. The back of the lock wall next to the river was rebuilt with loose masonry. The swing bridge received some slight repairs.

HEELY'S FALLS.

This dam retains the water between this point and the village of Hastings, a distance of about 15 miles. A break occurred in the dam during the spring of 1884. This was repaired.

CHISHOLMS.

This dam at this station was replanked. The lock chamber was painted with Portland cement. The sluiceway on the south side of the dam was prepared for the passage of timber. Logs will now be kept on the south side instead of passing over in front of the dam to the north side. A small steamboat has been placed on this stretch.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
RICHARD B. ROGERS,
Acting Superintending Engineer.

A. P. BRADLEY, ESQ.,
Sec. Department Railway and Canals.

Look Here.

Do you feel blue and despondent? Do pains rack and tear away at nerve and muscle, and have you been disappointed in finding a remedy that will afford certain and speedy relief. If so, go at once to any drug store and buy a sample bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Polson's Nerviline never fails to relieve neuralgia, cramps, headache, rheumatism, and all internal or external pains. J. B. Carman, druggist, Morrisburgh, writes: "All the parties I supply speak very favorably of Nerviline, and always purchase a second lot." Polson's Nerviline is sold in sample bottles at ten cents; large size 25 cents—by all druggists and country dealers everywhere. Try a ten cent bottle. d74-6t-w12-1t

What Does it Mean?

Personal.

Mr. Geo. Martin, who has become an experienced pressman, and learned the business in the EXAMINER office, left for Toronto on Saturday. Mr. Martin, during his apprenticeship and afterwards, when in our employ, was an attentive and regular employee only absent from his duties when taking regular holidays or through illness. We wish him every success and feel sure that he will give good satisfaction in his new position.

Mr. Frank Karch, jeweller, with Mr. W. A. Sanderson, left town this afternoon on a business trip to Montreal.

Not Now Admissable.

We received for publication this morning a letter from a reverend gentleman, dealing with the recent arrest of the Salvation Army, in which the writer expresses the sentiments of a large portion of the community. But, as the matter is sub judice, it would be improper to admit to our columns a letter which might in any way prejudice the matter. After a dicision is given—on March 31st—we shall give the letter publicity.

Police Court.

Geo. Lipsett, Jr., and Arthur Lipsett charged with Larceny—Some Strange Revelations by a Witness.

At the Police Court this morning George Lipsett, Sr., of Ashburnham, was charged with having committed a breach of the liquor law by selling liquor on Sunday. He admitted the charge. Enlarged till to-morrow.

George and Arthur Lipsett, 12 and 14 years old, sons of Mr. George Lipsett, hotelkeeper, of Ashburnham, were arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble charged with larceny, with having feloniously stolen $72 from Jas. Morrisey. The prisoners who were brought before Police Magistrate Dumble last night on a warrant issued upon the information of Morrisey, and allowed off on bail, appeared in court this morning. They pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried summarily by the Magistrate.

Jas. Morrisey was sworn and testified that on Sunday last, during the afternoon he met John Swanson. He asked Swanson to go up to Lipsett's and have some beer, which they did. He saw Mr. Lipsett in the dining room, and asked him to come and have a drink. They, Morrisey, Swanson, Geo. Lipsett, Sr., and Geo. Lipsett, Jr., went into the bar. They had beer. Morrisey spoke to Lipsett about a little account he owed and which he said he would pay in the morning, but that he had plenty of money with him. While they were in the bar Arthur Lipsett entered, but he did not know how. They had four treats. He took his pocket book, containing $72, out of his trouser pocket, and put it in his right hand coat pocket, remarking that he had enough silver to pay for the drinks without breaking a bill. After they had finished drinking he thought of his pocket book, and putting his hand in his pocket he found it was gone. The money was his winter's wages for working in the shanties. He asked the others to give him his purse, thinking they had taken it as a joke. Receiving no purse or reply, he, speaking to the prisoners, told them he would tell their father if they did not give it up. Johnny Swanson, who was standing on his left side, came round to his right side where Arthur Lipsett was standing, and asked him what he was doing in his (Morrisey's) pocket. Arthur denied that he was searching Morrisey's pocket. Swanson then asked Arthur what he handed to his brother, George, who was behind the bar. He answered "only a pack of cards." He then went and complained to Mr. Lipsett, who said the boy would give it up if he had it. He then went for Constable Craig, who told him he could not get a warrant till Monday. The defendant, on being questioned by Mr. A. E. Peck, counsel for the plaintiff, explained how he had became possessed of the money, and how he knew he had it with him. He also told how he had spent the previous part of the day. Before he went to Lipsett's he started to go to town, but changed his mind when near the Otonabee bridge, where he put his winter's earnings, $50, into the purse, where he had $22 and some cents. He put the silver in his pocket and the bills, amounting to $72, in his purse.

John Swanson, was sworn and testified that he went into Lipsett's hotel on Sunday afternoon. They had several drinks. He could not remember the number. He confirmed the evidence Morrisey with regard what passed in the bar and then said he was not certain of what took place. Morrisey accused them collectively of taking the pocket book. He noticing Arthur Lipsett close to Morrisey's right hand pocket asked him what he was searching for. Arthur denied that he was searching Morrisey's pocket. He saw Arthur hand something to George, who was behind the bar and he asked him what it was. Arthur replied it was only a pack of cards. He did not show the cards. The room was dark but he could not say how it was lighted. When cross examined by Mr. A. E. Peck he said he heard Morrisey say something about calling in in the morning to settle a bill but did not know whether he said he had or had not the money with him. He was also uncertain about the positions. He had been drinking before he went to Lipsett's. In the morning Morrisey called at their place to see some shanty companions. Morrisey treated at their place. He had a drink but could not say what Morrisey took. He thought he drank some liquor.

When asked who served the liquor at his, Swanson's house, he asked if it was necessary that he should answer.

The Magistrate told him to proceed and he stated that it was his mother.

The Magistrate ordered an information to be served.

Swanson continued, that Johnston, a companion of Morrisey's, was present at Swanson's in the morning. He, Swanson, borrowed 50c. from Morrisey. He could not tell where. In the bar-room he said in a joke that Johnson had taken the money. He also admitted that he and Morrisey had a drink at Irwin's.

The magistrate noted this also.

Examined by Mr. O'Meara, he said he was not sure if Morrisey drank beer at Irwin's, but it was something out of a tumbler. He was sure of his own drink, but nothing else. In Lipsett's he had asked Morrisey if he lost a revolver. He did not know what put it in his head. Mr. O'Meara suggested that his head was revolving. He admitted he was not sober.

Mr. Peck submitted that this was no evidence. Swanson's was not satisfactory and Morrisey was not sufficient.

The Magistrate held that Morrisey's evidence was very accurate and unshaken. Swanson's evidence, though stupid, confirmed Morrisey's in many points. He thought it sufficient to hold the prisoners for trial. There was no doubt that either the prisoners or Swanson took the purse.

Geo. Lipsett was called. He was at home, in the dining room on Sunday when Morrisey called. They asked for a drink. He said they had had enough, but finally consented, and told his son George to give them a drink. He with others went into the bar room. Morrisey mentioned something about an account he owed and said he had not the money with him but would pay him in the morning. Swanson stood next to Morrisey's right hand pocket, when he was in the room. His other evidence was in conformity with that of Morrisey.

Mr. Welsh was called. He had seen Morrisey at Swanson's in the morning, but could not tell if he drank or not.

Both cases were enlarged till to-morrow.

Peterborough A. A. A.

Annual Meeting of a Flourishing Organization.

There was a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association held at the rooms of the Young Conservative Association last night. Great interest was manifested in the welfare of the Association. The President, Dr. Burnham, occupied the chair, a position he will continue to hold, for he was re-elected by acclamation as a tribute to the success of his energetic services on behalf of the association.

Mr. J. K. Hammond, secretary, presented an elaborate report, covering the ground since the organization of the association, and showing a year of most unexampled success for a sporting organization in the initial stage of its existence. Last year there was a membership of nearly 160—150—and the total receipts from members' fees amounted to $450. The organization is designed to invest manly and out-door sports with respectability, and to foster and encourage the pursuit of athletics, under safeguards from the degrading influences and associations that too often attend them in other towns and cities. The sports and games held under the auspices of the association have been attended with great success, everything of an unfair or immoral tendency having been rigorously and successfully excluded.

The financial standing of the Association is in a healthy condition, Mr. A. St. A. Smith, Treasurer, reporting a credit balance of $61, with only a few unimportant outstanding liabilities.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

LADY PATRONESSES.—Mesdames Hamilton (Hon. Robert), Burnham, (Dr. Geo.), Lewis, (F. J.), and O'Sullivan, (Dr.)

PATRONS.—Rev. V. Clementi, His Honor, Judge Weller, Mr. Geo. A. Cox and Dr. Tassie.

HON. PRESIDENT,—Dr. R. P. Boucher.

HON. VICE-PRESIDENT,—Mr. R. A. Morrow.

PRESIDENT,—(re-elected) Dr. Geo. Burnham.

SECRETARY,—(re-elected) Mr. J. E. Hammond.

TREASURER,—(re-elected) Mr. A. St. A. Smith.

DIRECTORS,—Messrs. H. A. Hammond, R. B. Rogers, C. McGill, F. E. Bell, Arthur Stevenson, James Morris, A. Gibson and J. H. Long.

The vice-presidents are selected from amongst the directors.

The utmost unanimity characterized the proceedings and consultations of the meeting and the esprit du corps manifested gives promise of a most enthusiastic and successful prosecution of the objects of the Association for the coming season.

And these objects are not a few. The several clubs constituting the Association consist of cricket club, football club, lawn tennis club, baseball club, bicycle club, snowshoe and tobogan club.

Every one present at the meeting became subscribers for the coming season, the membership present representing fees to the amount of $115.

After votes of thanks to the ladies and gentlemen taking part in the dramatic entertainment on behalf of the Association, the meeting adjourned.

The French Free Trade Party.

A Free Trade party is being formed in the Chamber of Deputies. The leaders are MM. Passy, Guyot, LaLande, Achard, Faure and Duval. They have issued a manifesto calling for the abolition of protective duties which they say oppress the workman and hinder the development of trade.

Personal.

Mr. W. H. Dayman and bride arrived home last evening, after a two weeks bridal tour. Mr. Dayman is at his old post to-day, and receiving the congratulations of many friends.

Gustav Mercier, the absconding clerk of the Banque Nationale, Montreal, is to be extradited.

A steamboat war is threatened on the St. Lawrence between Quebec and Montreal. Mr. Senecal tried to settle the differences, but failed.

On Thursday the well-known "Dumfries mills," of Galt, were sold to John Cherry, of Preston, formerly of the Red mills, Guelph, for $14,700.

The Montreal police on Saturday received a number of bogus $2 bills in their pay. The counterfeit was good, but the paper was of a poor quality.

While Ira Delamatter was driving near Foothill he found the dead body of a man lying quite near the road. Coroner Cumines, of Welland, was immediately notified. The body was identified as that of Lewis Neil, missing since early in January. It is supposed that he was frozen to death.

FORESTERS FUNERAL.

On Friday afternoon the members of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F. to the number of between 35 and 40 turned out to pay the last tribute of respect to the memory of their late Brother Geo. Allen, who died from inflammation of the lungs, contracted while serving on the jury at the last county court in Peterborough. The members assembled in the court room and then drove out to Brother Allen's late residence, 7th concession Smith, where they took the casket in charge and returned to Smith cemetery, where it was laid at rest with the service in use by the order. Brother Allen was attended by the order during his long and painful illness, and his wife and children will soon receive his endowment, which will assist her and them in their battle with the world.

A RECRUIT.

We understand that a well known livery proprietor of the village has yielded to the seductive charms of the tamborine and big drum and joined the Army. On Sunday his portly form showed to advantage as he drilled a squad of young recruits and handled the drum sticks with artistic grace, while his rendering of "Hold the Fort" was simply perfection, showing a depth of culture and finish which astonished those who were fortunate enough to be present.

VILLAGE BY-LAW.

We understand that a recount of the votes taken on the by-law to purchase property for village purposes, has been demanded from the judge, and that the same will take place in due time, the cause being that a number of those voting are not bona fide owners.

BURLEIGH WORKS.

Work on the Burleigh and Lovesick locks is being pushed with vigour, and it is expected that the excavation will be finished in about ten days and construction proceeded with at once.

PRESENTATION.

On Tuesday evening last the members of the choir and a few of the members of the Presbyterian Church waited on Mr. Geo. R. Shields at his residence, prior to his departure for the Northwest. A very sociable evening was spent during the course of which the following address was presented accompanied with a handsome Bible, hymnal and purse:

To Mr. G. R. Shields:

DEAR FRIEND,—The members of the choir and a few of the friends in the congregation, learning of your intention to make in the far West your future home, feel that they cannot let the occasion pass without, in some small way, showing their respect and esteem which is the growth of a quarter of a century, spent in our midst and in a variety of capacities, but whether as protector of the peace, at the council board, or in the various offices of the church, your uniformly straightforward character has won the esteem of all.

We beg of you, therefore, to accept the accompanying Bible, hymn book and purse as a slight token of our esteem, a token, which, although small in value, yet bears with it the kindest wishes of an abundant share of prosperity in your new home, and when you think of former privileges and the Christian associations of Lakefield, you may the more gratefully sing these songs of Zion.

It may not be our lot to meet again in this world, but may we not look forward to a glorious reunion in that land where partings are no more. Signed, on behalf of the members of the choir,

ROBERT GRAHAM,
DAVID SMITH.

Mr. Graham read the address and Mr. Smith made the presentation.

Mr. Shields, on rising to reply, stated that he was completely taken by surprise, this was entirely unexpected, and expressed his thanks to those who had so kindly made him so useful and valuable a present, and that he would use them to the honor and glory of God; they would always bring the people of Lakefield to his remembrance, not that they would be required to do so, for they would always have a warm place in his heart.

After those present joining in a hymn, Rev. J. McEwen, the pastor, read the 103rd Psalm and offered up a prayer.

Refreshments were then passed around by the ladies, and a pleasant evening was brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Fine ordered clothing in Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, and French and English Worsted Suitings a specialty at Hall, Innes & Co's. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Zion.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Our Ladies' Aid scored a success altogether unique in the oyster supper and concert of 18th inst. The edibles so savoury were partaken of with such a relish as to elicit from the waiters an occasional, Great Scott! what masticators.

According as the guests lost their appetites they repaired to the church, where hung the autograph quilt, as awe-inspiring and respectable a mystery as a Hebrew record from Noah's ark. Notwithstanding the cries of Metaphysics! which hailed the conception of this design, each servant looked upon the work with an air which plainly said:—"Is not this great Babylon that I have built?"

The concert was an intellectual and physical tonic well calculated to digest a feast.

Since the founding of the Aid each particular member has vindicated the honour and integrity of her name. From their amiable discussions has come a good never to be expected in an inquiring age, and they have left a monument that may outlive nations.

"Thanks, loving thanks for thy large work and will, Zion is glad of thee."

THE TEMPERANCE COLONIZATION COMPANY.

Persons in this vicinity, who, at one time took so much interest—and principal too—in the organization of the temperance colonization company, on account of the auspices under which it was projected, and who expected that the enterprise would be honorably conducted, will learn with surprise if they have not before learned, how affairs were managed, from the following which appears in the Monetary Times:

The manipulation of the affairs of the Temperance Colonization Company, as revealed in the judgment of Mr. Justice Galt in an action brought by J. A. Livingstone against the company, reveals one of the worst scandals in the modern history of joint stock companies. Everything was done by five persons; and seldom have such things been done by any body of managers before. Large quantities of bonds were disposed of before any were obtained; subscriptions were taken, when the manager had no idea of the position of the future Eden. Instead of possessing, as the promoters pretended, a tract of 2,000,000 acres, they had nothing beyond a mere claim to 213,760 acres. Livingstone, the Company's agent, claimed 10 per cent. commission for obtaining subscribers; and he got matters so arranged that he was to be paid out of the first payments received. But the whole thing was, at this time, moonshine; the company had no bonds and the subscription lists were not binding on the subscribers. The contract between the promoters and the agent of the company was binding. A syndicate of a few persons put themselves in a preferential position, and tried to make money out of the company, by a juggle of dividing lands into "thirds," and appropriating to themselves the first third. The favored parties were to get stock at the rate of $110 for $300 worth. In the company's accounts $301,000 was set down as "cash disbursements on lands," when, in the words of the judge, "it is painful to know that only $64,000 was paid, and the rest had been appropriated by the original subscribers to their own use;" in other words the accounts were falsified to cover up money which the jugglers had juggled into their own pockets. Livingstone had known how to select his partners, and between him and them there is not much to choose. Livingstone's enormous claim for commissions was disallowed, and judgment against him in favor of the company for $55,131 with costs was given.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The composition of the Dominion Cabinet, according to religious faith is said to be as follows:—Six Roman Catholics, five Episcopalians, three Presbyterians, and one open communion Baptist.

There is again a suspicious delay over the awarding of contracts for the Welland Canal masonry. No satisfactory explanation has ever been given as to why new tenders were called for, and certain contract brokers who profess to be able to secure contracts for anybody that gives them their price are just now boasting that no contractor who is supposed to sympathize with the Reform party has any chance of getting a share in the Welland contracts.

Secretary of State Chapleau continues to take advantage of the unsettled condition of the Parliamentary and Departmental printing contracts to farm out Government jobs among the newspapers which support him, and in some of which he is financially interested. Mr. Chapleau brazenly admits that his newspapers receive higher prices for printing than those paid to the regular contractors, thus acknowledging that he is filching money from the public treasury to keep up his personal organs. The Secretary of State will do his utmost to prevent new contracts being made for public printing.

Mr. Dalton McCarthy, M.P., has again introduced his railway measure, which is so impracticable, that Parliament has more than once sat on his whim. It is unfortunate that this course should again be taken at moment the most ill-judged in the interests of railways which exercise so vast and beneficial an influence upon the progress and development of a new country, especially. The Montreal Shareholder says:—"Since this same project was last brought before its consideration the entire railway system of the country has gone through an era of depression, almost distress, beyond all precedent in railroad annals. The closest economy, not to say parsimony, has been perforce invoked to avoid the most fatal of all conceivable results. Dividends have been passed, an army of employees has been either disbanded entirely or cut down unavoidably both as to wages and time of labor, and many other all but insurmountable difficulties have had to be faced. And just at the moment when there arise a few hopeful signs that this epoch of disaster may be on the point of passing away, all this vast interest is threatened with a senseless and indefensible interference having no higher justification than the gratification of the vanity of a private member who, it is ridiculous, would himself escape scatheless from the ruin he is at work to bring about."

Sensible Societies.

At a meeting of the Directors of the East Durham Agricultural Society held Monday, a communication was received from the Hope Agricultural Society offering to join the county society for the purpose of holding a union exhibition at Port Hope next fall. On motion the offer was accepted and the time of holding the show was fixed for the 5th and 6th of October next. The utmost harmony prevailed and all were determined to work for the success of the exhibition. Several new features will be introduced and we may look forward with satisfaction to the event.—Port Hope Times.

Parnell and the Land Purchase Bill.

LONDON, March 29.—The Daily Telegraph says:—Mr. Parnell, who has been quasi-officially informed of the progress of Irish matters in the Cabinet, said: When the giving of precedence to the Land Purchase Bill was proposed that he was unable to support the proposition, as his colleagues in Parliament were strongly opposed to the adoption of any course that would delay the discussion of the question of Home Rule. In accordance with the declaration the Land Purchase Bill was withdrawn in the back ground.

A Word to the Unconverted.

For the Examiner:

"And I will give them an heart to know Me." &c. Jer. 24 7.

Dear friends, still unconverted,
How can you so delay
To give your hearts to Jesus
When He waits day by day,
With yearning heart your precious,
Immortal soul to save,
For which you know He freely
His life on Calvary gave?

You say you feel no sorrow
For sin, and cannot be
The burden'd ones that Jesus
Invites, "Come unto Me."
You know you are a sinner,
And can't be saved unless You're pardon'd and accepted
In Christ, your righteousness.

Would you not act more wisely,
To come and spread your case
Before the Lord, beseeching
His justifying grace.
Your doubts and fears concerning
Right feelings, throw aside,
And cast yourselves on Jesus
In Him your all confide.

At every heart Christ knocketh
If 'any man' but say,
"Come in, O blessed Saviour,'
He'll be his guest alway.
Thine heart of stone His Spirit
Will by His grace remove
And give thee one o'erflowing
With thy Redeemer's love.

True love to Jesus floweth
From love divinely shed
Abroad in hearts that meekly
Are by His Spirit led.
Accept His full salvation,
And pray to fashion'd be
By His own gracious Spirit,
And He will perfect thee.

Your hope, so dim, He'll brighten;
Your faith, so weak, increase,
And joy of new found pardon
Merge in abiding peace,
When you are Christ's, He'll give you
Desires and aims anew,
And to the world's vain pleasures
You'll gladly bid adieu.

O, that we could persuade you
That Jesus' yoke is light,
That we have found his service
One of supreme delight.
We know our Heavenly Father
Protects us with his care,
The Saviour's loving presence
Is with us everywhere.

O, sad mistake, to fancy
That being Christ's will cloud
Your pathway with grim shadows
And every joy enshroud.
Ah, no. His spirit filleth
Our souls with holy joy,
And peace the world can't give us
Or power of saith destroy.

The Jay Gould Strike.

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—It is hoped that the great railway strike, on the Jay Gould system would be ended by the agreement arrived at between Jay Gould and Grand Master Powderly, but it appears that the men will not resume. Powderly's dispatch directing the striking knights to return to work was received at 2.30 this morning. Mr. Irons will start for St. Louis. Immediately upon arriving here he will preside over a meeting of his committee, which will then comply with Powderly's order to declare the strike ended. J. J. McGary, judge advocate of the knights, was asked this morning: "Will the men go back to work on Powderly's orders?" "No, sir, not until other matters are arbitrated upon, and then, no matter how this arbitration results, all the men must be taken back without any discrimination being shown against and for being leaners or for any other cause."

NEW YORK, March 29.—Hoxie has telegraphed Gould, stating that the men have not resumed work, as they were ordered to do by Powderly.

The latest development in the labor troubles comes from the Windsor Hotel, New York, where the waiters threaten to strike unless they are allowed to wear moustaches.

At a special meeting of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council on Saturday night it was decided to take steps towards the erection of a hall.

Toronto.

TORONTO, March 29.—Workmen are busy this morning clearing away the debris of yesterday's fire at the Central Prison—the origin of which to the present is a mystery, and which caused damage to the amount of $10,000. Mr. Massie's loss is greater than be at first supposed, many things being consumed which he valued highly, and which he could not replace.

Motion will be made at Osgoode Hall this afternoon or to-morrow morning to commit Henry O'Brien, solicitor for W. H. Howland, for contempt of court in writing a letter to the press reflecting upon the judgment of the Master in Chancery in unseating his client.

Instigators of quo warranto proceedings to unseat Howland as Mayor assert that he cannot even yet qualify, and that a nomination on Thursday a protest will be entered. Should Howland be elected again, they may quo warranto proceedings will be instituted at once to unseat him. There is great diversity of opinion of the question of Howland's qualification even yet.

Look Here.

Do you feel blue and despondent? Do pains rack and tear away at nerve and muscle, and have you been disappointed in finding a remedy that will afford certain and speedy relief. If so, go at once to any drug store and buy a sample bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Polson's Nerviline never fails to relieve neuralgia, cramps, headache, rheumatism, and all internal or external pains. J. B. Carman, druggist, Morrisburgh, writes: "All the parties I supply speak very favorably of Nerviline, and always purchase a second lot." Polson's Nerviline is sold in sample bottles at ten cents; large size 25 cents—by all druggists and country dealers everywhere. Try a ten cent bottle. d74-6t-w13-1t

Madre E Hijo,

What Does it Mean?

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, on ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive right to a deed given for each and every county he may employ from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that "must be sold in every household," it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $120 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a fair trial and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine sellers and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 28th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 84 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

The Salvation Army occuped the sidewalk last night in their parade. They were not interfered with.

The Evangelistic Services.

The evangelistic meeting in St. Paul's Church last night was largely attended, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. Mr. Schiveras will hold a meeting in the same place to-night.

Oratorio.

Professor Parker and a choir of thirty voices will render Farmer's sacred oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," in St. Luke's school room, on Wednesday, March 31st, at 8 p.m. Tickets 25 cents.

A Trade Mark.

The firm of Rush Bros. have branded their place of business with their trade mark, "Rush Bros.," which now appears on their sign board in large, black, Gothic letters on a white background. There will be no trouble in finding their place of business now.

Press Improvement.

The Barrie Examiner has made a new departure, resulting in a most creditable improvement to that journal. It has discarded the old blanket sheet and adopted the now almost universal eight-page form, besides introducing typographical improvements worthy of one of our best rural weeklies. We wish our contemporary every success.

Visitors at the Castle.

There are now 26 vagrants fed and sheltered under the roof of the jail. The majority of them have worked on the C. P. R. They are willing to work and do cheerfully what they are obliged to do. One vag who has been quartered at the jail for the last three winters, is a painter and capital whitewasher, and is busily engaged in spring house-cleaning. He is calcimining the Court House at present.

Dr. Washington,

Throat and Lung Surgeon, of Toronto and Halifax, has arrived at the Grand Central, where he will remain until Wednesday evening, March 31st. Now is the golden opportunity to consult one of the most eminent throat and lung surgeons in America. Call and see his "new mettrox" and instruments by which cold medicated vapor is conveyed to the seat of disease. Consultation free.

Beautiful new designs in Tapestry Carpets at 30c. and 35c. per yard, at Hall, Innes & Co's.

The Cup Contest.

The point game for the club cup which has been interesting the local curling club for the past week, was finished yesterday evening. Mr. J. B. Pentland scored the highest number of points, 13, and takes possession of the cup for a season, as the distinguished club cup bearer. His opponents say it was his "drawing" abilities that won the game for him. This game, in all probability, finished the season's curl.

A Fish Fiend.

An exemplary but very inquisitive young man while walking down George Street last night, had his eye attracted by the bright scales of fish in a basket, on exhibition in front of a grocer's store. By force of habit he asked aloud what kind of fish they were, where they were caught and might have been inquiring yet, had not a loafer who was standing by answered him: "Bass, I speared 181 of them fish in one hour last——." The inquisitive young man left with his thoughts filled with fish stories.

Business Closed.

The "stock exchange" recently put into working here has suspended operations and its offices have been closed—the rent not being forthcoming. It was found that this town is not large enough to supply the requisite number of patrons to maintain an institution of this kind. The patrons it did secure could not "stay" long enough on the ragged edge of the 'margin' to catch the golden opportunity of selling to advantage. Honest work at a dollar a day will, in the long run and as a rule, pay better than the bull and bear ups and downs of life on 'change.

"East Lynne" "Carrots."

The Egbert Dramatic Company continues to give their popular performances at the Opera House every evening. All who witness their plays agree that the Egbert Company is the best that has visited Peterborough for some time. Unfortunately their audiences are not as large as their performances merit. The emotional drama "East Lynne" was given last night in a most acceptable manner. Miss Kate Glassford, as "Lady Isabell" and "Madame Vine" was exceptionally fine. Mr. T. F. Egbert made a capital Francis Levison, the villian. The popular play of "Carrots" will be given to-night and should be well attended.

Madre E Hijo,

What Does it Mean?

A Flourishing Manufacturing Establishment.

Abundance of Business and Business Area Expanding.

With all the cry of business depression heard on all sides, it is gratifying to know that Peterborough business generally enjoys a less share of the 'doleful dumps' than the country generally. One establishment, at any rate, does not suffer from lack of business. The William Hamilton Manufacturing Company has all the business, in its several departments, it is able to handle and it cannot do more without an extension of the premises, now utilized to their fullest capacity.

An EXAMINER representative dropping in this morning was pleased to hear the place from end to end resonant with the hum of industry.

In the boiler shop workmen were busy on the second of the two mammoth boilers, built by this company for the steamer "Meteor," Collingwood. These immense boilers are of ½ inch steel plate. Their diameter is 9 feet and their full length, each 11, feet 4 inches, and their weight 17 tons each. One has been shipped to Collingwood and the other will be ready and sent away next Monday or Tuesday. This firm has gained a high reputation for this kind of work and their frequent orders show how well their productions are appreciated.

In the machinery department the hum is of equal vigour. Among other things, work is going forward on a pair of twin circular saws—for slabbing two sides of a log at one cut—for Hurd, Hotchkiss, & Whiffle, of St. Regis' Falls, New York State. Accompanying the saws are the requisite "ways," steam feed apparatus, pulleys, gears, etc. This firm, hearing of the excellence of the work of the Wm. Hamilton Company, wrote for figures, and these, when sent, in spite of a heavy protective tariff, were so satisfactory that an order was at once given. This shows how the fame and name of the establishment for high class, strong, durable work is extending.

This morning there arrived by express some machinery for repair from Mr. Peter McLaren's mills on the Mississippi This had to pass several other establishments to reach the one where Mr. McLaren could get his work securely and satisfactorily done.

Another instance. A gentleman from Sherbroooke, P. Q., after visiting many of the leading manufacturing establishments of Ontario without success, came to Peterborough, and after being conducted over the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company's premises, remarked to his conductor, "I think I needn't to go any farther; I can get what I want here," and he is now one of the customers of the establishment. First-class work, strong, durable and well put together, attracts the attention of a superior class of customers who will have no boilers nor mill machinery except it is of the best, such as is turned out by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company.

Remember the date of Hall, Innes & Co's Millinery Opening, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 1st, 2nd and 3rd April.

For the best value in groceries, wines and liquors, go to Morrow, Tierney & Co's, where will be found a full stock of the cheapest groceries and purest liquors. Call and secure the full value of your money.

A Quartette.

Police station statistics show an increase in the tramp family last night. Four friends of the travellers' association (unlimited) registered with the clerk last night.

Surveying the Site.

We understand that Mr. Thos. Hewson has received instructions from Ottawa to at once survey that portion of the Sawers site on which it is said the Government has decided to erect the new post-office.

Released on Bail.

Bail was accepted for Mr. Alex. Hamill this afternoon, his father, Mr. John Hamill, and his uncle, Mr. Robert Hamill, both of Hope township, each giving $500 security for his appearance in court when wanted. He gives $1,000 bail for himself.

To the Afflicted

Dr. N. Washington, M. D., L. C. P. S. O., Toronto and Halifax, will be at the Grand Central Hotel, Peterborough, on March 29th, 30th and 31st for consultation upon and treatment of Throat and Lung Diseases, in the successful treatment of which he has a well-earned pre-eminence.

To The Gentlemen.

In addition to our tailoring department, we show a magnificent stock of Gents' furnishings, and our stock is augmented to-day with three cases, consisting of Ties, Scarfs, Collars, Cuffs, White Shirts, Regatta Shirts, Silk Umbrellas, etc. For the newest things in Ties and Collars come to the Golden Lion.

R. FAIR.

Ready to Admit.

Every one is ready to admit, there is a great advantage in getting their boots and shoes made to order, providing they have not to pay the price of two pair for one. Johnston Carey is making them to order as cheap as they can be bought ready made. He is now ready to fill all orders on short notice, as he has a full set of first class workmen in the custom department.

A Strange Witness.

The evidence of John Swanson at the police court this morning, was amusing and ridiculous. When questioned he would look at his interrogater with a helpless look, then at the plaintiff as if for information, then at his boots as if for consolation when he would blurt out his answer, which he was not sure of the next minute. During his stand he informed on two hotel-keepers for selling liquor on Sunday, much against his will. Mr. J. O'Meara said he was the worst specimen of a witness he ever had the misfortune to tackle. Mr. A. E. Peck seemed pleased with him.

New Spring Dry Goods.

Messrs. Giroux & Sullivan, this week, will exhibit the finest assortment of new spring dry goods in every department throughout their vast establishment. We are now prepared to show in each department throughout our establishment the most complete stock of staple and fancy dry goods ever placed before our patrons at any previous season. We have carefully studied the interest of all classes in their wants, and our selections are only first-class and reliable goods, from the cheapest to the finest qualities. We have no hesitation in stating that our stock and assortment are the most complete in town, and at prices beyond the reach of all legitimate competition. Inspection invited. See our advertisement in another column. GIROUX & SULLIVAN.

Saturday's Dominion Gazette announced that his excellency the Governor-General had disallowed the acts incorporating the Emerson and Northwestern railway and the Manitoba Central railway companies amending acts.

Gone but not Forgotten.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—Will you kindly allow me a few lines in your valuable paper to call the attention of your readers to the Free Exhibition and Museum of Anatomical Curiosities at present situated on the corner of Brock and Water Streets. The collection at present consists of a deceased canine and a cat that has lost its usefulness. It is highly probable that the collection will soon be augmented by a few more dead quadrupeds. Attention was called in your paper many weeks ago to the presence of the dog in that locality. It seems to me an extraordinary state of things that such a high scented and unsightly nuisance should not be removed by some one of the town's paid servants.

Respectfully yours,

P. D. Q.

A Canadian Composer.

Mrs. J. W. F. Harrison, of Ottawa, and formerly of Montreal, although already well known as a contributor to magazines and a litterateur of promise, has, by publishing several musical compositions in England, established herself in the front rank of Canadian musicians. Mr. E. Ashdown, of Hanover square, London, has lately published "An Old Fashioned Love Song," and Messrs. Hutchings & Co., of Blenheim house, another song with words by Geo. Weatherby, one of the editors of Cassells' Magazine. Mrs. Harrison has written for the most part under the nom de plume of "Seranus," which a few years back gained her such favour as the author of the "Song of Welcome," the "Poet's Sunday," and a series of poetical contributions to Canadian literature, which are interesting and unique.

Friday Fatality.

Persons who have a superstitious dread of Friday will not be pleased to learn that this is a thoroughly Friday year. It came in on a Friday, will go out on a Friday, and will have fifty-three Fridays. There are 4 months in the year that have five Fridays each changes of the moon occur five times on a Friday, and the longest and shortest day of the year, each falls on a Friday.

The Salvation Army and Their Late Arrest.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—I desire through your columns to submit a question or two, and a few observations relative to the Salvation Army and their processions.

One day last week a number of these people were arrested by the police, and had to appear before the magistrate of the town. The law under which they were arrested is the law against vagrants, and drunken and disorderly persons who disturb the public peace.

Now, with all due respect to our authorities and the community generally, we submit for their serious consideration, whether this law was intended to prohibit religious processions, even though such processions be attended with singing and musical instruments? On the evening of the day when these Salvationists were arrested, the writer happened to be walking on George street, when suddenly there came along a band of music, and taking up a position on the sidewalk in front of the Opera House, began to play. Being fond of music, numbers began to gather around and crowd the sidewalk. And I observed some horses passing, one of which was somewhat scared. However, as the band of music was designed only to entice people to the theatrical performance, no one interfered, and none of the musicians were arrested. I stood, and looked and presently saw the Police Magistrate pass by. Then I thought, we shall see a policeman now sent to stop that, and clear the sidewalk. But no; the Magistrate came by again presently, and acted wisely. The reason why the Salvation band was interfered with and this we could not divine. The former had not so many musical instruments nor did they play quite so skilfully, nor did they take up a standing position on the sidewalk in front of the Council Chamber. If it were for these reasons, our Salvation friends had better hurry up and obtain more instruments, practice more, and serenade in front of and in honor of some of the town establishments. Then, perhaps, they may be able to sing as heartily as ever,

"Free from the law,
Oh! happy condition."

But seriously, Mr. Editor, if the law of vagrancy be interpreted to mean all who walk in processions with bands of music and sing Psalms and Hymns and Hallelujahs, I am afraid we shall have to arrest a great many.

Our Oddfellows sometimes go thus in procession; and last summer they sang their Hymns, &c. The Mason fraternities also occasionally march: but I never heard them sing their "Hallelujahs!" The Orangemen have glorious processions occasionally with any number of bands of music; and I have heard them "hurrah!" so loud and long, that it was enough to frighten all the horses and dogs in the neighbourhood. They did not intend to. It was simply their mode of "hallelujahing," expressing their gladness and thankfulness for an open Bible.

Our Roman Catholic friends are also fond of music and processions, particularly on special occasions. Indeed, the writer was nearly run over only a few weeks ago in the procession formed to meet the Bishop on his return from Rome. And I suppose in a short time, on the Fete Dieu in Montreal and other places they will have very grand processions. Even the English Church have now their Salvation Armies, who march in the streets with their music and songs, in the old land, and I read not long ago of our staid Presbyterian friends in some of the villages of Scotland, on a part of the sea coast, being so happy in God that they marched from village to village singing their psalms and hymns and even dancing before the Lord as did David of old. So that if all such persons were to be arrested as vagrants, we should really arrest, I fear, some of the best in the land. But these Salvationists, it is said, "are contemptible—a low, miserable lot who deserve to be put down." Who are they? Are they drunkards? A short time ago some of them were. Now they are temperate. Are they thieves—vicious, ungodly, wicked persons? Many of them say they once were very bad. But now they are striving and praying and endeavouring to live piously and virtuously, as servants of Jesus Christ. Ought not this to make good men rejoice? Why do they march as they do? To arrest the public attention, and influence the intemperate and the wicked of all classes to come to hear their testimony of Christ, what he hath done for them; that they, too, may be saved. Is it not desirable? Would it not be a good thing if all the intemperate were saved; if all the low, vile sinners in the community were influenced to be good, and become true soldiers of the cross? Who would not like to see them all so changed and marching through the streets, as Bulwer says Christians did of old, at the destruction of Pompeii, singing hymns to the Nazarene, or Christ?

If there be a law to prevent this, or that may be so interpreted, we submit whether it would not be wiser to ignore it than to enforce it? Our Saviour would do this even with the strict law of the Sabbath to save an ox, much more to save men. I am sure our magistrate will do the right, according to his judgment. And I write this simply to express what, I am sure is the sentiment of a great many Christians in this community, that if these good people, who are incessantly labouring to bless and save the outcasts of men and others, were either fined or imprisoned, it would be felt as an occasion of shame and grief. They have assured the writer they only walk on the sidewalks when the streets are muddy, and then in single file on the outside of the walk, that they may not jostle or interfere with any one in their marching; and are careful also not to frighten horses or do any injury whatsoever. Then, let them march and play their music as well as others. As a lover of music and marching for Christ, and all who are doing all possible good to the sons of men, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
G. H. DAVIS.

Peterborough, March 29th.

Hastings.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The funeral sermon of the late Mrs. English was delivered in the Methodist church on Sunday evening last by the pastor Rev. W. Limbert, who took for his text the following: "For me to live is Christ, to die is gain.

We have the sad duty to record the death of one of our respected citizens, viz., that of Mr. T. Beamish, blacksmith, who departed this life on Monday at 2:30 o'clock, after a very short illness. In the midst of life we are in death. The departed was a member of the Royal Templars of Temperance.

Mr. J. H. Scriver returned from a week's trip last Friday, having gone to New York on business in connection with the Harlem estate.

All who wish to see a grand display of millinery should call on Mrs. E. J. Cobain on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 12 13 and 14 of April. We bespeak for Mrs. C. large crowds those days, as she will show some choice goods.

The Ketchum Concert Company, of Chicago, are billed for here Tuesday night. (All lovers of good music should not miss this grand treat.) They intend organizing a convention for the general improvement of singing. Quite a number have already promised their support, and quite a large class may be expected. They were spoken very highly of in Trenton, Omemee, &c.

An example of two of our hotel-keepers was made last week for selling liquor during prohibited hours, and paid the usual fine—beware of the Scott Act—it must and shall be enforced, so says the Scott Act convention held two weeks ago in Cobourg.

Spring is here. So say our weather prophets; by the look of the wheels he is not far out.

Mrs. Cassidy advertises her millinery opening on 1st, 2nd, and 3rd of April. Mrs. C. has got nicely settled in Mrs. Renwick's old stand, and will be pleased to see all at her opening.

The Royal Templars of Temperance held their regular meeting last Friday night, and by all appearances intend to boom things along again. The District Deputy of Northumberland and Peterborough will be there a week from Friday to help initiate several new members.

Mr. Wallace, druggist, is away visiting for a week or two. His place is being ably filled by Mr. Douglas, son of our esteemed friend, Mr. Douglas, of Warkworth.

Hastings being the head place in Canada for the sale of Harlem Stock and as several letters have been published concerning this stock we reprint the enclosed clipping from the American Agriculturist of March 1886.—

THE GREAT HARLEM LAND FRAUD.

Our minister to Great Britain, Mr. Phelps, has recently written a letter in which he complains of the interminable applications to him of "heirs" from the United States for property in England. He shows that such property does not exist, and that the "heirs" have their anxiety expenses, without reward or hope of reward. Notwithstanding all this, the business goes on to the profit of a lot of lawyers, and to the depletion of the pockets of deluded and disappointed claimants. It is only in novels that estates are wrested from their holders to the advantage of impecunious and unexpected heirs. As a matter of fact, undisputed possession and occupancy for a few years is a bar against these suddenly worked up claims. Mr. Phelps referred in his letter to the Townley and the Jennings estates, both subjects of mythical ownership by American citizens, and both in hands that will keep them against all objectors. The Anneke Jans case in this country, where a horde of claimants demand the property of the great Trinity Church corporation in New York city, is an apt illustration of the futility of this sort of thing. And now another comes to the front, which is quite as much of a fraud and swindle as any of the others. This is the claim of the Harlem region in New York city, under an assumed title from the coverts. This land is from 79th street on the east side of the city to 76th street on the west side, and up to the end of New York Island, an area of 7 or 8 miles long by from 1 to 2 broad, say 12 square miles, and worth perhaps $500,000,000. This is the grand prize coveted by the Covert heirs. The whole scheme is simply an egregious humbug, in which farmers and others in the interior are expected to engage with zealous activity. To every man and woman supposed to be a Covert heir, circulars are sent, produced with all the cheap and showy emblazoning of gorgeous promises and glittering rhetoric. Many of our subscribers are getting them already. Then a stock company is formed to promote the fraudulent enterprise, and shares are issued and sold to raise the money necessary to carry on the proceedings. Where do you suppose the money so raised goes? of course to the syndicate of legal minds that (rope in) the unwary who trust their promises. It is the revival of a forgotten fraud.

The Corporation Counsel of New York and the Tax Office know all about it and stamp the scheme as vile and unscrupulous, and without foundation.

The Harlem property was in farms 250 years ago under Dutch government, in 1664, when the English rule succeeded the land was granted to patentees some of it (in common); at various times since it has been divided by patentees and their descendents and been used and occupied by lawful possessors. Under English law this land descended to the oldest sons and their heirs. This particular Covert claim is through a female. The owners and occupants for more than two centuries, have their title deeds and the lands have been fenced in, except a few acres of marsh on the water margin. These are the hard facts of the case and they bar out the ridiculous claims made by their heirs, or rather by the alleged lawyers who have discovered the mare's nest and are, it is alleged, working it for all that it is worth. Give us the bottom facts.

Police Court.

A Large Docket—The Salvation Army Case Disposed of—The Larceny Case Continued.

A large docket and a large audience awaited Police Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court this morning.

The first case called was that of Nettie Simmons, remanded to jail a week ago on a charge of vagrancy. She was discharged and will be sent to her home in Stirling.

Two cases for violation of the liquor act were dismissed, the defendants having implicated themselves while giving evidence yesterday in the larceny case.

Samuel Cairns, charged by Mr. Wm. Kennealy, with larceny, in having, on Sunday last, at Kennealy's hotel, stolen $36 the property of Charles Parsons. The prisoner, whom Chief Cooper brought down from Toronto last night, pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried summarily by the Magistrate. The case was enlarged till to-morrow.

Bertha Smith, Minnie Laidley, John Baker, Isaac York, Geo. Boller, Henry Bacon, John Sloane, defendants in the Salvation Army case, were called. They had nothing to say and the Captain would not even authorize Mr. Elias Barnham to speak for them, when he offered his services. The Magistrate then read his judgment which was as follows:

The defendants herein are charged under the vagrant act with incommoding peaceable passengers on the streets.

The evidence shows that the defendants are known as a branch of the Salvation Army; that they constantly march in procession with music of big drum, little drum, cornet, triangle, cymbals, tambourines, etc., accompanied by singing. On the occasion in question they so marched up and down the sidewalks of the main thoroughfares, carrying banners and torches. They were in single file, save that a marshall marched with a banner beside another so-called soldier. The Chief of Police by every peaceable means tried to persuade these people to leave the sidewalks, but they defied him with shouts called volley firing. The evidence further shows that their marching after the manner pursued by them is an obstruction on the street to persons who are pursuing their ordinary way on the sidewalks, and that their noise and general bearing induces crowds to follow them to the inconvenience of the public, and that they are a frequent occasion of fright to horses, thus endangering life and property.

At the hearing every opportunity was given to the defendants to yield up the enjoyment of what they claim as a right and by the abandonment of the more offensive peculiarity of their procession, secure to themselves immunity from further interference by the police. Miss Captain Smith, who appears as the leader, positively declines to make any concessions and apparently seeks to become a martyr, for she says she will obey the laws of God rather than the laws of man, and the others acquiesce in her answer. Now I fail to find anything in the law of God or man which sanctions a number of people, male and female, marching every night in a crowded thoroughfare with smoky lamps, shabby flags, discordant music and bad singing, jostling people on the walks and frightening horses, and thus making themselves a nuisance.

These people may be sincere—I have no doubt they are; and they may be doing good—I believe they are; but they can be more sincere and can do more good by showing that the religion they inculcate, teaches them to obey the laws of the community in which they live, these laws being founded upon and consistent with the laws of God.

Their persistency arises from a misconception of the true teaching of their religion, and their obligation to society.

It may be urged that troupes are sometimes allowed to drive and march in the street, with bands of music. This is true, but it is only occasional. If a club of amateur or professional minstrels were to assume to do on Sundays and week days what this Salvation Army has continuously done during the past year, it would not be tolerated, and so far as the nuisance is concerned, the character of the persons who commit it, does not in any way affect the character of that nuisance.

I find the complaint proved, and as I believe the good sense and devotion to duty which should characterize all professing Christians, will guide these people into conformity with the requirements of the law, when once it is declared to them, I shall impose a light fine, hoping that there will be no further complaint against them.

The judgment of the court is that they do pay a fine of five dollars and costs, $7.35, to be paid in one week, and in default of payment, that they be imprisoned in the gaol of the County of Peterborough for the space of five days.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Police Magistrate.

March, 31st, 1886.

The defendants objected to having a week to pay their fine, the captain claiming that they would not pay or change their minds. She also said she did not want any person to pay their fine. The others concurred with her.

John Edwards, remanded to jail last Saturday, on a charge of stealing a watch from Teddy Sediment, was discharged.

The case of Queen vs. Lipsett was proceeded with. A number of new witnesses were called.

After hearing all the evidence, the magistrate dismissed the charge. He held that the larceny was proved to have been committed, he thought in Lipsett's house, but as it might have been committed by John Swanson or the boys, he was doubtful as to the evidence fixing it conclusively upon the boys; the prisoners were therefore dismissed.

Soft corns, corns of all kinds removed without pain or sore spots by Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Thousands testify that it is certain, painless, and prompt. Do not be imposed upon by substitutes offered for the genuine "Putnam's Extractor. Sure, safe, harmless. d74-6t-w13-1t

Mr. Alexander has given notice in the Senate of a resolution proposing that more urgent steps be taken by the Government of the Dominion to induce the Imperial Government to negotiate an extension of the provisions of the extradition treaty now existing with the United States, so as to cover breaches of trust.

Do you feel blue and despondent? Do pains rack and tear away at nerve and muscle, and have you been disappointed in finding a remedy that will afford certain and speedy relief. If so, go at once to any drug store and buy a sample bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Polson's Nerviline never fails to relieve neuralgia, cramps, headache, rheumatism, and all internal or external pains. J. B. Carman, druggist, Morrisburgh, writes: "All the parties I supply speak very favorably of Nerviline, and always purchase a second lot." Polson's Nerviline is sold in sample bottles at ten cents; large size 25 cents—by all druggists and country dealers everywhere. Try a ten cent bottle. d74-6t-w13-1t

SCHIVEREA'S SUCCESS.

For the past three weeks and more Mr. Ferdinand Schiverea, the Brooklyn Evangelist, has been conducting evangelistic services in Peterborough with astonishing energy and success. Up to the present, from records kept, between 400 and 500 persons have signified their intention to lead a new life. It is not claimed, however, that all these will continue in their new course of life. The usual percentage will probably relapse into their former ways. In many persons the soul-soil, so to speak, is so shallow that religious feelings can take no more than temporary growth. Still, it must be admitted that a large amount of good has been done. Not only have sinners been converted from the error of their ways, but fire has been kindled under apathetic church members, vigorously arousing them from their easy-going condition of Laodicean placidity, and converting them from mere drones in the ecclesiastic hive to more or less active workers. And it is not improbable, that in earnest straightforwardness of effort, in pointed and practical presentation of truth, the ministers may even have learned a lesson. Mr. Schiverea's success, no doubt received a material impetus from the result of the evangelistic labours conducted by two of our town ministers before his advent. He had but to sow the good seed on well prepared soil. Yet his wonderful success is a marvel. He is a simple, uncultured man, —ignorant, even, in the way of scholarly attainments, but he possesses a wonderful verbal knowledge of Holy Scripture, an intensity of earnestness and a plain, pointed, direct way of presenting truth, that carries conviction to the hearts of the masses. Thoughtful hearers may be inclined to shrug shoulders at some of his logical conclusions, but the average hearer cannot parry the incisive directness of his thrusts at their bosom sins. He is not a theologian, but a practical preacher; while the former may theorize eloquently of the dynamic forces involved in causing the penetration of a block of wood by a nail, Schiverea, without circumlocution, hits the nail of truth on the head and sends it home. At any rate he teaches the hearts of the masses, and inspires them with his own immense earnestness. He is an indefatigable worker, conducting four services every day for weeks at a stretch. His wearying labors are beginning to tell on his physical forces. He cannot stand the work like the comparatively phlegmatic Moody, who can talk for hours in an easy, unexcited, conversational tone, who can sleep at will, and eat, at will, great quantities of strong food. But Schiverea fasts till sunset every Friday, and since his arrival in Peterborough, he has got only six hours sleep out of the twenty-four. He becomes excitedly earnest in a manner that must react powerfully on his physical forces. Whatever differences of opinion may be held as to his methods, no one can deny his thorough honesty of purpose, nor gainsay the great good he is accomplishing.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Council met pursuant to adjournment on March 1st, 1886, all the members present, the reeve in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

A by-law to divide the township into pound and road divisions and to appoint overseers of highways, poundkeepers, and fence viewers for the current year, passed its several readings.

After hearing the auditors' report, the council instructed the clerk to have 150 copies of the same printed for distribution.

On motion of Mr. Middleton, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald, the sum of $2,050 was appropriated to the repair of the roads throughout the township in the following proportions:—To Township Division No. 1, $400; No. 2, $360; No. 3, $410; No. 4, $360; and No. 5, $520. The council then adjourned till Monday, the 29th March.

MONDAY, March 29th.

Council met pursuant to adjournment, all the members present. The Reeve in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

A by-law appropriating the sum of $2,050 to the several road divisions therein mentioned and appointing commissioners to superintend the expenditure of the same passed its several readings and was signed and sealed.

The timber on the 13th concession line across lots 31 and 32 was ordered to be sold to Robt. Nugent for the sum of $6 to be expended by him on the road and 3 years was allowed for the removal of the same.

The Council adjourned till Monday the 31st day of May, then to meet as a Court of Revision.

The Belgian Reign of Terror.

BRUSSELS, March 29.—The strike of Belgian miners has resulted in terrible riots from the fact of the Nihilists and communists joining them and exciting them to pillage, murder and outrage. The district involved has been placed under strict martial law, yet with all these stern measures of repression the military force is so small, and the points to be guarded so many, that rioting, pillage, arson and rapine go on apparently unchecked. At midnight last night the sky was illumined by two fires—one was the burning of a blast furnace and rolling mill ten miles east of Charleroi, the other was a colliery six miles to the northwest. I rode to the latter place, and saw a scene rivalling the grotesque horrors of Dante's Inferno. Hoisting houses, offices, sheds and elevated tramway had by this time been burned, and their blackened timbers stood out like gigantic skeletons in the fierce firelight; thousands of tons of screened coal were smouldering in the fire, which gave out long tongues of blue sulphurous flames which furnished appropriate light and smell for the diabolical revels. The fiends of this miniature hell had fired a great shaft by sinking cages filled with barrels of blazing pitch, to the bottom.

And this was a mine which was in full operation on Saturday, and to which every one of these drunken, dancing persons looked for his daily bread. Equally thrilling incidents of rioting in the streets and suburbs could be given without number, but it must be summarized for want of space. The damage to property in a disturbed district is now estimated by moderate men at 25,000,000 francs ($5,000,000); number of troops in the field exceed 25,000 and should be doubled with twenty batteries of artillery to be placed at intersections in the streets in cities to mow down the mobs with grape that are uncontrollable by infantry. Every jewellery store and gun shop in Charleroi and nearly every liquor warehouse and drinking saloon has been looted and more or less completely wrecked. Churches have been robbed of all articles of precious metal. More than a hundred collieries, foundries and residences have been burned. The latter were the property of the burgeoise generally, thi rioters not discriminating in this respect against employers.

DEEDS OF VIOLENCE.

Hundred of citizens have been robbed in the streets in daylight. One young lady who wore a diamond ring that was tight upon her finger, had the finger amputated by ruffians with a chisel and mallet. Scores of virtuous women have been outraged. In two cases mothers who fought to preserve their honour saw the brains of their babies dashed out before their eyes. Finally, although little affected by the vaporings of the anarchists, which I have heard before in many European capitals and generally seen disproved, I am convinced that we are but on the threshold of disorder, which may spread to every place where coal or iron is mined in Europe.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment, on Monday, March 1st, 1886, all the members present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Auditor's report of the Treasurer's accounts of 1885 was received and adopted, 100 copies ordered to be printed and left at the Review office for such ratepayers as may desire copies.

A communication was received from trustees of School Section No. 1 regarding alterations in certain school sections. No action was taken.

A resolution was adopted on motion of Mr. Brownscombe, seconded by Mr. Johnston, providing that the interest as well as principal of drainage debentures, issued under by-law 225, be paid annually so that at the end of 15 years both principal and interest will have been paid in full.

A by-law appointing overseers of highways, pound keepers and fence viewers passed its several readings and was signed and sealed.

The Reeve was appointed a delegate and Trent Valley Canal deputation to Ottawa.

Orders granted—Trustees of school section No 2 for use of school house for holding municipal elections, $2; Frank Adams and Robt. Eastland for auditing accounts of 1885, $3 each; Thomas Amstrong, salary as collector, $40.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mrs. Lightbody's house was burned down on Friday at one o'clock. It took fire at the stove pipe, and as there was none of the family at home at the time—only one girl and she an invalid, she could not save anything. The organ was burned and all the fine library furniture, bedding and everything they had. The house was situated about a mile north of Golborne's mill.

On Friday morning Mr. Gerrit's house was burned down in the township of Chandos. It took fire from a barrel of hot ashes while the family was in bed; they barely escaped and saved very little of their household goods.

James Hood, of London West, was arrested on Friday on a charge of insanity. On visiting his house it was found that Hood's wife was sick in bed. She had two little children with her, and there was not a particle of food for any of them. The family, it seems, have been living nearly all winter on the little they got from the soup kitchen and were slowly starving to death. Their case will be attended to at once.

Smallpox has again become epidemic at Manville, Que.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, on its MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected by the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every housekeeper, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents; however, not only our confidence in the merit of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $100 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

OUR OPENING,

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

APRIL 7th and 8th.

Is intimating to our Customers and Ladies generally, that our SHOW ROOMS will be opened for this Season on the above dates.

We assure our patrons that our Millinery Department will be Second to None for the Most Fashionable Goods at the Smallest Margin.

We heartily invite every Lady to call and see our Display. Miss Winter, who has had charge of this Department for the past three years, will be most happy to show you through.

::APOLOGY.::

We must apologize to our Customers this season for our not having time to send Cards or Circulars, but trust none will omit to call and see our Display.

Remember the Dates, Wednesday and Thursday, April 7th and 8th

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

A full line of Macreme Cord in all shades, cheap, at the "Ten Cent" Store.

All Sizes

Of those famous Spring Beds; Mattresses, and Feather Pillows, at A. Clegg's.

New Books.

Messrs. Salisbury Bros. have received a number of copies of "Lady Brankemere," a new novel by the "Duchess." Also the "Castle of Otranto," by Horace Walpole. Both works are popular and highly spoken of.

Beautiful new designs in Tapestry Carpets at 30c. and 35c. per yard, at Hall, Innes & Co's.

Messrs. Giroux & Sullivan

has just received their large catalogue books of Harper's Bazaar Patterns for the spring. Ladies requiring any should come and procure one before they are all sold.

GIROUX & SULLIVAN.

Rollers.

Mr. Ed. Brown commenced to remove the ice off the skating rink to-day, and expects to have the undertaking completed by Saturday. He has leased the rink for the summer season and will open up for roller skating as soon as possible.

To the Afflicted

Dr. N. Washington, M. D., L. C. P. S. O., Toronto and Halifax, will be at the Grand Central Hotel, Peterborough, on March 29th, 30th and 31st for consultation upon and treatment of Throat and Lung Diseases, in the successful treatment of which he has a well-earned pre-eminence.

Acknowledgment.

The Committee of the Peterborough Protestant home thankfully acknowledge the following donations for March:—Ham, tongue and salad from the ball committee, per Mrs. Geo. Burnham; Mrs. McGill, canned fruit and apples; provisions from the Y.M.C.A.; Mrs. Millar, towelling.

To The Gentlemen.

In addition to our tailoring department, we show a magnificent stock of Gents' furnishings, and our stock is augmented to-day with three cases, consisting of Ties, Scarfs, Collars, Cuffs, White Shirts, Regatta Shirts, Silk Umbrellas, etc. For the newest things in Ties and Collars come to the Golden Lion.

R. FAIR.

Ready to Admit.

Every one is ready to admit, there is a great advantage in getting their boots and shoes made to order, providing they have not to pay the price of two pair for one. Johnston Carey is making them to order as cheap as they can be bought ready made. He is now ready to fill all orders on short notice, as he has a full set of first class workmen in the custom department.

W. C. T. U.

A meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in the Y. M. C. A. hall on Monday afternoon. The President, Miss Sanderson, occupied the chair. The meeting opened with the usual devotional exercises. Communications were received from the Unions in Lindsay and Norwood, with reference to bringing Mrs. McLachlan, of Boston, Massachusetts, to lecture here. Communications were also received with reference to securing the services, in the same capacity, of Miss Strong and Mr. Mead. In the matter of all three a definite decision was deferred till the next meeting. A committee, consisting of Mesdames Tovell, Green and Ludgate, was appointed to confer with the ministers of the town, as to means of conducting a memorial service in honour of the late John B. Gough, the committee to report at a special meeting to be held on Monday next, April 4th, at 4 o'clock p.m., in the usual place.

A Handsome Store.

Mr. A. Mercer, whose store has always been a model of neatness, has materially added to the attractiveness of his shop by renovating it from floor to ceiling, making it one of the most handsome, bright and convenient places of business to be found in town. A new floor of alternate oak and maple boards, oiled, gives a solid as well as tasty understanding. The woodwork of the wainscotting, shelving, cases, etc., has, by the painter's magic brush, been transformed into a beautiful mahogany, capped with a handsome white cornice. The ceiling has been decorated with a paper of elegant design, set off by a wide floral border. A small but neat office has been partitioned off at the west end of the premises, the woodwork of which is in harmony with the rest of the shop. Plate glass has been placed in the west window on Hunter street, and plate glass will be put in the front door in a few days. The store has also been furnished with a set of handsome mahogany tables, for the display of goods, a light and neat counter with chairs to match; a large and handsome mirror, and elegant gas fixtures, consisting of three four-light gasaliers. Mr. Mercer is now prepared for spring and summer orders, having completed house-cleaning.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club is called for to-morrow night.

Just Received

At A. Clegg's the newest thing in Tapestry Curtains for Portieres. Also a line fine Tapestry and Brussells Carpets.

Remember the date of Hall, Innes & Co's Millinery Opening, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 1st, 2nd and 3rd April.

Schiverea.

The evangelistic services, conducted by Mr. Schiverea, will be held in the George street church to-night, and for the remainder of the series. The day meetings will be held as usual.

Postponed.

The presentation of Farmers' Sacred Oratorio, which was announced for this evening in St. Luke's school room, by Prof. Parker and a choir of thirty voices, has been postponed until Wednesday, April 7th, one week from to-night, at 8 p.m. Tickets 25c.

Dr. Washington.

Throat and Lung Surgeon, of Toronto and Halifax, has arrived at the Grand Central, where he will remain until Wednesday evening, March 31st. Now is the golden opportunity to consult one of the most eminent throat and lung surgeons in America. Call and see his "new mettrox" and instruments by which cold medicated vapor is conveyed to the seat of disease. Consultation free.

The Late J. R. Kidd.

In our report in our inside columns there will be found some errors in the information we received respecting the accidental death of James R. Kidd. The lad accompanying him was James Calder, not Condon. The stone was being loaded on the sleigh by means of horses, and a chain which broke allowing the stone to fall and strike the end of the lever. The deceased was thirty-three years of age and was buried on Tuesday last.

Important Stock Purchases.

Mr. James Stothart, of Smith, amongst our foremost breeders of thoroughbred stock, seems bound to lead the procession in the matter of thoroughbred Holsteins, making two important purchases at Toronto on Tuesday, of Holsteins, from the herds of Lord & Son, Sinclairville, N.Y., and Mr. Williams, Pictou, Ont. These were the two years imported heifer "Kitten"—by Pieter,—Geertje at $270, and the two years imported heifer "Bertalda" by Rolf—Jadpke, at $195.

The Wheat and the Weather.

The interruption, by wet drizzly weather, of the bright sunny days with frosty nights of last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, while it has destroyed the maple sugar crop has saved, for the time, the wheat crop. In many exposed fields the wheat was bare and a few of such severe days and nights of alternate shine and frost would have had a very damaging effect. As it is the wheat, where the snow has left it, is as green as a meadow in May, and is said by judges to be in fine condition. There is promise, if nothing untoward intervenes between this and harvest, of a good crop of our staple cereal.

The Last Performance.

The Egbert Dramatic Company will close their engagement in Peterborough this evening. Finding they were making money too fast they decided to try Port Hope for the remainder of the week. By special request the charming backwoods comedy, "Carrots," will be presented. Those who wish to see one of the company's best plays will attend the Opera House to-night. "Risen from the Ashes" was repeated last night by request. Those present were delighted with the performance. The company's repertoire of plays is the best ever presented in Peterborough and they dererve a benefit house this evening.

For a perfect fitting mantle, a correct copy of the latest French or German styles, go to Hall, Innes & Co's.

Gough, Gough.

John B. Gough, the temperance orator, is passed to his rest, but in the line of incredibly cheap clothing, a greater than John B. is here, that is Gough, the wonderful cheap man, the great giver of gigantic bargains. Gough, the great clothier, has inherited the mantle (ready-made) of his orator namesake and will deliver a lecture at his Arcade store on "How to Save Money," on Thursday, April 1st. In connection with his lecture he puts on exhibition the largest, best selected, and nobbiest line of men's, boys' and children's clothing in Canada. Remember the premises of Gough, the big clothier, are in the Arcade building. Only one price, because it's so small, it's not worth while to make two or more out of it.

The Canadian Florist.

Mr. Frank Mason, publisher of the Canadian Florist and Cottage Gardener, issues the second number of the second volume, in a greatly enlarged and improved form. It now appears as a 48-page quarto, finely printed on fine paper (at the EXAMINER office) and is beautifully illustrated. The letter press contains a vast amount of useful and practical information respecting flower, vegetable and fruit culture. Its contents are creditable to th publisher and its typography reflects credit on the establishment printing it. It is absurdly cheap at 25 cents per year. Not even contented with the great improvements already effected Mr. Mason has others in contemplation. No lover of flowers should be without this handsome journal.

The Spring Freshet.

The breaking up of the ice in the creek last night and this morning, was followed by an immense jam at the Bethune street bridge and again at Simcoe street bridge. Early this morning Mayor Stevenson and Mr. Thos. Cahill, chairman of the street and bridge committee, directed two gangs of men who worked all morning at breaking the jam and allowing the waters, which was rapidly rising, to escape. At one time the water was almost on a level with the Bethune street bridge. The water raised about four feet at Messrs. W. Paterson & Son's tannery, and began to run into their vats, but fortunately again subsided. The planking on the north end of Simcoe street bridge was removed for yards to allow of the ice being broken and forced down. It was feared for a while that Mr. Phelan's shed and kitchen would be washed away, the danger however was averted by the strenuous efforts of the workmen. Large cakes of ice about two feet through, weighing tons, came down the creek at a terrific rate, only to be stopped at the bridges until broken up. All immediate danger is supposed to have passed, and all is well on the creek. The damage done is slight.

Saturday's Dominion Gazette announced that his excellency the Governor-General had disallowed the acts incorporating the Emerson and Northwestern railway and the Manitoba Central railway companies amending acts.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

MONDAY, MARCH 29th.

The proceedings in the House, to-day, were very dull. It was a dull day outside, and inside there was an absence of life and activity and none of that expectancy which sometimes charges the air of Parliament with excitement. Not half of the Ministers were in their seats, and a still smaller proportion of members.

TUESDAY, MARCH 30th.

In the Commons the whole day was occupied with the Budget speech by Mr. McLelan and the reply by Sir Richard Cartwright. Mr. McLelan spoke within five minutes of five hours. His address was labored and his points not well put, but he made a fair defence of the Government's policy on some of the main points. His tariff changes, from which increased revenue is expected, are in the shape of a change from ad valorem to specific duties, and increases and readjustments of the taxes on sugar and some other articles. He announced that an arrangement had been made under which the Canadian Pacific would repay twenty millions of the loan of 1884, giving land security for the balance, about ten millions.

Sir R. Cartwright, replying, occupied two hours and a half. He criticised the security policy of the Government and showed the injury their extravagance and corruption had done the country. His speech was delivered with his accustomed vigour, and his arguments clear and well arranged. The tariff changes were passed in Committee of the Whole, and the House adjourned at 1.10 a.m.

Norwood the Hub.

At a meeting of the members of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, held in the town hall Norwood on Friday 26th inst., to decide whether the exhibitions be held permanently in Norwood, or the perambulating system be continued. It was decided to hold the exhibitions annually in Norwood. Mr. A. Waters, of Warsaw, urged the claims of Warsaw and Peterborough but the members were nearly unanimous for Norwood.—Hasting's Star.

Toronto Mail Building Burned.

Bell Telephone Exchange Destroyed—Mail Business Offices Gutted—Loss $50,000.

By Telegraph to the EXAMINER.

TORONTO, April 1.—Fire broke out between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning in the Bell Telephone Company's offices on the fifth flat of the King street section of the Mail building, and before it was extinguished damage was done to the extent of fully fifty thousand dollars. The upper portion of the section including the tower was destroyed, while offices underneath, including the general offices of the Mail were badly damaged by water. The section of the building, occupied as editorial, printing and press rooms and by the Mail job department are untouched and the paper will be issued as usual.

The Bell Telephone Co'y lose all their valuable machinery, switch-board, &c., and the city is without telephone services. The company's loss is put at $20,000 and the damage to the building also at $20,000. Other minor losses being the total up to $50,000.

The amount of insurance is not yet known. Porter, the night operator of the Telephone Co'y, who was the only person in the upper part of the building when the fire broke out, says that about half past three he heard a noise in the outer office and on going out was clubbed by two men who knocked him senseless. He remembered nothing further until he recovered consciousness in the Mail press room. Superintendent Neilson of the Telephone Company is, however of opinion that the fire was caused by some defect in electrice wires and that Porter was thrown down and rendered insensible by an electric shock.

County Crown Attorney.

Robert Edwin Wood, B. A., Barrister, Succeeds Mr. Weller.

Mr. R. E. Wood received this morning official notification of his appointment to the position of County Crown Attorney and Clerk of the Peace, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Weller on his appointment to the judgeship. Mr. Wood thus becoming placed in a public position of prominence and responsibility, a short sketch of his career will be of interest.

He was born in the the township of South Monaghan on August 31st, 1847. He received his educational training at Cobourg grammar school and subsequently at Victoria College, Cobourg, where he received the degree of B.A. in May, 1873. He then entered the law office of Mr. John Coyne, M.P.P., Brampton, brother-in-law of the late W. H. Scott. He remained in the office of Mr. Coyne till the latter's death. He then entered the law office of Mr. W. H. Scott, Peterborough, remaining for a time and finished his legal training in the office of E. Martin, Q.C., Hamilton. Mr. Wood passed his final examinations at Trinity term, 1876, and received his call to the bar in the same year. He formed a partnership for the practice of his profession with Mr. George Edmison. This connection continued till October, 1883, when Mr. Wood became a member of the firm of Messrs. Hatton & Wood. The office of County Crown Attorney becoming vacant by the elevation of Mr. Weller to the bench, Mr. Wood was appointed to the vacant position, an appointment which gives general satisfaction among the members of the profession and the public. Mr. Wood is a young man in the prime of manhood, and possesses abundantly the necessary legal qualifications and experience to fit him for discharging, in an efficient and satisfactory manner, the important functions of the responsible position to which he has been elevated. The EXAMINER cordially congratulates Mr. Wood on so timely a recognition of his talent and fitness for the position whose duties he to-day assumes, and hopes that he may long be spared to worthily fulfil them, with credit to himself and to the promotion of the interests it will hereafter be his duty to subserve.

Cobourg.

COBOURG, March 31.—While John L. Sullivan, the noted pugilist, was passing up on the express this morning, a cab man named Billy Johns, entered the car to have a peep at the bruiser, when Sullivan followed him to the platform and knocked Johns down. The bystanders were indignant, and had the train not moved off at once, summary vengeance would have been meted to the bully.

Spring Millinery.

Beautiful Bonnets and Handsome Hats Burst Into Bloom—Ribbons that Rage—Hall, Innis & Co's Opening the first of the Season.

As the Spring season unfolds itself it gives unmistakable evidence of an abundant millinery display. With characteristic enterprise the several millinery establishments are preparing for the usual spring openings. Any lady, though she aspires to perfection, as to beauty of material, elegance of design, or delicacy of decorative detail, need not go out of Peterborough to secure the realization of her ideal in the way of hats, bonnets and mantles. The favorite forms of head gear for the season are "Pall Mall," Yum Yum," "Bon Ton," etc. The fashionable colors are gold and seal browns, bains, mastic, fawn and buttercup yellow, the latter color being foremost in the race for favor, especially with the young ladies. The powers of the pulpit and press in condemning the wholesale slaughter of birds for the decoration of ladies' hats and bonnets has been felt and has minimized the practice. The fashionable trimmings are "made up plumes," of touched ribbons, with pic-cotte and feathered edges, pon-poms, aigrettes of ostrich feathers, fancy wings, galloons, of velvet, studded with bright metallic nail heads; colored crape gauze, gros grain and faille silk ribbons, and antique and lace lace. Mantles, dolmans and wraps are made of fine silk ottoman cord; gros grain silk, extensively trimmed with rosary and cut jet beads for trimmings; short nap cloth jackets, studded with large metallic buttons will be extensively worn. The first establishment to exhibit this season is

MESSRS. HALL, INNES & CO.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather to-day, a large number of ladies visited the millinery show rooms of this long-established and substantial firm, intent on admiration of the rich and elegant French, English and American millinery on display. The show room was tastefully draped with lace and decorated in harmonious profusion with hats and bonnets, flowers and feathers, ribbons and plumes, advantageously arranged by ingenious fingers. Pretty hats for pretty faces were particularly conspicuous. A splendid display of millinery trimmings was also disposed most effectively about the room. The exhibit, well worth the cordial admiration elicited from visitors, reflects creditably upon the artistic ability of the managing milliner and her assistants, and is a guarantee that a hat or bonnet from Hall, Innis & Co. will be decidedly chic as to style, material and finish. The firm also show a superb stock of mantles, dolmans and wraps, besides a complete assortment of mantle cloths. These materials can be made to fit any form, the experience and ability of the manager of the department being a sufficient guarantee. The opening will continue till Saturday evening.

Lighthouses and Fog-Horns.

BY GEORGE LANSING TAYLOR, M.D.

Somebody says "lighthouses don't ring bells and fire cannon to call attention to their shining; they just shine."

This is a very pretty half-truth and half-falsehood written by some one who was ignorant of the facts in the case. In clear nights all a lighthouse has to do is simply to stand and shine. But when perilous fogs or thick-driving rains or snow-storms darken the night, then there must be something more than ineffectual shining. Then they do ring bells and fire cannon and blow their twenty-mile steam fog-horns, and make all the racket they can, as a matter of imperative duty, for the salvation of imperiled ships by the hundred. The law commands it, and the Government pays the bill, and woe to the keeper whose fog-horn fails to roar, whose cannon fails to thunder, when they are needed.

And just so it is in the moral world. Calvary and Sinai stand side by side, so that if we see not the one we may hear the other. God uses both together all through the Bible. The locomotive has not only its blazing light, but also it clanging bell and its shrieking whistle. Men who are asleep on the road to ruin need a startling awakening. A world that is desperately shutting its eyes against the light of truth and righteousness, blind with prejudice and selfishness, hating the light, must have the bell, the cannon, the foghorn, all going and all at once, as well as the shining light, to awaken and save it. The preacher or reformer who proposes to do every thing by mere shining, mere example, or mere philosophy, without warnings and exhortations, may be a very fine fair-weather reformer. But in times of storm and trial amid the fogs of error and the blackness of evil, just when we need guidance most, such prophets have always been failures and always will be. Then we want Elijah, and Jeremiah, and John the Baptist. Then we want not only the shining light, but the bell, the cannon, the twenty-mile steam fog-horn, all going, day and night, till we know where we are and know that we are safe.

"But," you are ready to say, "I hate those fog-horn preachers, those cannonading prophets. They won't let me have any peace. I can't go to sleep in comfort. They din me to death!" Yes, but God made fog-horn men because the world needs them.

You can't play Æolian-harp music on a fog horn, to be sure. But suppose you are on Montank Point in a thick, foggy, drizzling, driving storm. It is midnight. Not a star in sight. You can't see a cable-length. The sou'-easter from the Gulf Stream is driving you landward, but you can't tell where you are, for not a light-house is in sight. Shoals, rocky islands and a shore lined with sand bars are before you. You are in peril and in terror. But suddenly, far below the howl of the storm, away down on the key of F, a deep, strong, steady roar smites your ear! You are sure of the key, but you whip out your watch and hold it to the lantern. Blasts so long; pauses so long! You know the time chart! Ah, it is that great, ugly old Montauk Point fog-horn! Ten miles away there, to the west a powerful steam engine, through an automatic time gauge, is driving its blast into that mighty trumpet whose deep roar shakes the solid ground. Thank God for that regular, unvarying, untiring roar of the fog horn and the iron Æolus who is blowing it! Now you know where you are, light or no light! No Æolian harp on earth were half so sweet to your ear as that mighty, brazen fog-horn.

So God has his fog-horns as well as his lights in the world. The world has always needed both, and always will. Melancthon was a sweetly shining light, but the reformation had gone to wreck without the roar of Luther's fog horn.

The old "abolition" fog-horn saved America from becoming a nation of slave-holding slaves. The temperance fog-horn is roaring through the land, and must keep on roaring, till the Flood Rock of Rum is blown up by the dynamite of Prohibition and the Hell Gate of intemperance is abolished forever.

Many churches need bells and fog-horns and ensues in their pulpits to awaken them from the smothering fogs of Ease-in-Zion and worldliness before they dash upon the rocks of perdition. Awakening preaching rather than brilliant or soothing preaching, is the need of these times and of all times. There must be God's lighthouse, a shining Church, an instructive pulpit, a pure example. But there must also be the solemn warning, the earnest exhortation, the tender entreaty, the awful admonition, the loving invitation, every possible element of alarm and attraction to awaken and save men. So let us have "our lamps trimmed and burning," likewise our bells, fog-horns, cannon, all in order, and all doing their part.

A touching example of confidence in the unknown factors of human existence is related in Gaillard's Medical Journal. A countryman, with a distressing toothache, asked a druggist for something to relieve him. "We have various remedies for that trouble," said the drug man, "and can give you anything you like." "In that case," said the countryman, "I guess you kin give me a small bottle of the Boston faith cure."

Experiments on an extensive scale have been made in Germany to ascertain the relative strength of iron and steel girders. The soft steel girders proved to be 27 per cent and the hard steel girders 66 per cent stronger than the iron girders, and it was remarked that it seemed pretty well established that the strength of steel girders is about the same for the two flanges if made alike in section.

OTTAWA, March 30th.

CRIMINAL CORRUPTION.

The more closely the papers brought down by the Government last night are examined the more complete is the proof that a great deal of incriminating corruption is being concealed. Having obtained evidence against the whites of Prince Albert, why did not the Government bring some of them to trial? The Government were fully warned that Riel had been sent for to head the rebellion; they were advised to arrest him, but were afraid to do so. In fact the speech made by Sir A. P. Caron at Riviere Du Loup, shows that the rebel leader had influential friends in the Dominion Cabinet, though they abandoned him when he got into trouble. The papers brought down yesterday only go to deepen the mystery which surrounds the whole policy of the Government in relation to Northwest affairs. On the 7th of January, 1885, Major Crozier, then at Carlton, wrote to Dewdney that "The matter of the claims of the Halfbreeds for scrip and as to the matter of dividing and sub-dividing the land upon which they have already settled, imperatively requires the immediate attention of the Government, and that decisions at once be given for or against their wishes on those important matters." Yet the Government paid no attention to the matter. Nothing aroused them until the Duck Lake fight. Major Crozier also warned the Government that the Indians were ready to join the Halfbreeds in an insurrectionary movement, but still the Ministers slept in their fool's paradise. The documents brought down show that Louis Schmidt was most active in organizing the movement to send for Riel. The Government knowing this gave Schmidt a public office which he still holds: Dumas and Isbester, two of the delegates who went to Montana, were also offered Government appointments. It is evident that the true origin and history of the events which preceded the rebellion of 1885 will never be made known so long as the present Dominion Ministry have the power of suppressing documents and information.

THE MOUNTED POLICE.

Despatches from the Northwest state that there is much dissatisfaction among the officers of the Mounted Police Force over the appointment of Mr. Lawrence Herchmer, Indian Agent at Battle, as successor to Lieut. Col Irvine in the position of Superintendent of the Mounted Police. Mr. Herchmer's chief qualification consists in his being a special pet and favorite of Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney, and the officers of the Mounted Police Force feel that they have been grossly insulted and humiliated by having him thrust over their heads. The police feel that they were not fairly treated during the rebellion, because, had they then been properly managed and effectively commanded, they would have suppressed the whole insurrection without the assistance of the militia. But if the best positions in the force are used as refuges for inexperienced political favorites the force must soon become utterly useless, though costing over a million dollars a year.

NO ANSWER BUT SUPPRESSION.

The Ministerial organs, which so often complain that Conservative speakers are unfairly treated by the Reform press, completely suppressed the effective speech made by Hon. David Mills last night in reply to Mr. Thos. White's speech in reference to the disposition of timber limits. Mr. Mills showed that every statement made by the Minister was a misrepresentation of fact, and defied him to defend such transactions as that wherein Mr. Rykert had got from the Government timber limits at five dollars per square mile, which he had disposed of for $2,000 per mile.

AMPLE REVENGE.

Mr. Thomas White, Mr. Plumb, and other Conservatives who were pushed aside when Mr. McLelan was made Finance Minister, feel satisfied to-night, and do not attempt to conceal their satisfaction, Mr. McLelan's first budget speech has been a ludicrous failure. No opponent of the Government expected such a complete fiasco. Mr. McLelan, in fact excited the sympathy of the Opposition, who listened carefully to all he had to say. The supporters of the Government took a different course. They gave the Finance Minister a feeble cheer when he rose, but soon after the majority of them sought refuge in the smoking room, reading room, and other places. Mr. McLelan talked on for hours with less than forty supporters listening to him, and without the slightest encouragement in the form of applause. When six o'clock arrived he had got off an immense amount of incoherent and irrelevant verbiage, but had not touched the question at all. There was no connection whatever between that portion of Mr. McLelan's speech delivered before recess and that delivered after. After eight o'clock the Minister gave the House his estimates of the revenue for the remaining nine months of the current year. His estimates of revenue are not likely to be realized, and he will find, unless his colleagues' powers of disbursement are curtailed, that the surplus which he figures out for next year will never be realized.

THE USUAL DODGE.

As Sir Richard Cartwright pointed out, an attempt is being made to deceive the public by charging millions of ordinary expenditure to capital account. While Mr. McLelan proposes to use receipts from Dominion lands as ordinary revenue, he has the effrontery to charge the amounts expended on these same lands to capital account. Any man of common sense can see that such a method of keeping accounts is simply fraudulent.

The Otonabee.

BY THOMAS BUTLER, HARWOOD, ONT.

Sailing up the Otonabee, that solemn, placid stream,
Her impressive, silent course suggests a poetic dream.
This beautiful, winding river is interesting to behold,
When her banks are lined with flowers in tints of green and gold.
When nature is in bloom, stone-by fishes are Oozing so charmingly,
Green pastures with their flocks, and men busy with their farming;
Her banks are lined with trees and plants, for miles along her course,
And her scenery is most charming from Rice Lake to her source.

The travellers who visit her are inclined to linger there,
They find the vale of this quiet river so interestingly fair;
In their musings they dwell on scenes they travelled far to see,
But none pleases them much more than this quiet Otonabee;
Tall trees of great variety fringe every bank side,
Throwing their reflections on the water, in long vistas of shade,
Which would arouse the mind's reflections and cause us to think
Of Indian hunters watching wild deer, when stealing down to drink.

Or the Indian in his birch canoe, paddling leisurely along,
Listening to the forest birds warbling their morning song;
Her scenery is so pristine, it reminds us of the past,
And makes us feel as if old times had not moved away so fast.
But the scene it quickly changes as you near that lovely town
Of Peterborough on her pretty banks where the waters tumble down.
There everything is bright and clear, prosperity on every side.
Things could not be more flourishing in all the world wide.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The publisher of THE EXAMINER does not hold himself responsible for the facts asserted nor the opinions expressed by correspondents.

The Oddfellows and Rev. Mr. Davis.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—In your issue of yesterday Rev. Mr. Davis, in the course of a letter referring to the processions, etc., of the Salvation Army, implies that the Oddfellows in their processions sing hymns. I desire respectfully to say that the reverend gentleman must be in error in this particular, so far as the Oddfellows' Society is concerned. I am not aware of our society ever having introduced the singing of hymns in their street street processions, and certainly not last year as intimated by Rev. Mr. Davis. It is true the Oddfellows did, at the cemetery, sing hymns incident to the ceremony of decorating the graves of deceased brethren, but not while passing through the streets. This brief note is only to correct a wrong impression liable to be received from the letter of Rev. Mr. Davis, without any intention of entering into the discussion in reference to the Salvation Army, which forms the chief part of the reverend gentleman's letter.

Yours, etc.,
E. E. HENDERSON,
Secretary Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows, No. 13.
Peterborough, April 1st, 1886.

PONTYPOOL, March 31.—Yesterday morning a fire broke out in this village, destroying Murray's taylor shop with its contents and the machine shop adjoining. The machine shop was owned by A. Jennings, but occupied by R. White.

Hamilton Happenings.

There is now being manufactured here an article for instantly removing pain of any acute external nature, and it is certainly the most perfect cure for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache and the like that has ever been tried. It is called Fluid Lightning from the manner in which it acts, and is manufactured by McGregor & Parke. Sold by J. McKee Druggist, Peterborough. d74-eod-w12-16

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $120 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it easy for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $120 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent of general agent who would like to take more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other company of agents ever dared to make such offers, for would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Don't let these and secure the agency in time for the season, and go to work on the terms named in our EXTRAORDINARY OFFER. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine canvassers and carpenters in the country, and any reader of this paper who reads this, offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

Why?

Why continue to drive around with faded and shabby Buffalo Robes, when you can have them dyed a rich Black or Brown. Bring your Robes and Coats to the Blyth Mills and have them dyed and made equal to a Black Bear Skin, before you store them away for the season. J. M. MASON, Blyth Mills, Peterborough.

The Roller Rink.

This morning workmen began the removal of the ice from the floor of the Lansdowne, and the floor, where uncovered, is in prime condition. The preparation spread on the floor previous to its being flooded, has preserved it from any noticeable damage by water. By the end of this week the ice will be cleared from the floor, and the next week it will probably be thrown open to the roar of the rollers.

Ready to Admit.

Every one is ready to admit, there is a great advantage in getting their boots and shoes made to order, providing they have not to pay the price of two pair for one. Johnston Carey is making them to order as cheap as they can be bought ready made. He is now ready to fill all orders on short notice, as he has a full set of first class workmen in the custom department.

April's Advent.

March had its big blow-out last night, and April woke this morning in a terrible temper, like many another capricious female. The conduct of the late (un) lamented March knocked the teeth out of the old saw—March came in like a ramping, raging lion and went out with a howl. The first three days of April are called the "borrowing days." Once on a time when an April came in, the mythical cow expressed her self-felicitations on the real advent of spring, by sundry acrobatic capers, April "borrowed" three days from March and froze the too-previous bovine to death. Moral: Don't be nimious.

A Branch of the Dominion Alliance Formed.

A meeting of those interested in the enforcement of the Scott Act was held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms yesterday afternoon. It was decided to form a branch of the Dominion Alliance. The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT.—Geo. A. Cox.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.—Dr. Fife and John Wright.

TREASURER.—J. W. Flavelle.

Matters, not of immediate public interest, with reference to the enforcement of the Act, were also discussed.

The Work of Assessment.

The town assessors, Messrs. Aldridge and McGrath, are still busy with their work. They have nearly finished with Number 1, 3 and 4 Wards, but No. 2 is too big a take to be quickly disposed of. It will be some three weeks before they finish the work of assessment, with the roll to be compiled afterwards. However unwelcome the domiciliary visits of the assessors, may be, there is no danger of dogs being set at them. The approach of the assessors reduces the most vicious and aggressive canine to dove-like meekness—he swiftly and modestly seeks the retirement of the back yard or the depths of the coal cellar—in effect annihilated and practically a dead dog—during the assessor's visit. "O, no, Mr. Assessor, we ain't got no dog."

All-day Evangelistic Services.

An all-day evangelistic meeting will be held in the George street church to-morrow. The following is the programme of services:

9 a.m.—Confession meeting.

10 a.m.—Thanksgiving meeting; Rev, F. McAmmond.

11 a.m.—Bible reading, on faith; Rev. I. Tovell.

12. noon.—Prayer meeting; G. B. Sproule.

1 p.m.—Address, "Power for Service," by Rev. E. F. Torrance, M.A.

2 p.m.—Bible reading, "How to study the Bible," by Rev. A. H. Munro.

3 p.m.—Address, "Truths of Christian Grace," by Rev. A. Bell.

4 p.m.—Address, "How to Grow in Grace," by F. Schiverea.

5 to 6 p.m.—Address, "On Joining the Church," by Rev. F. H. Wallace.

7.30 p.m.—General meeting, conducted by Mr. Schiverea.

Madre E Hijo,

What Does it Mean?

Bills, Rows and Death.

The vital statistics for the town during the month of March, as registered with the Town Registrar, are as follows:—Births, 21; Marriages, 3; Deaths, 9.

For a perfect fitting Mantle, a correct copy of the Latest French or Canadian styles, go to Hall, Innes & Co's.

The Evangelistic Services.

There was a very large attendance at the George street church last night, to hear Schiverea, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. The services will be held in the same church this evening.

To The Gentlemen.

In addition to our tailoring department, we show a magnificent stock of Gents' furnishings, and our stock is augmented to-day with three cases, consisting of Ties, Scarfs, Collars, Cuffs, White Shirts, Regatta Shirts, Silk Umbrellas, etc. For the newest things in Ties and Collars come to the Golden Lion.

R. FAIR.

The Golden Anvil.

Messrs. Fortye Brothers, this morning enter upon possession of the Golden Anvil Hardware store, purchased from Mr. Melville Miller. Succeeding as they do to a well established business, with a lengthened experience in the trade and a full knowledge of its requirements, there is little fear that they will not worthily maintain the reputation of the establishment. The EXAMINER wishes them every success and hopes that they may enjoy a long and prosperous business career, which will in the way of profit, speed on at a two-Fortye gait.

The Egbert Dramatic Company.

The Egbert Dramatic Company closed their season in Bradburn's Opera house last night, giving the charming play "Carrots." The company is one of the best that has ever visited the town, and have given the best of plays in the most satisfactory and acceptable manner. The patronage accorded them has not been as large as the performances merited, owing probably to the lenten season, and to the evangelistic services which have been held during their engagement of the Opera house. They left for Port Hope this afternoon where they will perform for a season of nine days.

Close of Cookery Classes.

Miss Munro will conclude her course of demonstration lessons in cookery to-morrow afternoon and evening. The instructions in High Class cookery will cease in the afternoon and in Household Cookery in the evening. These will be the last opportunities of receiving practical and valuable information such as Miss Munro imparts, on these important subjects. A large number of ladies have attended both classes and speak in terms of praise of the great advantage they have derived and of Miss Munro's excellent and practical manner of imparting information. A number of ladies are diligently experimenting in ambitious imitation of Miss Munro, and with considerable success, so that now several husbands come home delighted at finding on the table, steak, juicily done to a turn, instead of crinkly fragments like a scorched boot-sole, and puffy biscuits like hot snow balls, instead of discs of desiccated dough, about as eatable and palatable as door knobs.

High Water.

The water in Hamilton's Creek still continues high, though it fell some two inches during the night. The channel is pretty clear throughout, though there are enormous slabs of ice of great thickness passing down the stream continuously. Some few houses are flooded in the vicinity of the railroad track north of Murray street, but no worse than they have been at other times during the winter. The water in the river is also very high, having risen some six inches during the night, but there is no danger of damaging flooding, unless the rise continues at this rate for several days. A portion of Gilmour street near Mr. Andrew Douglass' residence is flooded, foot passengers having some difficulty in crossing. Little danger of damage being done is apprehended, though some fear that heavy masses of ice rushing along at the rate of seven or eight miles an hour, may displace the timbers supporting some of the buildings over Hamilton's creek. If, by the fall of these, the channel should be blocked, considerable flooding would follow.

Police Court.

Thos. Dickson, of Otonabee was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by Mr. Joseph Dickson of the same township, with the larceny of a dozen musk rat traps. Yesterday the complainant sent word to Chief Cooper to arrest Thos. Dickson, who had stolen a number of his traps and was on his way north on a hunting expedition. P. C. McGinty arrested the defendant, at the station last night, and found the traps in his possession. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, but admitted that he had taken the traps on the authority of his namesake and prosecutor. He explained to the court that the complainant had taken some of his rats out of traps, a year ago, telling him that the law allowed him to do so as it was out of season for trapping. The complainant admitted that his dog had taken the rats and that he had said the law allowed the destroying of the traps. With permission of the plaintiff the Magistrate dismissed the prisoner with a warning, on his paying the costs of court and plaintiff's expenses. The traps were returned to their owner.

The charge of larceny preferred against Samuel Cairns, by Wm. Kennealy, enlarged from yesterday, was withdrawn on payment of costs.

Dwelling Destroyed by Fire.

An alarm of fire was sounded shortly after eleven o'clock this morning, a two-storey frame dwelling house, on Elm street, owned and occupied by Mr. John Dwyer, in the employ of Mr. T. G. Hazlitt, being in flames. The Fire Brigade, with the engine and hose proceeded to the spot with all dispatch. A stream was immediately turned on to the flames which had enveloped the house, the water being drawn from the creek. The fire had gained such headway that all remaining for the firemen to do, was to save the adjoining houses, which they did with little difficulty, the wind though strong, blowing in the favorable direction. Mrs. Dwyer, and her father were the only occupants of the house at the time the fire started. About eleven o'clock Mrs. Dwyer noticed a smell of smoke and looking up stairs found it filled with smoke and flames. She immediately called for assistance, which the neighbors willingly lent, one going to St. Peter's cathedral to give the alarm, the alarm bell in No. 3 ward being out of order. The furniture down stairs was all removed, but that of the up-stairs was all lost, together with about $100 which was in a drawer of a bureau. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been a defective chimney. The house and kitchen were burned to the ground. The building and furniture were insured for $500. The total loss is estimated at $1000.

FRIDAY, APRIL 2, 1886.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31st.

In the House of Commons to-day Sir Hector Langevin introduced a Bill to abolish tolls on the Burlington Canal.

Mr. Chapleau, replying to Mr. Casgrain, said that the Local Government of Quebec had not forwarded to the Dominion Government any despatches or communications before the execution of Louis Riel asking for a commutation of the death penalty.

The Minister of Justice, replying to Mr. Burpee, said that Jeremiah Travis, of Calgary, was still performing his duties as stipendiary Magistrate; that complaints had been made against him, and an investigation was proceeding.

A number of returns, asked for by Mr. Casey, referring to military matters, connected with the rebellion, were ordered.

The greater part of the afternoon was spent in moving Mr. Orton's resolution favoring the establishment of a Farmer's Bank, and in favor of a currency issued exclusively by the Government. Sir Hector Langevin said that the resolution might pass without the House committing itself to any opinion thereon, and be referred to the Committee on Banking and Commerce. Sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. Vail said the Government should announce their policy with reference to the proposed measure. Mr. Blake said the Government wish to have the measure privately strangled in committee, instead of publicly announcing their opposition to it.

Resolutions were discussed in Committee of the Whole by Messrs. Landerkin, Sproule, McMullen, Hesson and Orton until the arrival of six o'clock put an end to the debate. After recess Mr. Edgar's Bill respecting insolvent banks and companies, and Mr. Allen's Bill respecting the maritime court of Ontario, were read a second time. The House adjourned at 8;30.

Remember the date of Hall, Innes & Co's Millinery Opening, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 1st, 2nd and 3rd April.

A Calamitous Crash.

The intelligence has just arrived that a terrible accident occurred at a theatre in Hemoral, a Japanese town, on February 28th. The roof of the theatre gave way under a heavy weight of snow and fell upon the spectators, 150 of whom were seriously injured or killed.

The Græco-Turkish Troubles.

War Probable at Any Moment.

ATHENS, April 1.—April 6th is the anniversary of the independence of Greece, and it is believed that day will be selected by the Chamber to make war.

Russian officers late in Suda Bay tell me that at the first hostile intimation the allied fleet are expected to initiate a blockade, while the Turkish army of 200,000, to the Greeks numbering 90,000, almost untried men, will try invasive conclusions. War is very imminent.

The Fisheries.

Trouble Feared With the United States—Orders Given to Canadian Officials.

OTTAWA, March 29.—It is evident that sooner or later the abrogation of the fishery clause of the Washington Treaty is likely to lead to complications between the United States and Canadian Governments, which may strain the friendly relations now existing between the two countries.

Mr. Howland Re-Elected.

TORONTO, April 1.—The Mayoralty election have just concluded, Mr. Howland being returned by acclamation. His qualification is now regarded by the best legal authority as unassailable, and it is unlikely that any more attempt will be made to unseat him. He was nominated by Mr. E. Gurney, and seconded by Dr. W. W. Ogden.

Cardiff.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We have between two and three feet of snow on the level. On Friday night, 19th ult., we had rain, and it froze as it fell, and Saturday night the same. There was about one inch of ice on everything that it could stick on. The woods were loaded down with ice, and on Sunday, all day, trees and brush were falling with the weight of ice, just as if the woods were full of choppers.

Madre E Hijo,
What Does it Mean?

The Freshet Freshening.

Considerable Damage Done—An Hotel Kitchen Collapses.

The water in Hamilton's Creek again rose yesterday evening higher than it has been known to for several years. Large quantities of ice from up the stream became dislodged and were carried down to White's dam, where they lodged. Below the dam the water was held back by ten ice cent of the Wm. Hamilton works and it one time rose to such a height that it flooded the floor of the Hamilton foundry. A number of men were detailed to break the ice, which they did, and allowed the water to escape. The ice in large cakes, was carried down the creek with irresistible force. The Rathbun street and Simcoe street bridges escaped uninjured, but the King street bridge was less fortunate, and had one support past carried away.

A KITCHEN COLLAPSES.

Mr. Snowden's hotel kitchen, resting on timbers spanning the creek, fared very badly. Nineteen upright supporters were broken off by the force of the ice a large cross beam was broken and torn from its place and the whole structure allowed to drop into the creek. The kitchen is about forty feet long and is now only held in place by the supports at each end, the centre now resting on the bottom of the creek. Fortunately nearly all furniture and effects were removed from the place, as it was feared it would go. The boards, beams and roof are all destroyed, displaced and broken and the water rushes wildly through where the floor was, carrying boards and blocks of ice away on its troubled tide. The loss of Mr. Phelan who owns that property is estimated at about $500.

OTHER INCIDENTS.

At English's boat factory the water carried away several bundles, of strips of wood used for ribbing canoes, which were hanging under the building. The timber was carried down the stream to the King street bridge where it lodged. John Odette employed by Mr. English, went out in a canoe to rescue the wood. He succeeded in gathering it all up, when he by some means upset the canoe and was precipitated into the cold, cold stream. He claims to have had the first swim of the season. He scrambled out of the water, leaving the task of recovering the timber to others.

A large jam occurred at the bridge near Spaulding's Bay, and at one time it was feared it would be carried away. The water in the creek is now a foot or so lower and is gradually subsiding. If the recent fall of snow melts quickly it may again cause trouble.

Railway Wash-Outs.

Considerable Damage Done to Railway Property.

The rains of the last few days have caused a freshet on the streams in this section, and the result is several wash-outs on the G. J. Division of the Grand Trunk between here and Belleville, and also a small wash-out on the C. P. R.

THE C. P. R. WASH-OUT.

Yesterday afternoon a washout occurred on the C. P. R. about a mile east of the town. A construction train was sent out as soon as word was received of the occurrence, and the damage repaired. Only a few yards of the track were washed away. Two trains on the line stopped at Tweed all night, the conductor fearing that the storm had damaged the line, and an accident would certainly follow if they attempted to run before daylight.

WATER ON THE GRAND JUNCTION.

Conductor Morris' train which left town yesterday afternoon, proceeded as far as Drummond's, where it was found the line washed out, and was ordered back.

In the immediate vicinity of Campbellford the washouts are very bad. About two miles west the track for about half a mile is submerged some two feet. The railway crosses Trout creek, a crooked stream, about fifteen times in ten miles, and at each crossing there is a general washout.

The bridges and culverts between Campbellford and Stirling are also washed out.

A Marital Maniac

Has a "Mission" to Murder Her Helpmate.

LONDON, April 1.—Nathan Griffin is a respectable and well-to-do farmer in the township of Westminster. His wife is greatly addicted to religion, and, according to her own statement, was inspired to "kill her husband and go preaching." About 4 o'clock this morning she rose from her bed, secured her husband's razor, and twice drew the weapon across his throat. She then coolly got back into bed. Mr. Griffin awoke to find the blood gushing from the wounds. He wrapped a towel around his neck, and although terribly weak from loss of blood, succeed in arousing a neighbour. One of the gashes was three inches long on the left side, and laid the arteries bare. The other narrowly escaped the windpipe.

Trenton.

The Scott Act coming in force on May 1st in Lennox county, Messrs. M. W. Praym & Son, the leading liquor dealers of Napanee, have applied for a shop license in this town, they making the fourth applicants.

Cobourg.

The Cobourg town council, having neglected or refused to carry out the agreement with the Ontario Government to issue new debentures, at the last meeting a letter was received from the Provincial Treasurer, upbraiding the council for not keeping its promises and stating plainly that unless the new debentures are delivered at the Treasury department on or before the 1st of May, the proposition for the reduction of the debt and issue of new debentures will be revoked, and the Government will proceed to realise upon the old bonds. The Cobourg World adds, that a gloomy silence pervaded the Chamber during the reading of this epistle of doom.

The officers and non-commissioned officers of the 40th Battalion, held high banquet at the Arlington Hotel on Tuesday evening.

According to the Cobourg World, Mr. Geo. Grillett, M.P., has been elected president of the local base ball club, because his success as the champion salary-grabber argues great ability to "catch on" to a ball in the field.

Cobourg has an assessment committee, to revise the appraisals of the assessors.

The Countess of Aberdeen will give a garden party at Dublin next month, and those invited have been asked to wear goods of Irish manufacture. The Nationalists have a very poor opinion of this means of encouraging Irish manufactures, and will insist on having Home Rule.

It Was Murder.

The inquest on the bodies of John Bailey and his hired man, found in the ruins of a building destroyed by fire near Wiarton last Thursday night, discloses a horrible murder. The men had been killed with an axe or similar cutting instrument, and were shockingly disfigured. The most expert officers should be put upon this case, so that the perpetrators may be speedily brought to punishment.

Dummer.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

This township enjoyed a pleasant society sensation on Tuesday last. At the residence of Mr. David Rose J.P., in the afternoon, Mr. James Yoarex, of Belleville, was united in marriage to Miss Rose, the only daughter. The officiating minister was Rev. Alex. Bell, St. Andrew's, Peterborough. Miss Jennie Lumsden, of your town, was bridesmaid, while Mr. W. Valentine, of Trenton, supported the groom. The sacrificial garments on the bride consisted of peacock blue silk and the traditional orange blossoms, entwined with heliotrope. Miss Lumsden was attired in salmon colored silk with oriental lace trimming. After the wedding repast the happy pair took train at Norwood for the west on their honeymoon tour.

Notes from the Capital.

(Globe Correspondence.)

OTTAWA, March 31.—The liquor dealers are very angry at the conduct of the Government in threatening them with an increase in the duties upon spirits, and thus forcing them to take out of bond large quantities of liquors which were not needed for immediate consumption. The object of the Government in threatening an increase of duties was of course to induce the liquor dealers to pay large sums into the treasury in advance, and thus reduce the deficit for the current year. In this way a million dollars or so of revenue which properly belongs to next year has been collected in 1885 and 1886.

INCORPORATING MEMBERS.

It seems to be a general rule now that no charter to incorporate a railway or any other company will be granted unless some Conservative members of Parliament are among the parties incorporated. The proceedings in the Railway Committee this morning showed that about half a dozen members of the House of Commons supporting the Government were mixed up in the Woodworth-Beaty embroglio concerning the charter of the Manitoba Central Railway. The practice of members of Parliament obtaining charters which they hope to dispose of at a profit seems to be on the increase. To-day three members from Cape Breton—Messrs Paint, Dood and Cameron (Inverness)—petitioned for an Act incorporating themselves as a company to build a bridge across Lennox Passage. A Government subsidy will no doubt be applied for in aid of the work, and if secured the three members will be able to sell out to advantage. Then Messrs. Hickey and Taylor, members of the House of Commons, have petitioned in connection with some American gentlemen to be incorporated as a telegraph and telephone company, and Messrs. John Smith, M.P., C. W. Moberley, and McLeod Stewart are seeking incorporation as the Kootanay Railway Company. In fact, there is scarcely a private Bill before Parliament in which some Conservative members of Parliament are not interested.

SOME FANCY CHARGES.

The statement of expenditure under special appropriation of $2,300,000, granted last session to meet rebellion expenses, shows that out of that grant $763,575 was paid to the Hudson Bay Company for supplies and transport. Some of the Company's charges appear to be extortionate. Bread is charged for at ten cents per pound, coal oil at one dollar per gallon, seven dollars a pair for blankets, seven dollars per dozen for canned meat, fifty cents per pound for coffee, 25 cents per pound for bacon, and 30 cents for corned beef, 25 cents per pound for sugar, 10 cents a pound for oatmeal, and 90 cents a bushel for potatoes, $2 per gallon for lime-juice, 30 cents a pound for cheese, $1 per pound for tobacco, 4 cents per pound for oats, 9 cents a pound for flour, 60 cents per pound for gunpowder, and everything else in proportion. The charges for transport are also exorbitant, and it is easy to understand how the Hudson Bay Company's bill is so large. No less than $6,497 was paid by the Government as commission and discount upon drafts forwarded through the bank to the Minister for collection. Mr. Fred. Stimson, of bribery conspiracy fame, figures in accounts as recipient of $425 for two horses, although horses were bought for the Mounted Police at less than $150 each. The Qu'Appelle Farming Company, also obtained $725 for their horses. Of the total payments to the Hudson Bay Company, $48,670 was for supplies, $611,671 for disbursements, $30,585 for commission, $6,497 as bank charges.

It will be remembered that Hon. Rudolphe Lafamme sued and received a verdict of $10,000 damages against the Mail, that newspaper having made certain allegations of ballot stuffing and fraud at the Jacques Cartier election. In the Court of Review in Montreal on Wednesday the judges gave judgment sustaining the verdict and refusing a new trial. The Tory organ shows the genuineness of its malice against a political opponent, in risking a ten thousand dollar verdict for the sake of maligning him.

What Does it Mean?

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, of its kind. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $125 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $125 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two "primlays," trusses made in New York State, costing me $16. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child here; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned, don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; 20 engravings and information. Your name and P.O. address plain and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. ADDRESS:

THE MARRIAGE RING.

Talmage's Eleventh Sermon.

The Good Mother's Immense Influence.

ST. LOUIS, March 28.—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D.D., of Brooklyn, preached in this city this morning, on his way home from his western trip, the twelfth of his series of sermons on "The Marriage Ring." Its subject was "Motherhood."

The preacher took for his text I. Samuel 1, 19. "Moreover his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband to offer the the yearly sacrifice."

THE STORIES OF DEBORAH AND ABIGAIL

are very apt to discourage a woman's soul. She says within herself, "It is impossible that I ever can achieve any such grandeur of character, and I don't mean to try," as though a child should refuse to play the eight notes because he cannot execute a "William Tell." This Hannah of the text differs from the persons I have just named. She was an ordinary woman, with ordinary intellectual capacity, placed in the ordinary circumstances, and yet, by extraordinary piety, standing out before all the ages to come, the model Christian mother.

Hannah was the wife of Elkanah, who was a person very much like herself—unromantic and plain, never having fought a battle or been the subject of a marvellous escape. Neither of them would have been called a genius. Just what you and I might be, that was Elkanah and Hannah.

The brightest time in all the history of that family was the birth of Samuel. Although no star ran along the heaven pointing down to his birthplace, I think the angels of God stooped at the coming of so wonderful a prophet.

As Samuel had been given in answer to prayer, Elkanah and all his family, save Hannah, started up to Shiloh to offer sacrifices of thanksgiving. The cradle where the child slept was altar enough for Hannah's grateful heart, but when the boy was old enough she took him to Shiloh and took three bullocks, and an ephah of flour, and a bottle of wine, and made offering of sacrifice unto the Lord, and there, according to a previous vow, she left him: for there he was to stay all the days of his life and minister in the Temple.

Years rolled on, and every year Hannah made with her own hand a garment for Samuel, and took it over to him. The lad would have got along well without that garment, for I suppose he was well clad by the ministry of the Temple; but Hannah could not be contented unless she was all the time doing something for her darling boy. "Moreover his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice."

I. Hannah stands before you, then, in the first place, as an industrious mother. There was no need for her to work. Elkanah, her husband, was far from poor. He belonged to a distinguished family; for the Bible tells us that he was the son of Jeroboam, the son of Elihu, the son of John, the son of Zuph. "Who were they?" you say. I do not know; but they were distinguished people, no doubt, or their names would not have been mentioned.

Hannah might have seated herself with her family, and, with folded arms and dishevelled hair, read novels from year to year if there had been any to read; but when I see her making that garment and taking it over to Samuel, I know she is industrious from principle as well as pleasure. God would not have a mother become a drudge or a slave. He would have her employ all the helps possible in this day in the rearing of her children. But Hannah ought never to be ashamed to be found making a coat for Samuel. Most mothers need no counsel in this direction. The wrinkles on their brow, the pallor on their cheek, the thimble mark on their finger attest that they are faithful to their maternal duties. The bloom and the brightness and the vivacity of girlhood have given place for the grander dignity and usefulness and industry of motherhood. But there is a heathenish idea getting abroad in some of the families of Americans; there are mothers who banish themselves from the home circle. For three-fourths of their maternal duties the prove themselves incompetent. They are ignorant of what their children wear, and what their children eat, and what their children read. They trust to irresponsible persons these young immortals, and allow them to be under influences which may cripple their bodies, or ruin their purity, or spoil their manners, or destroy their souls. From the awkward cut of Samuel's coat you know his mother Hannah did not make it. Out from under flaming chandeliers, off from imported carpets, and down the granite stairs, there has come a great crowd of children in this day, untrained, unwise, incompetent, for all practical duties of life, ready to be caught in the first whirl of crime and sensuality. Indolent and unfaithful mothers will make indolent and unfaithful children. You cannot expect neatness and order in any house where the daughters see nothing but slatternliness and apathetic lowmativeness in their parents. Let Hannah be idle, and most certainly Samuel will grow up idle. Who are the industrious men in all our occupations and professions? Who are they managing the merchandize of the world, building the walls, tinning the roofs, weaving the carpets, making the laws, governing the nations, making the earth to quake, and heave, and roar, and rattle with the tread of gigantic enterprises? Who are they? For the most part they descend from industrious mothers, who, in the old homestead, used to spin their own yarn, and weave their own carpets, and paint their own door-seats, and flag their own chairs, and do their own work. The stalwart man and the influential women of this day, ninety-nine out of a hundred of them came from such a illustrious ancestry of hard knuckles and home-spun. And who are these people in society, light as froth, blown every whither of temptation and fashion—the peddlers of filthy stories, the dancing fools of political parties, the scum of society, the tavern-lounging, the store-loitering, the men of lean mind, and filthy chuckle, and loose breastpins, and rotten consistence? For the most part they come from mothers idle and dispirited—the cowardly progeny of mothers, going through life trying to please everybody, and pleasing nobody, and fashionable in order to keep the devil out of the church, and by a godless life setting their children on the verge of hell. The mothers of Samuel Johnson, and of Alfred the Great, and of Isaac Newton, and of St. Augustine, and of Richard Cecil, and of President Edwards, for the most part, were industrious, Spartan-like women.

Now, while I exhort godly all Christian mothers upon the needle and the kitchen science which may afford them all kinds of help, let me say that every mother ought to be observant of her children's walk, her children's behavior, her children's food, her children's books, her children's companionships. However much Hannah may have, I think she ought every year, at least, make one garment for Samuel. The Lord have mercy on a man who is so unfortunate as to have had a lazy mother.

NEXT WEEK

OUR OPENING,

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

APRIL 7th and 8th.

In intimating to our Customers and Ladies generally, that our SHOW ROOMS will be opened for the season on the above dates.

We assure our patrons that our Millinery Department will be opened to Show for the most Fashionable Goods at the Smallest Margin.

We heartily invite every Lady to call and see our Display. Miss Winter, who has had charge of this Department for the past three years, will be most happy to show you through.

::APOLOGY.::

We must apologize to our Customers this season for our not having time to send Cards or Circulars, but trust none will omit to call and see our Display.

Remember the Dates, Wednesday and Thursday, April 7th and 8th

JAMES ALEXANDER.

The Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, APRIL 2, 1886.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

A full line of Macrame Cord in all shades, cheap, at the "Ten Cent" Store.

Beautiful new designs in Tapestry Carpets at 30c. and 35c. per yard, at Hall, Innes & Co's.

A Challenge Invitation.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club have received an invitation to play at Unionville on the Queen's birthday. They will consider the invitation at their annual meeting on Monday, the 12th.

Oratorio.

Professor Parker and a choir of thirty voices will render Farmer's sacred oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," in St. Luke's school room, on Wednesday, April 7th, at 8 p.m. Tickets 25 cents.

Messrs. Giroux & Sullivan

has just received their large catalogue books of Harper's Bazar Patterns for the spring. Ladies requiring any should come and procure one before they are all sold.

GIROUX & SULLIVAN.

Separate School Board.

A meeting of the Separate School Board was held in the Murray street school yesterday evening. There were present Mr. M. Quinlan, in the Chair, and Messrs. J. O'Meara, Jos. Henry, T. McGrath, and J. Griffin. A number of accounts were presented and ordered to be paid. Other minor matters of business were discussed, after which the meeting adjourned.

Dressmaker Arrived.

The ladies will be particularly interested in the information that Miss Gilchrist has arrived in town and taken charge of the Dressmaking Department of the Golden Lion. Miss Gilchrist comes with the very highest recommendations, and her handiwork can be confidently guaranteed as sure to give ample satisfaction in every respect.

R. FAIR.

As Good as Ever.

The work of removing the ice from the floor of the Lansdowne, which was commenced yesterday, under the supervision of Contractor Thomas Rutherford, was completed this morning. The preparation with which the floor was covered peeled off with the ice and left it in as good condition as when flooded wise heads to the contrary notwithstanding. The work of improving and preparing the floor will be completed this week. Then roller skating again.

Police Court.

In the absence of Police Magistrate Dumble, Mayor Stevenson presided at the police court this morning. Patrick Lowry was brought before the court charged with having been drunk and disorderly and with having caused a disturbance in the Salvation Army barracks. He admitted the charge. As it was not the prisoner's first offence of the same nature, His Worship imposed a fine of $3 or 20 days. Not having the necessary, he was escorted to jail.

The Salvation Army Subscription.

During the past few days a number of Salvationists have been canvassing the town for subscriptions toward raising a sum of money for the purpose of testing the legality of the judgment delivered against a number of Salvationists on Wednesday. Should the money not be required for this purpose it will go towards the erection of a new barracks. Over $250 has been subscribed and the canvassers are still at work soliciting subscriptions, with a fair success.

Health Matters.

A convention of Local Boards of Health is now in session at Woodstock. The object of the convention is the dissemination of sanitary information. It has been suggested that Peterborough should hold such a convention at an early date. The departure of the snow reveals many an unsightly heap of filth and garbage which require immediate attention, and which the officers are already causing to be removed. Dr. Clarke, Medical Health Officer, states that there is considerably more rubbish and garbage lying exposed around town this year than on any previous year and that proportionately more cleaning will have to be done. He is of opinion that it would be in the interests of the town to appoint a public scavanger.

Annual Lacrosse Meeting Postponed.

About fifteen members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club assembled at the Little Windsor last night, at which place and time the annual meeting was announced to be held. Mr. H. LeBrun, President, explained that it would be inadvisable to proceed with the deliberations, as Mr. H. Calcutt, with whom the club is negotiating for grounds, was unable to be present on account of illness. The members present concurred with Mr. LeBrun's views. Messrs. J. O'Meara and W. H. Scott were appointed delegates to attend the annual convention of the National Amateur Lacrosse Association, to be held in Toronto on Friday next. The meeting then adjourned till Monday, April 12th, to meet at the same place. The Secretary, Mr. G. H. Giroux, intimated that the N.A.L.A. council were divided on the question in dispute between the Orillia and Peterborough Clubs, but that it would be settled at the convention. He also reported that he had received an invitation asking the club to play at Unionville on the 24th of May.

All Sizes

Of those famous Spring Beds; Mattresses, and Feather Pillows, at A. Clegg's.

The All-day Meeting.

The all-day meeting in the George street church to-day, was up to the time of going to press, well attended. All the addresses were exceptionally interesting.

Business College Notes.

In the regular monthly penmanship contest Mr. T. Elmhirst won the silver pin for March. The specimens were very fine and showed the advantage of good training.

Just Received

At A. Clegg's the newest thing in Tapestry Curtains for Portieres. Also a fine line Tapestry and Brussells Carpets.

Presbytery of Peterborough.

At the sittings on Thursday, in Toronto, the Presbyterian Home Missions Committee assigned the following to work in the mission fields of the Presbytery of Peterborough:—Wm. Mowat, J. H. Macdonald, A. E. Duncan, W. T. Parson, and Frank P. Miller.

Revenue Bogus Bank Bills.

Counterfeits of the $2.00 issue of Dominion bills, are being presented at the Bank of Toronto and are refused by Mr. R. W. Grubbe teller, of the bank here, and it is stated on good authority that these counterfeits, which are on poor paper and liable to fade, and being largely palmed off in the vicinity of Gravenhurst and Parry Sound.

Coming to Give Evidence.

John Ball, committed to Barrie jail on a charge of passing counterfeit five dollar bills on the Bank of Toronto, at Orillia, last Friday, will be brought to town on the 6:50 train this evening, and will appear in the Police Court to-morrow to give evidence in the bearing of the charge of complicity, against Hamill.

A Double-Edged Argument.

At the meeting of the Peterborough Business College Literary Society held last night, the subject discussed, was "Are the Mental Conceptions of the Sexes Equal?" Mr. T. J. O'Shea led the affirmative and Mr. H. McWilliams the negative. Miss Emma Keele made the speech of the evening, decidedly, and her powerful arguments in favour of the lords of creation, while winning the decision in favour of the affirmative, practically furnished the strongest proof of the superior mental powers of the skirted sex, especially as exemplified in the fair orator's own case.

Preliminary Court of Revision.

His Honor Judge Weller, Revising Officer for Peterborough, held the first Court for the preliminary revision of the voters' lists prepared by the Dominion Franchise Act, yesterday forenoon. Twenty-four names were added to the Smith list, none of the applications being rejected. Twenty of these applications were made by Reformers. Three names were added to the Ennismore list and two rejected. Those applications accepted were made by Conservatives and the rejected by Reformers.

The Preliminary Revision Court for Norwood, Asphodel and Belmont, appointed for this forenoon at 11 o'clock, in the town hall, Ashburnham, was adjourned to the judge's chambers till 11 o'clock, to-morrow.

Improvement.

For the past week the handsome and commodious premises of Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co., have been receiving the attention of Mr. J. Watson, painter, who has added to the attractions and cheerfulness of the shop by a liberal and artistic application of paint paper, etc. The wood work of the shelves and that supporting the counters, the wainscotting and cornices have been oak grained, in some place bordered with brown, cardinal and gold, with artistic effect. The ceiling and walls are papered with a handsome paper, cream tinted with gold figuring, bordered with heavy cardinal band. The office has also been painted and papered in harmony with the rest of the shop and in future will sport an English floor oilcloth. New, neat and novel gas fixtures have also been placed, which will add to the brightness of the premises, and the attractiveness of first class goods at reasonable prices.

Personal.

Mr. W. H. Moore has been appointed Notary and Solicitor for the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Toronto. This position was rendered vacant by the appointment of Mr. Weller to the bench.

At a special meeting of the Independent Lacrosse Club, of Boston, "Boston's Best," Mr. C. LeBrun, brother of Mr. H LeBrun, and formerly a resident of Peterborough, was elected Vice-President of the club. Lacrosse seems to be a virtue of the LeBrun family. Mr. H. LeBrun has done excellent work in advancing the interests of the game in Peterborough, and now his brother becomes foster father to the leading Canadian game in its adoptive home.

Happy City Battalions.

The Royal Grenadiers of Toronto began their annual drill Thursday night—comfortably at home in their drill-shed. When will Peterborough's city battalion get into shape?

Belleville.

In this city there are 27 applicants for tavern licenses, five for shop and two for wholesale. If all are granted licenses, Belleville's revenue under this head will amount to something like $10,000. The license fee for hotels is $300.

Severe Snowstorm.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Dispatches from Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin announce a heavy fall of snow during the last forty-eight hours, the storm at many points being one of the severest of the season.

Honoring the Colonies.

The Queen will open the Colonial Exhibition on May 4th, and will be escorted through the Canadian department by John Laidlaw, of Toronto, in person.

Destroyed Without Pain.

A good crop of hair is a great beauty, but a superfluous growth is an unsightly blemish Everyone troubled with unnecessary hair should not fail to try a bottle of "Eureka"—Dorenwend's Hair Destroyer; it removes all superfluous hair without pain or disfigurement. Price $2.00 per bottle or 3 bottles for $5.00. Manufactured by Eureka Manufacturing Co., Toronto, Can. Sent to any address on receipt of price. To be had from J. D. TULLY, DRUGGIST, AGENT PETERBOROUGH.

Ready to Admit.

Every one is ready to admit, there is a great advantage in getting their boots and shoes made to order, providing they have not to pay the price of two pair for one. Johnston Carey is making them to order as cheap as they can be bought ready made. He is now ready to fill all orders on short notice, as he has a full set of first class workmen in the custom department.

ARTISTIC DRESSMAKING.

Mr. R. Fair, of the Golden Lion, has succeeded in securing the services of a thoroughly competent and reliable dressmaker in the person of Miss Gilchrist, formerly associated with the late Mrs. Calloway, of Toronto. Miss Gilchrist has filled some very important positions lately, and comes to Peterborough highly recommended. She claims to be in possession of a superior system of cutting, and guarantees all her work. She is an artist of rare merit, and the numerous patrons of the Golden Lion will doubtless find her fully capable of catering to their wants.

THE MARRIAGE RING.

Talmage's Eleventh Sermon.

The Good Mother's Immense Influence.

II. Again Hannah stands before you as an intelligent mother. From the way in which she talked in this chapter, and from the way she managed this boy, you know she was intelligent. There are no persons in a community who need to be so wise and well-informed as mothers.

Oh! this work of culture in children for this world and the next. This child is timid and it must be roused up and pushed out into activity. This child is forward, and he must be held back and tamed down into modesty and politeness. Rewards for one, punishment for another. That which will make George will ruin John. The rod is necessary in one case, while a frown of displeasure is more than enough in another. Whippingand a dark closet do not exhaust all the rounds of domestic discipline. There have been children who have grown up and gone to glory without ever having their ears boxed. Oh, how much care and intelligence are necessary in the rearing of children. But in this day, when there are so many books on the subject, no parent is excusable in being ignorant of the best mode of bringing up a child. If parents knew more of dietetics there would not be so many weak stomachs, and weak nerves and incompetent livers among children. If parents knew more of physiology there would not be so many curved spines and cramped chests, and inflamed throats, and diseased lungs as there are among children. If parents knew more of art, and were in sympathy with all that is beautiful, there would not be so many children coming out in the world with boorish proclivities. If parents knew more of Christ and practiced more of His religion, there would not be so many little feet already starting on the wrong road, and all around us vices of riot and blasphemy would not come up with such ecstacy of infernal triumph.

The eaglets in the eyrie have no advantage over the eaglets of a thousand years ago; the kids have no superior way of climbing up the rocks than the old goats taught hundreds of years ago; the whelps know no more than the whelps did ages ago—they are taught no more by the lions of the desert; but it is a shame that in this day, when there are so many opportunities of improving ourselves in the best manner of cultivating children, that so often there is no more advancement in this respect than there has been among the kids and the eaglets and the whelps.

III. Again Hannah stands before you as a Christian mother. From her prayers and from the way she consecrated her boy to God, I know that she was good. A mother may have the finest culture, the most brilliant surroundings, but she is not fit for her duties unless she be a Christian mother. There may be well-read libraries in the house, and exquisite music in the parlor, and the canvas of the best artists adorning the walls, and the wardrobe be crowded with tasteful apparel, and the children be wonderful for their attainments, and make the house ring with laughter and innocent mirth; but there is something wonderfully lacking in that house if it be not also the residence of a Christian mother.

I bless God that there are not many prayerless mothers—not many of them. The weight of responsibility is so great that they feel the need of a Divine hand to help, and a Divine voice to comfort, and a Divine heart to sympathize. Thousands of mothers have been led into the kingdom of God by the hands of their little children. There were hundreds of mothers who would not have been Christians had it not been for the prattle of their little ones. Standing some day in the nursery, they bethought themselves "This child God has given me to raise for eternity. What is my influence upon it? Not being a Christian myself, how can I ever expect him to become a Christian? Lord help me! Are there anxious mothers, who know nothing of the infinite help of religion? Then I commend to them Hannah, the pious mother of Samuel. Do not think it is absolutely impossible that your children come up iniquitous. Out of just such fair brows, and bright eyes, and soft hands, and innocent hearts crime gets its victims—extirpating purity from the heart, and rubbing out the smoothness from the brow, and quenching the lustre of the eyes, and shrivelling up, and poisoning, and putrefying, and scathing and scalding, and blasting, and burning with shame and woe. Every child is a bundle of tremendous possibilities, and whether that child shall come forth to life, its heart attuned to the eternal harmonies, and after a life of usefulness on earth go to a life of joy in heaven; or whether across it shall jar eternal discords, and after a life of wrong-doing on earth it shall go to a home of impenetrable darkness and an abyss of immeasurable plunge, is being decided by nursery song and Sabbath lesson and evening prayer and walk and ride and look and frown and smile. Oh! how many children in glory, crowding all the battlements, and lifting a million-voiced hosanna, brought to God through Christian parentage.

One hundred and twenty clergymen were together, and they were telling their experiences and their ancestry, and of the one hundred and twenty clergymen how many of them do you suppose assigned as the means of their conversion the influence of a Christian mother? One hundred out of the one hundred and twenty! Philip Doddrige was brought to God by the Scripture lesson on the Dutch tiles of a chimney fire-place. The mother thinks she is only rocking a child, but at the same time she may be rocking the fate of nations, rocking the glories of Heaven. The same maternal power that may lift a child up may press a child down.

A daughter came to a worldly mother and said she was anxious about her sins, and she had been praying all night. The mother said, "Oh, stop praying. I don't believe in praying. Get over all these religious notions and I'll give you a dress that will cost five hundred dollars, and you may wear it next week to that party." The daughter took the dress, and she moved in the gay circle, the gayest of all the gay that night, and sure enough all religious impressions were gone and she stopped praying. A few months after she came to die, and in her closing moments said, "Mother, I wish you would bring me that dress that cost $500." The mother thought it a very strange request, but she brought it

TO PLEASE THE DYING CHILD.

"Now," said she, "mother hang that dress on the foot of my bed," and the dress was hung there, on the foot of the bed. Then the dying girl got up on her elbow and looked at her mother, and then pointed to the dress and said: "Mother, that dress is the price of my soul." Oh, what a momentous thing it is to be a mother.

IV. Again, and lastly, Hannah stands before you the rewarded mother. For all the coats she made for Samuel, for all the prayers she offered for him, for the discipline exerted over him, she got abundant compensation in the piety and the usefulness and popularity of her son Samuel, and that is true in all ages. Every mother gets full pay for all the prayers and tears in behalf of her children. That man useful in commercial life; that man prominent in a profession; that master mechanic—why, every step he takes in life has an echo of gladness in the old heart that long ago taught him to be a Christian and heroic and earnest. The story of what you have done, or what you have written, of the influence you have exerted, has gone back to the old homestead—for there is someone always ready to carry good tidings, and that story makes the needle in the old mother's tremulous hand fly quicker, and the flail in the father's hand come down upon the barn floor, with a vigorous thump. Parents love to hear good news from their children. Do you send them good news always?

Look out for the young man who speaks of his father as "the governor," the "squire," or the "old chap." Look out for the young woman who calls her mother her "maternal ancestor," or the "old woman." "The eye that mocketh at his father, and refuseth to obey his mother, the raven of the valley shall pick it out and the young eagle shall eat it."

God grant that all these parents may have the great satisfaction of seeing their children grow up Christians. But oh, the pang of that mother, who, after a life of street gadding and gossip retailing, hanging on the children the fripperies and follies of this world, sees those children tossed out on the sea of life like foam on the wave, or nonenties in a world where only bravery and stalwart character can stand the shock. But blessed be the mother who looks upon her children as sons and daughters of the Lord Almighty.

Oh! the satisfaction of Hannah in seeing Samuel serving at the altar; of mother Eunice in seeing her Timothy learned in the Scriptures. That is the mother's recompense, to see children coming up perfect in the world, reclaiming the lost, healing the sick, pitying the ignorant, earnest and useful in every sphere. That throws a new light back on the family Bible whenever she reads it, and that will be ointment to soothe the aching limbs of decrepitude, and light up the closing hours of life's day with the glories of an autumnal sunset.

There she sits, the old Christian mother, ripe for Heaven. Her eyesight is almost gone, but the splendor of the celestial city kindles up the vision. The gray light of Heaven's morn has struck through the gray locks which are folded back over the wrinkled temples. She stoops very much now under the burden of care she used to carry for her children. She sits at home, too old to find her way to the house of God; but while she sits there all the past comes back, and the children that forty years ago tripped around her armchair, with their griefs and joys and sorrows—those children are gone now. Some caught up into a better realm, where they shall never die, and others out in the broad world testing the excellency of a mother's discipline. Her last days are full of peace, and calmer and cooler will her spirit become until the gates of life shall lift and let in the worn out pilgrim into eternal springtide and youth, where the limbs never ache and the eyes never grow dim, and the staff of the exhausted and decrepit pilgrim shall become the palm of the immortal athlete.

All Day Services.

Schiveres Concludes his Course in Peterborough—An Immense Gathering in the Evening.

Although the services yesterday morning in the George street church were well attended, those in the afternoon were much more so, and the evening was the largest in point of attendance that has ever been held in the church. Throughout the day the programme previously arranged on was faithfully carried out. The services were opened at 9 o'clock with a confession meeting, addressed by Mr. G. B. Sproule and Mr. Schiveres.

From 10 to 11 Rev F. McAmmond, of Ashburnham, spoke on the subject of "Thanksgiving." He pointed out the many reasons they had for thanksgiving. The building up of Christians as well as the numerous conversions was the result of their special services. At the close of his address a large number acknowledged their gratitude for the blessings they had received during Mr. Schiveres's stay.

From 11 till noon Rev. I. Tovell, gave a Bible reading on faith, showing the many blessings received through faith, and how all through the scriptures it is impressed upon the reader.

During the noon hour Mr. G. B. Sproule led a prayer meeting.

AFTERNOON.

The first hour of the afternoon services was occupied by Rev. E. F. Torrance, M.A., who gave an address on "Power for Service," showing that God calls his children to engage in service and none but his children can properly work for Him. His command is "Son, go work to-day in my vineyard." God's children needed to be prepared for service by self-judgment, confession, putting away of sin and by the baptism of God's spirit.

The Rev. A. H. Munro conducted the second part of the afternoon meeting, giving an address on "How to read the Bible." To study it aright it should be received and used as the ever-living Word of God, and as an absolute authority on all matters of life. The Holy Spirit was necessary to understand it. It should be studied for the purpose of spiritual benefit and for usefulness to others. The rev. gentleman also enumerated a large number of helps and the best way to study the Word profitably.

The third address of the afternoon was given by Mr. Schiveres on "Growth in Grace," basing his remarks on 2 Peter, 3rd and 18th: "Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour." The first thing requisite was to join some body of believers. Fervent prayer and careful Bible study were also necessary. He advised those who wished to grow in grace never to let a day pass without doing something for Christ; never to do anything or to go anywhere that God's blessing could not be asked on.

Following him, Rev. Mr. Bell gave an address on "The Fruits of Christian Grace." The grace of God finds a man "dead in trespass and sins" and quickens him into new life. The object of this salvation was that they might show forth good works, in the direction chosen by God. Practical and helpful Christianity was what was required.

The last address of the afternoon was "On Joining the Church," given by Rev. F. H. Wallace, M.A. The speaker compared the circumstances in which they were to the early church, as recorded in Acts ii, 41-47. It was the duty of every Christian to join the church, and not a matter of voluntary motion; it was also a blessed privilege. Church membership was also a social brotherhood, and he advised the Christians to welcome the new converts and give them the right hand of fellowship. There was also a power for work to be had in the church which was one of the chief reasons for the church's existence. By co-operation the work could be done better than by separate effort.

The meeting was closed with singing and prayer.

THE EVENING MEETING.

Long before the evening services commenced, the church was crowded to its utmost, there being present about 1,500 persons. An overflow meeting was held in the basement, which was addressed by Rev. Mr. Torrance, and Mr. Schiveres after the first meeting. Rev. Messrs. J. Tovell, E. F. Torrance, F. H. Wallace, A. Bell, A. H. Munro, F. McAmmond, C. Cattanach, A. E. De St. Dalmas, and others, occupied the pulpit platform and assisted in the services.

Mr. J. Tovell, in a short address, expressed his sorrow at not being able to announce a continuance of the evangelistic meetings. The utmost harmony had existed among the different churches during the series, and the result of the services was that a multitude was brought to Jesus, and many slumbering Christians had been awakened.

Special prayers were offered for a number for whom prayer had been requested.

Mr. Schiveres then proceeded with his valedictory address. He chose as the basis of his remarks the words "What have I done," contained in the 8th verse of the 6th chapter of Jeremiah. He divided the congregation into two classes, viz., those who had accepted Christ as their Saviour and those who had not. He asked those who had decided for Christ during the past few weeks to stand up, and about two or three hundred did so. To those he chiefly confined his remarks. He said by their decision they had established a relation between themselves and the Lord Jesus Christ. They were now the children of God. They had accepted Christ and his atoning blood had washed away their sins for ever. God forgets as well as forgives sins and wants his children to do the same. They had taken upon themselves the responsibility to grow in grace and in the knowledge of their Saviour Jesus Christ. Growth was necessary. They did not want to be like little children who had to be nursed and pampered all the time. If there was no growth it was an evidence that the devil had them hooked and would only let them go so far. It was no easy matter to desert a loving Saviour after having known his love. It was following the example of the pig which returns to the mire and the dog which returns to his vomit. The God who was able to save was also able to keep. He urged upon the new converts the the necessity of joining some church. The church was the nursing mother to the child of God. The Bible class, Sunday school and services of the church, together with Christian fellowship would all tend to strengthen. Prayer was also a great source of blessing. It was also essentially necessary to feast on the Bible. It was with the word that Jesus overcame the devil when tempted, and so His followers would be able to overcome Satan with the same word. He was sorry he was not able to present each one of them with a Bible. He told of the strength he had received from reading his Bible. He used to employ 30 or 40 minutes of his noon hour in reading it in a coal cellar. From that cellar he graduated well versed in the Bible if not in theology. He also impressed upon the new converts that they should never let a day pass without doing something for Jesus. They were the salt of the earth. He also advised them never to do anything which they could not ask God's blessing on, or to go any place they could not take God with them. He advised the young men to join the Y. M. C. A., as in doing so they would be prepared for the church work. He entreated those who had spurned the Saviour's invitation to accept him, before he turned a deaf ear. The question with them was "What will I do."

In conclusion, he thanked the people of Peterborough for their kindness to him, and said he never would forget them. He hoped if he never met them again here below to meet them in heaven, and prayed that he might also meet those who were unconverted now.

Rev. Mr. Munro pronounced the benediction and the congregation dispersed after singing "The Sweet By and By." The after meeting and enquiry meetings were largely attended. The basement meeting was also crowded.

The Boundary Award.

The Dominion Government's Procrastinatics.

Globe Correspondence.

OTTAWA, April 1.—In response to a motion made by Mr. Mills some time ago for copies of all correspondence between the Governments of Ontario and the Dominion in reference to the proposed Imperial legislation to confirm the award of the Privy Council in the Boundary case, Mr. Chapleau laid before the House to-day a communication from Lieut.-Governor Robinson, dated 26th February last, to which is attached a draft Bill which the Ontario Government desire to have passed by the Imperial Parliament, confirming the award, and declaring the northern boundary of Ontario to be the limits mentioned in said award. To the despatch of the Lieut.-Governor the Federal Ministers do not seem to have condescended to forward an answer, and no steps have been taken by the Federal Government to have the Boundary Question settled by Imperial legislation. The Lieut.-Governor of Ontario states that his Government are extremely anxious that there should be no further delay in disposing of the question of Ontario's territorial limits. He points out that the Ontario Government have by every means in their power endeavored to induce action by the Dominion Government, and with regard to Sir John Macdonald's policy of procrastination, contends that as Ontario was entitled as a matter of right and justice to have an Act passed confirming the award, as soon after the passage of Her Majesty's Order in Council as was consistent with the convenience of Imperial authorities, and points out that ten months before Sir John made his statement in Parliament, that there was "no chance of Imperial legislation until the next meeting of the Imperial Parliament." Her Majesty's Government were prepared to promote the legislation needed. With respect to Sir John's proposal to communicate with the Governments of Ontario, Quebec, and Manitoba. In order to settle the northern boundary of Quebec, the Lieut.-Governor says this is the first time such an excuse has been given for delaying the settlement of Ontario's boundary, and that there is no dispute between Ontario and Quebec as to the boundary between these two provinces. The Imperial Parliament being now in session, and the matter not being one that would involve discussion or delay, His Honour hopes that the Dominion Government will not any longer postpone agreeing upon the form of a draft act to be transmitted to the proper quarter in England. If not prepared to settle the northern boundary, the Lieutenant-Governor urges the Ottawa authorities to settle the boundary so far as has been decided by Her Majesty in Council, and reminds the Dominion Government that the territory covered by decision as to our western boundary, consists of about thirty-nine thousand square miles, and includes the only parts of the disputed territory in which there has hitherto been any considerable settlement, and the only part of the disputed territry in which there is any expectation that settlement will soon take place.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

THURSDAY, APRIL 1st.

In the Commons to-day, in reply to Mr. McMullen, Mr. Thompson said that legislation would be passed this session to remove the difficulties in the way of the working of the Scotch Act.

Mr. McMullen's Bill to amend the Act relating to interest on money secured by mortgage of real estate, and Mr. Charlton's Bill for the Preventing of Cruelty to Animals were read a second time.

Mr. Charlton's Bill to make seduction a misdemeanour under certain circumstances, passed its second reading on the recorded vote of 114 yeas to 47 nays.

A brief discussion arose on resolutions calling for papers relating to several subjects among them the Short Line Railway, extensions under the Franchise Bill, and the registration of Indian voters.

On Mr. Kirk's motion for papers relating to the proposed better terms for Nova Scotia, Mr. Cameron (Cape Breton) moved an amendment declaring in favour of re-opening the question of Nova Scotia's financial agreement with the Dominion. The amendment was lost by a large majority.

In the course of the debate on a motion by Mr. Mitchell for papers relating to the fisheries, the question was raised whether the Government had admitted it had no right to keep foreigners outside of the three-mile limit. This was emphatically denied by Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, who explained the legal position, as the Government believed it to be, leaving Canada at liberty to make any rules of exclusion which she thought desirable. The House adjourned at 11.30.

Madre E Hijo,
What Does it Mean?
An Extraordinary Offer.
To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, of real interest. It retails at 25 cents, and will clear over $50 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the name is protected in the most effective gale by a dead grip for each and every county for any person from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in the saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $5.00 to $20.00 a month clear after this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days trial, and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like to work one or more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $100 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $100 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to make money on employment to make money.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by cheque in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $888,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

RUPTURE CURED
IN FROM 20 TO 30 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.
Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:
ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring trusses made in York State, costing me $25. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. ——.
This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child cause, but need stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Announces a Great Reduction in

SLIPPERS,

SLIPPER-CASES,

OTTOMANS AND

SOFA PILLOWS,

During February and March.

New Shades in Felts and Canvasses.

Ladies' Linen Collars & Cuffs.

The Sons of Toil.

Items of Interest to Working Men.

Fifteen hundred cloakmakers of New York are on strike against the contract system, so that they may be enabled to deal directly with the firms themselves.

Negotiations are pending between the firm of J. B. Stetson & Co., hat manufacturers, of Philadelphia, and the Knights of Labour with the object of settling the difficulties between that firm and its employees and bringing the factory under union control.

Through the efforts of the K. of L., the trouble between the 10,000 glovemakers on strike in Fulton County, N. Y., and their employees has been compromised. This strike began on the 1st of last January.

A Vestmakers' Union is about being organised in New York.

The Manufacturing Shoemakers' Protective Union, of New York lately disbanded, divided the funds among the members in good standing, and then all joined the K. of L.

The C. W. Allen Tobacco Company, of New York, have adopted the eight hour system, without reducing the present or existing rate of wages.

The Glassworkers of Quinton, N.J., have determined to form a co-operative association and erect a factory of their own.

The Champion Knife and Bar Company, of Springfield, Ohio, has issued a circular refusing to treat with any committee of strikers or employ any member of the Knights of Labour organization.

Steps are being taken to form a co-operative printing company in Toronto.

H. G. Hubbard, President of the Russell Manufacturing Company, of Middleton, Conn., has notified the 1,000 employees of of that firm that Knights of Labour must leave that organization or be discharged, and is credited with the following language :—I will have no member of that d——d Order in my employ."

The strike of the harnessmakers in the employ of the Graf-Marshack factory, at Cincinnati, Ohio, has ended by the surrender of the firm to the demands of the men ; that was the reinstatement of the discharged shop committee, as well as all the men who went out on strike six weeks ago, if they so desire.

The Rhode Island manufacturers of textile fabrics lately held a meeting and pledged themselves to pay 5 per cent. of their pay rolls to a fund "for the purpose of defending their interests" against the agressions of the Knights of Labor. The amount pledged is said to be $1,000,000.

Archbishop Leray, of New Orleans, La., was recently interviewed concerning his official opinion as to the Order of the Knights of Labor. He said that after examining the Constitution which had been submitted to him he found "nothing objectionable in it ; workingmen have an undoubted right to form co-operative self-protecting, mutual and benevolent associations. They cannot be prevented from banding together provided they do not intend to resort to violence or to injure property. From what I have learned so far of the Knights of Labor they cannot fall under the proscription of the Church."

It having reached the manager of the Taylor Chair Works at Rediord, Ohio, that the employees were about organizing, a notice was at once posted announcing that any man joining such body would be instantly discharged. The men immediately organized two Assemblies of the Knights of Labor.

The New York Judge now favors national arbitration as a means of settling disputes between labor and capital, and thinks that Congress should provide for the appointment of competent and impartial boards of arbitration.

The Knights of Labor finding it difficult to secure a hall to rent sufficiently large for their meeting in the town of Manchester, N. H., have determined to purchase a site and build a hall suitable for their purposes.

Bishop Kendrick, of St. Louis, has declined to condemn the Knights of Labor.

At the present time at least G. M. W. Powderley, of the Knights of Labor, has no intention of visiting Canada, as there is no difficulty calling for his presence in this country.

Despite associated press despatches to the contrary, neither Bishop Duhamel, of Ottawa, nor Bishop Fabre, of Montreal, has condemned the K. of L. Neither has either forbidden the organization of assemblies in his diocese.

The Legislature of Massachusetts has enacted a law compelling all corporations, including railroads, to pay their employees weekly after July, 1, 1886.

The first lodge of Locomotive Firemen in New Hampshire was instituted at Manchester, early last month.

The municipal and other politicians of Augusta, Me., made an effort to join the Knights of Labor in that town, recently, but failed.

A ladies assembly of the Knights of Labor was recently organized in Belfast, Maine, and began with a membership of 500.

Belleville, Ont., has a carpenters' union, and several assemblies of the Knights of Labor.

Eighty weavers on strike for an increase of wages in the Gates factory at Barlington, Vt., are anxious to be organized into an assembly of the K. of L. This cannot be done, however, so long as they are on strike, for the constitution of the Order prohibits the organization of persons "who are engaged in or about to embark in a strike."

A manufacturing firm at Augusta, Me., have proposed to their employees a plan by which they are to receive a dividend on their labour in proportion as labour contributes to the amount earned during the year, after deducting expenses of management, interest, and depreciation of plant.

The trouble in the Rhode Island Granite Works, lasting eleven months, has been satisfactorily settled through the intervention of the Knights of Labour, and in a short time over 500 men will be at work again.

Do you feel blue and despondent ? Do pains rack and tear away at nerve and muscle, and have you been disappointed in finding a remedy that will afford certain and speedy relief. If so, go at once to any drug store and buy a sample bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Polson's Nerviline never fails to relieve neuralgia, cramps, headache, rheumatism, and all internal or external pains. J. B. Carnahe, druggist, Morrisburgh, writes : "All the parties I supply speak very favorably of Nerviline, and always purchase a second lot." Polson's Nerviline is sold in sample bottles at ten cents ; large size 25 cents—by all druggists and country dealers everywhere. Try a ten cent bottle. d74-6t-w12-16

TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

NEXT WEEK

OUR OPENING,

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

APRIL 7th and 8th.

In intimating to our Customers and Ladies generally, that our SHOW ROOMS will be opened for the Season on the above dates.

We assure our patrons that our Millinery Department will be found to Home for the Latest Fashionable Goods at the Smallest Profits.

We heartily invite every Lady to call and see our Display. Miss Winter, who has had charge of this Department for the past three years, will be most happy to show you through.

::APOLOGY.::

We must apologize to our Customers this season for our not having time to send Cards or Circulars, but trust none will omit to call and see our Display.

Remember the Dates, Wednesday and Thursday, April 7th and 8th

Beautiful new designs in Tapestry Carpets at 30c. and 35c. per yard, at Hall, Innes & Co's.

W. C. T. U.

A special meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held on Monday, at 4 o'clock p.m., in the Y. M. C. A. hall.

Oratorio.

Professor Parker and a choir of thirty voices will render Farmer's sacred oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," in St. Luke's school room, on Wednesday, April 7th, at 8 p.m. Tickets 25 cents.

In Great Demand.

Yesterday Messrs. Porter Bros. forwarded a large consignment of their fine buggy tops to Montreal. The tops turned out by this firm are of a superior make and are, we are glad to note, meeting with great demand.

Messrs. Giroux & Sullivan

has just received their large catalogue books of Harper's Bazaar Patterns for the spring. Ladies requiring any should come and procure one before they are all sold.

GIROUX & SULLIVAN.

Sunday's Services.

To-morrow morning praise and testimony meetings will be held in the George street and in St. Paul's churches. In the evening a thanksgiving service will be held in the Murray street Baptist church. The other churches during the day will have special services.

George Street Methodist Church.

Services to-morrow as follows:—Praise and testimony service 9.45 a.m.; preaching, Rev. F. H. Wallace, B.D., 11 a.m.; Sabbath School with Bible classes 2.30 p.m.; Evangelistic service, Rev. I. Tovell, 7 p.m. Strangers welcome.

Dressmaker Arrived.

The ladies will be particularly interested in the information that Miss Gilchrist has arrived in town and taken charge of the Dressmaking Department of the Golden Lion. Miss Gilchrist comes with the very highest recommendations, and her handiwork can be confidently guaranteed as sure to give ample satisfaction in every respect.

R. FAIR.

What About the Trent Valley Canal?

This is an important question, and the answer is involved in another question, Where is the money to come from? By proper management the money can be got. Why, enough could be saved in a year to build the canal complete, from Midland to Trenton, if the whole county could have the same chance which the people of Peterborough and vicinity have of purchasing clothing at the startlingly cheap figures it is offered at the clothing store of Gough, the Wonderful cheap man and giver of Brobdignagian bargains. Don't take anybody's word for this, but go at once to his store, Arcade buildings, directly under the town clock, and you will be convinced.

For a perfect fitting mantle, a correct copy of the latest French or German styles, go to Hall, Innes & Co's.

Market Items.

The market this morning presented a lively appearance. Offerings of produce, especially of eggs, and vegetables, were plentiful and were bought up by eager buyers who were proportionately more plentiful. Green garden truck and spring pigs made their first appearance for this season. Prices were very little changed and were quoted as follows:—Eggs, 12c.; butter, in print, 20 to 22c.; chickens, per pair, 50c. to 60c.; beef per cwt., $4 to $5.50; pork, cut up, per lb., 6c. to 7c.; veal, per lb., 6c. to 7c.; apples, per bag, 75c. to $1.25; potatoes, 60c. per bag; parsnips, 60c. per bus.; beets, 30c. per bus., carrots, 60c. per. bus.; cabbage, 5c. to 10c. per head; green onions, parsley, mint and radishes, 5c. per bunch, rhubarb, 20c. per bunch; small pigs, $2.50 to $3.00 each; hay, $12 to $13 per ton.

Police Court.

Henry McKinnon was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He came from Belleville at the time of the flood and had been working around town since. He admitted having been drunk but not disorderly. When the magistrate asked him whether he would pay a fine or go to jail, he answered that he was not prepared to do either. The magistrate dismissed him with a warning.

The case of Queen against Hamill was adjourned till 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the prosecution not being prepared to proceed. John Ball appeared in court under the charge of a Barrie official. Mr. Hamill, the prisoner, was, of course, present. There was a large attendance in the court. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the crown; Mr. A. P. Peuneotte, Q.C., for the prisoner, and Mr. [illegible] Waller, of Millbrook, for Ball.

Sale of Stallion.

Mr. J. W. Jackson, of Otonabee, has sold his stallion, "Napoleon," to Mr. Wilson, of Bethany for a good round figure.

Notice to Parents.

I have 50 pairs of Boys' Lace Boots that will be sold less than the cost. Men, now is the time to get your boots for your boys. All kinds of boots selling less than cost to make room for hand-made goods. JOHNSTON CASEY.

More Arrivals.

On Monday, 5th inst., there will be opened out at Fairweather's Hat Store another large consignment of Woodrow's, Christie's, Carrington's and other noted English Manufacturers' styles of hats. They have no equal. Call and see them.

Cows Enjoy the Park.

Two cows amused themselves by meandering around and over the Court House Park this morning, leaving the marks of their cloven hoof on grass and flower beds without fear, favor or prejudice. Mr. Nesbitt soon sighted them and drove them off after an exciting chase.

Why?

Why continue to drive around with faded and shabby Buffalo Robes, when you can have them dyed a rich Black or Brown. Bring your Robes and Coats to the Blyth Mills and have them dyed and made equal to a Black Bear Skin, before you store them away for the season. J. M. MASSON, Blyth Mills, Peterborough.

For the best value and largest stock to select from in Union, Kidderminster, Tapestry and Brussels Carpets, try Hall, Innes & Co.

"The Labourer Worthy of His Hire."

The Ministerial Association, which has had the management of the evangelistic services conducted by Mr. Ferdinand Schiveres, have presented that gentleman with a thank-offering in acknowledgement of his services. Mr. Schiveres leaves to-night on the 5.15 train for Lindsay, where he will begin on Sunday a series of services similar to those he has just closed in Peterborough.

Destroyed Without Pain.

A good crop of hair is a great beauty, but a superfluous growth is an unsightly blemish Everyone troubled with unnecessary hair should not fail to try a bottle of "Eureka"—Doreswend's Hair Destroyer; it removes all superfluous hair without pain or disfigurement. Price $2.00 per bottle or 3 bottles for $5.00. Manufactured by Eureka Manufacturing Co., Toronto, Can. Sent to any address on receipt of price. To be had from J. D. TULLY, DRUGGIST, AGENT PETERBOROUGH.

Young Men.

All young men will receive a hearty welcome at the meetings of the Young Men's Christian Association, which will now be resumed. The young men's meeting to-night will be of an evangelistic character, and will be conducted by Mr. T. S. Cole, of Toronto. Another young men's meeting will be held on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, which Mr. J. W. Flavelle will conduct. The General Secretary, Mr. Geo. E. Williams, will take charge of the gospel song service on Sunday evening, at 8.30. The noon meeting will be held daily from 12 to 12.45 o'clock, and will be open to all.

Personal.

Mr. Thos. S. Cole, Provincial Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will arrive from Port Hope this evening, and will stay here for a few days.

Lieut. Herbert Rogers and Messrs. Ernest Mason and Nelson Brown, will leave town on Monday to attend the Military School, Toronto.

Asphodel.

The death of Mrs. Gebbie, of this township, wife of the late John Gebbie, on Saturday, March 27th, and the death of the oldest surviving son, Alexander, on Tuesday, the 30th, have cast a gloom over this section, of which the deceased were respected and honored residents. Both deaths were caused by the unrelenting and dread disease consumption. During the past four years the hand of affliction has pressed heavily upon this family, death having visited it and carried off six members within that time, among whom were the father and mother. The eldest surviving member of the family is a young lady of only sixteen years. There are also three others. They have the entire and sincere sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

Lindsay.

Lindsay people are rejoicing in prospect of a chime of church bells being placed in position, and in the possession of eight new street letter-boxes, while the papers weep because the citizens don't paint their houses.

The work on the Lindsay lock is nearly completed. It will be open for navigation in about ten days.

A set of "felts" for the Lindsay Paper Mills went down with the sunken "Oregon."

Not satisfied with having the Scott Act the Lindsay papers won't allow the public to even drink Lindsay water until it is boiled.

The plans for the proposed improvements to the Methodist Church have been received and are under consideration.

Lindsay base ball club is to be managed by a joint stock company, with the fabulous capital of $200.

This town is making vigorous efforts to collar a few coupons in respect of railway investment. On Monday a conference was held with railway officials and a promise was made by Mr. A. White, subject to Mr. Hickson's approval, to build a grain warehouse according the conditions of the bonds given the town by the Victoria Railway, and the citizens magnanimously resolved to stay the issue of a mandamus.

Mrs. Robert Koopur, of Kinloss, county of Bruce, in a letter, says: "I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaints for a number of years, and am glad to say to the public as well as friends that McGregor's Speedy Cure brought me around, and I am now all right, thanks to McGregor's Speedy Cure. Hundreds of like testimonials are frequently received, and are daily proving that this is truly a wonderful remedy, curing Sluggish Liver, Bilious Headache and Costiveness, where all else fails. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store. Trial bottles given free. d74-eod-w12

Madre E Hijo,

What Does it Mean?

The Queen vs. Hamill.

The Counterfeiting Charge.

At the hour of two o'clock this afternoon, there was a complete jam in the police court room outside the railings, and as many as could constantly, with decorum, got inside the rail were there, to listen to the evidence in the charge of counterfeiting against Alex. Hamill. The accused was present and Ball who had been brought from Barrie to give evidence, was also present. Hammill's wife lent the encouragement of her presence, occupying a seat beside her accused husband. Mr. A. P. Peuneotte, Q.C. appeared for Hamill. To the charge of forging nineteen $5 bills of the Bank of Toronto, Hamill pleaded not guilty in a clear, decided voice, and on his consulting his counsel, and intimating his readiness to proceed, Chief Cooper, at the instance of County Attorney Wood, who watched the interests of the Crown, took the stand and gave evidence, similar and to the same effect to that given at the first hearing. Up to the hour of going to press no new evidence implicating Hamill was elicited. The case is still in progress with the evidence of Ball to be heard yet.

Fine ordered clothing in Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, and French and English Worsted Suitings a specialty at Hall, Innes & Co's. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Labour Notes.

An assembly of the K. of L. was formed at Fall River, Mass., in 1883, but it lapsed after a time. The spinners of that great manufacturing centre have begun an agitation in favour of reorganization, and with every prospect of success.

Pawtucket, R. I., has 3,000 Knights of Labour, and the increase is so large and steady that the assemblies there meet three times a week for the purpose of initiating new members.

While the manager of a corset company in Bridgeport, Conn., is building a $16,000 mansion, the girls employed in the factory have been cut down 20 per cent. in wages. They average but 75 cents per day, and are obliged to pay for thread out of that, besides getting fined for bad work, etc.

The Evansville & Terre Haute Railway freight brakemen and switchmen won their strike in twenty-four hours and got what they demanded.

Clara Morris Talks.

Clara Morris, in an interview with a Louisville reporter, says: "I am not allowed to talk often. I either read or paint, or lie on my back in a darkened room. Do you know, I like rest so that I love the days when I do not act. It helps me to be idle. I get fat on it. Last summer I had to have my dress altered four times between St. Louis and New Orleans. I get thin so fast as that. I am always 'taking in' or 'letting out,' and a dress that fits me this week may be too large or too small next week. Miserable, isn't it? I live on cream, which makes fat quickly, but it is a fat that does not last. It goes in a day, sometimes.

"It was not so when I was in the ballet. Those were good times, and I was not ill then. You know I was in the ballet, and used to do servant's parts, carrying on letters and other such work. Dresses didn't bother us so much then. It was Charles Kean, I think, who first made dress, correct costuming, an important feature of stage representation. He was a dear old man on his little shaky pins when I first knew him. I remember they sent me down from Cleveland to Columbus to do a page's part with Mr. and Mrs. Kean—Ellen Tree, you know. I went on as a page until one of the ladies in the company got ill, and then I played her part on twelve hours' notice and did not miss a line. That pleased the old man greatly. He was the most gallant of men and dreadfully in love with his wife. When they left the theater he always offered her his arm, and they sailed out together, but they never went far before he was leaning on her arm and toddling along in the shade of her hoopskirts. Goodness! what skirts she wore. They stretched out around her in a circle that was prodigious and overwhelming. The little boys would follow them down the street, and Mr. Kean would turn around with his trembling hand, shaking his stick at them, while in piping voice he would say: 'Little boys, go away, you naughty rascals or I will thrash you.' Mrs. Kean, in the conscious dignity of widespreading skirts, would say: 'Pay no attention to them, Charles, dear; perhaps it is my hoopskirt that interests them.'"

ARTISTIC DRESSMAKING.

Mr. R. Fair, of the Golden Lion, has succeeded in securing the services of a thoroughly competent and reliable dressmaker in the person of Miss Gilchrist, formerly associated with the late Mrs. Calloway, of Toronto. Miss Gilchrist has filled some very important positions lately, and comes to Peterborough highly recommended. She claims to be in possession of a superior system of cutting, and guarantees all her work. She is an artist of rare merit, and the numerous patrons of the Golden Lion will doubtless find her fully capable of catering to their wants.

The Hamill-Ball Bank Note Forgery.

The Adjourned Hearing Re Hamill at the Police Court—Ball Makes a Clean Breast of It—His Evidence Direct and Damaging—Hamill Committed for Trial—Bail Refused.

The following is the evidence adduced in the case of Queen vs. Hamill, in which Alexander Hamill, of the firm of Hamill & Ball, photographers, Peterborough, is charged with the forgery of several $5 bills on the Bank of Toronto, Peterborough branch; and to which charge the prisoner pleaded not guilty.

The first witness called was Capt. W. H. Cooper, Chief of Police.

CHIEF COOPER, sworn. Examined by Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney.—On the 26th of March I received a telegram from the Chief of Police of Orillia, and on the strength of that telegram obtained a search warrant against the prisoner, Alexander Hamill; in company with P. C. Adams, I searched the prisoner's photograph gallery; the prisoner, a lady, and a person whom he took for an assistant were present; Ball was not there; I read the warrant to the prisoner, who seemed surprised, but did not seem suspiciously excited; I told him his partner had been arrested for forgery and I would have to search his premises; the result of the search was that P. C. Adams found a stamp and several dies, also a rubber stamp with the firm's name, with corresponding pad; some red ink, and two sticks with rags bound around them were also found; I asked Mr. Hamill what they were used for and he replied that he used them in his business.

Mr. Pousette objected to this evidence unless it was shown that the prisoner was properly warned.

The magistrate over-ruled the objection.

CHIEF COOPER.—I called attention to the figures in the stamp and to the red ink on them; Hamill replied that they belonged to Ball, and he knew nothing about it; Ball had brought them there some months ago; Ball had not said what they were for. Nothing else of a suspicious nature was found. The second dispatch I received from the Chief of Orillia, stated that Ball had been convicted, and that he said Hamill had photographed the bills; P. C. Pidgeon gave me a bottle of red ink he had found; I asked the prisoner what he used such ink for, and he replied that he used it in his business; and that they also used glycerine. On the following morning we searched the gallery again; nothing more was found till to-day; the prisoner Ball told me last night where to find the negative of the forged bills and a bottle of glycerine; I went to the premises and could not find them; in company with Detective Reid and Constable Adams went to the gallery, but did not find the articles mentioned by Ball where he said they were; Sheriff's officer, Geo. Playton, of Barrie, brought the negative to me this morning; (the negative was shown); it is a negative of a $5 bill of the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Toronto; there are no number figures on it; it is an issue of July, 1880; stamped Peterborough across the ends; I received the bill produced from the County Crown Attorney of Simcoe; I have not compared it with the negative; in my opinion the bill was photographed from the negative produced.

Cross-examined by Mr. Pousette—I went to the gallery between two and three o'clock on Friday; Hamill seemed surprised but not excitedly suspicious; we made a close examination; (he explained the position of the rooms of the premises and showed in which room the stamp was found;) all the rooms were searched; there were four of us at it; I did not look at all the negatives; I did not search the place where the negative was said to have been found; it is probable that it was overlooked; the police had possession of the premises till 11 o'clock on Thursday night, at which time I arrested the prisoner and locked him up; after 11 o'clock we searched Hamill's house; I could not tell if the bill produced was taken from the negative produced or not. The prisoner drew a diagram of the premises and Chief Cooper pointed out the one in which the materials had been found.

P. C. ADAMS sworn.—I heard the evidence of Chief Cooper; I found the die produced in the printing room when assisting in the search on the 27th; I found it on a shelf on which there were a lot of negatives; it did not appear to be concealed; I showed it to Chief Cooper; P. C. McGinty found the ink the following morning; I gave it to Chief Cooper; I did not see the bottle of ink on Friday; I did not hear what Chief Cooper asked Hamill; The number in the die has not been changed since I first saw it.

P. C. McGINTY, sworn—I don't recollect where I saw the ink first; I found two box parcels in the drawer; in the reception room; I cannot say whether I found the ink there or not, or if I saw it in the gallery at all; I gave the parcels to P. C. Adams.

P. C. Pidgeon, sworn—I remember seeing those articles produced, sticks with rags around them, colored as if with ink; P. C. Adams found them on a shelf when searching the premises on the 27th; I do not remember seeing the bottle.

GEO. PLAXTON, sworn, I am a officer of the Sheriff of the county of Simcoe; I saw the negative produced, in Hamill & Ball's gallery; prisoner Ball found it; I had Ball in custody at that time; I brought him from Barrie jail here; Ball wanted to get a clean shirt and I went up to his room in the gallery with him; he stepped into the grinding room and putting his hand under the shelf of a table pulled out the negative; it was wrapped up in paper; the table was a small one and had a shelf on it about two inches from the ground; the negative was about half a hand length under the table.

John Ball, was sworn.

Mr. Pousette, Q.C., submitted that no evidence should be taken from him until it was properly warned.

The Magistrate then warned him, that he was not bound to give evidence that might criminate himself; anything he said might be used against himself.

Ball said, examined by Mr. R. E. Wood—I am 26 years of age; I lived in Cavan before I came here; father was a farmer; I lived on the farm until two years ago; I have lived in Peterborough about two years, doing business with the prisoner Hamill; father is the partner and I am only working for them; I am not an expert photographer; I am just learning the business; I worked with Hamill about two weeks before coming to Peterborough, and also travelled around the country taking ambrotypes; we made some photographs; I did the printing in town; it does not require much skill; Hamill did the more artistic part of the trade—operating and retouching; I have told the truth and intend to tell all the truth; Mr. Hamill made the negative from which the bill produced was printed, about six weeks ago; I think the negative was made, on a Sunday; on Monday I came back from visiting home; arrived about 8 o'clock in the morning; the first thing I went into the gallery I went into the work room; Hamill was not there; I saw the negative hanging up on a nail; I identify the negative produced; I remember the broken corner and the retouching; Hamill told me he got the bill from the Bank of Toronto; I saw him pick the bill out of a pile he said he got at the Toronto Bank; it was a five dollar bill of the Bank of Toronto, and was marked Peterborough branch; Hamill said if the bill was washed up it would make a good negative; he washed it with soap and water which had the effect of cleaning and brightening it; he did this about a week before he photographed it; we had been talking about it a week before he got the bill; he introduced the subject; we spoke of getting a bill and making a negative; the object was to make money; Hamill said he had been poor long enough and he was going to try some way of making money; he said he could make them good; he had made them before; Hamill got all the stuff; he got the paper from Salisbury's; he told me he got 10c. worth of blue ink from the Times office, and that he would get the red ink at the EXAMINER; he brought both to the gallery; the bottles were the same as those shown; he used the red ink for the numbers and the blue ink for the word "Peterborough;" he touched these over with a brush; they were photographed in but required coloring; the stamp belongs to me; Hamill tried to use the stamp but it would not work; could not say how many bills were made; I took twenty bills with me; Hamill and I both worked at them; they were all fives; Hamill told me there were races at Orillia the day I went up there and the next day (Wednesday and Thursday); I wanted Hamill to go; we talked it over and I consented to go; Hamill made the negative and the first bills and I assisted on the last; I assisted on some of those I had with me; I left some unfinished; the "five" hand not been put on, the backs had not been finished and they were not toned; they were in the retouching room in a drawer in a small stand; I directed the police to it; I had no communication with the Times or any person connected with it; blue ink was used on some bills and water colors on others; the water colors was tried first but the glycrine made it show through and printers ink was resorted to; I remember of seeing the red ink produced; Hamill brought it, he said for numbering the bills; I never used such ink for photographing or never saw it used for such a purpose; nor glycerine either; there was only one bottle of red ink; glycerine was used to soften the bills; I never heard of it being used for photographing; I am under arrest for passing those bills and have pleaded guilty to the charge; I appear in that capacity and not as Queen's evidence; I intend to tell the truth; I have nothing against Hamill and do not wish to see him go to prison; I had no inducements offered to me to tell the truth; I do not expect to get my sentence shortened for telling the truth; Hamill assured me that there was no danger,—only not to stay too long in one place; I went into the shops at Orillia and bought some small goods and received the change in return; the object was to make money; there was no other person employed in the gallery and no other person but ourselves ever saw the bills.

Cross-examined by Mr. Pousette, Q.C.,—We have had no assistant for some time; the last we had was a young lady; I did not dismiss her; I dismissed the one we had before when requested to do so by Mr. Hamill; after dismissing her I went to sleep at the gallery; I had previously boarded with Mr. Hamill; I thought it would be cheaper to furnish a room in the gallery and stay there; I went there to save money and because I would be in a better position to make these five dollar bills; we never use printer's ink for photographing; we have a red writing ink; we do not use the red ink for mending plates; I went up to Orillia to attend the races; I did not go to bet; I am not a betting character; I just went to pass off the bills; I guess I printed 10 bills; I printed them shortly after the negatives were made; Mr. Hamill printed every day in the retouching room; it is dark in the room and no person could see if they did look in; I printed the ones I did in the printing room; I watched the negative when Mr. Hamill was away; I did none of the retouching, I cannot do it well; the retouching on the negative is well done; I only practice; I have never prepared one for printing; I understand the process, but am not a thorough artist yet; I could now make as good a bill as that if the negative was made for me; the figures were touched off the negative;

I don't think that is the negative from which all were printed; there were two negatives; I think one was distroyed; I think the think the red ink produced was used on the bills I passed; the sticks and stamp produced were not used; I don't know how many bills were printed; we printed till we used up the paper; some were wasted; I did some of the toning; only one or two; I do not generally do the toning; all my experience in the business is three weeks in Millbrook and since I have been with him in town; I was out taking views last summer; the first conversation on the subject of forging occurred about one month or six weeks ago; I don't remember proposing to Hamill to make the money first; I might have said it would be a good plan; I was not hard up, nor was the firm, but it would have been if I had drawn my share; the only object was to make money; we talked about it be-quently; Mr. Hamill told me he was going to the bank to get a bill for the purpose of forging; we kept an account with the Bank of Toronto; I did not sign the cheques; I saw the bills; we counted them over; they were put in the till; I did not get any of them, as they were returned to the bank; I did put some picture frames in my trunk last fall when we had an offer to sell out; I did not steal them; we both removed some goods; I do not know if Mr. Hamill knew I had them or not; I was arrested in Orillia by a constable, but do not know under whose information; he arrested me for passing the bills; I passed 7 or 8; I don't know who testified against me; I don't remember what I said when arrested; I did not implicate Hamill at first; I told an official the next day; I was arrested at the Russell house; I had been there a day; I was taken to the lock-up and brought before the magistrate in the morning; I pleaded guilty; they picked the statement implicating Hamill out of me; I first told that Hamill was implicated to an official at Orillia; he came to see me in the lock-up; he asked me if any other person was implicated; he asked me first if if I mean partner of the firm of Hamill & Ball; I said my father was and I acted as clerk; he asked if Ball helped me; he told me it would be better for me to make a clean breast of it; that was not the inducement—I did not want to deny it; it was in consequence of what he said that I proceed to tell about Hamill. I told him that we were both guilty; I did not tell what part Hamill had taken in the forgery; the official said he knew there was some person assisting me; I did not tell him that Hamill made the negative; I told the turnkey at Barrie jail that Hamill made the negative; I told the turnkey exactly what I have told here today; I also told Mr. Plaxton; I told Mr. Plaxton there were two negatives; the turnkey did not tell me to make a clean breast; by telling I did not expect to get a lighter punishment; I did understand that by telling, my punishment would be lighter—but not in this world; I am willing to take all I get; it had occurred to me that I might get less by telling; I don't remember printing any bills on Sunday; I did some coloring one Sunday; Mr. Hamill was present; the negative was retouched probably a week after it was taken; some proof bills were printed before it was retouched; Hamill did the retouching; I don't think I could do it as well; I am not sure which negative I first saw; the two were in the retouching room on the Monday morning when I first saw them; I think Mr. Hamill burnt one of the negatives; he said he would; I put the one produced under the table; I told Mr. Hamill it was there after we had got through printing.

Re-examined by Mr. Wood.—I told Plaxton, yourself and Chief Cooper where the negative was; Mr. Hamill told me where he got the money, and that he returned it; my trunk was sometimes open and sometimes locked; there was no lock on the door in the room in which it was.

To Mr. Pousette,—The paper used was just common unruled writing paper; there is none in the gallery now.

To Mr. Wood.—I got the money to go away with—$5—in the till; I showed it to Mr. Hamill.

Mr. F. J. Jamieson, sworn—I know the prisoner Hamill; he came to mr for some red ink; I gave him some; about enough to fill that bottle; he took it away in a piece of paper; I am foreman of the EXAMINER office; the red ink produced is ordinary printers ink—similar to that I gave the prisoner; I am not prepared to swear that it is the same ink; the letters in the die or stamp are smaller than those on the bill produced; I gave him the ink on the evening the "Barber's Scrape" company were here.

Stewart Dunlop, sworn—I am employed in the Times office; I sold some blue ink to a man about a fortnight ago; I could not swear that it was the prisoner, although he looks like the same man; he did not look like Ball.

Casias W. Beale, sworn,—I am employed in the Review office; I know the prisoner by sight as one of the firm of Hamill & Ball; about two weeks ago he came into the office and asked me for some blue printer's ink; I went into the the press room and was told that there was none opened and I returned and told him I could not give him any.

G. B. Sproule sworn,—I am a photographer engaged in business here; I have been nearly 20 years in business; I have had a large and varied experience; I don't think there is a photographer in town who has had as large an experience; I could not say for sure that the bill produced was photographed; greasy ink like printer's ink is never used for photographing, but glycerine is; I could not swear that the bill produced is a photograph and I think I could detect a photograph bill at any time. After carefully examining the bill and negative the witness said: I don't think the bill produced has been taken from that negative.

Mr. Jamieson, recalled,—Hamill & Ball are customers of ours; it is not an uncommon thing for persons to ask for ink; the ink could be used on the stamp produced.

Jas. Little, sworn,—I was at one time a photographer; I sold out to Hamill & Ball; I have had 12 years' experience; have never heard of ink like that produced used for photography.

To Mr. Pousette,—The ink might have been used for stamping, or for trimming up frames; both the red and blue would be suitable for such purposes; I could not say how the color was imparted to the bill; I should suppose it was water color; I could not swear that it is a photographed bill.

Chas. McGill, sworn—I am manager of the Ontario Bank here; the five dollar bill produced is a forgery, no doubt; I can tell in a dozen ways; in a good bill one of the signatures is written; the back of this bill is not finished and the general appearance is bad; it is a bad forgery to come near a bank, but is good enough for the country; the paper is poor; I am not prepared to state whether it is photographed or engraved.

This closed the evidence, the defence offering none.

The Magistrate committed the prisoner for trial; and said he could not take any bail as it was not a misdemeanor, but a felony. In answer to Mr. Pousette, counsel for the prisoner, he said he would leave it with the County Judge to decide whether bail should be accepted or not.

The prisoner Hamill seemed very little moved by the Magistrates decision. His appearance was slightly worn and haggard. He was taken back to jail immediately.

A Grave Affair.

Mr. John White and the Prince Albert Colonization Company.

(Globe Correspondence.)

OTTAWA, April 2.—Mr. John White's connection with the Prince Albert Colonization Company, is to become the subject of Parliamentary inquiry. Mr. Edgar has given notice of the following motion, "That Mr. Edgar, a member of this House, having stated in his place that he is credibly informed, and believes he can establish by satisfactory evidence, that in the year 1882, John White, Esq., then and now member for East Hastings, who was associated in the transaction with James C. Jamieson, of Belleville, journalist, used his influence with the Government, of which he was a Parliamentary supporter, to obtain and did obtain the passage of an Order in Council and an agreement for a grant for colonization purposes of 51,200 acres of choice land near Batoche, in the Northwest Territories, with the INTENTION OF TRAFFICKING

with such grant by the formation of a colonization company, the members of which should give the said White and Jamieson special advantages and profits in consideration of the procuring of the said order and agreement, and of assistance and promotion of the interests of the company in the past and in the future; that subsequently they formed the company called the Prince Albert Colonization Company, and got the shareholders to agree that for the said considerations each of them—Messrs. White and Jamieson—should be entitled, without payment out of their own pockets of any money, to a free gift or bonus of one-twelfth part of the expected profits, which were estimated to be very great, and they

EACH ACCORDINGLY RECEIVED

what were called "blind shares" to the amount of $33,000 nominal value, on which they were not to pay, and did not pay, any sum out of their own pockets to the company or otherwise than out of the expected profits, while the other shareholders were to pay, and did pay, their calls in cash to the extent of $20,000 and upwards; that the affair was conducted with the knowledge of the Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, then and now member for North Hastings, and Minister of Customs, father-in-law and associate in business of the said James C. Jamieson, and Mr. Bowell was consulted during its progress, and when Mr. Jamieson ultimately sold his "blind share," Mr. Bowell received from Mr. Jamieson, upon some transaction between them

RELATING TO THE AFFAIR,

$500 out of the price of said "blind share"; that Messrs. White and Jamieson fulfilled their agreement further to promote the interest of the company, and the company subsequently obtained from the Government an Order in Council for a very favorable exchange of part of their land for other land on the shore of the South Saskatchewan, in what is known as the Parish of St. Louis de Langevin; that in 1882 Mr. White applied to the Government for another lot of choice land near Edmonton, in the Northwest Territories, which he subsequently offered to procure from the Government for the paying stockholders of the Prince Albert Colonization Company, upon the same system of the allowance to him of a profit for his services; that in 1882 Messrs. White and Jamieson procured from the Government an agreement for another lot of choice lands for the Shell River Colonization Company, on the system of the allowance to them of profits or "blind shares" for their services; that a select committee be appointed to enquire fully into the said allegations, with power to send for persons, papers, and records, and to examine witnesses upon oath or affirmation with instructions to report the evidence and all the proceedings of the said committee, and that said committee be composed of Messrs. McCarthy, Laurier, Hall, Weldon, Tupper, Davies, Girouard, Patterson, of Essex, and Lister.

ON "BLIND SHARE"

RUPTURE CURED
IN FROM 20 TO 30 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.
Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:
ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made by York Shoe, causing me pain. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.
This new Spiral Elastic Rod Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; it is guaranteed to hold the very worst case that ever had a broken trunk or severest strain. It will cure every child under 10 out of every 20 of adults. If guaranteed—don't simply purchase another worthless truss, but send stamp for our treatise; it explains full information, also rules for self-measurement, prices and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address:

The Peterborough Flouring Mills Ready to Run With the "Hungarian Process" —A Splendidly Equipped Mill. Full Description of the Machinery, Etc.— Important Addition to Our Industrial Establishments.

The new flour milling enterprise just begun by Messrs. Meldrum, Davidson & Co., on Dickson's race, is important enough to receive special mention. The mill building is as good as could have been selected for the purpose, and Mr. Hazlitt, as a citizen of the town, has shown commendable enterprise in putting up two such fine buildings as now answer for what was the original Clegg mill building, and especially the building which will, in future, be known as a fitting name for a mill which will have few equals in Canada, as Peterborough, as a town, is the first among towns.

The mill building is 50 x 90 feet in size, five stories in height, and facing the river. The power is taken from the flume and bulkhead outside the mill building, by means of a 48 inch Lefell wheel, under a head of 20 feet. The horse-power thus generated is about 100, transmitted by 4-inch wrought iron shafting, traversing nearly the whole length of the basement floor, which is a complete net-work of pulleys and gears of the best description, for driving the rolls and machinery in different parts of the building.

Here is situated the

CLEANING MACHINERY,

consisting of an oat an seed separator, cockle machine, smut machine, and brush and finishing machine. On this floor is one improved coil spring flour packer for packing ½, ¼, ⅛ barrels, bags or sacks, and the boots of all the elevators for elevating stock in process of manufacture to different machines used in the process of making flour. On this floor is also placed the receiving hopper for taking in grain from farmers' wagons, as well as large storage rooms for flour, at present filled with some 7,000 bushels of wheat, waiting to be elevated into the store house above, in the end of the building facing the street, which is capable of storing some 2,000 bushels of grain. It is divided into 22 bins, from any of which the grain can be handled by machinery.

A wide stairway gives access to where stand fourteen sets of Greeg's improved roller belted mills, fed by a multitude of spouts. These mills are of the latest patterns, and are a credit to the contractors, Messrs. Wm. and J. G. Greeg. They are automatic in their working parts, with adjustible belt tighteners on either side for giving differential speed to the rolls, for the proper granulation of the wheat in course of manufacture into flour, the whole being reduced to flour without the aid of the old-time mill-stone. This mode of producing flour is called the "Hungarian process."

On this floor is also placed a motion indicator and alarm, essential for proper speeding of machinery and for giving alarm by a gong in case of choking of the same; also a magnetic separator for abstracting any pieces of iron, nails, etc., which may be in the wheat. On this floor there are two more improved coil spring flour packers also large Dormer scales with a 50 bushel hopper for weighing wheat received from the farmers, which wheat is delivered through a chute, making it the most complete way of unloading and, which is a great matter with the farmer,—an easy way. Next is the chopping stone, and lastly the office, where the proprietors may be found when not otherwise engaged.

Ascending another flight of stairs, is reached, where are found a Greeg's improved bolting chest, extending through this floor and the next, containing ten bolting reels with double conveyors under each reel, with improved feeding and discharging devices; two improved velocity purifiers one centrifugal bolting reel; two bran and shorts dusters; one No. 3 dust collector and exhaust for rolls; four scalping reels; three flour bins feeding the packers; bran and shorts storage and wheat bins, with a fine array of belts and bolt gears.

THE THIRD STORY

Coming up to

THE FOURTH STORY

we find two more improved velocity purifiers; the extension of the bolting chest from the floor next below; one centrifugal bolting reel; one aspirator; another bolting chest of three reels with double conveyors; two large No. 4 dust collectors, which take the dust from all the aspirators and purifiers, collecting it automatically and making mill fires and explosions, from this source an impossibility.

Here also is additional wheat storage, divided from the mill proper by closely jointed partitions.

THE FIFTH STORY

contains the heads of all elevators to the number of thirty-two. Here also the power is transmitted to belts, elevators, collectors, purifiers, etc., from the basement by means of upright shafting and by means of shafting gears and belts to different machines. The array of spouting here is simply a forest.

The mill will have a capacity of 150 barrels of flour per day of 24 hours, consuming from 600 to 700 bushels of wheat in that time.

In fitting up, in the completest manner, this fine mill, the contractors, the well-known firm of Messrs. Wm. and J. G. Greeg, Toronto, have spared neither pains nor expense putting in their most improved machines and iron-work. The whole job reflects the greatest credit on their mechanical skill, enterprise and business capabilities, which will commend their machines to the attention of the millers of the country.

Messrs. Wm. J. Clay & Sons, the contractors for the millwright work, have done their work well and faithfully. The exhibit of their work, if followed up in detail, cannot be too highly spoken of.

Mr. Wm. Clay is a veteran at the trade, this being the 56th complete mill he has built, besides re-modelling many others. The plans for the arrangement of the new mill were furnished by Mr. Meldrum, one of the partners in the new firm, who is a practical miller of over twenty year's experience. He way enjoys the full confidence of the entire community in which he resides, as well as the advantages of mills ever others, which has been to his credit both financially and otherwise, he having for the last three years been foreman and manager for the well-known firm of millers and commission merchants, Messrs. Whitlaw, Ward & Co., of Paris, Ont., who last year shipped over 50,000 barrels of flour from their own mills.

The ambition of the proprietors of the Peterborough mills will be to make them the farmers' mills, and at the same time do a large mercantile business. Mr. Davidson, the other partner, is well known to the people of Peterborough and vicinity, and has first start an important business with good prospects. With a thoroughly first-class mill in the way of machinery and equipment, with experienced management, and with a sound, financial basis, the new firm start on their business enterprise with every prospect of the prosperous business career we wish them. The mills will be in full operation within a week or ten days.

The Stratford Beacon says: "Mr. Allan Huffman, late of the Dafoe House, Belleville, one of the best known hotel men in the west, has leased the Windsor, and will in future conduct it so as to obtain and deserve patronage."

A New Brokerage Office.

Messrs. Cox & Co., stock and commission brokers of Toronto, will open a branch office in the Opera House block, Peterborough, in a few days. Men are now at work putting in new telegraph poles along west side of George street, to connect the office with the G.N.W. Telegraph Co's. office.

Acknowledgments.

The Lady Superintendent of the Nicholls Hospital thankfully acknowledges the following donations for March: Mrs. Bradburn, books; Mrs. J. D. Collins, books; Mrs. Wallis, jelly and clothing; Mrs. T. Rubidge, cake and oranges; "A Friend," clothing, old linen and preserves.

Dressmaker Arrived.

The ladies will be particularly interested in the information that Miss Gilchrist has arrived in town and taken charge of the Dressmaking Department of the Golden Lion. Miss Gilchrist comes with the very highest recommendations, and her handiwork can be confidently guaranteed as sure to give ample satisfaction in every respect.

R. FAIR.

Special Services.

Special evangelistic services will be held in the Murray street Baptist church on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week, conducted by Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor of the church.

Special meetings for new converts will also be held in St. Paul's church this evening and on Friday evening. Rev. E. F. Torrance, pastor, will conduct these meetings.

Salvation Army Notes.

On Saturday night the army's procession was exceptionally large. Their march and the crowd that followed was in proportion.

At the conclusion of the usual meeting at the barracks on Saturday night, Capt. Smith, overcome by her exertions, fainted, falling into the arms of her lieutenant. The congregation and soldiers were immediately dismissed, the officer's alone remaining. The invalid soon recovered, and yesterday, was working as vigorously as ever.

Yesterday evening, two drunks gained admittance to the barracks, and not contented with filling the air with "cuss words" and raising a general disturbance, one of the pair forcibly removed the back door when taking his departure. Several runners were dispatched for the police, but they were to slow for the offenders, who though they could not walk well, knew how to run.

Miss Delaney's Millinery Opening.

On Wednesday, April 7th, and following days, Miss Delaney will hold her annual spring millinery opening. This simple announcement is sufficient to elicit the interest of ladies of Peterborough, who know from the past that Miss Delaney's displays of millinery are occasions of delight to those who enjoy the inspection of the most artistic head-gear; but when it is known that this season Miss Delaney has surpassed herself in the selection of a hitherto unparalleled stock of superb millinery, that interest will be intensified. This spring Miss Delaney will show a splendid variety of French, English, American and Canadian pattern hats and bonnets in all the shapes, styles, tints and tones that the decree of fashion has made the mode. In addition, a full stock of millinery requisites to admit of hats and bonnets being trimmed on the premises, equal to imported goods, will be shown. In Miss Delaney's specialty of ladies' and children's underwear there will be found a great and elegant variety, as well as a fine stock of dress goods which Miss Delaney has added to the assortment, which have given her the reputation of maintaining the leading and most fashionable ladies' general dress furnishing establishment in the district. Remember Wednesday next, the opening day.

Young's Point.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE KING OF MILLERS.

Mr. John King, late the head miller in Hall's flouring mill, Peterborough, has leased the Young's Point grist mill for a term of years, and is ready to supply the country with the best quality of flour, and to do gristing in a first-class and satisfactory manner. There is now a certainty of farmers in the vicinity being able to get the best flour made, since the mill has been completely overhauled and put in prime condition, and since Mr. King is a master in the business, and, without puffing, is the king miller of the district. It is almost superfluous to wish Mr. King success, for with a good mill and the application of full knowledge of the business, there is nothing but success awaits him.

Madre E Hijo,

What Does it Mean?

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it as above, not only out confidence in the merits of our invention, but its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like to take more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one-cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the season, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, mowing machine, cutlery and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to make money at employment to make money.

The Regular Semi-Annual Opening of our Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms will be held.

For this season every effort has been made to place before the public the finest display of these goods ever shown in Peterborough. We have the latest Shapes in Hats and Bonnets, the Newest Trimming Materials. A Splendid Assortment of Spring Mantlings, including Fine Brocades, Ottoman Cords in Silk and Worsteds, Light Meltons, Tweeds, &c., and an endless variety of Novelties. MISS CROSSLAND, as head of this Department during the past season, gave the highest satisfaction to all favoring her with their patronage, and we are sure she will continue to maintain the good opinion she has won, and merit her reputation of a thorough first-class Milliner.

Besides our usual Millinery Opening on the days mentioned, we will make a Special Display of Spring and Summer Dress Goods and Dress Trimmings. All the leading and new materials in the most Fashionable Colors, with Trimmings, will be on exhibition. It is our earnest desire to furnish our customers only with goods that will give entire satisfaction in every respect, and with this end in view we make all our purchases. We consider it to the advantage of every lady to see our display of really first-class goods, and cordially invite all to visit us on these days.

ARTISTIC DRESSMAKING.

Mr. R. Fair, of the Golden Lion, has succeeded in securing the services of a thoroughly competent and reliable dressmaker in the person of Miss Gilchrist, formerly associated with the late Mrs. Calloway, of Toronto. Miss Gilchrist has filled some very important positions lately, and comes to Peterborough highly recommended. She claims to be in possession of a superior system of cutting, and guarantees all her work. She is an artist of rare merit, and the numerous patrons of the Golden Lion will doubtless find her fully capable of catering to their wants.

MR. HILLIARD'S LETTER.

We received late last evening a communication from Mr. Hilliard at Ottawa, in reply to our last editorial re his position. As a short digest of expurgated billingsgate, it will afford a ready manual of the most popular phrases of that well known market place. Were not Mr. Hilliard a public man, a member of parliament, representing the sympathies and intelligence of the Tory party, we would be compelled in the interests of good taste and public morality to return him his communication unpublished, but it is right the electors should have an opportunity to "size" up the magnificent moral and intellectual proportions of the man. We will publish it in its entirety to-morrow, only striking out such phrases as are too objectionable to appear in public print. We will also refer to this matter editorially to-morrow and publish another interview with Mr. Phelan. Our readers should carefully peruse all.

Town Council.

A Dark Meeting in the Old Chamber and A Light Meeting in the New Chamber —Several Reports Submitted—The Rules for the Governing of the Police Force Adopted.

The Town Council met in the old council chamber yesterday evening. The room was dimly lighted by one gas jet. The members contented themselves by sitting around on chairs and benches near the door. The Clerk called the meeting to order, the door standing wide open.

On motion Mr. Kelly was appointed chairman.

On motion of Mr. Cahill the Council adjourned to the chamber in the new town buildings, with the understanding that the said new chambers shall be the place of meeting in future.

The Council then adjourned to the new chambers, entering the electric-lit hall in full force.

The Mayor with due dignity seated himself in the new maroon colored plush covered throne.

The other members entered the halo within the rail and seated themselves.

Without waiting for a speech from the throne the clerk proceeded to read the following communications:—

From S. J. Griffin, with reference to remission of taxes. Refered to Court of Revision.

From D. W. Dumble, approving of the rules prepared for the government of the police force. Received.

From Dawson Bros., asking for particulars with regard to municipal bonds issued, and offering to give a fair price. The clerk was authorized to inform the applicants that the town bought its own bonds.

From Wm. Henderson, asking the Council to have the permanent grades struck for streets on which the company propose laying mains this season, as soon as possible.

From the Canadian Rubber Company, with regard to old couplings, offering $1 each for sound couplings.

From Robert McLean, secretary of the Toronto Board of Underwriters, enclosing a blank form of certificate to be filled in with regard to fire appliances.

From W. Henderson, calling attention to the new hydrant placed on Rabidge street.

From J. M. Drummond, president of the Cheese Board, applying for use of old council chamber, for cheese board meeting.—Received.

From Mr. E. B. Edwards with regard to the suit Dumble vs. the Town, in which judgment was given for the plaintiff for $150 and stating that in his opinion the case was not proved as a matter of fact, and asking the Council to consider whether the judgment should be appealed.—Received. No further taken.

From the Canadian Rubber Co., giving a guarantee for hose supplied. Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From Sarah Kerr asking for steps to her door. Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

From R. H. Edwards, with regard to salary.—Received.

From John Rickaby asking for remission of taxes.—Referred to Court of Revision.

From R. Kingan and eight others calling attention to the condition of Bethune street, the culvert having been taken away by the Railway Company.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

From Wm. Breckenridge, application for street cleaning, offering to do the same work as last year at the same salary.—Referred to Committee on Appointments.

From the Clerk of the house supplying a copy of the Private bill passed by the local house, empowering the town to enter into a contract for the supplying of light and water, etc.—Received.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented for payment. Those of Mrs. Adams, for cleaning new town buildings, $20, and Maurice Landrigan, for cedar, $62.00, were ordered to be paid, the others being referred to the Finance Committe.

John Reades, charity order	$25 00
T. Cavanagh, use of horse at fire	1 00
W. Patterson, wood	14 00
W. Snowdon, hook hire	3 00
Mrs. Adams	20 00
Ed. Green, window blinds	41 00
Canadian Rubber Co., 500 ft. hose	425 00
D. Sullivan, charity	20 00
McFarlane Wilson	1 00
Waterworks Company	1 00
W. McFadden, mayor's chair	15 00
A. Comstock, town clock hands	2 00
Maurice Landrigan, cedar	62 00
John Dougall & Son	10 00
Bert. M. Tate, copying rules	3 00

SOUTH MONAGHAN DEPUTATION.

On motion, Messrs. Dawson, Rutherford, and Willan, a deputation from South Monaghan, were heard.

Mr. Dawson explained that they were appointed by the township to interview the Council with a view of receiving the town's consent to pay one-third of the cost of a bridge at "Rose's," which the county of Peterborough had promised to build, should the township of South Monaghan join the county of Peterborough for municipal purposes, and on conditions that the town of Peterborough should pay one-third. Mr. Dawson showed the advantages the town would receive, as, if the bridge in question were built, the produce of the township would be brought to Peterborough for marketing. At present it was not as the distance was greater than to Millbrook and about equal to Port Hope, while the roads to Port Hope were better.

Mr. Rutherford also made a brief speech setting forth the advantages of the proposed union and bridge.

Mr. Willan explained that although he had assisted in getting a grant towards the repairing of the bridge at Wallis Point, he was in favour of the bridge at "Rose's" so if it were built it would be a great advantage to those living in the eastern part of the township. He also thought it would benefit the town, whereas farmers had to travel from the centre of the township to Peterborough, a distance of about 15 miles; if the proposed bridge were built the distance would be reduced to 9 miles.

Moved by Mr. Measies, seconded by Mr. Hartley, that the proposition of the South Monaghan deputation re the bridge over the Otonabee river at "Rose's" be referred to the Finance Committee to report at next meeting of the Council.

Mr. Davidson read the following

REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN:—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend the following accounts:

A. H. Clegg	$42.00
Canadian Rubber Co.	11.00

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. S. DAVIDSON,
Chairman.

Peterborough, April 5th, 1886.

On motion the report was adopted.

Mr. Yelland presented the following

REPORT OF THE MARKET COMMITTEE:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN:—The Market Committee begs leave to report and recommend as follows:

That they have considered the question of letting the market tolls of the public market of the town of Peterborough, for the year from the first day of April, 1886, until the first day of April, 1887, and they recommend that they be let to Mr. John Doherty the present market clerk for $350.00, the same figure as last year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. YELLAND,
Chairman.

Peterborough, April 5th, 1886.

Mr. Moore presented the following

REPORT OF THE COURT OF REVISION.

The Court of Revision beg to report as follows on petitions presented:—

1. The application of J. W. Flavelle, of the Y.M.C.A., asking remission of taxes—not allowed.
2. Application of Wm. Scollie for remission of taxes on income, recommended to be allowed.
3. Application of Thos. Billings for remission of taxes, not allowed.
4. Application of R. F. Tate for remission of taxes, not allowed.
5. Application of Mary Miller for remission of taxes, not allowed.

W. H. MOORE,
Chairman.

Peterborough, April 5th, 1886.

On motion the report was adopted.

Mr. Kendry presented the report of the committee on Appointments and Supervision of Police, a condensation of which has already appeared in the EXAMINER. The clerk proceeded to read the report, the time required for so doing occupying about two hours.

RULES FOR CONTROL OF POLICE FORCE.

The first clause giving the Chief control of the force, called forth a short discussion but was allowed to pass.

The clause empowering the Chief to impose a fine upon a constable was struck out.

The clause empowering the Chief to suspend a constable was also objected to and was amended by adding the words, "with the approval of the Mayor."

On motion of Mr. Moore, the following clause was added—That the Committee on Appointments and Supervision of Police report all matters reported to them by the Chief at the next meeting of the Council.

After the rules for controlling the force, Mr. Rutherford moved that the report be adopted without reading the rules for guidance and instruction of police, and with respect to dress, etc. The motion was lost and the rules were all read.

Several members asked if the Council were to supply the clothing required by the rules. The mayor informed them that the question would come up for consideration at a future meeting.

Mr. Cahill jokingly remarked that he could not see how a town by-law could compel a pair of trousers to last six months.

On motion of Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Yelland, the report was adopted and ordered to be signed by the mayor and clerk and sealed, to give it the force of a by-law.

Mr. McNaughton called for the yeas and nays, which were as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Kelly, McNeil, McClelland, Moore, Yelland, Rutherford, Measies and Hartley.

NAYS—Messrs. Cahill, Davidson and McNaughton.

MOTIONS.

Moved by Mr. Hartley, seconded by Mr. Measies, that Chief Cooper be paid his salary from the time of his appointment.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, that Chief Cooper be ordered to enquire whether the Telegraph Company can be prosecuted for putting down poles on George Street and if satisfied that it can, to act accordingly.—Carried.

Mayor Stevenson explained that he had enquired of Mr. Cox, agent for the company, and he told him that the poles were not put up for the company but for a—one of those hacked slangs.

Mr. Measies thought that business should not be hampered.

Moved by Mr. Hartley, seconded by Mr. Measie, that tenders be asked for the watering of the streets for the year 1886.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Davidson, Seconded by Mr. Moore,—that the clerk be and is hereby authorized to get a copy from the Commissioners of the Town Trust of the lease or agreement with the Ontario & Quebec R.R. Co., whereby they occupy two acres of land in No. 1 Ward.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Yelland,—that the police court for the town of Peterborough be and the same is hereby established in the new town buildings on Water street.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McNeil, seconded by Mr. Kelly,—that the Treasurer be authorized to pay the members of the Police force their salaries on the first of every month.—Carried.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Another New Industry.

Messrs. Lindsay and Seldon Establish a Factory for the Manufacturing of Chamber Furniture.

Mr. A. J. Lindsay, lately of Boston, and for some months with Mr. D. Bellegham, and Mr. Walter Seldon, lately of Cincinnati, have taken possession of the top flat of the large building lately erected by the Dickson Co., adjoining the new Meldrum & Davidson mill, and will in a few days commence the manufacture of walnut chamber furniture for the wholesale trade. Both members of the firm are experienced men and have held important positions in the large American cities, and are thoroughly acquainted with the manufacture of the class of goods they will place upon the market. Mr. Lindsay was employed for some time with Messrs. Jinks, Hogg & Co., of Toronto, the leading Canadian office furniture manufacturers, and also with the largest furniture establishment in America. Mr. Seldon is a carver and designer, as well as a practical cabinet maker, and has had experience in all the American cities. The latest improved machinery has been introduced and will be set in motion in a few days, the power being furnished from Meldrum & Davidson's mill by a connecting line shaft from the water wheel. The firm will not be able to place any furniture on the market this spring, but will commence immediately upon the manufacture of patterns and samples for the fall trade. Only walnut chamber and office furniture will be made and for the wholesale trade. As both members of the firm are energetic and experienced men and have the facilities for turning out good work, they no doubt will receive a liberal patronage. If they receive satisfactory encouragement they will extend their premises in the fall.

Sunday Services.

Praise and Testimony and Thanksgiving Services—Reception Services in the Charlotte Street Church.

(Unavoidably held over from yesterday.)

Praise and testimony meetings were held in the George street, Charlotte street, and St. Paul's churches on Sunday morning, and in the Baptist Church in the evening.

Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor of the Murray street Baptist Church, on Sunday evening, basing his remarks upon the 6th verse of the 1st chapter of Philippians. The discourse was able, interesting and instructive.

RECEPTION SERVICES.

On Sunday evening reception services were held in the Charlotte street church. Rev. F. H. Wallace, pastor, preached an impressive sermon to young converts from the text "Looking unto Jesus." At the conclusion of the sermon the pastor called over the names of the applicants for membership to the church, numbering in all, 102. Ten of these were admitted by letter from other churches, and 92 were received on trial. The most of those received on trial were converted during the special services conducted by Mr Schiverea. The new members stepped up to the pulpit platform, the congregation rising while the pastor gave the right hand of fellowship and addressed to them a few words of welcome. At the close of the public service the sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered. The occasion was most solemn and interesting. The number partaking of the sacrament was the largest in the history of the church.

The Planting of Evergreens.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—It is strange with all the facts perfectly before us, that the clearing away of our forests is reducing our crops, we do not more generally adopt a very simple and cheap remedy.

One would think that the opposite to the above proposition might be correct, namely, that clearing the forest would rather increase than decrease harvests. But after a certain proportion this is not the case. After two-thirds or three-fourths of the forest in a locality is gone, crops would decrease as the remainder of the wood is cut. This has been proved all over North America. The lack of shelter and the injurious climatic effect of disforesting, on the rainfall, then begin to produce their well known evil effect on agriculture.

There is one method, a very simple, cheap and easy one, whereby many of these evil effects may be greatly lessened. That is the planting of rows of evergreen trees, as wind breaks along the exposed sides of farms.

Many young evergreens—pine, cedar or spruce, can be had in our woods and fields, free of cost, or, they can be bought when young, cheaply from nursery-men. In the States they are planted out by millions yearly.

The best time is the first week in June, or the last in May, and if then care be taken to keep the roots, covered from the air until planted, and to take small trees, there is no need for failure in taking root. Of course like all other planted trees they should be mulched.

A week's work in the spring would, if given to this object, result in procuring for farmers so devoting the time, a fine row of dense, protecting foliage along the north of his farm, and if the plan were generally carried out it would greatly improve the climate of the country, and increase the crops, to judge by the experience of other localities, at least one-fourth.

Yours, etc.,
R. W. PHIPPS.

The Good Templars of Gordon Lodge have been visiting Oak Leaf, Union and Selwyn Templars during the last three weeks. We enjoyed the drives very much, and found the lodges in good working order. The The Union Templars debated which was the happier, single or married life. All spoke well, but it was decided that married life was the happier state of existence. The Gordon Lodge held an open lodge on Thursday, March 25th, and had for "Good of the Order," the following programme:

"What Say You to a Piece of Roast Beef and Mustard?"

Well, there is much to be said. The question being asked of the banqueter at the average boarding house, calls up reminiscences of close contiguity to the horns, and beefsteak three cats south thereof. He, of course, will pass, unless it occurs to him that he needs a hinge for his trunk. Should there be any suffering, the effects of an indulgence in such sinuous fare, use McGregor's Speedy Cure, a sure and effectual remedy for Dyspepsia, Constipation and all affections of the stomach and liver. EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring-steel trusses made in New York State, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * * I have worn your Truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; often to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child born; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. We guarantee daily comfort, your money on trial if desired, and equal change for your trouble; it requires full instructions, your measure taken, price list and testimonials for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Police Court.

Court Held in the Court Room of the New Town Buildings.

Police Magistrate Dumble occupied the bench in the new police court room this morning. John Eastland was arraigned before the court, charged with having been drunk and disorderly in a public place. He admitted this charge.

John Howland, an officer of the Salvation Army, testified that the prisoner, in company with John Harper, came to the barracks on Sunday evening; they were both drunk and disorderly and created a disturbance by conducting themselves in an unseemly manner, and by swearing and making themselves generally obnoxious.

Wesley Earl, door-keeper, confirmed the evidence of Howland.

John Telford also gave evidence confirming that of the others. When he was assisting Eastland out, shoving him gently, he fell against the door, tearing it off its hinges. The damages amounted to $1.50. His language was very profane, as was also Harper his companion. Eastland told him he would get his neck broken if he informed.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of $10, costs and damages, amounting in all to $14.83. In default of payment the prisoner was sent up to jail for 20 days.

Thos. Phelan charged with profane swearing in a public place. He admitted the charge and was fined $2.

John Welsh charged with a similar offence also pleaded guilty and was fined the same amount.

Col. Jerome Bonaparte, who now lives in Washington, is a very tall, fine looking man, with regular features and an iron-gray mustache and imperial. He is a distinguished-looking man, but he has none of the Napoleon family resemblance. He is always treated with the greatest amount of courtesy and distinction by the diplomatic people, and is the recipient of much more attention from them than other American citizen in Washington.

One of the most beautiful processes in enameling, according to the Deut. Ind. Zeitung, is accomplished by using gold thread rubbed with the juice of an onion, which causes it to adhere to the surface, the figures being afterward filled out with enamel. This is the art known as cloisonne, the method pursued being to bake the article in a furnace until the enamel exhibits a lustre or glossy surface, which is an indication that it is melted. The process has to be conducted with care, for if it is overbaked the enamel burns and falls off; it may also happen that, in places where the enamel burns it thinner, it also burns. When cool the roughness is removed by careful hand polishing with a fine sandstone, and lastly the enamel receives its finishing polish.

Mme. Patti generally speaks of Nicolini's sons as "my children."

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 200 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county to stay secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $100 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $700 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guarantee; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the season, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine salesmen and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those entire strangers to make money.

Has removed his Agency for his Celebrated Spectacles and Eye Glasses and given same to JOHN McKEE, Druggist, George St., Peterborough.

The appreciation of the very superior qualities possessed by my Pebble and other Spectacles and Eye Glasses, as shown by the large and increasing sales, amply proves that articles of real merit will always become popular. My Spectacles and Eye Glasses are unfailing as Eye Preservers, are always pleasant to wear, and last many years without change, and are also the cheapest as well as the best. I supply no other house in Peterborough than the one noted as above.

Mr. McKee, my agent, has on hand a specially fine line of Gold Spectacles and Eye Glasses, suitable for Xmas Presents.

Miss Delaney's Millinery Opening.

On Wednesday, April 7th, and following days, Miss Delaney will hold her annual spring millinery opening. This simple announcement is sufficient to elicit the interest of ladies of Peterborough, who know from the past that Miss Delaney's displays of millinery are occasions of delight to those who enjoy the inspection of the most artistic head-gear; but when it is known that this season Miss Delaney has surpassed herself in the selection of a hitherto unparalleled stock of superb millinery, that interest will be intensified. This spring Miss Delaney will show a splendid variety of French, English, American and Canadian pattern hats and bonnets in all the shapes, styles, tints and tones that the decree of fashion has made the mode. In addition, a full stock of millinery requisites to admit of hats and bonnets being trimmed on the premises, equal to imported goods, will be shown. In Miss Delaney's specialty of ladies' and children's underwear there will be found a great and elegant variety, as well as a fine stock of dress goods which Miss Delaney has added to the specialties, which have given her the reputation of maintaining the leading and most fashionable ladies' general dress-furnishing establishment in the district. Remember Wednesday next, the opening day.

Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association.

Meeting of Directors—Organizing for the Season's Operations—Her Majesty's Birthday to be Observed.

A meeting of the directors of the Peterborough A.A.A., was held in the offices of the secretary Mr. J. E. Hammond, Brock street, yesterday afternoon. All the directors were present, except Mr. Arthur Stevenson, Dr. Burnham, president, in the chair.

The appointments of officers not elected at annual meeting were made as follows: First vice-president, Mr. R. B. Rogers; second vice-president, Mr. A. St. A. Smith.

Mr. Smith having declined to act as treasurer, Mr. H. A. Hammond, assumes the duties of that position.

Messrs A. St. A. Smith, R. B. Rogers and John E. Hammond were appointed the Ground and Property Committee, and Messrs. C. McGill, F. E. Bell and A. St. A. Smith were appointed a committee to look after the selection of permanent grounds for the Association.

Mr. James Morley was re-engaged, subject to fortnightly notice on either part, provided his health will admit of his performing the duties of the position. He has been ill during the winter and it is to be hoped that the present amendment in his condition will continue till his health is completely restored.

The annual meeting of the Cricket Club will be held on Thursday evening at the Secretary's office, Brock street.

MILLINERY OPENING

ON THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY,

April 8th, 9th and 10th, 1886.

The Regular Semi-Annual Opening of our Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms will be held.

For this season every effort has been made to place before the public the finest display of these goods ever shown in Peterborough. We have the latest Shapes in Hats and Bonnets, the Newest Trimming Materials. A Splendid Assortment of Spring Mantlings, including Fine Brocades, Ottoman Cords in Silk and Worsteds, Light Meltons, Tweeds, &c., and an endless variety of Novelties. MISS CROSSLAND, as head of this Department during the past season, gave the highest satisfaction to all favoring her with their patronage, and we are sure she will continue to maintain the good opinion she has won, and merit her reputation of a thorough first-class Milliner.

Besides our usual Millinery Opening on the days mentioned, we will make a Special Display of Spring and Summer Dress Goods and Dress Trimmings. All the leading and new materials in the most Fashionable Colors, with Trimmings, will be on exhibition. It is our earnest desire to furnish our customers only with goods that will give entire satisfaction in every respect, and with this end in view we make all our purchases. We consider it to the advantage of every lady to see our display of really first-class goods, and cordially invite all to visit us on these days.

ARTISTIC DRESSMAKING.

Mr. R. Fair, of the Golden Lion, has succeeded in securing the services of a thoroughly competent and reliable dressmaker in the person of Miss Gilchrist, formerly associated with the late Mrs. Calloway, of Toronto. Miss Gilchrist has filled some very important positions lately, and comes to Peterborough highly recommended. She claims to be in possession of a superior system of cutting, and guarantees all her work. She is an artist of rare merit, and the numerous patrons of the Golden Lion will doubtless find her fully capable of catering to their wants.

MR. HILLIARD'S HALLUCINATIONS.

His "Truths" Tested by Trustworthy Testimony.

Five Witnesses to One.

Contradicted by Several Interviewed Gentlemen.

The Case Goes to the Jury.

The Public in a Position to Pronounce the Verdict.

In a letter in another column, Mr. George Hilliard, M.P., makes certain statements, chiefly in contradiction of facts contained in our published interview with Mr. E. Phelan, in reference to the crookedness and double-dealing indulged in by Mr. Hilliard in connection with the new postoffice. To show how reliable Mr. Hilliard's assertions—as an interested party—are, we submit the result of interviews, had by a representative of the EXAMINER, with several well known citizens, whose reputations for truthfulness stand as high as that of Mr. Hilliard, especially since recent developments have tended to unmask him and reveal his true character for veracity and square dealing.

The first gentleman interviewed was

MR. ELIAS BURNHAM.

Reporter—We understand, Mr. Burnham, that you read a long letter written by Mr. Hilliard to Mr. Phelan.

Mr. Burnham—I did; I read it carefully.

Rep.—How long a letter was it?

Mr. Burnham—It was a very long letter. I could not say the exact number of pages; it was written on paper of about foolscap size.

Rep.—What was the purport of that letter?

Mr. Burnham—It was evidently written to Mr. Phelan to disabuse his mind of the idea that Mr. Hilliard had done anything to prevent Mr. Phelan getting the post office on his lot.

Rep.—Do remember any part of the letter?

Mr. Burnham—Yes; I remember the pith of the letter, and one sentence particularly, which was for Mr. Phelan "not to blame him (Mr. Hilliard); blame the parties that did it, blame the Government, blame the minister."

Rep.—Having read the letter, would you consider it of an apologetic nature?"

Mr. Burnham—Yes, I would, decidedly.

MR. JAMES ENGLISH

was next called on, and the following colloquy took place:

Rep.—Mr. English, you were present at a meeting in the City hotel, called in the interest of having the post-office on Mr. Phelan's lot?

Mr. English—I was.

Rep.—Do you recollect Mr. Hilliard being present?

Mr. English—Yes, I do.

Rep.—Did you infer from Mr. Hilliard's words and attitude that he was in favor of Mr. Phelan's lot for the post-office site?

Mr. English—Yes; in answer to a question put to him he stated that Mr. Phelan's bargain with the Government was a bona fide bargain and sale.

Rep.—Then you considered Mr. Hilliard favorable to Mr. Phelan's site at that meeting?

Mr. English—Yes, from what he said at that time, I had no doubt that he was supporting Mr. Phelan's lot.

Rep.—I understand you went with Mr. Hilliard to telegraph to the Government to stay proceedings till Mr. Phelan was heard from?

Mr. English—No; I didn't go with him to telegraph, but I was sent up to pay the cost of the message, so that he would be at no expense.

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard states that he "frankly told the meeting that their case was a hopeless one." How about that?

Mr. English,—I considered him at the meeting in favour of the Phelan site, and I did not hear him make use of anything to that effect.

MR. E. GREEN

was next interviewed.

Rep.—You were present I believe, Mr. Green, at a meeting at the City Hotel in the interest of the Peterborough postoffice being placed on the Phelan lot.

Mr. Green,—Yes; that is, some time ago.

Rep.—Was Mr. Hilliard present?

Mr. Green,—O yes, he was there.

Rep.—Did you hear him "frankly tell the meeting that their case was a hopeless one"?

Mr. Green,—No, I did not.

Rep.—You considered him favourable to Mr. Phelan's site?

Mr. Green,—Yes, very favourable.

Rep.—You have no doubt on that point, Mr. Green?

Mr. Green,—Well, so, not the slightest.

Rep.—Did you hear Mr. Hilliard say at that meeting that the bargain made by Mr. Phelan with Sir Hector Langevin was a bona fide bargain and sale.

Mr. Green,—In reply to a question put to him he stated that he did not see how the Government could back out of the transaction.

Rep.—Do you recollect his leaving the meeting?

Mr. Green,—Yes, I do.

Rep.—Where did he go?

Mr. Green—Well, he left as I understood, to wire the government to stay proceedings till they heard from the Phelan party.

Rep.—Did you consider by his actions that Mr. Hilliard was supporting Mr. Phelan's site?

Mr. Green—Yes I thought at that meeting that he was very favorable to the Phelan site.

MR. GEO. TAYLOR

was the next to throw light on the subject.

Rep.—Mr. Taylor, were you at a meeting in the City hotel in favour of Mr. Phelan's lot?

Mr. Taylor—Yes, I was there.

Rep.—A question having been put to Mr. Hilliard at that meeting, with regard to Mr. Phelan's deal with the government, do you remember Mr. Hilliard's reply?

Mr. Taylor—Yes; he distinctly stated that he would consider it a bona fide bargain and sale.

Rep.—Did you consider that Mr. Hilliard was present at that meeting as a party favorable to the Phelan site.

Mr. Taylor—Most emphatically I did.

Rep.—Did you understand that the Government was to be wired to stay proceedings?

Mr. Taylor—Yes, I understood that the site was being changed from Mr. Phelan's to the Sawyers lot, and that Mr. Hilliard was to wire the Government to stay proceedings till they heard from us.

Rep.—Did you consider that Mr. Hilliard was supporting the Sawyers lot at the time?

Mr. Taylor—No, I never dreamed of such a thing.

Rep.—Did Mr. Hilliard "frankly tell that meeting that their case was a hopeless one?"

Mr. Taylor—No he did not—I was there from the first to the last.

MR. E. PHELAN

was next interviewed.

Rep.—Mr. Phelan, the EXAMINER has received a letter from Mr. Hilliard, in reply to an editorial article and to the report of the interview held with you, and published in its columns on the 29th of March. In that letter Mr. Hilliard states that the six-page letter you informed our reporter you received from him, was not an apology for his action in the matter of the post-office site. What was the nature of that letter?

Mr. Phelan—It wound up in this way—"Mr. Phelan, don't blame me; blame the parties that did it, blame the Government, blame the Minister." I enclosed the original copy in another, which I sent to Sir Hector, asking if I was to blame him or Mr. Hilliard for trying to make the change of site.

Rep.—Did the Minister acknowledge its receipt?

Mr. Phelan—No he did not; but I suppose the letter published, a copy of which I gave to you addressed to Mr. Hilliard, was the outcome of that letter to Sir Hector and perhaps another of his own.

Rep.—Did Mr. Hilliard, in his letter to you, express regret for his course towards you?

Mr. Phelan—His letter was simply an apology—it was nothing else.

Rep.—When the Government decided to erect a post-office in Peterborough, you went to Mr. Hilliard?

Mr. Phelan,—No I wrote to him to Ottawa with regard to my lot, asking him what position he would take in the matter. He replied,

"I AM GOING TO KEEP NEUTRAL;

I will not interfere in the matter; you are all friends of mine and you must fight your own battles." On his return to town, I approached him again and he answered me in the same way. Soon after I saw him and that frequently and he said to me one day at the mill—I was seeing about some lumber—he advised me to write and keep writing to the Government—keep agitating it. He advised me to go down to Ottawa myself and urge the matter.

This was in the morning. That afternoon I made up my mind to go to Ottawa. I came up street and saw his horse at the Bank of Toronto and I waited till he came out. I then asked him again would he advise me to go to Ottawa; "Certainly" he replied. I told him I was going the next day and I said I wanted a letter of introduction.

"To whom?" said he.

I said, "One to Sir John and one to Sir Hector." At his request that afternoon I went up to his office and

HE HAD THE LETTERS WRITTEN AWAITING ME.

I then went to Ottawa next day and these are the letters of introduction Mr. Hilliard must refer to; they are all the letters of introduction I received from him.

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard states that when you interviewed him at Ottawa in 1884 at the time of the T.V.C. deputation, you got a letter of introduction from him and that you did not receive from him what you stated he termed "the cap sheaf letter." How is that?

Mr. Phelan—What would I want of a letter of introduction at that time, when he had before given me two—one to Sir Hector and one to Sir John. What Mr. Hilliard gave me at Ottawa was what he called his "cap sheaf letter" and what I understood to be and Mr. Hilliard very well knows that. On receiving and reading the letter, Sir Hector, in presence of Mr. John Garvey, said Mr. Hilliard could not have given me a better letter than this, "Now we will settle it" and he did settle it then and there by calling in Mr. Fuller (the Government architect,) the Minister agreeing to quantity of land required and the price.

A LETTER FINALLY SETTLING THE MATTER,

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard says the architect reported in favour of the Sawers site.

Mr. Phelan—All I know is that the architect was present when Sir Hector decided in favour of my lot.

Rep.—What have you to say to Mr. Hilliard's insinuation that the Minister denies that a bargain was made?

Mr. Phelan—Mr. Garvey was with me when Sir Hector settled the matter and if it was not agreed to by the Minister, how does it come that the receipt for the money stipulates that my lot was sold for the post office site and how comes it that a clause in the deed has the same stipulation? And how comes it that the Government solicitor placed that clause in the deed that my lot was sold for the post office, if he were not acting under instructions? And the Government's solicitor if Peterborough was also instructed to insert a clause in the deed stipulating that the site purchased from me was for the Peterborough post office. Mr. Hilliard's statements, you see, are wide of the mark.

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard says you and your party brought strong influence to bear on the Government.

Mr. Phelan—Certainly we did by petition and otherwise, or we would not have succeeded, and that too on Mr. Hilliard's advice to keep agitating. Our petitions will show that our influence was fair and above-board.

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard also asserts that after you brought strong influence to bear, he did interfere—it was his duty to interfere and that his action had the effect of

"BLOCKING YOUR PARTY."

Mr. Phelan—Well, if Mr. Hilliard was carrying out his promises to me to remain neutral, which was generally supposed to be his position around town, then in interfering he was acting double, in pretending to me to be neutral and at the same time acting on behalf of the Sawyers lot,—then he betrayed me.

Rep.—But Mr. Hilliard says he "blocked" the "Phelan party?"

Mr. Phelan—Well, I don't know about that. If he was in a neutral position how could he "block the Phelan party" His claim of a neutral position is hardly in keeping with what one would expect of a representative.

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard also asserts that the rumors of a change of site were conveyed to you through the proprietor of the EXAMINER.

Mr. Phelan—That is not correct. Mr. Stratton in no way tried to prejudice me against Mr. Hilliard or anyone else. The information which I gave the EXAMINER (in a former interview) was called forth by Mr. Hilliard's statements in the Review, in which he asserted I did not give the information the EXAMINER used in its columns.

Rep.—Another statement of Mr. Hilliard is that your party, on hearing some rumor that an attempt was being made to change the post-office site to the Sawers lot, called a meeting at Clancy's hotel to see if nothing could be done to prevent it.

Mr. Phelan—That is not correct either. We called a meeting at Clancy's to find out how came such an attempt to be made, to have a change after my selling my lot to the Government.

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard says he "frankly told them at that meeting that their case was a hopeless one." How about that?

Mr. Phelan,—He did not say anything of the kind. He was asked by one of the party what was his opinion of the bargain made with Mr. Phelan. He said it was a bona fide bargain and sale with the Government.

Rep.—Then in Mr. Hilliard wiring to Ottawa to secure a stay of proceedings till the Government heard from your party, you considered he was acting in good faith in his statement, at the meeting, in reference to your sale?

Mr. Phelan,—We did, exactly.

Rep.—Then there were other supporters of your site at the meeting?

Mr. Phelan,—Yes, twenty or thirty persons.

Rep.—Did'nt Mr. Hilliard dictate a letter at that meeting?

Mr. Phelan,—No, but immediately after the meeting he dictated a letter for Mr. Garvey to be forwarded to the Government at once.

Rep.—Would you

CONSIDER IT AN HONORABLE COURSE

for a man to wire a government to stay proceedings until he received a letter from your party, and at the same time occupying a position he did—supporting, as he says he was, the Sawers site, and being "trampled on the neck" as he says he was, by your party?

Mr. Phelan,—Well, the public can draw their own conclusions. I would not do anything of the kind. If he was opposed to our lot or taking a neutral position, he should have remained neutral or stated his position.

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard distorts the statement in your published interview in reference to meeting him down town, saying you said you would meet him at the post-office. If I understood you aright at that time, your statement was that he agreed to meet you down town at three o'clock, but that you accidentally met him at the post-office at two o'clock?

Mr. Phelan—Yes, you are correct.

Rep.—When he met you at the post-office what did he say?

Mr. Phelan—He said,

"THE FAT'S IN THE FIRE;

I have received a letter from the Government, the post-office is going to be on the Sawers corner." It was then I called him a Judas, not because he said the post-office was going to be on the Sawers lot, but because he had secretly betrayed me.

Rep.—Mr. Hilliard says that later in the day you met him near Mr. Richard Hall's—about five o'clock.

Mr. Phelan—That's not the case. It was the next day, Saturday, that I met him above Mr. Hall's residence. He saluted me. Said I, "Never speak to me in public or private again" and went on my way. I did not speak to him for months afterwards.

Preliminary Revision Court.

The adjourned sittings of the court for the preliminary revision of the voters' lists for North Monaghan and South Monaghan, was held in the Judge's chambers yesterday afternoon, Judge Weller, Revising Officer, presiding. Twenty-three names were added to each list. Fifteen of the accepted applications were put in by Reformers and thirty-one by Conservatives.

Miss Delaney's Millinery Opening.

On Wednesday, April 7th, and following days, Miss Delaney will hold her annual spring millinery opening. This simple announcement is sufficient to elicit the interest of ladies of Peterborough, who know from the past that Miss Delaney's displays of millinery are occasions of delight to those who enjoy the inspection of the most artistic head-gear; but when it is known that this season Miss Delaney has surpassed herself in the selection of a hitherto unparalleled stock of superb millinery, that interest will be intensified. This spring Miss Delaney will show a splendid variety of French, English, American and Canadian pattern hats and bonnets in all the shapes, styles, tints and tones that, the decree of fashion has made the mode. In addition, a full stock of millinery requisites to admit of hats and bonnets being trimmed on the premises, equal to imported goods, will be shown. In Miss Delaney's specialty of ladies' and children's underwear there will be found a great and elegant variety, as well as a fine stock of dress goods which Miss Delaney has added to the specialties, which have given her the reputation of maintaining the leading and most fashionable ladies' general dress furnishing establishment in the district. Remember Wednesday next, the opening day.

MR. HILLIARD'S POSITION.

In another column we publish a letter of Mr. Hilliard's in reply to our last article dealing with that gentleman's position and also to the statements made by Mr. Phelan to our reporter in his interview with the latter. Unfortunately for himself and for his veracity, Mr. Hilliard's communication prudently ignores our challenge, than which nothing could be more direct or more pointed.

In his first letter to the Review, Mr. Hilliard stated that the EXAMINER had ever been hostile to the Trent Valley Canal scheme. We characterized his statement as being deliberately false, and challenged him to produce a single editorial or statement of like nature in the EXAMINER to prove his position.

In his second letter in the Review, he reiterated the assertion. We again charged him with stating a deliberate falsehood and again challenged him to produce a single editorial or statement of like nature in the EXAMINER during our management in corroboration of so gross and scandalous an untruth and that in default thereof, we branded him in the clearest and most unmistakeable manner as unworthy even of contemptuous notice. To aid him in his labour we offered him the files of the EXAMINER for the purpose of search, and guaranteed to do everything in our power to assist him in his work.

A man of the slightest honour and the lowest conceptions of public honesty, in the face of his assertions and our public challenges, would either retract his statements as being false or, if it were possible, would publicly prove his position. Mr. Hilliard in letter has done neither.

In ordinary cases, a man who has proved himself unworthy of credence and an impostor, is treated by the public with the contempt his character deserves. We therefore leave Mr. Hilliard to their judgment.

For the controversy which has arisen in reference to the post-office, Mr. Hilliard can blame no one but himself. In his letter of March 24th, he stated that Mr. Phelan never told us that he (Mr. Hilliard) first recommended the Phelan lot. By the interview with Mr. Phelan published in our columns last week we proved that Mr. Phelan did so tell us and we proved not only that, but that Mr. Hilliard had, to put it in the mildest form—betrayed Mr. Phelan and his supporters. By our representative's interview in another column we go still further, and prove by the words of disinterested parties who attended the meeting at the city hotel, that Mr. Hilliard has still farther stultified himself in his last letter by stating that at this meeting, he frankly told them their case was hopeless.

As to the merits of the respective post-office sites, we did not enter into any discussion. The question between ourselves and Mr. Hilliard was a mere question of truth or falsehood raised by himself, and we certainly have no reason to regret the issue, except in so far as it has affected the honour of Mr. Hilliard.

For two Parliaments Mr. Hilliard has represented West Peterborough. He has been, in the widest sense of the term, a public man, and we can say that no public man ever received fairer treatment or greater leniency from his opponets than we gave him, and now that this discussion is determining in so inglorious a manner to himself, he can fully appreciate the clemency which we have hitherto exhibited towards him.

As far as concerns us, the main import of Mr. Hilliard's communication in this day's issue deals with the Langevin letter, received by him, which we again publish :—

[COPY.]

OTTAWA, 9th Dec., 1884.

MY DEAR MR. HILLIARD,—Your letter of the 8th is received, Sir John has not yet arrived, and I must give him some time before I lay your matter or any other before him. I must, however, say that I CANNOT ALLOW YOU TO PUT ON MY SHOULDERS OR THOSE OF THE GOVERNMENT THE CAUSE OF ANY DISCONTENT IN PETERBOROUGH. IF YOU HAD IN THE FIRST INSTANCE, WHEN THE QUESTION OF SELECTION OF A LOT CAME UP, GIVEN YOUR OPINION OPENLY, AS YOU DO NOW, ALL THIS TROUBLE WOULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED.

Yours obediently, (Signed)

HECTOR LOUIS LANGEVIN.

GEO. HILLIARD, Esq., Peterborough.

We said this was a reprimand, and we think that no reasonable man reading the letter in connection with Mr. Phelan's statement in another column, could determine otherwise. What do the words "I cannot allow you to put on my shoulders or those of the Government the cause of any discontent in Peterborough" mean. Is it not reasonable, and is it not the only possible construction that Mr. Hilliard was shirking the blame and throwing it on Sir Hector's or the Government's shoulders? If any other man received such a letter, it would be considered as a reprimand, and it is no less so in the case of Mr. Hilliard.

For the vulgar epithets he applies to us, we care not, since the source is so well-known. When Mr. Hilliard again peruses the uncouth phrases smacking so much of lower city life, he will no doubt feel as heartily ashamed of his sudden madness as we do of him.

We have always endeavored to treat political opponents in a fair and legitimate manner, confining our strictures to their acts as public men. In return for such treatment we have been several times personally attacked. If Mr. Hilliard, who is the chief sinner in this respect, persists in degrading his position by descending to ungentlemanly personalities, we may be forced to accept the style of warfare best suited to his capacities, in which case revelations can be made which may, impervious to shame as Mr. Hilliard appears to be, cause him to regret his lack of prudence in provoking such a course.

Mr. Hilliard's "Gentlemanly" Epistle.

JAMES (R.) STRATTON,

SIR,—As I promised in my letter to the Review of the 26th, that I would not again trespass upon its columns, I hope you will not refuse to publish this, a rebutal of what appeared in the EXAMINER of the 29th.

In my letter to the Review I stated plain facts in a gentlemanly manner, and had reason to expect an equally courteous reply. I am sorry this has not been the case, it seems my remarks touched a tender spot, I do not think, I never did think, that a man strengthened his argument by making use of Billingsgate language such as is too frequently found in the columns of the EXAMINER.

I think it unmanly, in fact, cowardly for you to publish statements that you would not dare to make use of to my face.

Sir, I do not wish to continue a controversy from which no good can be derived, the only effect it will produce will be an opportunity for you to spew out some of the superabundance of venom that permeates through your whole system; doubtless it will do you good, but would it not have been much better, less expensive and much more agreeable to the patrons of the EXAMINER were you to procure a good Emetic take it and rid your stomach of the Bile that is poisoning not only the blood but the mind also.

I had no intention of taking any further notice of your very ungentlemanly remarks but in doing so will confine myself to Mr. Phelan's statements, for you have so contorted and twisted them that they in reality are not what they would have been if you had not submitted them to your mould. I have not now neither have I had a quarrel with Mr. Phelan, but in self-defence I think it my duty to correct some of the statements made by him. Mr. Phelan states he had a letter from me. This I acknowledge, but not one as he says, a six-page letter, apologizing for unfaithfulness to him. I have done him no injustice, therefore, had no apology to make. I will refer to this letter later on.

Mr. Phelan says when the Government decided to erect a new post-office, he very naturally approached the member for the Riding; this is correct also, and it certainly was a very proper thing for him to do. I committed no sin in giving ear to the gentleman. Now, Sir, I would particularly call the attention of the readers of the EXAMINER to what he says about that. He plainly says my answer was that I did not purpose to interfere, that I intended to remain neutral. This is plain language; there is no mistaking it that I intended to remain neutral, and this, Sir, I carried out (notwithstanding Mr. Phelan's statements) until Mr. Phelan and his friends attempted to put their foot upon my neck by ignoring me and my plan to have this question settled.

My plan was to bring the Government architect, Mr. Fuller (a man but to know is to respect) from Ottawa, for him to make a survey of the town, also the lots, and recommend which, in his opinion, was the most central, the most suitable lot; this was done, all interested in lots were present, all acquiesced in the arrangement, (it was fair) no partiality, no one complained; all went as smoothly as a marriage bell, until the architect reported in favour of the lot corner of Hunter and Water streets, then Sir was the time the Phelan party kicked up their heels; then Sir, they set themselves about to ride over me and all my plans and to bully things generally. What was I to do? What should I have done? Was I to fold my hands and quietly submit or allow a few determined men to have their way regardless of the well fare of the town? No Sir, I am not inclined to allow myself to be trampled under foot by Mr. Phelan, his party, or you. Had I not acted as I did we should have had a howl from the EXAMINER sufficient to awake the dead. You would have been the first man to call me a Judas. Well, Sir, as stated above the Sawers lot was approved of by the government it had passed the council, had the Governor's General assent, and because of this we have had all this disturbance. What influence had been brought upon the minister to have the matter reopened is best known to Mr. Phelan and his party, (I have my opinion) but suffice it to say the question was reopened without my knowledge or without consulting me. Then, I did interfere, it was my duty to interfere and my action had its effect, I blocked the Phelan party. If this this was an act of injustice, if this was a betrayal of trust, if this was an act that intitled me to be called a Judas, then Sir, I am proud of the name, I am proud to be able to say that I have denounced an act of injustice, notwithstanding a leader of my party may have been connected with it. This Sir is a stand you never have taken, a stand, Sir, you have not the courage to take. No sir, you would cower down like a whipped —— and would have licked the hand that smote you. Now to go back a little Mr. Phelan states that at the time the T. V. Canal deputation visited Ottawa in 1884, he accompanied them. That he called upon me at my hotel in Ottawa. This is correct also but the conversation said to have taken placeis not correct excepting so far as relates to the letter of introduction to the Minister of Public Works. I was asked for a letter, I gave it.

I have no doubt but Mr. Phelan would have been pleased to have got from me a cap sheaf letter as you are pleased to call it but, sir the only letter asked of me, the only letter they could have asked, was a letter of introduction. I had told them before on more than one occasion I would remain neutral. In the letter to the Minister I called him a good Conservative, I always considered him such. I think so still. Mr. Phelan says the next act on the drama was a visit to the Minister and at that meeting a bargain was made, his lot was bought; it takes two to make a bargain; the Minister says he was not a party to a bargain. I never recommended the Phelan lot nor do I think the

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.
TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.
The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $800,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.
By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.
TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.
The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.
Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.
Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:
ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring-less trusses made in New York, constant pain. Nothing would retain my Hernia. * * I have worn your truss over forty months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; seem to bathe in it the ruptures has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.
This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 20 out of every 100 of adults. As required don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for new treatise; it explains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price and many questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

Mr. Hilliard's "Gentlemanly" Epistle.

Minister gave him any encouragement that his lot would be taken for a post office. He, the Minister, could not in the face of what had been done; the architect recommended the Sawers lot as the most suitable. It would have been nothing short of mockery to have taken any other lot. Mr. Phelan says that some time after that he heard rumors which made him seriously doubt my straightforwardness in this matter. This sir is not very wonderful. It is an old saying that ——— findeth plenty work for idle hands to do. No one will doubt that ——— through his emissary the proprietor of the EXAMINER conveyed those rumours to Mr. Phelan. Next charge that I attended a meeting at Dolan's (now Clancy's) hotel. I did attend a meeting there, when the Phelan party first had an intimation the Sawyer's lot had been recommended, they called a meeting, an invitation was sent to me. The object of the meeting was to consult if anything could be done to prevent the Sawyer's lot being taken. They asked me my opinion about it; I frankly told them I thought their case a hopeless one; they then asked me to wire the Minister to stay proceedings until a letter they would send that day would reach him. This I done, sending this message in no wise committed me to the Phelan lot. An answer to the message was not asked for, it was not expected, it was not required. Why should Mr. Phelan wait several weeks for an answer to the telegram. They might have expected and doubtless got an answer to the letter they sent. Mr. Phelan's statement that I asked him to meet me at the post office is utterly void of truth. On the occasion of my receiving a letter from the Minister of Public Works, the first official advice I had the Sawyer's lot was accepted, Mr. Phelan was in the post-office at the time, I informed him of the fact there and then, the only reply he made was that he had given his last Tory vote, and left the office without saying another word either to me or anyone else. Later in the day, I met him near the residence of Richard Hall about five o'clock. He then refused, for the first time, to speak, that being the fact he could not have made use of the language you ascribe to him; he did not speak again for nearly six months, then he came and apologised for hasty acts, after he refused to speak as stated above. I did write him a letter, knowing him to be a man of a violent temper and not wishing to meet an old acquaintance who I thought had been a little quick, a little hasty. I considered it my duty to drop him a line (not a six page letter) to inform him I harboured no ill will to him. Sir, your vicious passions would not permit you to do so charitable an act. In that note there was no apology offered. I had done him no injustice, I had nothing to apologize for. As he has been compelled to preserve copies of letters, I think he had better produce this one, it will speak for itself. You have copied a letter signed "Hector Louis Langevin," in large type, setting forth that to be the letter which you said was the one in which I had received a reprimand from the Government for my dishonesty. This certainly is unique, this is killing, you must have rated the intelligence of your readers very low to think you were going to palm that letter upon them as a reprimand to me. Had you not better read it again? How does it read? Let us see:—

OTTAWA, 9th Dec. 1884.

MY DEAR MR. HILLIARD,—Your letter of the 8th is received. Sir John has not yet arrived and I must give him some time before I lay your matter before him I must however say I cannot allow you to put on my shoulders or that of the government the cause of any discontent in Peterborough. If you had in the first instance when the question of the selection of a lot came up, given your opinion openly as you do now, all this trouble would be avoided.

Yours Obediently
HECTOR LOUIS LANGEVIN.

It is a farce to say the above is a reprimand to me, that it is an outcome of the note I sent to Phelan is equally a farce.

Please note how it is written, "your letter of the 8th is received, Sir John etc.," Now sir would any man believe the Minister would have worded a letter written by me to Mr. Phelan in that way. Would he not more likely have commenced a letter in this way, I have received a letter written by you to Phelan in which you put the blame on the government. I think this is more like the way in which he would have written a reply to the letter Mr. Phelan says I sent to him.

Now sir I want you and the readers of the EXAMINER to particularly notice how the Minister words his letter, a little further on he says if you had in the first instance when the question of the lot came up, given your opinion openly as you do now. What was my opinion and how was it given. My opinion was that as the Sawers lot had been recommended by the architect, I should insist upon it being taken. This Sir is how I gave my opinion. Will you in the face of that attempt to make your readers believe this letter went through Phelan's hands, do you think any man with a modicum of common sense would believe that Mr. Phelan would have forwarded to the minister a letter insisting upon the Sawers lot being taken? as the Yankee says, this is too thin, it will not hold water.

Now Sir, I would advise, when you again take an opportunity of blowing off your pent up venom, you attack a man who is not so well known (as I am) to the community. I have not lived in Peterborough for nearly forty years for naught, I am too well known to the community for them to believe the disgraceful charges you have made against me. The viciousness which you have displayed in thus attacking me should not be tolerated in a civilized community, the course you have pursued indicated a personal animus that prompted you to make the attack.

If you imagine your present course will raise you in the public estimation or is in any way creditable to a man in your position, you must be labouring under a grave hallucination and the sooner it is expelled the better, or if your imagine the dignity of your position as a journalist will be enhanced by the course you have pursued, you will be sadly mistaken.

I think there must have been a great dearth of interesting and profitable matter when you had to make use of no less than four columns of the EXAMINER for the purpose of making a villainous attack upon him.

I must apologise for the length of my letter.

GEO. HILLIARD.

Ottawa, March 31st.

[The readers of the EXAMINER who have not been favoured with observing Mr. Hilliard's classic style, will be delighted to peruse the above sample of his gentlemanly, courteous and charitable way of dealing in a dignified manner with public matters. The elegance of his literary methods is only equalled by the charitable spirit that prompts his pen, and the public who have been denied a perusal of Mr. Hilliard's letter of apology to Mr. Phelan can imagine that it was written under the same charital le impulses and in the lofty strain of injured innocence, which makes the above letter a model for Sunday School scholars.—ED. R. FAIR.

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, April 7.—John Harper was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning charged by P. C. Pigeon with having been drunk and disorderly in a public place on Sunday. Harper admitted the charge.

The evidence of Howland, Telford and Earle, of the Salvation Army, given yesterday against Eastland, Harper's companion, was accepted by the magistrate in this case.

The Magistrate gave the young prisoner a severe lecturing, censuring him for his conduct and advising him to mend his ways. He also improved a fine of $10 and costs, allowing the prisoner one week to pay.

While There's Life There's Love.

An old couple were married in town the other day, the respective ages of the contracting parties being, the lady 65 and the gentleman 58. The old gentleman though not as old as his fair partner had, equal experience, having gone through the ordeal three times before. There is another old folk a marriage on the tapis.

Successful Insurance Institution.

The statement presented at the annual meeting of the Sun Life Assurance Company shows a most healthy and prosperous condition of this solid and reliable company. The applications for life assurance received during the year were 1,864 for $2,608,071.48, being 566 applications for $707,229.30 beyond the corresponding figures for 1884. Of this 142 applications for $279,921.64 were declined or not completed, and $2,328,149.84 was written up under 1,722 policies. The accident department business was very thrifty. There were written 1,028 policies representing $1,715,500, making the total completed business for the year in both departments the enormous sum of $4,043,649.84. The assets, which amount to $1,411,004.32, showed an increase of $136,907.09 over 1884, giving assurance of economical management and undoubted security to policy holders. This, of course, includes full provision for the reserve required by the Dominion Government. This company is represented in town by Mr. W. H. Hill, to whom all desiring the cheapest, best secured, and most satisfactory life or accident assurance, should apply.

The tree which caused the accident on the Missing Link was perfectly sound and was literally broken off near the roots. The farmer on whose property it stood had been asked to remove it, but declined.

The snow is fast disappearing.

Four millinery openings bloomed fourth in all their loveliness to-day, putting the beautiful snow to shame and flight.

The telegraph wires were broken by the tree which fell across the track on the Missing Link.

The regular weekly C.P.R. Colonists' excursion train for the Northwest passed through town last night. It carried a large number of intending settlers, besides stock and effects.

A freight train ran into a mixed standing, at Cobourg station to-day. The engine of the freight train was slightly smashed and one car of the mixed was demolished. The smash up caused a delay of traffic on the main line for a few hours.

Mishap on the Missing Link.

A Train Literally Treed—The Engine and two cars Thrown from the Track—The Engineer Slightly Injured.

The mixed train from Toronto, which arrives in town about four o'clock, in charge of Conductor Randell, yesterday afternoon met with a peculiar accident, about seven miles out of town, about midway between the two bridges on the Missing Link, and which might have resulted in a terrible catastrophe had it not been for the slow speed at which the train was running and the prompt action of the engineer. A large elm tree, three or four feet in diameter, wrenched from its roots by the gale, and thrown across the track, was the cause of the accident. Owing to the blinding storm which was raging at the time, Engineer Hagerman did not notice the obstruction till almost upon it. He immediately whistled down brakes and reversed the engine, but it was too late, and before orders could be obeyed the engine struck the huge trunk, smashing it to atoms, piling it around in every direction. The shock was so great that the engine, tender and the two foremost box cars, were thrown from the track, the engine toppled over the embankment and rolling to the muddy bottom twenty feet below, while the whole train came to a sudden standstill.

Engineer J. Hagerman, after reversing the engine, stuck to his post, holding on to the throttle and lever, and was rolled with the engine to the bottom of the embankment. He was badly shaken up and had one foot jammed between the tender and engine. He was extricated from his unpleasant position by the fireman and brakeman. Hamilton, the fireman, jumped from the engine, at the first notice and was not injured. W. Scott, fore end brakeman, was thrown from his exalted position on a box car to a snow drift near the fence and fortunately escaped with a severe shaking. Conductor Randle and brakeman Topley were not injured. The passengers, of whom there were a large number, only received a slight shock.

As soon as word of the accident was received at the station in town, Divisional Superintendent Riddell, with a staff of men boarded a special and repaired to the scene, and in the evening returned with the passengers and Engineer Hagerman, who was removed to his home on Bethune street. With the exception of a sore foot Mr. Hagerman is now all right. A construction train was despatched from Lindsay to the scene of the accident, and succeeded in placing the cars on the track and opening the road for traffic. The engine is now lying at the bottom of the embankment, stuck fast in the mud.

The damages done to it have not been ascertained, but it is thought they will not be of a very serious nature.

Spring Millinery.

In spite of the snowstorm several millinery establishments burst into full bloom to-day, showing all the captivating specialties for beautiful spring weather wearing.

JAMES ALEXANDER.

The millinery show rooms of Mr. Jas. Alexander never presented a more beautiful appearance than to-day, the occasion of the formal spring opening for 1886. Miss Winters, who has taken charge of this department for the past three years, and whose ability as an artist in her profession is acknowledged by all, has excelled herself this season. The large show room in addition to displaying in tempting array all the styles in high hats and low bonnets, also showed to advantage all the latest styles of millinery trimmings, in an endless profusion of captivating ribbons, charming plumes, facinating feathers, and all the ornaments of fashionable frivolities that go towards decorating ladies' head-wear.

The apartment was beautifully draped in laces, colored crapes, silks and satins, and the numerous charming materials to be found in a well-equipped millinery establishment. The shop was also daintily decorated with festoonings of laces and other rich materials, while the windows also contributed a little show of their own. The whole display is a most creditable one and reflects favorably upon the efficient millinery staff employed. In the mantle department a full line of all the leading materials is shown, which can be made up to fit becomingly the female form divine. In the other departments Mr. Alexander is well equipped for a successful season's trade.

MR. R. FAIR.

The millinery establishment of Mr. R. Fair was all ablaze with millinery materials to-day, the first day of his spring millinery opening. The windows displayed to advantage all the latest styles, while the shop from one end to the other was draped in Oriental, Madras, Swiss and Applique lace curtains, gaily colored parsols, silks, satins, etc. The stairs leading to their millinery show room were also draped with lace and embroidered curtains. The new reception and show room at the head of the stairs was adorned with the fashionable shapes of hats and bonnets tastefully trimmed, after the most approved French, English and American styles, and which reflect creditably upon the ability of the managing artist. Feathers, flowers, gauzes, colored crapes and innumerable other millinery trimmings were disposed to advantage around the room, while the ceiling was festooned with laces, plumes, inverted parasols and other tasty decorations. The mantle department, under the management of Miss Gilchrist, also made a fine exhibit of mantles, wraps, dolmans, also mantle materials and trimmings in all the leading styles and shades. Mr. Fair also shows a complete assortment of dress goods, carpets, etc., in keeping with the magnificence of the millinery display.

ON THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY,

April 8th, 9th and 10th, 1886.

The Regular Semi-Annual Opening of our Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms will be held.

For this season every effort has been made to place before the public the finest display of these goods ever shown in Peterborough. We have the latest Shapes in Hats and Bonnets, the Newest Trimming Materials. A Splendid Assortment of Spring Mantlings, including Fine Brocades, Ottoman Cords in Silk and Worsteds, Light Meltons, Tweeds, &c., and an endless variety of Novelties. MISS CROSSLAND, as head of this Department during the past season, gave the highest satisfaction to all favoring her with their patronage, and we are sure she will continue to maintain the good opinion she has won, and merit her reputation of a thorough first-class Milliner.

Besides our usual Millinery Opening on the days mentioned, we will make a Special Display of Spring and Summer Dress Goods and Dress Trimmings. All the leading and new materials in the most Fashionable Colors, with Trimmings, will be on exhibition. It is our earnest desire to furnish our customers only with goods that will give entire satisfaction in every respect, and with this end in view we make all our purchases. We consider it to the advantage of every lady to see our display of really first-class goods, and cordially invite all to visit us on these days.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SABBATH DESECRATION.

Lakefield has always been second to none in the quiet and orderly manner in which the Sabbath has been kept until during the last two or three weeks, when all is changed, and a stranger here would imagine there was a circus "coming to town," so he listened to the discordant noise of drum and tambourines, mingled with the screams of women and the yells and shouts of men and boys. We have no objection to the Salvation Army parade on week days, but we do protest against it on Sunday, and the church-going people of the village are asking how long they are going to be annoyed, and the quiet of the day disgraced by such proceedings.

We have a new chief constable, who bears the reputation of being fearless in the performance of his duties; with the example of Chief Cooper in town and the decision of Chief Magistrate Dumble as a guide, he should have no difficulty in at once putting an end to Sunday scenes and music, which are distasteful to a majority of our citizens.

PROPERTY BY-LAW.

A protest and demand for a scrutiny of the votes taken for and against the by-law on the late vote to purchase a town hall and market, was made before His Honor Judge Weller last week, and he has appointed Thursday, April the 15th, in the Council chamber, Lakefield, to investigate the matter in dispute.

NEW GRIST MILL.

Mr. Donald McLean, so well known in connection with the grist mill at Young's Point, took possession on the 15th inst. of the new mill erected in this village by Mr. R. C. Strickland, and will soon have it working up to its full capacity. The machinery has been found to work smoothly and as desired, and reflects credit on the makers and the contractors who put it in, as well as the firm whose enterprise has added the mill to the other industries of our thriving village.

FORESTERS.

The regular meeting of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., will be held in the Court room on Thursday evening, the 8th inst. It is desired that every member should attend, as matters of interest will be up.

AT REST.

For the second time within one week the members of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., have been called upon to pay the last tribute of respect to a brother Forester, Bro. T. J Nelson, having been "called home" on the 31st ult., after an illness of only ten days, from inflammation of the lungs, as in the case of Bro. Allen. Bro. Nelson was one of the oldest members of Court Lakefield and was still in the prime of life, being only 43 years of age. The funeral on Friday was one of the largest ever seen in Lakefield; the members of the Court turned out to a man, while his many friends and acquaintances for miles around joined in the funeral procession. After the church service by the Rev. Mr. McEwen, the service of the order was read by the Chief Ranger, Mr. J. C. Baladon and the Chap. Bro. H. Garbutt.

"And as we draped the evergreen,
Down this the open sod;
That emblem of immortal life,
Our hopes went up to God.
While from the master's lips there fell,
Those words of Holy love:—
"Brother we only part on earth
To meet again above."

CONDOLENCE.

At a meeting of Pickwick Grange No. 695, Lakefield, held on the 2nd inst, the following resolution was moved by G. J. Galvin and seconded by H. C. Garbutt, and carried unanimously, and sent to Mrs. Nelson.

That whereas it has pleased Almighty God in His allwise providence to remove from amongst us our beloved brother, T. J. Nelson, a member and officer of this Grange.

Resolved, that we cherish with grateful recollections the memory of our departed brother, who was at all times an earnest and active member and genial companion, and whilst we deeply sympathize with you in your affection, we commend you and your family to the care of Him who doeth all things well, the God of the fatherless and the widow.

While we mourn for his loss and deeply feel the blank his departure will cause amongst us, socially, as well as in the weightier matters connected with our order, we humbly bow before the Great Master, who has taken his servant from the trials and troubles of this life into his eternal rest.

Now the labourer's task is o'er.
Now the battle day is past.
Now upon the farther shore
Lands the voyager at last.
Father in Thy gracious keeping
Leave we now Thy servant sleeping.

Pickwick Grange, Lakefield, April 2nd, 1886.

Spring Millinery.

The millinery openings were continued to-day, the following establishments exhibiting:—

FAIRWEATHER & CO.

This firm is to be congratulated on the success of their spring millinery opening, which commenced to-day, and will continue till Saturday. It would be almost an impossibility to make a finer and more brilliant display than that which greeted the vision of visitors to-day. The windows, shop, stairway, and fine millinery room were gaily and gorgeously draped and decorated with Oriental and Spanish laces, silks, satins, and the many attractive articles found in a first-class dry goods store. The light and bright millinery room is a veritable garden of blooming bonnets, high and handsome hats, trimmings, etc., advantageously arranged in artistic array, showing to perfection the new shapes, styles, and shades, and reflect creditable the ability of Miss Crossland, manager of the millinery and mantle department. The mantle department is also attractively complete, comprising full lines of all the newest materials in ottoman cord, brocaded silks, gros grain, Jersey cloths, etc. In other departments the firm has a complete assortment, and is prepared to meet the demands of the season.

MISS DELANEY.

All day to-day and yesterday the millinery establishment of Miss Delaney was thronged with spectators who were well repaid for their visit, on the occasion of her spring millinery opening. On every side a veritable wilderness of artistic and beautiful millinery, millinery trimmings, and all the paraphernalia that goes to make up a lady's wardrobe. The show cases, racks, stands and windows displayed to advantage, handsomely trimmed, "Shako," "Ashton," "Yum Yum," "Rosalind," and Pall Mall" hats, and bewitchingly beautiful bonnets. The bonnet most admired is the "Rustic" shape, trimmed with a cluster of daisies in front. Millinery blooms in all its magnificence was exhibited in profusion, displaying the most charming manner, flowers, feathers, plumes, silk and satin ribbons, laces and crapes in all the fashionable shades, jet and pearl beads, etc. In the fancy dry goods and ladies' furnishing department, which Miss Delaney makes a specialty of, the display of gloves, hosiery, ladies' and children's underwear, hoop skirts, panniers and such mysteriettes, was extensive in all the newest "shapes and shades" and best quality. In the mantle department Miss Delaney has an especially complete assortment, and in materials shows silk Ottoman cords, black grenadine brocades, with Yack lace trimmings to match; lace flouncings, and all the season's novelties. The exhibit continues till Saturday night, and no doubt will be well viewed.

J. C. TURNBULL.

Mr. J. C. Turnbull, in anticipation of a successful season, yesterday formally opened for the season. The display of millinery that greeted the vision of the fair visitors called forth well merited praise. The front shop was gaily decorated, paving the way for the grand finale by a secret attraction alluring the visiter into the show rooms, which, attired in all the splendour of the season's loveliness, entranced the admiring eye. The numerous mirrors around the walls were neatly draped in rich lace, colored silk, satins, cretonnes, etc. The show tables, racks, stands and cases were gorgeous with a large display of beautiful hats and bonnets, the exponents of the skill and taste of the superintending milliner and her efficient staff. A complete stock of the latest shapes and an abundant supply of the most stylish and elegant trimmings in the most stylish shades, disposed to excellent advantage in every part of the room, made an attractive display. In the mantle department a complete stock of made-up mantles and an extensive exhibit in all the fashionable materials were shown.

What Does it Mean?

From the Port Arthur Sentinel, Mar. 20, '86.

The following letter was received from a New York subscriber to-day:—

"Madam E Hipp means Mother and Son. It is queer that a nineteenth century newspaper should ask such a question.

Yours &c.,
DON QUIXOTE.

N. Y., March 16th, 1886.

Richard Fuller, Church Street, Toronto, on the recommendation of the City Treasurer, who had experienced the benefit of Giles' Liniment and Pills in being cured of Rheumatism, procured a supply. He suffered from Rheumatic Gout, commenced with soreness of the muscles of the knee-joint, afterwards pain and swelling of the instep and ankles, and lameness of the muscles of the right foot. Was unable to walk. Kidneys were also affected. Doctor Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia gave immediate relief. Sold by J. McKee, d80-eod-w13

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing Old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent proud flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee. d80-eod-w13

"Christ and His Soldiers."

Farmer's Sacred Oratorio—A Grand Musical Success—The Attendance Small.

The beautiful, sacred oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," which Prof. Parker and a choir of about twenty-five voices has had under practice for some months, was given in St. Luke's school room yesterday evening, and from a musical point of view, was a decided success. The audience was very small, owing to several causes, but all who attended thoroughly enjoyed the treat. Rev. Mr. Bradshaw presided and explained the object of the oratorio, viz.: an arrangement of a number of well-known hymns, to bring before the mind and heart two distinct, but kindred pictures; first, the life of the Saviour; secondly, the life and love of His soldiers and servants. The oratorio opened with a recitative chorus, "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me." The choruses were beautifully given with spirit and feeling, filling the room with delightful strains of classic music. The chorus of male voices in unison was very acceptable. Miss Logan sang in a charming voice the first solo, "Hark, the Glad Sound." Mr. Bagnley, in "And Did the Son of God Appear?" delighted his hearers. Miss Strickland's solos, "By Jesus' Grave" and "Rock of Ages," were admirably given. Mrs. Sanderson's two solos, "Jesus Christ is Risen To-day" and "Hark the Thrilling Voice is Sounding," were pleasingly rendered. Miss Dugan sang very nicely, "Our Blest Redeemer." Mr. Morris' rendition of "In Token that Thou Shalt not Fear" was very acceptable. Mr. Geale sang with his usual vigor the solo of "Oft in Danger, Oft in War." Mr. E. Rogers was successful in his solo "When our hands are bowed with woe." The quartette "Jesus Died for us" by Miss Vair, Miss Strickland and Messrs. Geale and Morris was particularly well rendered. The closing chorus "Le Round the Throne" to the tune time of "Old Hundred," and the national anthem brought the entertainment to a close. In addition to those whose names have been mentioned the following also took part in the orato io:—Mrs. C. B. Orde, Mrs. Bradshaw, Miss M. Davidson, Miss Dixon, Miss Peck, Miss McNabb, Miss Vair, Miss Tivey and Miss E. Tivey, and Messrs. Ed. Dawson, Geo. Dawson, Lenton, Carter, and Tytler. Prof. Parker played the accompaniments in his usual masterly style. To his ability and untiring energy in training the voices may be attributed in a great measure the success of the production.

On motion of Mr. H. T. Strickland, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Prof. Parker and those who took part in the oratorio. Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, in presenting the thanks of the audience, made a short speech, expressing regret that so limited a number of the lovers of music had been present to enjoy the treat, and hoped that the choir and leader might be prevailed upon to repeat the oratorio some time after Easter, under more favourable circumstances, and placed St. Luke's Church at their disposal. Admission to be free and a collection to be taken up. Prof. Parker replied briefly, acquiescing to the proposal. The audience then dispersed.

THE FINANCIAL POSITION.

The financial position of the country is at present in such an alarming condition—with a deficit last year of nearly three millions and with a deficit for the current year of nearly, if not quite, five millions—that the following extract from the introduction of Sir Richard's great speech during the budget debate, will be read with great interest:—

Mr. Speaker, I was always myself a strong supporter of the movement which resulted in Confederation, and I must say that when I and the very reasonable expectations which were entertained at the time when the measure was under discussion, when I recollect what has transpired in the twenty-two or twenty-three years since Confederation was first proposed to the people of Canada, I do not see how it is possible that any man who has paid a careful attention to the affairs of Canada during that period, can feel otherwise than I do at the present moment, and that is, filled with profound regret that such great opportunities have been so exceedingly badly taken advantage of. Sir, had any gentleman told me nineteen years ago, when we were first discussing this project, that in the nineteenth year of our Confederation.

RECALL THE HIGH HOPES

THE DEBT OF CANADA

would be nearly three times as much per head as the debt of the people of the United States is to-day; had anybody told me that the necessary taxation of Canada would be 50 per cent. greater than the necessary taxation of the United States; that in 1886, in the nineteenth year of our Confederation, our total volume of trade would be $24,000,000 less than it was thirteen years ago, in 1873; that after having had possession of the Northwest for fifteen years, after having expended $100,000,000, or thereabouts, of the public funds, and a very large amount—how much I am unable to state—but probably $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 of the private means of the people of Canada, in endeavoring to develop and settle that country, we should to-day have, on the evidence of the census returns placed in our hands by hon. gentlemen opposite, after that huge expenditure and after the lapse of fifteen years, we should scarce boast, from the Pacific Ocean to the confines of Ontario, of a poor 200,000 settlers there; had anybody told me that starting with the advantages we had, after nineteen years and after importing, at great cost to the people of this country, some 900,000 immigrants, as our records allege—whether truly or falsely—

THE TOTAL WHITE POPULATION of Canada should, at the expiration of those nineteen years, be scarcely 1,000,000 more than it was in 1867. I must confess I should have felt tempted to entreat that person very harshly—almost as harshly as some hon. gentlemen have occasionally felt disposed to treat me, not for venturing on predictions, but for calling attention to certain facts as they actually existed. Sir, had anybody made such a statement then, I would have pointed to the increase of Canada in the twenty years which elapsed before Confederation. I would have pointed to the increase of the United States in the first twenty years of their existence, from 1790 to 1810, when they, certainly under greater difficulties than we have to contend with, made far greater progress than has unfortunately fallen to our lot. I would have pointed to the progress of our sister colonies in other parts of Her Majesty's dominions, and I should have asked what reason there was to suppose that Canadians would have fled from their country as if it were

STRICKEN WITH A PESTILENCE,

or to suppose that our people would have displayed so little prudence and so little energy as to permit such a state of affairs to exist. But, sir, to-night, after listening to the speech of the Hon. Minister of Finance, after examining the Public Accounts and the Trade and Navigation Returns, after consulting the statistics of our census and the information afforded to us by the Government of Ontario, I am compelled, though reluctantly, to admit that the facts are so. Sir, I say that these are facts which, rightly understood and properly studied, ought to fill any man who cares for the welfare of his country with feelings of profound regret, and to that regret may well be added some astonishment—I will not say indignation—at finding that Her Majesty's Ministers have put into the mouth of His Excellency, when addressing the people of Canada, the declaration that we have cause to be satisfied with the material progress and advancement of this country.

Madre E Hijo,
What Does it Mean?

An Extraordinary Offer
To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, on its MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 200 per cent profit, having no competition, an article that everybody is in need of, and every one will buy. Sells at sight. Every agent is making money from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $5.00 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like two or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the season, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.

SOLICITORS—Dumble & Henry.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $300 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $600,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various specimens of great success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made by York Bros., costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. E. KANE.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect, is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest cough. It will cure every child under 5 out of every 100 of adults. Any person can't worry your money off until you are cured, but send stamp for pamphlet, it will tell you all about it. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price, $2.00. Circulars free. Mention this paper. Address

THE RAILROAD STRIKE.

HOW THE STRIKE ORIGINATED ON THE SOUTHWESTERN SYSTEM.

Vice-President H. M. Hoxie.

St. Louis, March 31.—What a tremendous conflagration can result from a small spark is shown in the recent railroad strike which spread over all the roads of Mr. Gould's Southwestern system from the discharge of a District assembly 101, of the Knights of Labor, held a convention at Marshall, Tex. Among the delegates was C. A. Hall, a foreman in the Texas Pacific car shops at Marshall. He had secured, it is alleged, a leave of absence to attend the convention from his immediate superior, the master car builder. The convention lasted four days. At noon of the last day Mr. Hall resumed his work, but received a note in the evening on quitting work from this same master car builder that he was discharged for being absent from business without leave. The local committee demanded his reinstatement, which was refused. A legal strike was ordered, but the men refused to obey the committee. A meeting of the executive board of the Knights was called, and an order was given for the men to quit work at Forth Worth, Marshall and Dallas. Again the executive board asked for the reinstatement of Hall, and threatened in case of refusal to call all the men out on the Gould system which employs as shopmen, trackmen and trainmen, some 13,000 men. On March 6 the order for the machine shopmen to strike was given, and immediately 9,000 men quit work. The railroad managers still refusing to yield, on March 8 the switchmen, trainmen and firemen were ordered out, which resulted in 7,000 more men leaving the trains. The reason the number was not larger was owing to the fact that great care was taken to leave sufficient men to run all mail and passenger trains without any delay. Thus has begun the trouble which has resulted in losses of thousands of carloads of perishable freight, a lack of provisions almost to starvation in towns supplied by the railroads, a loss in wages to the strikers of $90,000 a day, besides a loss which is incalculable to all lines of business, and to truckmen, expressmen and others indirectly depending on the railroads.

MAP OF ST. LOUIS AND VICINITY.

On March 10 the order was given by the railroad managers to lay off all the clerks, telegraph operators and yard watchmen, which resulted in the discharge of 5,000 men.

The above map of the city of St. Louis and East St. Louis shows the termination of the various roads centering in or near the city. St. Louis is the center of but four lines of railroad from the west, while out of East St. Louis there are nine lines running east. At the Union depot there was little change noticeable in the arrival and departure of trains, but at the stock yards, west of the depot, and at Carondelet and the other freight yards, thousands of cars and locomotives remained idle.

GOVERNOR JOHN A. MARTIN.

On March 30 there was a conference of the governors of the states of Missouri and Arkansas with Vice-President Hoxie, in the hope of bringing about a settlement of the difficulties. Gen. Marmaduke, of Missouri, is largely identified with some of the leading business interests of his state, so that for personal, as well as public reasons, he was eager to see an adjustment of the troubles.

As editor and proprietor of The Daily Champion, at Arkansas, Kan., Governor John A. Martin was admirably fitted as an arbitrator.

The program of the strike from this time to its close is familiar to the newspaper reader. Its results it is hoped will teach the Knights of Labor and their employers a salutary lesson. At any rate it will long be remembered in this section of country as being one of the first pitched battles between well organized capital and organized, but poorly disciplined, labor.

Passed Away.

Mrs. Jeffers, wife of Rev. Dr. Jeffers of Belleville, and mother of Mr. J. Firth Jeffers, formerly of this town, died at her residence in Belleville, Tuesday morning, aged 69 years. Deceased, who was a daughter of the late Mr. James Dougall, of Pictou, was married to Dr. Jeffers in 1854.

Lacrosse.

Mr. J. O'Meara, one of the deputation appointed by the Peterborough Lacrosse Club to attend the convention of the Montreal Amateur Lacrosse Association at Toronto to-morrow, will leave to-night for the city. Mr. H. LeBrun, president of the N.A.L. Association, and W. H. Scott, the other representative, will leave Peterborough to-morrow morning to attend convention.

Barnardo Boys.

Mr. A. B. Owen returned home from England to-day, bringing with him 193 boys, sent out by Dr. Barnardo for service in Canada. Seventy-three of them were taken to the Hazel Brae Home, while the others were taken to Toronto. Those taken to Toronto have all been supplied with situations. Mr. Owen will return from Toronto to-night. The party crossed the Atlantic on one of the Allan line steamers.

A Millinery Novelty.

Messrs. H. S. Griffin & Co. will to-night introduce a novelty in millinery openings—a grand gas light display. All ladies are cordially invited to be present and see one of the finest displays of millinery ever presented in town. They will have nothing to do but admire and "pick out" their spring hats or bonnets, as no goods will be sold. The occasion is to be used to display beautiful goods and for that purpose only. Come and see.

Rapidly Growing Business.

So rapid and far-reaching is the expansion of the business of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company and the Toronto Real Estate Investment Company, that Mr. Geo. A. Cox, who is president of both institutions, has opened an office for transmitting the business in connection with both companies, on King street, Toronto, opposite the Dominion Bank buildings. This is a sign that the company have firmly established themselves in the public confidence, and that a prosperous future is in store for them.

Preliminary Revision Court.

The Court for the preliminary revision of voters' lists for the townships of Douro, Dummer and Harvey, was held in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, this morning, before Judge Weller, Revising Officer. Seven names were added to the Douro lists, the applications for four of which were sent in by Conservatives. Two names were added to Dummer on application of Conservatives. The court adjourned at one o'clock to meet at four in the Judge's chambers, at which time 16 names were added to Harvey list: four of which were on Conservative application and 12 on Reform application.

A Boy Runaway.

John Richardson, aged about 14 years, son of Mr. Isaac Richardson, has been missing from home since Tuesday, and it is feared he has left the parental roof to return no more. He had previous to his departure been exhorting school for several days, and on being informed by his father that he would be severely punished for his conduct, packed up his effects and ran away from home to escape the punishment. The police have been notified of his disappearance, but no clue to his whereabouts has been discovered. It is supposed he has gone to Toronto. Any information on the matter will be thankfully received by Mr. Richardson.

A Belleville County Court Case.

Walmsley & Sapsford, of Belleville, have instituted an action against Mr. Samuel Young, of this town, for an alleged breach of contract. In October last Mr. Young bought fifty cases of matches from the plaintiffs, at $2.40 per case, which were forwarded to Peterborough. The defendant refused to accept them as the freight had not been paid, as he contends the plaintiffs agreed. The plaintiffs allege that the contract was free on board at Belleville. It is now before the court. Mr. G. E. Henderson for plaintiffs, and Mr. J. O'Meara for defendant.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

TUESDAY, April 6th.

In the Commons to-day several measures were advanced a stage, including one for the consolidation of the statutes. The House was in committee of supply five hours.

A long discussion arose respecting colonization companies and the settlement of the North-west, in connection with the vote for the Department of the Interior.

The House adjourned at 12.25 a.m.

WEDNESDAY, April 7th.

In the Commons to-day Mr. Thompson (Antigonish) replying to Sir R. Cartwright said that it was proposed to amend the Franchise Act during the present session.

The Minister of Justice, in accordance with Mr. Blake's suggestion, proposed to refer the Bill respecting the consolidated statutes to a Select Committee of the whole House.

The remainder of the evening was spent in discussing in Committee Mr. Allen's Bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Maritime Court of Ontario. The Minister of Justice opposed the Bill. Mr. McCarthy moved that the Committee rise, which was carried, killing the Bill.

Spring Millinery.

AN EXTRA ILLUMINATED EXHIBITION.

Mr. R. Fair, of the Golden Lion, gave a special illuminated millinery exhibit yesterday evening from 6 to 9.30 o'clock, admitted to be the grandest display in the way of shop dressing that has ever been given in town. The exhibit was made with a view of allowing those who were prevented by the unpropitious weather of Wednesday from visiting the formal opening, an opportunity of inspecting his beautiful stock of spring millinery goods, dress goods, housefurnishings, carpets, etc. A Brussels carpet extended from the open door to the foot of the stairs leading to the millinery rooms, while on either side, from ceiling to floor, the shop was draped with beautiful lace curtains of the finest texture, with strikingly beautiful effect. Immediately above the wide stairway and over the electric light, a tinted canopy of lace sloped to the top railing around the stairway, and fell in rich folds to the bannister below. From the street or the head of the stairs the view was dazzlingly magnificent. The millinery room was visited by thousands who were enthusiastic in their praises of the beautiful display. Mr. J. H. Patterson conceived the idea of dressing the shop, and with the assistance of Mr. Robert Tate, carried his plans into effect with the most successful result.

H. S. GRIFFIN & CO.

The grand gaslight millinery opening at Messrs. H. S. Griffin & Co's, from 8 to 10 o'clock yesterday evening, a new and novel feature, was most successful in every particular far eclipsing the most sanguine anticipations of the public and also of Mr. Griffin. The bright little shop in the Crystal Block was all ablaze with a brilliant light from thirty gas jets, a veritable garden of loveliness. During the evening thousands of ladies, and gentlemen too, visited the shop, admiring the superb millinery exhibited, the productions of Miss Blewetherick, the managing artist of the millinery department, who has the reputation of being one of the best milliners in Canada. In the center of the show room stood a large center table, supporting the center of attraction, the most beautiful bonnets and magnificent hats, imported direct from the leading Parisian millinery establishments. The handsome mirror at the end of the room was decked out in beautiful floral ornaments. Variegated plumes, feather pon pons, aigrettes, gauzes, colored crapes, ribbons and ornaments in endless profusion invited inspection. The millinery room was draped in laces and colored silks and satins in the most effective and pleasing combinations, while from the ceiling was suspended inverted parasols that would dazzle the eye to look upon. The counters were profusely piled with fancy dry goods and all the fashionable fabrics. From invisible wires were suspended delicately tinted handkerchiefs, ribbons, laces, gaily striped hose and other attractive articles. The work of dressing the premises was left entirely with Mr. Joseph Armstrong, who did his work in a manner artistic and unique, that called forth the highest praises. Griffin's grand gaslight millinery exhibit will be remembered as one of the season's specialties.

SPECIAL DISPLAYS OF MILLINERY.

All the millinery establishments gave special exhibitions of their season's finery yesterday evening, to the delight of the ladies who visited the several show rooms in large numbers, feasting on the loveliness displayed in tempting array.

Ireland's Great Day.

Gladstone Unfolds His Home Rule Scheme—The Grand Old Man Makes a Grand Speech—Outline of the Scheme.

LONDON, April 8.—Mr. Gladstone slept well last night. He rose early, in excellent health and fine spirits. His voice was fresh, strong and evidently enduring. Immediately after his breakfast Mr. Gladstone repaired to his official rooms. At an early hour, as early as half-past five in the morning, members began to enter the House to secure seats. At Westminster every member has, it seems, to look out for himself—the rule as to seats being, "first come, first served." The Parnellites first rushed in, filling the best seats—in front of Mr. Gladstone.

The rush of British members followed, and it was early in the morning when all the seats were taken. Enormous crowds of the populace surged in the streets around the buildings, and at three o'clock the streets were so crowded that traffic was suspended.

About four o'clock Mr. Gladstone drove to the House in an open carriage, and was greeted with deafening cheers. He entered the House, followed by loud and prolonged cheering, which continued for several minutes. Among the Liberals and Parnellites the wildest enthusiasm prevailed, and it is safe to say no such scene was ever witnessed before in the House of Commons.

At 4.20 Mr. Gladstone began his address, and concluded at 8 o'clock, having spoken three hours and twenty-five minutes, and resumed his seat amid bursts of enthusiastic cheers, which were sustained for several minutes.

Mr. Gladstone's speech can be described in two words—"thoroughly Gladstonian." The phraseology was grand, its sentiments are the noblest that the human tongue can utter. No one can read it without being convinced that the speaker believed from the bottom of his soul every word he uttered. And the knowledge that Mr. Gladstone is convinced that Home Rule is just, expedient, and absolutely necessary will go far to reconcile to his way of thinking thousands who yesterday were in doubt.

His arguments were founded on the bold and true statement that no one man can legislate for any other man to the satisfaction of the latter. He illustrated this by the experience with the Colonies before and since they were emancipated from Downing-street rule.

The outlines of Mr. Gladstone's measure are as follows:—

Full legislative and administrative autonomy is given to Ireland, except with regard to certain reserved and specified subjects.

The subjects reserved to the Imperial Parliament are: Everything relating to the prerogatives of the Crown, to Customs and Excise, to defence, the army and navy, armed forces generally, the constabulary, as to which the Imperial Government will pay all expenses exceeding £1,000,000 per annum), no religious sect is to be endowed or established, and no power is given over the coinage or legal tender.

The subjects of postal service, quarantine, and a few kindred subjects are reserved for Parliament to decide, which Legislature shall deal with them.

The Vice-Royalty will be a non-political office, that is, the occupant will not retire with the British Cabinet that appoints him.

The Irish Parliament will appoint the Judges and the Civil Service. Provision is made for the pensioning of all who are dispossessed.

Irish Parliaments are to sit for not longer than five years. They are to be composed of two orders, the members of which may sit and deliberate together and vote together if they choose; or they may sit or vote separately if either order desires it; and either order has a limited veto upon the acts of the other.

The first order is to consist of 103 members. Twenty-eight of them may be, if they choose to sit, the Irish Representative Peers, who are to be relieved from attendance at Westminster. The remainder will be elected by the £25 occupiers throughout the country.

The second order is to consist of 206 members, to be elected on a franchise which is apparently left for the Irish Parliament to settle.

The Peterborough Postoffice.

From the Globe.

Mr. George Hilliard, M.P. West Peterborough, a true Tupperian disciple, is deriving considerable more notoriety from his connection with the Peterborough Postoffice than he could ever hope to acquire in a more legitimate way. As was pointed out some time ago, the question of the Postoffice site there was being utilized for the most unworthy political purposes. Owing to the duplicity of the Government in reference to the Sawers' syndicate and the Phelan faction, the Government had been compelled, in order to prevent their friends from kicking over the party traces, to purchase two different sites, one for the Postoffice and one for the Customs and Inland Revenue offices, where originally only one building and one site had been contemplated. For some time it was uncertain who was most to blame in the matter, but owing to a controversy which has arisen between Mr. Hilliard and the EXAMINER the true inwardness of the deal is being thoroughly ventilated.

Both the contending parties, the Sawers' syndicate and the Phelan faction, especially desired the postoffice site, and for this the battle raged. As member for West Peterborough, the influence of Mr. Hilliard might be considered omnipotent in this matter, and the Phelan faction having secured this, as they had good reason to believe, the balance toppled over on their side and the Government bought the Phelan site for the postoffice. By some means not yet public Mr. Hilliard was then induced to repudiate the Phelan site and its sympathizers, and the Government were forced to buy the Sawers' syndicate site for the postoffice, and have since let the contract for the building thereon this site. Mr. Hilliard now flatly denies that he ever supported the claims of Mr. Phelan for the postoffice site. The EXAMINER thereupon publicly charged him with falsehood, and to prove its assertions, interviewed Mr. Phelan, and furnished such a mass of facts to corroborate the latter gentleman's position as to leave no doubt of the truth of Mr. Phelan's assertions.

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN.

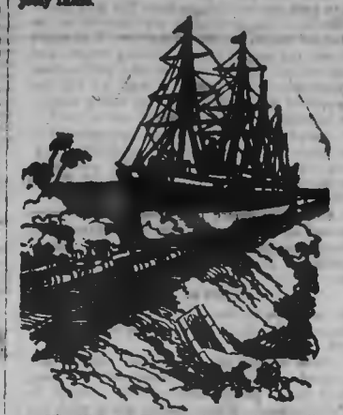
PROJECT FOR FREIGHT TRAFFIC ACROSS CENTRAL AMERICA.

The Intercoeanic Ship Railway Scheme of Capt. Eads Which is Just Now Engaging the Attention of Congress—Steamships to Be Carried Over the Isthmus.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The problem of how best to transport vessels across Central America seems to be no far from settlement as ever. De Lesseps' canal project is being prosecuted as rapidly as the climate and nature of the work will permit, and capable engineers here claim it will still require a quarter century before it is complete, providing funds are supplied steadily and no further obstacles are encountered. Its estimated cost was originally about $150,000,000.

The Nicaragua canal scheme is the next project to be considered, but it has only past the introductory stage of having been surveyed and estimated upon. It is to be a lifting lock canal, containing about eighteen large locks. A government commission estimated the cost of constructing this canal at $1,000,000.

The youngest of the transisthmian schemes is still only on paper, but it promises to be the liveliest of the lot. It is the intercoeanic railway plan projected by Capt. Eads, of jetty fame.

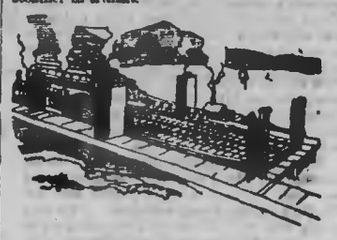


A STEAMER ON THE PROPOSED RAILWAY.

This scheme is just now attracting the attention of congress, and has been reported on favorably by the committee having the matter under investigation. Herewith are presented sketches of the means proposed to be used and the reader can be his own judge in regard to the feasibility of the plan.

Its projectors claim that it is simply a combination of the dry dock and marine railway now in use in shipyards. At the terminals of this proposed railway are to be constructed pontoons or dry docks, with sufficient buoyancy, when filled with air, to sustain the weight of the largest steamer afloat.

These drydocks will be similar to those in use only that they will have a cradle supported by some 500 carwheels, and these in turn rest on three tracks laid on the pontoon. When the pontoon is sunk the vessel floats over this cradle, the water is pumped out of the pontoon until the vessel is raised completely out of the water. The bearings on which the vessel rests are then adjusted, after which several powerful locomotives are attached to the cradle and it and its novel freight is drawn some 140 miles over a triple track railroad whose summit is about 750 feet above the sea level from which the railroad begins and ends. An illustration shows steamer in transit.



THE PROPOSED DRY DOCK AND CRADLE.

The company supporting Capt. Eads in this scheme contains some of the most practical men in the country. They seem to be thoroughly in earnest.

They have secured a concession from the Mexican government which extends over a period of ninty-nine years from 1881. It authorizes the construction of this railway, guarantees protection to the property of the company and besides grants them 7,000,000 acres of public land. On the whole, this scheme is an enchanting one and fully equal to any of Jules Verne's flights of fancy.

R. W. MUNCASTER,

The Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1886.

An Act of Justice.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—Every one knows that I took an active part endeavoring to have the new postoffice building erected on the Sawers lot on Hunter street. I did so because I thought it was the proper place, as being central and convenient for the business and professional gentlemen of the town, as well as for the people of Ashburnham. I also had a personal interest in having it placed there, as Mr. Phelan's interests, no doubt, prompted him to work hard—and he did work hard, bringing every interest, both political and religious, to bear on the Minister of Public Works—to have it erected on his lot.

I have no desire nor intention to become mixed up in any way with the unfortunate discussion now going on between the EXAMINER and Mr. Hilliard. I simply want to do in reference to the statements of Mr. Phelan and Mr. Hilliard in regard to this matter.

First of all, Mr. Stevenson and I took around a petition to the Government asking that these public buildings be erected in Peterborough. Every one we asked with the exception of one scrupulous merchant, who said he would not be a party to ask the Government to squander the public money in such an undertaking—signed the petition. In that petition nothing was said about the site. When the Government decided to go on with the work, I got up petitions for the town and Ashburnham, urging the placing of the building on the Sawers lot. When I asked Mr. Hilliard to sign he declined, saying as he had refused to sign Mr. Phelan's petition, he did not wish to sign ours.

I went to Ottawa with the Trent Valley Canal party for the purpose of seeing Sir Hector Louis Langevin in reference to the postoffice matter. Mr. Stevenson and Mr. LeBrun were with me. When we were in Ottawa Mr. Hilliard arranged with Sir Hector to give us an interview the next morning, and it appeared an arrangement was also made that Messrs. Phelan and Garvey were to meet the minister at the same hour. As we were first there we were first called into the office. The first question put to us by the minister was, "Why Mr. Hilliard—the member for the Riding—was not there?" We replied that we supposed he did not wish to interfere. We expected Mr. Hilliard would have been there to introduce us. When I spoke to Mr. Hilliard about the minister's question he said he did not think it was necessary to introduce us, as I already was acquainted with Sir Hector, and besides as he had refused to introduce Mr. Phelan and Mr. Garvey, he did not wish to introduce us—he wished to be neutral. He certainly did not introduce, at that time, Mr. Phelan and Mr. Garvey. We saw them go into and come out of the minister's office, and no person was with them.

We had a favourable discussion with Sir Hector and Mr. Fuller—the architect who was sent for and brought papers and Mr. Phelan's abridged map with him. This map pretty well cut off nearly everything north and west of Simcoe street. Sir Hector jocularly remarked, "This is Mr. Phelan's map."

Sir Hector objected to the price asked for the Sawers lot. When Mr. LeBrun said he would undertake to name the price at $6,000, the price, I think, the property was afterward sold for to the Government, this price appeared to meet the Minister's views at the time.

After this, I had correspondence with Sir Hector and Mr. Fuller, and sent a full map of the town, which showed the neighbouring village of Ashburnham. I tried to show, as well as I could, that the Sawers lot was the most desirable site in every respect.

With regard to Sir Hector Langevin's letter of the 9th December, 1884, addressed to Mr. Hilliard, I can positively say that it had no reference whatever to any letter addressed by Hilliard to Mr. Phelan, and forwarded by the latter to Ottawa. I know well the purport of Mr. Hilliard's letter to Sir Hector Langevin, which called forth that reply. I cannot state its contents, without having first obtained Mr. Hilliard's consent. I read Sir Hector's letter at the time it was received here. Now, from what I have written, I think it is evident that up to a certain point Mr. Hilliard did not intervene between the advocates of either site and the Government.

If Mr. Hilliard had said in the first place—and I agree with Sir Hector that he should have decided—and recommended what he knew was the proper site—the Sawers lot—these unpleasant discussions would have been avoided, as the Government would have acted on his recommendation.

I had a short interview with Sir John. A. Macdonald in Ottawa, but I did not bring up the question of the post-office, nor did I write to him. I would have done so if I had thought it necessary.

I always told Mr. Phelan and Mr. Garvey that the post-office would never be placed on Mr. Phelan's lot. Mr. Phelan will bear me out in this statement.

Yours truly,
W. CLUXTON.

Peterborough, April 8, 1886.

[The above conciliatory letter, while it no doubt correctly outlines the course of proceedings carried on by those interested in the Sawers site, does not, it will be observed, throw much new light on that portion of the subject in which the general public are interested, and still leaves many things to be explained by the member for West Peterborough before unprejudiced persons will be able to regard his conduct in the whole matter of the post office site, as straightforward or honorable. Mr. Cluxton's calm and judicial presentation of his case, may be regarded by some as an explanation of Mr. Hilliard, but to him who reads between the lines, his quietly cutting tone is a severe condemnation of the latter's vacillating self-seeking course. The blows are hard, but the iron glove is sheathed in velvet. The public must bear in mind that Mr. Phelan's statement is that while in Ottawa Mr. Hilliard gave him what he termed "the cap sheaf letter" and not "that he introduced him to Sir Hector."]

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, of rapid sales. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. ANY agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guarantee; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $135 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the town, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THIRTEENTH OF THE SERIES ON "THE MARRIAGE RING."

A Plea for Women—Their Wide Contingent a University, Clothing Establishment, Laundry and Restaurant; Also Health Officer, Police and Preacher.

BROOKLYN, April 4.—After going as far as St. Louis and Kansas City, and lecturing and preaching in sixteen cities and speaking at the Missouri university and Central college, Dr. T. De Witt Talmage, preached to-day in the Brooklyn Tabernacle the thirteenth of the series of sermons on "The Marriage Ring," entitled "The Trials of Housekeeping." The hymn sung was

"Glory to God on high,
Let heaven and earth rejoice."

After expounding an appropriate chapter of Scripture, the preacher took for his text Luke x, 40: "Lord, dost Thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? Bid her, therefore, that she help me." Following is the sermon in full:

Yonder is a beautiful village homestead. The man of the house is dead, and his widow is taking charge of the premises. This is the widow Martha of Bethany. Yes, I will show you also the pet of the household. This is Mary, the younger sister, with a book under her arm, and her face having no appearance of anxiety or perturbation. Company has come. Christ stands outside the door, and, of course, there is a good deal of excitement inside the door. The disarranged furniture is hastily put aside, and the hair is brushed back, and the dresses are adjusted as well as, in so short a time, Mary and Martha can attend to these matters. They did not keep Christ standing at the door until they were newly appareled, or until they had elaborately arranged their tresses, then coming out with their affected surprise as though they had not heard the two or three previous knockings, saying: "Why, is that you?" No. They were ladies and were always presentable, although they may not have always had on their best; if we did our best would not be worth having on. They throw open the door and greet Christ. They say: "Good morning, master; come in and be seated." Christ did not come alone; He had a group of friends with Him, and such an influx of city visitors would throw any country home into perturbation. I suppose, also, the walk from the city had been a good appetiser. The kitchen department that day was a very important department, and I suppose that Martha had no sooner greeted the guests than she fled to that room. Mary had no anxiety about household affairs. She had full confidence that Martha could get up the best dinner in Bethany. She seems to say: "Now let us have a division of labor. Martha, you cook and I'll sit down and be good." So you have often seen a great difference between two sisters. There is Martha, hard working, painstaking, a good manager, ever inventive of some new pastry or discovering something in the art of cooking and housekeeping. There is Mary, also, fond of conversation, literary, so engaged in deep questions of ethics she has no time to attend to the questions of household welfare. It is soon. Mary is in the parlor with Christ. Martha is in the kitchen. It would have been better if they had divided the work, and then they could have divided the opportunity of listening to Jesus; but Mary monopolises Christ while Martha swelters at the fire. It was a very important thing that they should have a good dinner that day. Christ was hungry, and he did not often have a luxurious entertainment. Alas, me! if the duty had devolved upon Mary, what a repast that would have been. But something went wrong in the kitchen. Perhaps the fire would not burn, or the bread would not bake, or Martha scalded her hand, or something was burned black that ought only to have been made brown; and Martha lost her patience, and forgetting the proprieties of the occasion, with beswe ated brow, and, perhaps with pitcher in one hand and tongs in the other, she rushes out of the kitchen into the presence of Christ, saying: "Lord dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone?" Christ scolded not a word. If it were scolding, I should rather have His scolding than anybody else's blessing. There was nothing acerb. He knew Martha had almost worked herself to death to get Him something to eat, and so He throws a world of tenderness into His intonation as He seems to say: "My dear woman, do not worry; let the dinner go. Sit down on this ottoman beside Mary, your younger sister. Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things, but one thing is needful." As Martha throws open that kitchen door I look in and see a great many household perplexities and anxieties.

First—There is the trial of non-appreciation. That is what made Martha so angry with Mary. The younger sister had no estimate of her older sister's fatigues. As now, man bothered with the anxieties of the store and office and shop, or, coming from the stock exchange, they say when they get home: "Oh, you ought to be in our factory a little while; you ought to have to manage eight or ten or twenty subordinates, and then you would know what trouble and anxiety are." O, sir, the wife and the mother has to conduct at the same time a university, a clothing establishment, a restaurant, a laundry, a library, while she is health officer, police and president of her realm. She must do a thousand things, and do them well, in order to keep things going smoothly; and so her brain and her nerves are taxed to the utmost. I know there are housekeepers who are so fortunate that they can sit in an arm chair in the library, or lie on the belated pillow, and throw off all the cares upon subordinates who, having large wages and great experience, can attend to all of the affairs of the household. Those are the exception. I am speaking this morning of the great mass of housekeepers—the women to whom life is a struggle, and who, at thirty years of age, look as though they were forty, and at forty look as though they were fifty, and at fifty look as though they were sixty. The fallen at Chalons and Austerlitz, and Gettysburg and Waterloo are a small number compared with the slain in the great Armageddon of the kitchen. You go out to the cemetery, and you will see that the tombstones all read beautifully poetic; but if those tombstones would speak the truth thousands of them would say: "Here lies a woman killed by too much mending and sewing, and baking and scrubbing and scouring; the weapon with which she was slain was a broom, or a sewing machine, or a ladle." You think, oh man of the world, that you have all the cares and anxieties. If the cares and anxieties of the household should come upon you for one week, you would be a fit candidate for Bloomingdale—I mean insane asylum. The half-rested housekeeper arises in the morning. She must have the morning repast prepared at an irrevocable hour. What if the fire will not light? what if the marketing did not come? what if the clock has stopped—no matter, she must have the morning repast at the irrevocable hour. Then the children must be got off to school. What if their garments are torn? what if they do not know their lessons? what if they have lost a hat or mash—they must be ready. Then got have all the dist of the day, and perhaps of several days, to plan; but what if the butcher has sent meat unmentionable, or the grocer has sent articles of food adulterated, and what if some piece of silver be gone, or some favorite chalice be cracked, or the roof leak, or the plumbing fail, or any one of a thousand things occur—you must be ready. Spring weather comes, and there must be revolution in the family wardrobe; or autumn comes, and you must shut out the northern blast; but what if the moth has preceded you to the chest; what if, during the year, the children have outgrown the apparel of last year; what if the fashions have changed. Your house must be an apothecary's shop; it must be a dispensary; there must be medicines for all sorts of ailments—something to loosen the croup, something to cool the burn, something to poultice the inflammation, something to silence the jumping tooth, something to soothe the earache. You must be in half-a-dozen places at the same time, or you must attempt to be. If, under all this wear and tear of life, Martha makes an impatient rush upon the Martyr of dusting-room, be patient, be brilliant. O! woman, though I may fail to stir up an appreciation in the souls of others in regard to your household toils, let me assure you, from the kindliness with which Jesus Christ met Martha, that He appreciates all your work from garret to cellar; and that the God of Deborah, and Hannah, and Abigail, and grandmother Lois, and Elizabeth Fry, and Hannah Moore is the God of the housekeeper. Jesus was never married that He might be the especial friend and confidant of a whole world of troubled womanhood. I blunder; Christ was married. The Bible says that the Church is the Lamb's wife, and that makes me know that all Christian women have a right to go to Christ and tell him of their annoyances and troubles, since by His oath of conjugal fidelity He is sworn to sympathize. George Herbert, the Christian poet, wrote two or three verses on this subject:

The servant by this clue can Make drudgery divine;
Who sweeps a room, as for Thy laws,
Makes that and the action fine.

Straw Millinery.

Mrs. Keane has resumed her straw millinery business on Water street. She is prepared to block over straw hats and bonnets into the most fashionable shapes or any shape desired. She desires to thank those who formerly gave her their patronage, and to solicit a renewal of the same. She hopes by strict attention to, and a careful fulfilment of the wants of the people in her line, to merit the patronage of the general public.

Business College Notes.

The closing exercises of the evening classes of the Peterborough Business College will be held in the College lecture room this evening, when the distribution of prizes will take place.

During the past week Mr. Bannel Sawyer, Principal of the Peterborough Business College, has delivered a series of interesting addresses to the students on the following subjects, "Establishment of Banks," "Bank Book-keeping," "Panics," "Counterfeiting," and "Success in Business Life."

A Wise Change.

The Town Council did wisely in following the advice of the EXAMINER in practically vesting the power of suspending members of the police force, in the Mayor. If a mayor uses his power improperly, he is directly and individually responsible to the people. A chief of police using his power wrongly is only responsible to the people through the Council which might condone his wrongdoing, and, with the responsibility spread over a dozen members, it would be difficult to individualize and fix the wrong so that the people could deal with it at the polls. It is not assumed that the present chief would abuse the privilege, but he is more certain not to do so if he has not the power. If he were elected by the people there would be no objection to his enjoying the power in question.

Something Free.

Peterborough housekeepers are invited to attend the Free Baking School, opened by Messrs. Fleischmann & Co., in the store under the roller rink, Water street. Don't miss this golden opportunity to obtain practical and useful household information. Good bread, rolls, etc. are the joy of the housekeeper's heart. All of these can be produced by becoming proficient in the use of Fleischmann & Co's celebrated compressed yeast. Session from 9 a.m to 6 p.m. All grocers will sell this yeast.

Personal.

The EXAMINER has pleasure in congratulating Mr. W. Scott, of Smith, on passing his primary examinations in medicine at Trinity College, with honors—standing second on the honor roll.

Our congratulations are also due Mr. A. T. Emmerson who successfully passed the first year's examination at the same College.

New Steamship Route.

The Imperial Government to Give a Subsidy of a Hundred Thousand Pounds.

A special cable to the Globe, London, April 7th, says Truth states that the Imperial Government has decided to subsidize the new line of steamers between British Columbia, Hong Kong, and Australia, by paying a hundred thousand pounds sterling annually for ten years. The steamers must be first-class and capable of carrying guns and troops. If required the Government have the right to use the steamers in the event of war. These are the usual conditions attached to steamers carrying mails.

Willow and Wicket.

Annual Meeting of the Cricket Club—Large and Enthusiastic Gathering—Laying out the "Crease" for the Season—Election of Officers.

The largest and most enthusiastic meeting of cricketers ever convened in the town was held in the rooms of the Secretary of the P. A. A. A., Mr. J. E. Hammond, Brock street, on Thursday evening. The rooms were crowded. Dr. Burnham, president of the P. A. A. A., occupied the chair. The press was represented by members of the EXAMINER and Review staffs.

The secretary submitted his annual report in which, being [illegible] members, desirous of details to his report read at the annual meeting of the P. A. A. A.

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

resulted as follows:—

PRESIDENT.—Dr. Burnham.

VICE-PRESIDENT.—His Honour, Judge Weller.

SECRETARY.—Mr. John E. Hammond.

COMMITTEE ON MATCHES.—Messrs. H. A. Hammond, R. B. Rogers, W. A. Stratton, and P. E. S. Cooper, with Dr. Burnham and Mr. J. E. Hammond ex-officio members.

The duties of the committee are to arrange matches and arrange for the provision of cricketting material, such as bats, balls, gloves, etc. The committee were also charged with the duty of arranging for the re-engagement of James Norley (prof.) as coach of the club and custodian of the grounds—especially the crease.

The matter of joining, either the Eastern or Western Cricket Association, (the former having the preference) was also referred to the Match committee.

TRIAL BALLS.

During the course of a conversational discussion,

Mr. J. E. Hammond brought up the subject of practice matches on Saturdays, insisting strongly on the importance of such events.

Mr. R. B. Rogers suggested that an effort be made to induce the business men during the summer season, to close their shops on certain afternoons.

Another member suggested that the most effective way to secure attendance was to get the Knights of Labor to inaugurate a four hour movement. A jocular member had the rashness to hint that it would be better to organize some "strikes" in the cricket field—and he was instantly crushed with groans.

The President submitted the prospectus of the Canadian Athletic News, a periodical to be issued early in the season, having for its object, the same as that of the P. A. A. A.—encouraging and fostering manly Canadian sports and keeping them clean and square.

The President also stated that Mr. H. A. Hammond had given a medal for competition in lawn tennis, a statement received with applause, which was renewed when the secretary said he would give a bat for the best batting average in the Saturday practice matches.

COMPLIMENTARY.

Mr. A. E. Ames said that the important services rendered by Mr. Hammond as secretary, though they had been recognized by his unanimous re-election, were deserving of more formal acknowledgement and he therefore moved, seconded by Mr. C. A. Lawford, that a vote of thanks be tendered to Mr. John E. Hammond, secretary of the Cricket Club, for the efficient services he had rendered to the club and the game generally. Carried unanimously and [illegible]

[illegible] moved, seconded by [illegible] that the thanks of the club be tendered to Mr. Burnham for his services as president of the club. He would be pleased to see [illegible] in the future as they had done in the past. He hoped to see, and he would work to that end, more members with by that [illegible] this season than last. To ensure this, he again emphasized the necessity of regular and frequent practice matches. Again thanking the club for their kind appreciation of appreciation, Mr Hammond resumed his seat amidst applause. "Over!" was called and the meeting adjourned, the Match committee to meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

New School Regulations.

The following instructions have been forwarded by the School Supervision Committee to the principals of the Collegiate Institute and the Central and ward Public Schools. These new regulations open schools half an hour earlier in the mornings, and in most of the rooms give half an hour extra in the afternoon, with the exception of the infant classes, which are allowed much greater latitude. Hereafter pupils will be at their lessons before ten o'clock:—

DEAR SIR,—The School Supervision Committee have instructed me to notify you that on and after Wednesday, April 14th inst., the hours for opening and closing the Institute and public schools of the town of Peterborough will be as follows:

During the months of April, May, June and September, October and November, the school hours shall be from 9 o'clock, a.m. until 12 o'clock, and from 1.30 until 4 o'clock, and during the months of December, January, February and March, from 9.30 a.m. to 12 m., and from 1.30 p.m. to 4.00 p.m.

The classes in first reader, including both parts, may however, be dismissed at 11.30 and 3 o'clock p.m. during the summer and fall months, if the Inspector deems it advisable, and during the remaining school months at 12 m. and 3 o'clock p.m.

The janitor shall ring the large school bell at fifteen minutes before the opening hour, and the head master shall see that the school bell is rung five minutes before the opening hour, to enable the pupils to be lined and in their seats promptly at the opening hour.

A short intermission may be given during the forenoon, not to exceed ten minutes.

You will be good enough to intimate to the teachers under your supervision that these rules must be strictly observed, and the committee direct you to see that additional time be given to writing in all the departments of the public schools.

The habit of some teachers closing the school, for their personal convenience, a little before the usual time, cannot be overlooked, and you will kindly report any instance of the above to the chairman of the Board or the chairman of this committee.

The committee have reason to believe that parents are frequently importuned by their children for means to purchase school supplies, such as pens, paper, etc. Since these are furnished at the expense of the Board, you will see that the teachers keep pupils properly supplied to the above requests and not put ratepaying parents to extra expense.

Yours respectfully,
J. R. STRATTON,
Chairman School Supervision Committee.

Johnny Richardson Returns—His Adventure in the City—A Warning to Boys.

Johnny Richardson, who ran away from home on Tuesday, was brought home from Toronto yesterday by his father. Mr. Richardson learning from Conductor Riley on the G. T. R. that a boy answering to the description of the young runaway, had gone to Toronto on Tuesday, Mr. Richardson took the evening train for Toronto on Thursday. On arriving in the city he inquired of a policeman if he had heard or seen anything of the lost lad. The cop replied that he was thoroughly acquainted with the circumstances, had a description of the boy, but had not seen him, although he had kept a careful lookout for the delinquent. He escorted Mr. Richardson to No. 1 Police station, but the boy had not been found. Mr. Richardson went out for half an hour to look around the street, and after a fruitless search, was surprised and delighted on returning to the station to find that a policeman had brought him his boy.

THE BOY'S STORY OF HIS ADVENTURES.

Young Richardson arrived in Toronto about eleven o'clock at night, and boldly started out to walk around till morning in the face of a blinding wind and snowstorm. He continued to tramp around the station till two o'clock in the morning, when a cabman directed him to a boiler house near by, where he could find a warm shelter from the storm. The lad, chilled, tired and sleepy, entered the shed and crawled upon a large box, where he spent the remainder of the night. About seven o'clock in the morning (Wednesday) he started out walking the streets all day in quest of work, but found none. At night he repaired to the Union station and the room where a good Samaritan nothing behind in appearance, took pity on him and let the lad have breakfast. On Thursday he entered the ranks of the newsboys, and by hard work made 17 cents. After ten o'clock, tired and foot-sore, he was making his way toward his old quarters, the engine house, when he was met by a policeman, who in a kind voice said, "Hello! Johnny Richardson; you're from Peterborough; come with me. Your father is in the city looking for you." [illegible] completely won his confidence, and it was with a happy heart he hurried off to the station, where he met his father, who received him with joy and took him to the Robinson house for the night. They returned to town yesterday afternoon. Mr. Richardson feels greatly indebted to those who assisted him in the search for his boy, especially to Chief Cooper and the chief of the Toronto force, who were most active in their efforts.

A Sell on the Scribes.

Yesterday afternoon Chief Cooper under the guardianship of reporters of the EXAMINER and Review took a stroll up to the Salvation Army quarters to call upon the fair Capt. Smith to interview her on the street parade question. The attention of the public was attracted by the officious looking trio, and faces were pressed against the windows of houses along the way, while men left their work and boys their marbles to pass after the deputation, to find out what was in the wind. There was a general disappointment. On arriving at the quarters Chief Cooper smoothed down his whiskers and with his ungloved hand knocked at the door, but received no response of any kind, except the echo from the neighboring hills. The following notice, posted on the door solved the mystery:—

"Salvation Army Quarters.

No one allowed in except on business, and not entertained more than five minutes. God bless you. And no business attended to only at the hours of 12, 1, 6, and 7.

CAPT. SMITH.

Remember the time. Positively no one admitted on Sunday."

The visitors after trying again, came to the conclusion that they would go and see a man.

By Special Request of His Patrons.

Prof. Dorenwend, the enterprising hair goods manufacturer, of Toronto, has made arrangements to be in Peterborough for two days only, to enable those who could not see him on his last visit to [illegible] what they required in his line. He will be at Phelan's hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, April 21st and 22nd. The [illegible] he comes on this trip is larger than [illegible] and all should go and see his new [illegible] of Bewitchin, Langtry Curl [illegible], Water Waves, Curlettes, &c.

Fluid Lightning [illegible] a marvellous Rheumatic Remedy. I was for two months a cripple, unable the assistance of this house from Scotland. Such [illegible] gave me instant relief, and placed me on my feet again. I have driven fourteen miles to-day (something I could not possibly have done were it not for Fluid Lightning) for the express purpose of procuring another bottle. So says Wm. Dixon Gananoque. Only 25 cents per bottle at John McKee's Drug Store. d30-eod-w13 Lodge—Nothing on nice as a fine head dress—go to Phelan's hotel, April 21 and 22, and procure something extra fine in styles of hair goods from Prof. Dorenwend.

College Convocation.

The Closing [illegible] Business College [illegible] Peterborough [illegible] Central Students Deposited [illegible] Prizes.

About [illegible] of 3rd opening and day classes of the Peterborough Business College, assembled in the College lecture room yesterday evening on the occasion of the closing exercises of the session. Mr. D. W. Dumble occupied the chair, and was supported on the right hand by Mr. Samuel Hawkyer, Principal, and on the left by Mr. Weir, mathematical master.

Mr. Dumble opened the proceedings by a short, encouraging and instructive address to the students in the course of which he congratulated those upon having finished their [illegible], and trusted that they had done their work well, taking advantage of the excellent facilities afforded by the institution, and hoped that the instruction received and knowledge acquired would have a lasting and profitable result. He impressed upon the learners the necessity of continuing their studies with a definite object in view—to make a hobby of their chosen profession or business, as by so doing they would insure success.

Principal Sawyer followed, giving an interesting address on the subjects of "The Duties of a Secretary;" on "Counterfeiting," describing minutely the modes of counterfeiting and the means of detecting a spurious bill; and also on "Success in Business Life," on which subject he gave much valuable advice and information. He impressed upon his learners the importance of economy, showing that the most prosperous and influential men were economical, and that the commercial cities were the greatest. Success depended mainly upon determination, although energy, tact and enterprise were necessary. It was best to get into a living thoroughfare, if a large price had to be paid for a small shop, and to make their place as attractive as possible. Truth, honesty and straightforwardness were essential. It was a bad policy to attempt too many things at once; concentrated energy would have the best result. In concluding he thanked the students for their kindness and attention during the term, and hoped they had profited by their instructions.

Mr. Dumble gave a short address on forgery and counterfeiting, advising the students never to change a document after it was signed, as in so doing they would make themselves liable to criminal action.

A MUSICAL AND LITERARY PROGRAMME.

The chairman then called upon Mr. W. J. Whibbs who gave an interesting recitation. This was followed by a musical duet by Messrs. A. Cooper and F. Steele, John Smith gave a capital reading. Mr. Sawyer sang in fine style, "Killarney," bringing this part of the programme to a close.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES.

Mr. Dumble read out the names of the students who were successful in securing prizes, which were presented by the Principal, as follows:

For best penmanship.—C. W. Boyle, $8.

For most improvement.—Edward Hudson, $5.

For the neatest kept books.—H. B. Wood, a valuable book.

The following students received honorable mention: J. B. Stanley, John Hall, J. Nethercott, W. Pratt, John Crowe, Fred. Steele, T. W. Tebb, Geo. Sanderson, T. McCarthy and A. P. Armstrong.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS.

Mr. R. Weir, mathematical master, in a short speech, bade farewell to the students, whom he assured he would always remember with a pleasant recollection.

The exercises concluded with the National Anthem.

Easter School Vacation.

It has been decided by the School Supervision Committee that in addition to Good Friday and Easter Monday, the Thursday preceding Good Friday will be added to the Easter holidays, instead of allowing one full week, as heretofore.

Why?

Why continue to drive around with faded and shabby Buffalo Robes, when you can have them dyed a rich Black or Brown. Bring your Robes and Coats to the Blyth Mills and have them dyed and made equal to a Black Bear Skin, before you store them away for the season. J. M. Manson, Blyth Mills, Peterborough.

Triple "A" Topics.

All the directors of the P. A. A. A. were present at the meeting held in the Secretary's office yesterday afternoon. Among other things it was decided, in reference to the Association sports on the afternoon of the 24th May, that all entries for the sports must be made with the Secretary, Mr. J. R. Hammond, (who will be at his office, Brock street, on the morning of that day) before twelve o'clock. No entries will be received after that hour. Methods and means of watering the cricket and association grounds were discussed, the preference being given to sinking a well, provided with a force pump. The matter, however, was left to the Property Committee to consider. The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to confer with Professor Parker in reference to arrangements for holding a concert for the benefit of the association:—Messrs. H. A. Hammond, Jas. Morris, R. E. Rogers, F. E. Bell, and the secretary. The Match Committee of the Cricket Club also met, but owing to the shortness of time since their appointment, an adjournment was made till Monday next at 4 o'clock. A [illegible] was made in the matter of hats to be presented for excellence in the Saturday practice matches. Dr. Burnham, president, presents a hat for the best batting average, and the secretary, Mr. J. R. Hammond, a hat for the best bowling average.

Richard Fuller, Church Street, Toronto, on the recommendation of the City Treasurer, [illegible] purchased the benefit of Collyer's Liniment and Pills in [illegible] Rheumatism [illegible] supply. [illegible] ed from Rheumatic Gout, accompanied with soreness of the muscles of the [illegible] joint, afterwards pain and swelling of the [illegible] ankles, and [illegible] of the right foot. Was unable to walk. Kidneys were also affected. Boston Chief Medical Lodide Ammonia gave immediate relief. Sold by J. McKee. d30-eod-w13

Gentlemen if you are bald or in want of a Wig or Toupee don't forget that Prof. Dorenwend, of the Paris Hair Works will be at Phelan's Hotel on Wednesday and Thursday, April 21st and 22nd, with a large assortment of hair goods; he makes a specialty of ladies' Wigs and Toupees. [illegible] your own hair and allow the use of [illegible] to those who are [illegible] baldness. This visit is at the special request of a number of his patrons; he will have the best of goods with him.

The Beatty-Woodworth Scandal.

Trending on their Parliamentary Positions.

OTTAWA, April 7.—The Beatty-Woodworth Bill, (two good Conservatives) re-specting a Northwestern railway, was before the Railway Committee this morning, and the two had another round which did not in any way improve their position. Beatty stated that the bill might stand so that he might be in a position to guarantee connection.

Mr. Langevin (chairman) read a telegram from the Speaker of the Manitoba Legislature saying that the Legislature had just passed a resolution deploring, if private misunderstandings should thwart the project, and praying that a land grant be given to any company which would guarantee to proceed at once with the work. Peter Mitchell thought they should take the present charter away from Beatty and his company

Mr. Woodworth read a letter from the Minister of Finance, to whom he gave Beaty's letters last session—letters which Woodworth says prove the existence of an agreement to divide the profits equally between him and Beaty. The Minister of Finance had been asked by Woodworth for these letters, but said he could not find them. Woodworth asked him for his impression after the perusal of those left with him in regard to the point at issue between him and Beaty.

McLelan replied to that as follows:—"My recollection of all the contents is indistinct, but my impression from reading them was that you and Mr. Beaty were the original promoters of that road with equal interests in all that was connected therewith." This, said Woodworth, proved that in denying in toto the existence of any such agreement, Beaty spoke falsely. He charged Beaty with trying to give patronage in connection with the head office of the road to his own constituents, leaving him in the cold. (Great laughter at this admission.) He added:—"Everyone knew this sort of thing was practiced by members—at least by supporters of the Government who had something to give." He charged Beaty with dishonorable tactics in stabbing him behind his back. He had convicted Beaty of double dealing, and could prove it further by other evidence.

Mr. Beaty still denied the truth of Woodworth's assertion as to the division of profits and equal interest, notwithstanding the letter of the Minister of Finance. He asked for time to present a statement as to the ability of his men constructing the road.

Mr. Watson related a conversation with Beaty in which he urged Beaty to second his efforts openly in the House for a land grant. Beaty gave as his reason for his lack of interest that Woodworth was "playing boggish," to use Beaty's own expression, and wanted half the bonuses. Watson said bonuses were voted to the extent of $490,000 along the line of the road. Beaty said these had lapsed now, and Woodworth said he never knew there were bonuses voted. He charged Mr. Tupper, M.P., who supplanted him on the Board of Directors, with doing so, knowing all the circumstances.

Mr. Riopel, M.P., one of the directors, supported Beaty, and had a little sparring with Woodworth, who hinted at taking the matter into court. He also stated he would bring the matter up in the House.

The 21st inst. was finally fixed as the day on which the matter would be disposed of.

Mr. Woodworth proposes to have his arrangements with Mr. Beaty concerning the North-west Central Railway fully discussed in Parliament, and with that view has given notice of a motion for copies of all Orders in Council, agreements, and correspondence relating to the affair. This will give him an excellent opportunity of proving his statement that all members of the House, excepting those composing the Opposition, are engaged in transactions similar to the North-west Central Railway deal.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THIRTEENTH OF THE SERIES ON "THE MARRIAGE RING."

A Plea for Women—The Wife Economical, a Philosopher, Healing Disobedience, Sanctity and Redemption. Also Humble Origin and Petite Size of Presidents.

Agriculture is the vital art of every economy. Nine hundred and ninety-nine hundredths of the thousand are subjected to it, some under more and some under less stress of circumstances. Especially if a man smoke very expensive cigars and take very costly dinners at the restaurants he will be severe in demanding domestic economies. This is what kills tens of thousands of women, attempting to make $6 do the work of $7. How the bills come in! The grocer, in the morning, the butcher, the baker, the milkman, the coal man, there is a panic every five weeks. This thirty years' war against high prices, this perpetual [illegible] of compromising [illegible] this is a part of the divine discipline. If it were best for you, all you would have to do would be to open the front windows and the [illegible] will [illegible] and the [illegible] pantry, the barrel, like the one of Zarepath, would be full; and the shoes of the children would last as long as the shoes of the Israelites in the wilderness—forty years. Besides [illegible] is going to make home [illegible] they never hunger there, and consequently there will be none of the nuisance of catering for appetites. And in the land of the white [illegible] you have to wash anything, all the [illegible] is [illegible] well. There are no bills to pay, every man owns his own house, and a mansion at that. It will not be so great a change for you to [illegible] as it [illegible] be to sit down on the banks of the river of life, if in this world you had a country seat; but if you have walked with God through this world's trials, and [illegible] through domestic martyrdom, O! the joy of an eternity in which you shall have nothing to do except what you choose to do. Martha has had no drudgery for eighteen centuries. I quarrel with the [illegible] logians who want to distribute all the thrones of heaven among the John Knoxes and the Hugh Latimers, and the Theban legion. Some of the thrones of heaven will be kept for Christian housekeepers. O! what a [illegible] from here to there—from cellar to [illegible] from [illegible] down the roaring pit to the [illegible] take up the banner. If Chatsworth park and the Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth avenue were to be lifted into the Celestial city, they would be considered uninhabitable rookeries, and glorified Lazarus would be ashamed to be going in and out of either of them.

There are many housekeepers who could get along with their toils if it were not for sickness and trouble. The fact is, one-half of the women of the land are more or less invalids. The mountain lass, who has never had an ache or pain, may consider household toil inconsiderable, and [illegible] every day may skip away [illegible] the fields and [illegible] home the cows at the [illegible] may, [illegible] at night, fill the [illegible] with morning [illegible] but O! to do the work of life with worn out constitution, when whooping cough has been raging for nine weeks in the household, making the night as sleepless as the day—that is not so easy. Perhaps this comes after the nerves had been shattered by some bereavement that has left desolation in every room of the house, and now the cries in the garret, because the sleepyhead has been [illegible] into a slumber which needs no mother's lullaby. O! she could provide for the whole group a great deal better than she can for a part of the group, now the rest are gone. Though you may tell her God is taking care of those who are gone, it is mother-like to brood both flocks; and one wing she puts over the flock in the house, the other wing she puts over the flock in the grave.

There is nothing but the old-fashioned religion of Jesus Christ that will take a woman through the trials of home life. At first, there may be a romance or a novelty that will do for a substitute. The marriage hour has just passed, and the perplexities of the household are more than atoned by the joy of being together, and by the fact that when it is late they do not have to discuss the question as to whether it is time to go! The mishaps of the household, instead of being a matter of anxiety and reprehension, are a matter of merriment—the loaf of bread turned into a geological specimen, the slushy custards, the jaundiced or measly biscuits. It is a very bright sunlight that falls on the cutlery and the mantel ornaments of a new home.

But after awhile the romance is all gone, and then there is something to be prepared for the table that the book called "Cookery Taught in Twelve Lessons" will not teach. The receipt for making it is not a handful of this, a cup of that and a spoonful of something else. It is not something sweetened with ordinary condiments, or flavored with ordinary flavors, or baked in ordinary ovens. It is the loaf of domestic happiness; and all the ingredients come down from heaven, and the fruits are plucked from the tree of life, and it is sweetened with the new wine of the kingdom, and it is baked in the oven of home trial. Solomon wrote out of his own experience. He had a wretched home. A man cannot be happy with two wives, much less [illegible], and he says, writing out of his own experience: "Better is a dinner of herbs where love is than a stalled ox and hatred therewith."

How great are the responsibilities of housekeepers. Sometimes an indigestible article of food, by its effect upon a commander or king, has defeated an army or overthrown an empire. Housekeepers by the food they provide, by the couches they spread, by the [illegible] they introduce, by the influences they bring around their home, are deciding the physical, intellectual, moral, eternal destiny of the race. You say your life is one of sacrifice. I know it. But, my sisters, what is the only life worth living. That was Florence Nightingale's life; that was Payson's life; that was Christ's life. We admire it in others, but how very hard it is for us to cultivate our own. When in this city young Dr. Hutchison, having spent a whole night in a diphtheretic room for the relief of a patient, became saturated with the poison and died, we all felt as if we would like to put garlands on his grave. Everybody appreciated that. When the burning hotel at St. Louis a young man on the fifth story broke open the door of the room where his mother was sleeping, and plunged in amid smoke and fire, crying: "Mother! where are you?" and never came out, our hearts applauded that young man. [illegible] willingness to suffer for others. A young teacher in a school called upon a poor, half-starved lad, who had offended against the laws of the school, and said: "Take off your coat directly, sir." The boy refused to take it off. Whereupon the teacher said again, "Take off your coat, sir," and [illegible] through the slit in the back of the lad—he was used to that sort of [illegible] house—but it was from misery he had no [illegible] and, as at the third command he pulled slowly off his coat, there went a rush through the school. They saw then why he did not want to remove his coat, and they saw the shoulder blades [illegible] out through the skin, while every healthy boy rose up and went to the teacher at the school, and said: "O, sir, please don't hurt this poor fellow; whip me: sir, he's nothing but a poor slave; don't you hurt him, but whip me." "Well," said the teacher, "I'm going to do a severe whipping; I am willing to take you as a substitute." "Well," said the boy, "I don't care, whip me, if you will let this poor fellow go." The stout, healthy boy took the scourging without an outcry. "Brave!" says every man, "Brave!" How many of us are willing to take the scourging, and the suffering, and the toil, and the anxiety for other people. Beautiful thing to admire, but how little we have of that spirit. God give us that self-denying spirit that, whether we [illegible] or [illegible] will do our duty for the Master all [illegible] be over.

One of the most affecting reminiscences of my life is [illegible] my mother [illegible] would come in from [illegible] play and sit down at the table at noon. I remember how she used to come in with [illegible] of [illegible] along the [illegible] and [illegible] put her head against her wrinkled hand and say: "Well, the fact is, I'm too tired to eat." Long after she might have delegated this duty to others she would not to [illegible] [illegible] somehow things tasted better when she prepared them. Sometime ago, in an express train, I shot past that old homestead. I looked out of the [illegible] and [illegible] through [illegible] I saw [illegible] was doing as [illegible] of my old schoolmates, whom I had not seen for many years, tapped me on the shoulder and said: "Do you see [illegible] looking out at the old place where my mother lived and died." That night, in the cars, the whole scene came back to me. There was the country home. There were the [illegible] tables, most of them gone never to come back. At one end of the table my father, with a smile that never left his countenance except when [illegible] and at the other end of the table my mother, with a look full of Christian courage and of Christian hope. At the other end of the table was a beautiful, benignant, hard-working, aged Christian housekeeper, my mother. She [illegible] "I [illegible] she [illegible] "I [illegible] in the Lord; the rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

Why our Millinery Show Rooms ought to be thronged all this week:

First—The weather in the early part of the month was unfavorable.

Second—The last days' opening were so successful that the crowds had little comfortable time to inspect our GRAND DISPLAY.

Young Men!

You are invited to attend the Young Men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms to-night at 8 o'clock, which will be conducted by Mr. G. M. Roger. The meeting for young men on Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, will be held to-morrow as usual, and also the Song Service at 8.30 p.m. on Sunday.

A Nice Surgical Operation.

The Campbellford Herald states that Dr. O'Sullivan, of this town, assisted by Dr. O'Shea, successfully performed the operation of resecting a portion of the facial nerve for the cure of persistent neuralgia. This operation, which is a most delicate one, requiring minute anatomical knowledge and skill of dissection, seems to be successful, as the patient has been free from pain since the operation, several weeks ago. The patient was Dr. O'Sullivan's brother, Mr. Joseph O'Sullivan, of Campbellford.

Memorial Service.

A memorial service in honour of the late John B. Gough will be held under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, (for ladies only) in the George street Methodist lecture room, on Sunday, April 11th, at 4.30 o'clock. A hearty invitation is extended to the ladies of the different churches and religious organizations.

"A Stitch in Time."

Now that house-cleaning has begun, you can have any furniture that is out of repair or that wants re-upholstering attended to promptly. A. Clegg will send his express for any such and return the articles when repaired. He will also send men to remove your carpets, have them well cleansed and put down again. This will be a boon to housekeepers, who have no place suitable for shaking and beating carpets.

Market Notes.

The market was very largely attended this morning. Produce of all kinds was fully offered. Prices have not changed perceptibly. Eggs sold at 12, to 13c, butter, 20c, to 22c; chickens, 60 to 70c; per pair; veal and lamb, 6 to 7c; potatoes, 60c. Other vegetables the same as last week. Maple syrup was offered in large quantities and in good quality at $1.30 per gallon. Green onions sold at 5c. per bunch.

Go Off.

Gough—derived from "go off"—rapidly—the manner in which the wonderful cheap man's goods disappear—has an advertisement in this issue, worthy to be read, studied, laid to heart, and acted on by every householder, husband and parent in the county. His marvellously cheap prices for clothing is not so much selling—it is more like giving them away. Cords of ready-made clothing for all classes, from a four-year-old pride of the family to an octogenarian, and from a day labourer to a millionaire, to be found cheap as free grant mud, at Gough's Colossal Cosmopolitan Clothing Emporium, Arcade Buildings, George street.

Crushed by a Cog Wheel.

Wm. Holmes, a weaver employed in Brodie's mills, met with a very painful accident last night. He was attending a spinning machine and by some means brought his knee in contact with a quickly revolving cog wheel, which grasped his trousers drawing his limb into the jaws of the gearing, crushing the flesh for several inches above and below the knee joint on the inside, lacerating and chopping it fearfully. Mr. Alex. Brodie who was standing near at the time, with great presence of mind quickly cut the band connecting the machine with the motive power, stoping it almost instantly, saving Holmes knee joint from being crushed. The wound was bound up and the sufferer removed to his home in Ashburnham. Dr. Clarke who was sent for immediately after the accident occurred, dressed the sufferers wounds, which are of a very serious nature. A good deal of the fleshy part around the knee has been destroyed, and fortunately the bones, joint and cords are uninjured. He will be confined to his bed for a long time, but it is thought he will not have the power of his limb. He is doing as well as could be expected.

Gospel Army Concert.

The concert under the auspices of the Gospel Army, held last night in the old Music Hall, was a grand success, musically and financially. About sixty children took part in the performance, which were of a very interesting nature. Capt. A Costly Smash.

Yesterday afternoon workmen of Mr. Geo. A. Cox's were unloading from a truck, a large box of plate glass, intended for the windows of the shops of Messrs. Fairweather & Co., (Hat Store), Mill's Bros., J. C. Turnbull and Adam Hall, when by some mishap the case tipped over, smashing to remedyless ruin seven large plates. The fragments are so small that a piece worth ten cents did not remain. The loss is about $250. Nobody is to blame for the accident, except, perhaps, the springs of the truck. A telegraphic order was at once sent duplicating the consignment, so that the delay will not be great. The glass was not insured.

Personal.

Mr. A. B. Owen, visitor to the Hazel Rae Barnardo Home, returned home from Toronto last night, after placing the last consignment of boys from the Old Country Homes.

Mr. Weir, who for the past term has held the position of Mathematical master at the Peterborough Business College, discharging his duties with ability and energy, has severed his connection with the institution, having received the appointment of principal of the Public Schools at Fenelon Falls. He left town to-day for his new field of labor. Mr. Scarboro, of New York, has been engaged to fill the vacancy in the College staff, caused by the resignation of Mr. Weir.

Police Court.

Peter Root, arrested by P. C. McGinty, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by Mr. John Musgrove with having brutally ill-treated and abused his child, which the prisoner's wife had been engaged to nurse. The complainants not having sufficient evidence the case was enlarged till Monday. The child was shown in the court room, and was bruses and scratches from head to foot. It appears that Mr. Musgrove, who came out from England some months ago, was joined by his wife and child about the beginning of March. Both securing employment at Burleigh and not wishing to take their infant with them, (a child about a year old) they engaged Mrs. Root to nurse and take care of it. On calling for the child the other day the parents found it shamefully bruised and scratched, being black and blue from head to foot. Mrs. Root's only explanation was that her husband had abused it, hence the action.

R. FAIR.

What Does it Mean?

From the Port Arthur Sentinel, Mar. 20, '96.

The following letter was received from a New York subscriber to-day:—

"Madre E Hijo means Mother and Son. It is queer that a nineteenth century newspaper should ask such a question.

Yours &c.,
DON QUIXOTE.

N. Y., March 16th, 1896.

Arrested for Bigamy.

Joseph John Whiteman, of the township of Galway, was brought to town this morning by P. C. Pidgeon, on a charge of bigamy, preferred by Anna Whiteman, of Trenton, who claims to be the wife of the prisoner. Whiteman disclaims all knowledge of Mrs. Whiteman, No. 2.

Some months ago Mrs. Whiteman, who was living at Trenton at the time, directed a letter to the lawyer of Peterborough, which appeared in the EXAMINER, asking the said lawyer to notify in proper authorities that her husband, Joseph Whiteman, had deserted her about six years ago. They, Joseph Whiteman and Anna Yeomans, on the story of the deserted wife, were married at Enterprise, in Addington county, on the 2nd of January, 1892. After living together for 15 years, raising a family of five children, the and helpless children leaving them totally unprovided for, and has not been heard of till about three months ago, when Mrs. Whiteman's learned from Whiteman's sister that he was living in Peterborough county [illegible] unto himself another wife. The poor woman, who had toiled hard to support her children, through grantly broken in health, immediately took steps to bring the truant to justice, if not to his first love. After sending the letter to "the Peterborough lawyer," she walked from Trenton to Belleville and placed the case in the hands of Chief McKinnon of that city, who was unable to get any conclusive evidence of Whiteman's whereabouts.

Chief Cooper, as soon as appointed to the head of the force here, took the case into consideration, working on the information which appeared in the Peterborough and Belleville papers at the time. He also applied to Chief McKinnon, who has taken an active interest in the case, and to friends of Mrs. Whiteman and to the injured lady herself. On inquiry he learned that a person, answering to the description of Whiteman, had lived in town for about two years, but had removed to the township of Galway, where he has been working a farm. Since taking up his residence in Galway, the Whiteman, now a prisoner, had of that township. On Thursday morning P. C. Pidgeon drove out to the 12th consession of Galway. He found Mrs. Whiteman, nee Miss White, at home, but her husband was at Kinmount. After some delay, but without difficulty, he met his man, arrested him, spent a night under his roof, and brought him to town at noon to-day, accompanied by Mrs. Whiteman.

MARRIED A MISS ISABELLA WHITE,

The prisoner was taken to the police station and locked up. He denies the allegation and defies the allegator. He says he never heard of Miss Yeomans nor Mrs. Whiteman No. 1, and was never married before.

On being told that his wronged wife would be up to see him to-day or Monday, he replied, "Never mind, I never had a wife before. Anyway I have not had my share yet—61 wives."

He was dressed in rough clothing, is an ordinary sized man, bronzed by wind and weather and has lost one eye, is not much of a dude and does not look like a lady killer at all. He lost his eye at the rifle range butts, north of the town five years ago, a splinter from a bullet lodging in it when at rifle practice.

Whiteman was removed to jail this afternoon. He will, in all probability, come before Police Magistrate Dumble on Monday morning for a hearing.

Chief Cooper received a letter from Chief McKinnon, of Belleville, to-day, stating that he would send Mrs. Whiteman to Peterborough on Monday, "so that the scoundrel may realize what a wreck his once lovely bride is."

CAMPBELL'S
TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

THURSDAY, April 8th.

In the Commons to-day Mr. Charlton's bill to punish seduction and like offences was referred to a select committee.

Mr. Orton's resolutions in favour of establishing Farmers' Banks whose capital should be mainly made up of mortgages on real estate, occasioned a lively discussion, in the course of which an effort was made to induce the Finance Minister (Mr. McLelan) to explain the policy of the Government on the question, but without success. The motion that the committee rise, which would have killed the measure if carried, was lost by 19 yeas to 24 nays.

The resolutions were carried, and a bill founded upon them read a first time. Mr. McCarthy's bill to establish a court of railway commissioners took up nearly all the evening. The arguments used were the same as in former occasions on the same measure. The Minister of Justice announced that the Government would appoint a commission to enquire into the difficulties and the best way of meeting them, and on the strength of this promise Mr. McCarthy withdrew the bill.

FRIDAY, APRIL 9th.

In the Commons to-day the time was nearly all taken up on minor Government measures.

The bill to authorize grades on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway steeper than allowed by the contract was read a third time after a short discussion.

The bill respecting the extension of the Intercolonial from Stellarton to Pictou, caused considerable [illegible] from early in the afternoon to midnight, except for an hour after recess, occupied in reading Private Bills.

The Opposition contended this measure should be referred to the Railway Committee in order that full information upon it should be given to members, and the details intelligently discussed, but the Government refused, and the Bill was passed in Committee of the Whole. The House adjourned at 12.10 a.m.

The Whiteman Bigamy Case.

The Prisoner Committed on the Most Whitish Sort Whiteman Testifies in Court.

Joseph (John) Whiteman, charged by Thos. R. White, with having married Isabella White, about the month of March, 1881, his wife being then alive, contrary to the statute in that behalf, was brought before Police Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court this morning. The room was crowded to the doorway. Mrs. Whiteman, who claims to be the lawful wife of the prisoner, appeared in court, pale and worn, but without any show of excitement. She was neatly and plainly dressed and wore a shawl. Mrs. Isabella Whiteman, the present wife of the prisoner, was also present and looked daggers at her partner, during the proceedings. The prisoner sat on a bench with one leg thrown over the other carelessly, with the utmost unconcern. When the magistrate read the charge against him he pleaded not guilty in a quiet voice.

Mr. C. W. Sawers, who appeared for the prisoner, intimated to the Court that the prisoner elected to be tried by jury. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown.

A discussion arose as to whether the evidence of Mrs. Whiteman should be taken against her husband, Mr. Sawers objecting to her evidence being taken.

The Magistrate noted the objection and proceeded with the case, remarking that the prisoner was innocent till he was proved guilty; his present wife was also innocent in the same way; therefore Mrs. Whiteman could not be called his wife.

Anna Whiteman sworn.—I know the prisoner; his name is Joseph Whiteman; I first met him in Harrowsmith about 26 years ago; I next saw him at Enterprise, Addington County; he came to where I was living [illegible] came often; we were married in January, 1862, in my father's house; my father's name is Benjamin Yeomans; he is alive now, living at Enterprise; I have also two brothers living at Enterprise; Miss Wagar, now Mrs. Clark, was one of the witnesses; the clergyman who married us was named Ball—John, I think; he was a [illegible] Methodist; we had no license; the [illegible] published in the Enterprise church; I was present when Mr. Ball published them; I received a marriage certificate from Mr. Ball and kept it till it was all worn to pieces; we lived at my father's about four months after we were married, when we moved to his father's; Whiteman has a brother who lives about ten miles back of Belleville; we lived at a neighbor's for a while, when we moved to his father's farm in Hungerford, where we erected a shanty in which we lived till spring; we then moved to Tamworth, where we lived till fall. (The witness here gave minutely the list of places they lived at, mostly in the neighborhood of Enterprise.) About seven years ago we moved about 10 miles back of Madoc; my husband went there about two months before I did; he came for me and I went out to the place; we lived there for about two months, when we had a disagreement, and I went home; he came for me and I went back and remained with him till spring; I then went back to my father's; before going my husband gave me a dollar, saying it was the last I would get from him, as he was going away never to come back; I lived with my father for some time; I did not see my husband [illegible] he left me till yesterday; I saw him at the hall yesterday; there were three men, the turnkey and about a dozen prisoners present; no one pointed him out to me; I looked through a small glass in the door; I immediately recognized him and pointed out to the Chief of Police where he sat; the Chief called him out; the only change about him is that he has lost an eye and has shaved his whiskers off. [illegible] doubt that he is the man; I lived with him as his wife for 18 years, and had five children; the oldest is 23 next month. (The witness here gave the names and ages of all their children. The two oldest girls were married.)

To Mr. Sawers.—I was born at Camden in 1843; I am 43 years of age; I was in my 19th year when married; he had a small red mark on the right side of his face; he had marks on the legs; he had a serious cut on his knee and one on his foot, the left foot, I think, and the right knee; my husband was born in England; I think his mother is in Hungerford; we always went by the name of Whiteman; he has added John to his name, probably to hide identity. Since his departure I have lived in Trenton, supporting myself. (The witness walked over to the prisoner and pointed out to the court the red mark, about the size of a ten-cent piece, on the right side of the prisoner's face. This side of his face had not been toward her during the proceedings.)

P. C. Pidgeon, sworn.—I arrested the prisoner on Friday morning, on a warrant issued by Thomas White; I arrested him in the town[illegible] of Otonabee; he had a beard when I arrested him; he got shaved at the barber shop at Kinmount; I went to the shop to get a shave, and the prisoner thought he would have one, too.

Chief Cooper, sworn.—The prisoner told me yesterday he never had been married but once, to Miss Isabella White; and this morning again made the same statement; he said he had injured his eye at the silk factory, north of the town, about 5 years ago, and had it taken out since.

E. J. Hall, sworn.—I live in Dover; I know Isabella Whiteman; her maiden name was Miss Isabella White; I was present at her marriage to the prisoner; the ceremony was performed in the prisoner's house by Rev. R. R. Harper, a Methodist minister; was five years ago last [illegible] of March. Mr. Harper's hired girl was also present; the prisoner's second wife is my sister-in-law; I saw the prisoner first at the market in Peterborough six years ago; I have since worked with him in the shoeshop; I am certain he is the man who married Isabella White.

Thos. R. White, jr., sworn.—I live in Ashburnham; I know the prisoner; he was married to my sister, Isabella; they have lived together as man and wife since married; They were married about five years ago; I did not hear of the marriage till two months after it occurred.

The case was then adjourned till to-morrow, the prosecution having no further evidence ready.

Daniel Heslikan, arrested by P. C. Adams early Sunday morning, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble charged with being drunk and disorderly at his son's residence, on Saturday night. The prisoner admitted the charge and asked that he be allowed off this time, promising to keep sober in future.

Wm. Heslikan and P. C. Adams gave evidence proving the charge. The magistrate imposed a fine of $5 or 20 days in jail.

Peter Rooke, alias Root, charged with illtreating a child of Mr. John Musgrove, held over from Monday, was called this morning. The complainant with his wife and child, a lady witness with another child, Mr. and Mrs. Rooke appeared in court.

Margaret Rooke, after being warned by the Magistrate that she need not give evidence that would criminate her husband or herself proceeded. She said the child was sick when given to her charge, and Mr. Musgrove refused to get medicine for it. The child had fallen from a chair bruising its forehead and scratching its nose. She slapped it on several occasions but did not injure it; her husband did not kick or ill treat it. Questioned by Mr. Musgrove, the witness denied having stated that her husband ill treated it.

Mr. Musgrove asked the magistrate if the person who brutally treated his child would be allowed to escape unpunished.

The magistrate informed him he would have to prove who did it which he failed to do; and dismissed the charge against the prisoner.

"Love Conquers."

We shall present in the columns of our Thursday issue, the opening chapters of the charming story, "Love Conquers." It will be continued from day to day till completed. Be sure and secure the opening chapters.

She Spotted Her "Man."

Mrs. Anna Whiteman, the deserted wife in the Whiteman bigamy case, arrived in town by the 7.50 train from Belleville Saturday night and was quartered at the C. P. R. Hotel. On Sunday Chief Cooper took her to jail for an interview with her alleged husband. The prisoners were seated on a bench in the day room and Mrs. Whiteman, looking through the wicket in the door, recognized the second man on the bench as her truant husband, although the prisoner had lost an eye and shaved off his whiskers since he deserted his alleged wife. The prisoner, Whiteman, was confronted by his alleged wife, but steadfastly maintained that he never saw her before, and knew nothing of her. The spirited encounter between the two must have reminded them of the field days of their domestic life.

Sunday Services.

Baptism at the Murray Street Baptist Church—Memorial Services and Reception Services at the George Street Church.

The ordinance of Christian Baptism was administered to ten persons in the Baptist Church on Sunday evening. Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor, preached an able and stirring sermon from the text, "The house of God which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth," 1 Timothy, iii—15. During his discourse the reverend gentleman showed that infant baptism was not taught in the New Testament, but persons who could exercise an active faith were baptized and by immersion. At the conclusion of the sermon he took his place in the baptismal font and with becomming solemnity immersed ten applicants (five of each sex), baptising them in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. A prayer and testimony meeting was held after the usual services.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

A memorial service in memory of the late John B. Gough was held in the George street Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Theodore Lad, gate presided. The services consisted of devotional exercises varied by the singing of appropriate hymns. There were about two hundred ladies present.

RECEPTION SERVICES.

Reception services were held in the George street Methodist church on Sunday evening, when 174 new members were received into the church. Rev. J. Tovell delivered a stirring sermon, after which he read the names of the new members, who walked forward to the pulpit, when Mr. Tovell gave them the right hand of fellowship, welcoming them into the church.

I had for years been a miserable sufferer from Dyspepsia, and tried all known remedies and the best medical skill of my acquaintance, but still grew worse, until unable to eat anything without great suffering or do any kind of work. I began to think there was no hope for me, and that I must surely die; when, like a drowning man catching at a straw, I determined to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial, I at once began to improve so rapidly that in two months I was as well as I had ever been in my life.—Wm. PARLIAMENTERY TOPICS.

OTTAWA, April 10—The Pictou Railway job was thoroughly ventilated in the House of Commons last night and early this morning and an examination of the reports will show Ontario taxpayers how their money is being squandered in purchasing political support in Nova Scotia. Tupper, sr., according to the statements of Mr. McLelan, now Finance Minister, made a fortune out of the first Pictou branch and young Tupper is trying to make history repeat itself by getting another branch built at the public expense for his own benefit. Pictou has already more railway facilities than its trade requires and yet Mr. Pope, to oblige the High Commissioner's son, undertakes to build a parallel line, costing $400,000, which must be paid out of the Dominion treasury, and the excuse given by young Tupper for wanting a new railway to connect Pictou town with the Intercolonial is that the old road built by the elder Tupper, and out of which he made a fortune, was built by a wrong route. This is an exceedingly thin excuse for taking nearly half a million dollars out of the treasury.

Poor Minister Foster, the apostle of political and social purity, got badly cut upon last night. Sir Richard Cartwright had pointed out that Foster had got into Parliament by posing as an independent, but had scarcely warmed his seat before he offered himself for sale to the Government by applying for fifty square miles of timber limits. "Does the hon. gentleman mean to say that there was anything corrupt in my application for timber limits?" inquired the guileless Foster. "I do say that it was a most disgracefully corrupt and scandalous proceeding," answered Sir Richard, and the Liberals made the corridors echo with applause. Foster sank into his chair flabbergasted and with the full knowledge of his hypocrisy thoroughly exposed.

The Tories are so completely disorganized that they have not yet ventured to hold a caucus this session. The Government scarcely know who their friends are. Many Tory members are becoming dissatisfied with the unprofitable character of enterprises in which they were induced to embark by the Ministers, who wished to make them dependent upon the Government for subsidies and other favors, and the whole Tory party in Parliament is one mass of dissatisfaction, corruption and intrigue. The interests of the subsidized followers of the Ministry are beginning to clash, and plunder is the only bond of union between them.

Mr. Alexander Campbell's statement in the Senate yesterday that "the trade of the Orient" was not likely to furnish much traffic for the Canadian Pacific railway has thrown a damper upon the Tupperian policy of exaggeration and lying, which the Tories have been so long pursuing in regard to that road. Ten car loads a week, Sir Alexander said, was all the freight that the Pacific mail steamers carried between San Francisco and Asiatic ports, and trade from Victoria will not be likely to amount to even that much. The Imperial subsidy, if granted, will go but a short way towards maintaining a Pacific steamship line, if there is no business for them.

Mr. Somerville, of Brant, purposes investigating the case of James Fletcher, Collingwood Schrieber's son-in-law, who, in addition to drawing $1,400 as library accountant, got last year $300 additional as "entomologist," though rendering no service, and is now on on a holiday trip to London, drawing pay both as library accountant and exhibition commission. Mr. Fletcher, like his father-in-law, is a privileged character so long as the Tories remain in power; and having discovered his fancy appointment as entomologist, the French Canadian Tories insist that one of their race shall receive a similar appointment in accordance with a system of duplicating offices which has been introduced by the present Government. Mr. Lantry, of Montgomery, intends to inquire on Monday whether it is the intention of the Government in organizing the Central Board of Agriculture to appoint in conjunction with the entomologist already appointed, a French entomologist capable of meeting more effectually the wants of the farmers of the Dominion.

The flood on the Rideau is subsiding. The streets of New Edinburgh are becoming passable.

Thomas Tracy, a blacksmith, of Richmond village, near Ottawa, has died from blood poisoning, caused by a bite from a diseased horse, while being shod a few days ago.

A resident of Pontage Dufort, who by his misdeeds and disreputable habits had made himself a nuisance to his fellow villagers, was tarred from his beard last week and then feathered. About 200 men witnessed the performance.

He Ate Some Oysters.

"I never had enough oysters at one meal, excepting upon one occasion, remarked a Denver gentleman, "and that was just after the war at Norfolk, Va. I had been a prisoner at Andersonville, and was one of the very last to be released. I was on my way North, and you can imagine that I was completely run down and very thin. I took my time getting toward the North, and as I stayed around Norfolk for some time waiting for health and money enough to proceed on my journey. Two or three times I got pretty hungry on my way to Norfolk, but I wasn't hungry after I got there. Early the first morning I went down to where the oyster boats lay. I had just 10 cents in my pocket, and you know those oysters are as cheap as mud there. I saw an old darky sitting on the side of an oyster schooner and nobody else around. I asked him how many oysters he would sell me for the dime, and he said that I could have as many as I wanted to eat. I gave him the money and got on board the schooner. I commenced to eat raw oysters and threw the shells overboard.

"After a while, I had eaten all the oysters above the hold, and then I began to dip down into the hollow part of the vessel. That made the distance too far for me to throw the shells overboard, so I just threw them up on the deck. I was careless about it, though, and I threw too many on one side, and it was the side of the boat farthest from the wharf, and along about noon the weight got too much and the schooner capsized. Over she went, just as I had got enough and was thinking it nearly time to go up town and rustle for a dinner, as I'd spent all of my money. I got an awful ducking, and I never came so near getting drowned in my life."—Denver Tribune-Republican.

Intemperance Eighty Years Ago.

A number of curious old documents, among them several executed during the territorial government of Indiana, were unearthed Tuesday, says the Indianapolis Times, at the state offices. The exhibit gives glimpses of the state of things at that time scarcely afforded by history. They include everything from the proclamation of a governor to requests for appointments. Among them was an old faded manuscript, the message of Gov. Harrison to the territorial legislature. It is dated November 1806, and contains a recommendation in regard to temporary legislation, as follows: "The alterations which were made at your last session in the law regulating taverns have not been productive of the advantages expected from them. The design of those houses of entertainment which are countenanced by law can, I should suppose, be no other than that of affording rest and refreshment to the weary traveler. This does not appear, however, to be the object of a majority of those who have availed themselves of the faculty of procuring licenses. Their houses are, in fact, the nurseries of vice, and are daily exhibiting scenes which must shock every friend of the species. The progress of intemperance among us outstrips, indeed, all calculation, and the consequences of its becoming general are such as I shudder to unfold. Poverty and domestic embarrassment and distress are the present effects, and prostration of morals and change of government must inevitably follow. The virtue of the citizens is the only support of a republican government—destroy this and the country will become a prey to the first daring and ambitious chief which it shall produce. I am conscious that no law can effect a reform in those who are already given up to intoxication, and that it is not in your power to stop entirely the destructive torrent. You may, however, save thousands of the rising generation by reducing the number of those houses which allure them to gambling and debauchery, and subjecting those which shall be tolerated to the strictest regulations. The disease is a desperate one. I would apply the remedy with a strong and steady hand."

The Actor's Secret.

One of the adepts in the transformation of a face for theatric purposes, writes a Boston Herald correspondent, is Edwin Cleary. He had the part of a sneaking, slouching spy in "A Moral Crime," and his presentation of a thoroughly disreputable and slimy fellow was remarkable. It occurred to an auditor that he had once seen him as the twin brother of Viola, in "Twelfth Night," when his resemblance to dainty Mme. Modjeska was a feature of the entertainment. It was hard to believe that the two figures had the same man for a basis. So I sought out Cleary, and got him to say: "The job of making myself look like Modjeska was hard, but far from impossible. I have what might be called a negative face. What I mean is, that my features are conventional—no one of them being striking. That is the prime requisite. Henry Irving, for example, couldn't make up his face to look like me, but I can easily produce a perfect likeness of him. In the first place, it can readily be imagined that Modjeska did nothing on her side to resemble me. She was concerned to look her prettiest, of course, and so the task was all put on me. I began by supplying myself with photographs giving her profile from all sides. Guided by these, I studied out the outlines and imitated them, partly by painting, chiefly by sticking wax on. My nose was built up to the shape of hers, though several sizes bigger. Then I got a wig that was a counterpart of the one she wore, and the duplication of some parts of her costume completed the job. Every evening before going on the stage I repaired to her room to compare myself with her, and to make any alterations that seemed necessary. But you have forgotten that I also played twin to Adelaide Neilson. The process was substantially the same, and the result more successful, because she had a dashing, mannish manner in her assumption of masculinity, and it was a feat that before I spoke in my first scene the audience, unfamiliar with the entrances and exits of the play, did not recognize me. Miss Neilson had a keen sense of fun, and she seldom failed to put her eye to a peephole to watch the people when they discovered the counterfeit. That was her nightly diversion while playing 'Twelfth Night.'"

Two Good Reasons

Why our Millinery Show Rooms ought to be kept open all this week:

First—The weather in the early part of the week was unfavorable.

Second—The last days' openings were so crowded that the ladies had not sufficient time to inspect our GRAND DISPLAY.

VERDICT PRONOUNCED:

Millinery Beautiful,

Assortment Complete,

Prices Correct.

We will continue our Millinery Opening until further notice.

The Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1886.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

Changed Hands.

Messrs. Rush Brothers have purchased from Mr. Wm. Clarke his beautiful grey horse, Maceppa. He has fine carriage and is altogether too good a horse to be place in carry the usual drivers of express waggons.

Millinery Opening.

Miss Anderson has grand millinery opening until Saturday, and we cordially invite a visit from those who could not spare the time to be present during the first few days.

—B. PAGE.

True Blue Meeting.

The regular meeting of the True Blues will be held in the Lodge hall on Simcoe street this evening (Monday). All members are requested to be present, as business of importance will come before the meeting.

Barber Shops.

George street was thronged with pedestrians Saturday night, a report having been circulated that a special force of police had been sworn in to prevent the Salvation Army from parading. The report was false, however. The Army wisely refrained from marching on George street, as it would have been almost impossible to maintain unbroken ranks.

"A Stitch in Time."

Now that house-cleaning has begun, you can have any furniture that is out of repair or that wants re-upholstering attended to promptly. A. Clegg will send his express for any such and return the articles when repaired. He will also send men to remove your carpets, have them well cleansed and put down again. This will be a boon to housekeepers, who have no place suitable for shaking and beating carpets.

Mishap to a Horse.

On Thursday night, Mr. Alex. Patterson, of Ashburnham, undertook to give a valuable horse, for which he recently refused $200, a dose of spring medicine. In the operation of "drenching" the animal, some of the medicine found its way into the lungs instead of the stomach, and alarming symptoms at once developed. Dr. Stevenson, V.S., was sent for, but he pronounced the case hopeless and the horse died on Friday night. Mr. Patterson wishes to have it stated that Dr. Stevenson neither prescribed nor directed the administration of the medicine, and he was only called in when it was too late to hope to do anything to effect a cure.

Our New Styles.

At Smart's music store and sewing machine emporium, George street, will be found at present a full stock of sheet music, books, and all kinds of musical goods, including the latest musical publications, received as soon as issued. In the sewing machine department will be found beautiful new designs of the Williams and Domestic sewing machines. The former is provided with new nickle plated attachments and new woodwork making them one of the completest and most elegant machines in the market. The "Domestic" has always taken the lead in the United States, fully justifying their motto—"The Star that Leads them All." Parties should try these machines (a trial doesn't cost anything) before buying inferior machines at higher figures. Save money by calling at Smart's Music Store and Sewing Machine Emporium, George street, Peterborough.

Horticultural Society.

A well attended meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Horticultural Society was held in the offices of the Bank of Toronto on Thursday afternoon, the President, Mr. J. H. Roper, in the chair. Mr. John Carnegie, M.P.P., was present, and explained that, according to the amended Agricultural Act, the Horticultural Society, by failing to make its annual report to the Government in January, would thereby cease to exist. The Act, however, might be re-instated on its old footing Alibersham. In this way the grant of $100 hitherto taken from the funds of the West Riding Agricultural Society would be taken, pro rata of membership, from the funds of both the East Riding and West Riding Societies. The directors decided until further this course, and the secretary was instructed to call a public meeting for Monday, April 19th, at 4 p.m., in the County Council Chamber, to reorganize the society. The present society can assign to the new society its rights and liabilities and by-laws, its library in Court House park, etc. A deputation, consisting of Messrs. Boswell, Hall and Wood, will wait on the said kindred subjects, and also to inform the meeting of an additional grant.

Roller Skating.

For a perfect floating delicious or exercise, the Lansdowne Rink, with good floor, good music and good order, is the place. Come.

Broom Drill.

The broom drill entertainment, in aid of the bazaar funds of St. John's Church, has been postponed from Monday 26th, to Thursday, 27th instant.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Women's Aid Society of St. John's Church will be held at the Rectory on Wednesday, April 14th, at 3.30 o'clock p.m. A full attendance is requested.

Temperance Services.

Special evangelistic services will be held in St. Paul's church on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings, and in the Baptist church on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings.

Preparing to Build.

Mr. Bell, mill sawyer of the Peterborough Business College has purchased from Geo. A. Cox a pleasantly situated lot on east side of Dow street and immediately north of the residence of Mr. F. W. Hopper. The plans are being prepared by Mr. J. E. Belcher for a handsome new brick residence, the first draught for approval having been made.

Contract at Lindsay.

Mr. James Sproule, builder and contractor, has been awarded the contract for the masonry of the proposed St. Andrew's church at Lindsay. Work will be commenced about the first of May, or earlier, if navigation permits, the stone having to be brought from Bobcaygeon. The building will be of the same design as the St. Andrew's church here, only larger.

Cardinal and Statesman.

Mr. George B. Sproule has kindly placed before us a very fine cabinet photograph of Mr. Bob Burdette, who recently delivered a lecture in Peterborough. He has also handed us a cabinet photo of Mr. Schiverea, the evangelist. Both are excellent pieces of workmanship as are all of Mr. Sproule's photographs. We believe that parties wishing copies of either of these may secure them by applying to Mr. Sproule at his studio.

A New Band.

"Smart's Independent Band" is the title of a new musical organization which will soon compete for public favor in Peterborough. It will be a full band, brass and reed instruments. Most of the instruments have arrived and may be seen in the show window of Smart's music store. The new band will be composed of all first-class players, and a competent leader of high abilities has been secured. From the composition of the new organization, a good record may be confidently expected of it.

A New Hotel Team.

The Napanee Express says:—"The Campbell House has been leased by Mr. G. Johnston, of Belleville, late traveller for J. C. Wilson & Co., paper and bag manufacturers, Montreal. Messrs Dorland & Membery will retire, but Mr. A. H. Allison will continue in the hotel, having a half interest with Mr. Johnston. We wish the new firm success." Mr. Johnston, is well acquainted with the wants of the travelling public, and especially with those of the class of which he was lately a member, and the "boys" may expect the best of treatment when they register at the Campbell House. The two will make a strong team, and will doubtless conduct a first-class hostelrie. "Am," will do the amiable and Mr. Johnston will fill your order promptly."

The Brown Memorial Fountain.

The Brown Memorial Committee have accepted the plans of Mr. J. E. Belcher, architect, for a stone drinking fountain, to be erected to the memory of the late Capt. T. Brown, killed at the battle of Batoche, and have intrusted the task of carrying out the design to Mr. Burgess. Judging from the plans the fountain will constitute a very handsome monument. It will be made of Ohio free stone, will be 11 ft. 6 in. high with a base of 4 ft. 6 in. by 3 ft. The Gothic style of architecture has been adopted with top of finial in the centre of the gable with which the fountain will be surmounted. Four buttresses, with pinnacles, will appear at the angles. The gable has a boldly moulded coping, relieved by quarterfoil panels. The water will flow from a bronzed lion's head attached to the stone in a deeply recessed and richly moulded Gothic panel, the arches of which will spring from dwarfed marble shafts. The buttresses and panels will be elegantly carved and moulded. The deceased soldier's name will appear on a marble tablet at the base of the gable. The back and sides will be relieved in the same manner as the front. The whole structure will rest upon a limestone base seven or eight feet square, the projection beyond the base forming steps. As the contract price is about $50 over the amount already subscribed toward the fund, those who are in sympathy with the movement and who have not already contributed have an opportunity of assisting. The Treasurer, Mr. E. B. Edwards, is prepared to receive further contributions. A site has not been decided on as yet, but it is understood that an effort will be made to secure the Court House Park.

Personal.

Mr. Fred Cameron, son of Mr. Charles Cameron, on Thursday last passed his examination before the Board of Examiners of Provincial Land Surveyors at Toronto. The EXAMINER gives its congratulations.

Mr. A. Waldie, representative of the Sun Life Assurance Company at Kingston, and formerly of Peterborough, has been in town for the past few days. Mr. Waldie's many friends in Peterborough are pleased to see him looking so well.

Mr. A. H. Gilbert, of Toronto, and formerly of Peterborough, now manager for Western Ontario for the Sun Life Assurance Company, at the recent annual meeting in Montreal, said he had sent in a fair proportion of the business done last year, and he hoped this year to increase the amount considerably. He had associated with him good men and true, who were loyal to the Sun and they were resolved in making it shine brighter than ever in the west. He complained bitterly of the unscrupulous tricks resorted to by some opposition canvassers, but it was because the Sun's rays were being felt too strongly.

The Wife of Carl Schurz.

Carl Schurz, when in the senate, was blessed with a devoted wife, two lovely daughters, and a baby boy. After one of the senator's great speeches a lady said to his wife, "I am sure you are proud of your husband!" "You can imagine that I do," replied Mrs. Schurz, with a slight accent, her expressive eyes lighting up. "My husband tells me that I am his severest critic, but his last speech was to me very satisfactory. He was in the mood to speak—his voice, everything was in accord. And, [illegible] teen years ago he came to America, and he did not speak a word of English. We were in Philadelphia, but my husband felt the greatest desire to visit Washington. He did come here, and some one took him on the floor of the senate, and he wrote to me: 'My girl, I have had the honor to go on the floor of the senate, and I feel that one day I shall stand there and speak, and you, my dear, will be in the gallery listening to me. I wrote to him. 'O Carl, how can you think it possible for you to speak one day in the senate, when now you know not one word of English?' 'But now,' she added, 'it has all come true, and you can imagine how happy I am when I sit in the gallery listening to him.'"

When Mr. Sumner was passing away, Mrs. Schurz came to his house and sent up-stairs for me. Leaving the beside of the dying statesman, I went down into the parlor, and had to tell her that there was no hope. 'How sad! how sad!' she exclaimed, the tears glistening in her eyes, 'to think that he is dying with no woman to smooth his pillows.' To those who knew the story of Mr. Sumner's unfortunate marriage her womanly remark was deeply significant. It was not long before Mrs. Schurz followed him across the dark river."—*Bos. Madre E Hijo,

What Does it Mean?

Church Services Reformed.

Church services are [illegible] to the advantage [illegible] not [illegible] the [illegible] extensive independence of mind, his faculty of striking out new routes through the thickets of politics, his indomitable courage and a certain [illegible] ring courage of opinion which [illegible] Englishmen admire, especially in a lord, the popular belief being that noblemen and those born in the purple are prone to traverse safe and beaten paths and shrink from any new or original phase of political opinion. Lord Randolph has a certain sense of humor, too, and is quick to catch the weak points of an adversary and has a gay faculty of caricature and extravagance in illustration which frequently moves the masses to mirth.

People who know him intimately protest that he caught this latter faculty from his American wife, who is as clever and caustic as she is well-looking. Lord Randolph is too sympathetic not to have absorbed this characteristic, and he employs it very often with marked and telling effect. [illegible] his colleagues on the [illegible] club and [illegible] has the faculty of [illegible] an opponent on the point of a smart epigram, which raises the hilarity of those who hear it. He correctly estimates the value of a laugh directed against a foe.

I recently had the pleasure of meeting Lord Randolph at the Orleans club at Brighton, and I was agreeably struck with the freedom with which he entered into the talk on political subjects. He puts on "no side" (to use an English [illegible] accessible and rolled off his remarks with the greatest ease, as though he had done all of his thinking beforehandby. When told that I was an American he was all the more gracious, and remarked that the "Americans were a live, bold people, who spoke out and not minced matters, and the Parliament came to the point. They turn a subject up on edge and walk right around it, and that's what I like, and they are always ready to argue, too, which is a great merit in my mind."—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

The temperature at which the common gases become liquid are given as follows by Professor Dewar, the numbers expressing degrees below zero Fahrenheit: Carbonic acid, 110 degrees; nitrous oxide, 130 degrees; ethylene, the chief illuminating constituent of common coal gas, 154½ degrees; oxygen, 290 degrees; nitrogen, 312 degrees; air, 314 degrees; carbonic oxide, 215½ degrees. The greatest cold yet produced by man, 320 degrees below zero, was obtained by two Russian physicists by the use of liquid oxygen.

"Perhaps the most interesting spectacle in town yesterday," says the Philadelphia Press, "was that of Mr. D. McCaffrey, the esteemed pugilist, blissfully giving his new baby a ride down Chestnut street in a wicker-basket carriage. His splendid proportions were arrayed in a plaid suit of the newest mode, and a [illegible] hat surmounted his full, florid face. Mrs. McCaffrey, wearing a $600 sealskin coat that reached to her heels, walked leisurely beside him, but it was Dominick's brawny hand that propelled and guided the coach. Both papa and mamma were so given up to the bit of pink-and-white humanity, all done up in laces and frills, in the carriage, that they were altogether oblivious of the admiration that they awakened all down the promenade."

Home Rule.

Gladstone's Scheme Variously Viewed.

LONDON, April 10—Public opinion is greatly divided on the merits and feasibility of Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule scheme. The press generally, and all classes, including the members of the government, consider the cardinal defect to be the abolition of Irish representation in the Imperial Parliament. Before the bill goes to the house for its second reading the supporters of Mr. Gladstone will endeavor to obtain his consent to an amendment providing that thirty or forty delegates be elected by the Irish parliament to vote on questions which affect Imperial taxation. If this amendment is effected the may be withdrawn.

Among the Parnellites themselves the feature of the bill which provides for exclusion from Westminster and the financial features are received with very great dissatisfaction and will experience uncompromising resistance.

This afternoon's Pall Mall Gazette says the opinion is growing that the opposition to Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule scheme will be insurmountable. The opponents of the measure, the Gazette says, expect hostility to it to increase until the Premier's Irish Land Purchase bill will be introduced, when "the storm of public disapproval

WILL OVERWHELM THE MINISTRY."

But, continues the paper, the opposition may be counting without their host, as the ministers can avert the storm in the land purchase proposals by asserting the imperial authority over the statutory parliament and by abandoning other objectionable parts of the present scheme.

NOTES.

The opposition of the Scotch members is increasing in bitterness.

The scheme as it is at present stands is said to be unsatisfactory even to the Nationalists.

Among the avowed opponents to Mr. Gladstone's scheme in the Liberal press are: The Spectator, Pall Mall Gazette, Echo, Scotsman, and Manchester Guardian.

Cardinal Manning has expressed himself in opposition to that feature of Mr. Gladstone's bill which excludes Irish representatives from sitting at Westminster.

The Orangemen of Armagh made a public demonstration Saturday against Mr. Gladstone's proposals. They adopted resolutions denouncing the premier and declaring their allegiance to the empire.

Lord Churchill, who opens the debate tonight, wants the Marquis of Hartington to take a bold stand as the leader of a national party of Liberals, and try to form a government if Mr. Gladstone is defeated.

Prominent Irishmen at Washington propose to get up two mammoth albums for presentation to Messrs. Gladstone and Parnell containing the opinions of all the United States press on the home rule scheme.

The scheme was roundly denounced at Brooks' club (a Liberal institution) on Friday night, leading Liberals characterizing it as a plan to establish a national vestry in Dublin to transact the business of the parish in Ireland.

The effect of the proposals upon business has not been very encouraging. Merchants and traders in Dublin and Belfast especially regard the measure with impatience and dread. Prices on the stock exchanges are depressed, especially the quotation of Bank of Ireland stock, which has fallen a sovereign a share. The bank is largely a creditor on mortgages of Irish estates.

An old whip makes the following prediction regarding the first test vote on the scheme: Six hundred and twenty-six members will divide, some liberal abstainers and pairs, thus reducing the vote from the full 670. For the scheme, 86 Parnellites, with 240 Liberals, making 326. Against the scheme, 240 Tories and 60 voting followers of Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain, thus making a majority of 28.

Lord Hartington concluded his speech on Friday night by exclaiming: "I believe that now, at all events, the people of this country will require that their representatives shall, in relation to Irish affairs, agree to sink all minor differences, and unite as one man to hand down to our successors the great empire compact and complete as we inherited it from our forefathers." The Tories did not fail to put a world of meaning into this invitation. There were hats waved by the Liberals when he sat down.

The British Home Rule Association, of which Earl Ashburnham is President, is receiving numerous adhesions, and has become a powerful element in popular politics. The Association is preparing to make a vigorous campaign throughout the country to advocate Mr. Gladstone's bill. Lord Ashburnham is a Liberal-Conservative, and is a member of most of the exclusive aristocratic clubs, where he has been boycotted since he adopted the advocacy of Home Rule for Ireland.

A three-year-old daughter of Thos. Johnston, Melnethon, while playing wither brothers got one hand in the gearing of a cutting box. Child-like she reached out the other hand to disengage the fingers that were being crushed, and got both hands badly mangled.

The Lacrosse Lads.

Held Their Annual Meeting—Elect Their Officers and Organize for the Season.

The Secretary's Report Submitted.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club was held in the Little Windsor hotel last night. There were about thirty members present, and the enthusiasm manifest gave augury of the operations in connection with this live sport, being prosecuted with unusual vigor during the coming season.

Mr H. Lebrun, President, occupied the chair, and called the meeting to order, when Mr. G. H. Giroux Secretary, read the following report:

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

To the President, Committee, and Members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club.

GENTLEMEN,—It not being a custom heretofore for your Secretary to bring down a full report of the proceedings of the club, I thought it would be beneficial to do so this year, and I think I might say that the same should be done every year, so as to give the public, as well as the club, an idea of the amount of business transacted for the management of a first class club. Of course as in all other business there are two ways of managing a club—one way being successful and the other unsuccessful. In this respect I am proud to say the P. L. C. has always been very successful, this I might say being due to the carefulness of the club in choosing its best men for its management, and I must say that too much praise cannot be given to our President, Mr. H. LeBrun, who has so worthily filled the position since 1880. But gentlemen, I am very sorry to report that it is his intention to withdraw from the presidency for this season, as he has stated to me that "he would like to see some other gentleman of our town fill the position," but he says he is "willing at all times to give us a generous and helping hand," and I think I am safe in saying the same will be most gratefully accepted.

Now with reference to the clubs management of last season, I will give you a short synopsis. In the year 1884 a great many complaints were made by clubs visiting our town about the smallness of the field in Ashburnham which we used to play on, and something had to be done to overcome this evil, so it was proposed to grade a new ground in the Driving Park, when something like three hundred dollars was spent in fitting it up. When completed it was pronounced one of the finest lacrosse grounds in Ontario. But I am sorry to say to say that the investment was not altogether a paying one. This is easily explained. First. The distance to the grounds (which is about a mile) being too great, and secondly, the charges asked by the hackmen being too high; therefore, it could not be expected that the public would take the same interest in the game as in previous seasons, when our old grounds were a great deal nearer to the town. With this in view, it will be necessary for the club to try and lease a ground nearer to the town, and I think that the Riverside Park will meet all the requirements of the club if this ground is secured and the club practices a little more diligently than they did last season, there will not be so many defeats to record against it as there was last season.

I will now give you a statement of the number of matches played last season, showing the number of victories and defeats:—

Peterborough vs. Toronto "Mutuals"—Peterborough, 3; opponents, 0.

Peterborough vs. Beaverton "Checkers" (for the Central Ontario championship)—Peterborough, 0; opponents, 3.

Peterborough vs. "Toronto"—Peterborough, 2; opponents, 2.

Peterborough vs. Ottawa "Metropolitans"—Peterborough, 0; opponents, 3.

Peterborough vs. Brampton "Excelsiors"—Peterborough, 0; opponents, 3.

Peterborough vs. "St. Pauls." U.S.—Peterborough, 3; opponents, 0.

Peterborough vs. Beaverton "Checkers" (for the Central Ontario championship)—Peterborough, 3; opponents, 0.

Peterborough vs. "Cannington's"—Peterborough, 3; opponents, 1.

Peterborough vs. Richmond Hill (for the Provincial championship and flag)—Peterborough, 0; opponents, 3.

You will see by the above record that we played nine matches during the past season, losing four, winning four, and one being drawn.

I shall now proceed to give you a statement of the receipts and expenditures that have been incurred during the past year.

The total cash receipts amounted to $1,058.53, and the expenditure was $1,134.44, leaving a deficit of $75 91. Now, with reference to this deficit I wish to say a few words. There are four items which appear therin that we did not have to contend with in previous seasons, viz.:

1st. We had to meet a deficit of 1884 amounting to $57.

2nd. It was thought profitable to insure the team against accidents, which was done at a cost of $28. With reference to this expenditure, in my opinion, the money might have been put to better use.

3. On account of the distance to go to practice, it was necessary to have a team to draw the club to the grounds, costing in all over $102, and at no time during the whole season was this benefit partaken of, as no more than six or seven of the first twelve was ever seen at practice during the whole season, the result of this being quite visible at the different matches.

4th. Our ground rent was a great deal higher than previous years, the total being $115, or $55 more than heretofore, making in all a total of $242. The conclusion that I draw from this statement of expenditures is that if we had not sunk our money in the Driving park, we would have at present a snug surplus of about $150. In conclusion, I might say that if the club secures the Riverside park, it will be in a position to devote a great deal more time to practice, which is essential to the success of any undertaking. I beg to thank the president and committee for the able manner in which they assisted me in my duties, and trust whoever may be appointed my successor, it being my intention to retire, will have the same assistance which has been rendered to me.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

G. H. GIROUX,
Hon. Sec. Treas. P. L. C.

On motion the report was adopted.

Mr. J. O'Meara and W. Radkins were appointed auditors of accounts.

Mr. H. LeBrun spoke briefly in defence of the driving park scheme, claiming that in a few years the grounds would not be too distant, and it was at present acknowledged to be one of the best lacrosse grounds in Canada. This year the club would endeavor to secure the Riverside Park, and he hoped the members would be attentive to practice and begin as soon as possible. He advised the ingrafting of new blood, pointing to the "Montreals" whose new players showed the best play in Canada last season. He concluded by wishing that in time and his position to take any office this year, but he would continue to do all in his power toward advancement of the club's interest.

Mr. O'Meara, one of the delegates who attended the Toronto convention, reported that the convention was a very successful one and had disposed of business to the entire satisfaction of the Peterborough deputation. The Orillia team refusing to press their claim for the Central Ontario Championship, the honor was conferred on Peterborough, where it belonged. Mr. H. LeBrun had presided over the deliberations of the convention with the utmost satisfaction, and had he chosen, would have been re-elected. The following officers were elected for the N. A. L. A. for the current year: President, Dr. Geurin, Montreal; 1st Vice-President, R. R. Hamilton, Toronto; 2nd Vice-President, Dr. Allen, Cornwall; Secretary-Treasurer, W. J. Cleghorn, Montreal. Through the exertions of Mr. H. LeBrun, he found himself a member of the Council, in which position he would employ every legitimate means to further the interests of the club.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing season:—

HON. PRESIDENT—Mr. R. A. Morrow.
HON. VICE-PRESIDENTS—Mr. H. LeBrun.
PRESIDENT—Mr. H. Calcutt.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—Mr. J. O'Meara.
2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—Mr. W. A. Sanderson.
SECRETARY-TREASURER—Mr. G. H. Giroux.
CAPTAIN—Mr. W. Radkins.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Messrs. W. H. Scott, J. Sheehy, M. McDonnell, H. Neil and F. Fairn.

Mr. H. Calcutt, W. A. Sanderson and J. Sheehy were appointed a committee to wait upon Mr. John Burnham to make arrangements for securing the Riverside Park for grounds

On motion of Mr. O'Meara seconded by Mr. Calcutt, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. H. LeBrun, the retiring president.

In seconding the motion Mr. Calcutt made a short speech in praise of the retiring president and promised to follow in his footsteps if possible. He had given a cup to the club to be played for with a view of adding to the funds of the club and he hoped it would be the means of inciting the interest of the boys.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. G. H. Giroux, for his efficient services, and also to the reporters for their assistance in bringing the club's actions before the public.

After partaking of the liberality of the President elect the meeting adjourned.

Russia's Domineering Policy.

LONDON, April 12.—A despatch received from the Afghan frontier, via Teheran, states that a serious rupture has occurred between the British and Russian members of the International Commission, which is engaged in fixing the northern boundary of Afghanistan according to the agreement made between Lord Salisbury and M. DeGiers in 1885. The despatch states that the disagreement is so serious as to have brought the work of the commission to a standstill until the cause of the dispute shall have been passed upon by the British and Russian Governments, to which the subject has been reported by the respective commissions. Gen. Ridgeway points out and hostility on the part of Russian officers. When any concession has to be made by either of the two parties it had always to be made by the British. At every point where a difference of opinion arose the Russians said, "This is our plan and according to our orders; we cannot recede from it. If you concur we can proceed with our work. If you refuse then work must stop." It is evident from to-day's despatches that the present rupture has been caused in this way.

A GROWING ATTITUDE OF PROVOCATION

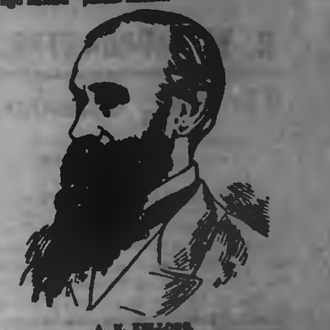
An Original Man and the Founder of Auxiliary Printing.

At Tonawanda, Ga., there died quietly last week A. N. Kellogg, a man who did much to revolutionize the newspaper business of this country. Co-operation, wherever it has been faithfully tried, has been found to be the infallibly cure of most knotty problems that vex man, on of most knotty problems that vex humanity. Men generally by simply hanging together. A. N. Kellogg led the way for the co-operative publishing of the smaller newspapers, and did well for them and became a millionaire himself, by the operation.

He was the founder of what he himself called the system of "auxiliary printing," but which irreverent newspaper wits long ago named "patent insides."



A. N. KELLOGG.

When the war broke out, in 1861, Mr. Kellogg was editor and publisher of a small country paper in Wisconsin, The Baraboo Republic. His printer enlisted one day, and left him without a typesetter. The chances was that he would be unable to get his paper out on the publishing day. He cast hurriedly about him to know what to do, as the time was short. The Madison Daily Journal published a weekly supplement in addition to its regular sheet, and in his dilemma it occurred to Mr. Kellogg that he could buy an edition of these supplements, fold them in with his own paper, and send the double sheet out to his subscribers. He had that week a half sheet of his own paper. This was done.

Next it occurred to Mr. Kellogg that this might be done every week, and that the sheet might come to him printed on one side, leaving the other to be filled in and printed in his own office. This too was done. When he saw how much time, labor and expense were saved by this plan, the next link in the chain of new ideas came to him. He would print a sheet of newspaper upon one side, filling it with choice reading matter, and sell it to country editors who had been harassed as he had been. Hence arose the patent 'outside,' and Mr. Kellogg's fortune was made. The matter was sold to only one newspaper in a place, so there could be no conflict. The idea started in Chicago and spread like wildfire. Other and greater improvements have been made in the direction of newspaper co-operation since, but to him the credit of its founding belongs.

At this time nearly five thousand newspapers in this country use "ready prints," on Mr. Kellogg's plan, and of these more than one-third are supplied from the Kellogg houses, which are located in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Memphis, Cincinnati and Cleveland. This system has also been introduced in England, though has never taken deep root there.

Mr. Kellogg was born March 20, 1839, at Reading, Pa., and graduated in 1860 from Columbia college, New York city. He was the son of Frederick Kellogg, and the youngest of six children. He married Annie M. Barnes at Baraboo, Wis., Aug. 31, 1860.

He was generous and kindly in nature, warmly devoted to his family, earnest even in his animosities and true and steadfast to his friends.

He had great executive ability, and was a remarkable mathematician. His fortune was seriously impaired by the great Chicago fire; but he went to work with characteristic energy and enthusiasm and more than regained all lost ground. Mr. Kellogg was of delicate physique, and in his later years an invalid. Few men of weak bodies have accomplished so much. He travelled extensively in Europe with his family in the vain search for the health which he so much coveted. While in Chicago he was a regular attendant at Professor Swing's services, and on his removal to New York he allied himself with the Episcopal church. In politics he was Republican, having identified himself with that party at its organization. His life was one of unusual rectitude and purity, and his daily walk was a constant example to those with whom he came in contact. He leaves a wife and two adult daughters, with whom he lived a life of great felicity, and the close attention given by them to his every want undoubtedly prolonged his life. His remains were taken to New York for interment.

PARLIAMENTERY TOPICS.

(Correspondence Hamilton Times.)

OTTAWA, April 12.—The Tory Government have just shown their anxiety to maintain the rights of the English-speaking minority in Quebec Province by appointing French-Canadian Tories to the four vacant Superior Court judgeships, although two of the deceased judges were English-speaking, Judge MacDougall being a Scotch Protestant and Judge McCord an Irish Catholic. These are the men who pretend to be anxious to uphold the rights of the English-speaking minority in Quebec Province! H. O. Pelletier, a prominent Tory heeler, succeeds Judge Mousseau; Speaker Wurtelle succeeds Judge MacDougall, Mr. Jules Larue succeeds Judge McCord, and Mr. J Alphonz Ouimet, cousin and partner of the member for Laval, gets Judge Rainville's place. This latter appointment probably accounts for the persistency with which Lieut.-Col Ouimet has stuck to the Government. He talks about finding it hard to abandon his party, but he found no difficulty in abandoning his regiment when in the Northwest.

There is no truth whatever in the story telegraphed from Ottawa to some American journals and reproduced with elaboration by the Manitoba papers, to the effect that a certain well-known civil servant had brought an action for divorce against his wife with a certain Minister of the Crown and Knight as co-respondent. No such proceedings for divorce have been taken or contemplated. The Minister whose name is involved is doing his utmost to discover the authors of the story.

During the discussion on the Picton Railway Bill on Friday night, Mr. Hackett (a Tory) argued that the Government should build the Railway because its construction would furnish employment to a large number of laborers. What a fine argument! Upon the same grounds why not build a parallel line all along the route of the Canadian Pacific Road?

The Select Committee appointed to examine Mr. Charlton's Bill providing for the punishment of seduction and like offences met this morning and amended the Bill in many important particulars. It was found that some of the offences which were proposed to create were already provided for by law.

It seems that Sir John Macdonald has appointed Messrs. Hesson, Orton and Sproule to represent the socialistic and communistic element of the Tory party, and with that view, these parties have been airing their views upon finance, property rights, personal liberty, etc. Mr. Orton proposes to defy common and statute law by assaulting every man who differs from him in politics and whom he thinks he can thrash. Mr. Hesson calls himself a Tory, and possibly thinks he is one, while his speeches indicate that he belongs to a most dangerous type of socialism, one who would revolutionize the whole property laws of the country if he had his way. He now wants to establish an irredeemable currency, and the Government hesitate to interfere with him, because he has told them that it is a good scheme to catch votes.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Welland Tribune pertinently remarks: Diamonds and coal are said to be formed of somewhat similar substances differently compounded in nature's alchemy. And yet our customs laws make a distinction. Diamonds are admitted free into the country, whilst coal is taxed 50 to 60 cents a ton. That is one way our benevolent N. P., John A. Government assists and encourages the working-men.

British Columbia has a mild popular revolution. The people are not hanging their legislators in propria persona, but in effigy. The Legislature, just before adjourning, passed a bill prohibiting all companies chartered under an Act of the Local Parliament from employing Chinese on their works. Among the companies is the Canadian Pacific railway, which proposed to build a branch line to New Westminster. As soon as it was apprised of the anti-Chinese bill the company refused to build the line. The people rose in their wrath Monday night, hanged the members of the Legislature in effigy, and afterward burned the figures.

What Does it Mean?

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every locality in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, of UNIVERSAL use. An agent having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every locality he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in the saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. ANY agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in that time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like to go more sensible and work them through paid agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

It taxed our utmost capacity to wait upon our Customers all day yesterday, and we are determined there shall be no let up as long as we can get such extraordinary bargains for our patrons. The backward season is the cause of it and the Manufacturers are determined to reduce and close out their stock. Within the last two weeks we have bought many lines of goods at less than cost of production—among the first arrivals are Short Pant Suits for Children from 4 to 14 years of age at $1.75, 2.00, 2.50, 3.00, 4.00 and 5.00. Each and every suit is well worth from $1.50 to $3.50 more than the price we are selling them for. A large number of them are of the very latest styles. If your child does not need a suit just yet, buy one for future use—Suits for Boys 9 to 18 years of age, $3.50, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, also of our late purchases among which will be found some choice selections of patterns. The low prices we have put upon them cannot fail to impress the customer of their cheapness and the poorest judges of Clothing can see at a glance that our BOYS and CHILDREN'S SUITS are much below their real value.

Our Magnificent Stock of Men's Clothing,

Too much cannot be said in praise of it. Its merits are of so decided a character that they will stand much repeating; it is in size the largest ever placed upon the Counters of any Store in Peterborough, and in variety of style the most complete, while in reliability, thoroughness of workmanship, perfection of finish, the goods cannot be surpassed by any House in the Country. How about a SPRING SUIT for Yourself, your Boys or Children. If you have not bought them yet, certainly now is your time. The immense trade we are having in our Mens', Boys and Children's Departments proves the assertion that the "Ides of March" witnessed in Peterborough the revolution in prices of Clothing, promised by

BANKERS—Bank of Toronto and Canadian Bank of Commerce.

SOLICITORS—Dumble & Henry.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $500 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $800,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

Died.

He died at dawn in his lonely tower,
A priest at the left, a priest at the right;
The drowsy nuns sprang for his pitiless hour,
And each priest holding a long slim light
To pray for the soul of the dying.
And Windsor Castle was far away;
And Windsor Castle was never so gay
With her gorgeous banners flying.

The hero was hung in the windy dawn—
'Twas splendidly done the telegraph said;
A creak of the rope, then the shoulders drawn;
A heave of the breast—and the man was dead.
And oh! never such valiant dying!
And Windsor Castle was never so gay
With its fops and its fools on that windy day,
And its thousand banners flying.

Some starving beings where a stark stream flows,
'Twixt windy banks by an Indian town;
A frenzied mother in the freezing snows;
While soft the pitying snow crowned frown
To cover the dead and the dying.
But Windsor Castle steamed never so gay
She was sowing red dragon's' teeth that day;
While God's four winds swept dying.

—Rudyard Kipling.

THE OLD MAN'S DARLING.

Mabel Marsden's fortune was made, so she congratulated herself as she gazed exultantly upon the diamond ring which Col. Holdeck had placed upon her finger. The wedding was a quiet one. St. Alban's had never seen a lovelier bride nor a happier groom; and when, after a month's travel, the couple took possession of their luxurious home, Mabel again congratulated herself upon the brilliancy of her fortune. Her highest dreams were meeting with fulfilment. She entered into her new life with all the zest of her fresh young spirit, glorying in the beauty that had purchased her pleasures, and leaving nothing undone that could enhance her loveliness.

Time wore on, and not even the shadow of weariness appeared to cloud the young wife's spirits. No gayety was proposed which did not tempt her participation, and no temptation met with resistance.

"We have been married nearly three years, Mabel," he said to her one evening, "and in all that time I have been but a slave at your bidding. It is true I am more than twice your age, but I became your husband fondly believing that in your love my heart would regain its youthfulness, and that you would find comfort, find happiness in being an old man's darling. That I have been disappointed I freely acknowledge; that you have been I can but infer. I realize now the vanity of the hope which led me to unite old age with youth, since our tastes are so dissimilar. What I have to say to you, however, is this—that I desire you to relinquish, in a measure, those frivolities which are separating us so surely and so utterly!"

Mabel looked for a moment into his face, and said: "Suppose I do not desire to renounce those pleasures which you seem to condemn so heartily?"

"Then I shall resort to that authority which, as your husband, is vested in me."

"And if I do not choose to submit to that authority?"

"That is not a question to be discussed between us!" he exclaimed, emphatically, now thoroughly aroused. "I am master of this house, as you will find to your cost! That you have never cared for me, except as the representative of the wealth which purchases your pleasures, is too plain a case to admit of argument. But there is one thing of which you must rest assured; while you bear my name it must remain as unsullied as when you received it! I do not wish you to regard me as a brute, nor yet as a tyrant, but this continual dissipation must now cease! You may retire if you please."

"Thank you for the privilege," she returned, sarcastically. "I shall not retire, however, until this question is definitely settled! That I do not love you, Col. Holbeck, you seem to be well aware. I married you because I was dazzled by those visions of splendor which you placed before my eyes, and I sighed for them as those who travel in sandy deserts thirst for water. Fashion and society are my idols. I shall not give them up without a struggle, you may rest assured. Good-night!" she added, turning from him and leaving the room with the air of an empress.

Col. Holbeck, stunned by her profession, buried his face in his hands.

"She shall have her own way!" he suddenly stoically resolved. "If she married me, as she says, for my wealth, she shall not be cheated in the bargain. She shall enjoy her full freedom unmolested while I live, and my wishes hereafter shall remain untold."

* * * * *

Four years passed away, and then the end of it all came. Mabel was sitting alone in her elegant drawing-room, whence a hundred guests had just departed when Col. Holbeck entered hastily and drew a chair to her side. She gathered her trailing robes of amber satin more closely about her, as if fearing contamination. He noticed the movement and exclaimed, apologetically: "I vowed years ago, Mabel, that I never would again, by word or look, detract from your happiness, and faithfully, until now, have I kept that vow. This, however, is a perilous moment for both of us and must account for this intrusion. I have a communication to make which will startle you. I am a bankrupt, Mabel—a bankrupt!"

"A bankrupt!" she exclaimed, hoarsely. "Are you in earnest?"

"Yes, in terrible, terrible earnest, as to-morrow's proceedings will show! For your sake, I regret it. You worship wealth and position, you told me once, and I have never forgotten it! God knows I pity you!"

"What are we to do?" she asked, brokenly; for, try as she might, the tears would not be repressed.

"I do not know," he answered, vaguely. "The tidings reached me but a few hours ago, and since then I have thought of nothing but how I should tell you of it without breaking your heart. You will doubtless reproach me for not providing against this contingency when we were married; but I did not know then that you sold yourself to me! I thought that you loved me a little, notwithstanding the disparity of years between us."

He ceased speaking and abruptly left the room. Mabel ascended to her chamber and sank into an easy-chair which stood before the fire. She folded her white, jeweled hands in her lap, and thought over the events of the past few years.

"What a vain, profitless life I have lived!" she murmured, regretfully. "What have I contributed by it? Not even myself. And with the abundant means I have wasted how much good I might have done. It is not too late to retrieve myself, and I will," she added, resolutely. "I cannot recall the past, but I can at least prove to my husband that I am not dead to all sense of honor and shame."

Col. Holbeck was not present at the table, and to the servant who waited on him he said: "Excuse me to your mistress, and bring me a cup of coffee. I wish nothing else."

"I will carry it to him myself," said Mabel when she received the message, and a few moments later she entered the library where he was sitting. "Can I assist you?" she said, softly, as she deposited the unique silver breakfast service at his side.

He had not noticed her presence before. He hastily glanced into her face and the blood rushed in his eyes.

"I do not know whether you can or not," he said, almost wildly. "My brain is in a whirl. These papers"—pointing to heaps on his other hand—"represent all I possessed. I have been here all night, Mabel, and my conviction, after a thorough investigation, is that we are almost beggars!"

"You must rest now, at any rate," she said, gently, "and when you have drank your coffee we will talk our misfortunes over."

She turned off the gas, which still burned brilliantly, and drew aside the heavy curtains, admitting sunlight into the room.

Not until then did she notice the change that had taken place in her husband's appearance. He was worn and haggard and his whole frame trembled as with an ague. Mabel sat down near him, and leaning her arms upon the table, looked into his face.

"You are too easily discouraged!" she exclaimed with emotion.

"I comprehend our situation more fully than you do," he replied, gloomily.

"Of the business details I am, of course, ignorant," she answered; "but they do not alter nor affect the fact which so intimately concerns us."

"You realize it all, then, and yet your heart is not broken?" he gasped.

"You refer to a conversation that passed between us years ago?" she inquired, a red flush mantling her cheek.

"Yes: you told me that you would not care to live bereft of society and wealth! That remembrance has been the bitterest drop in this bitter, bitter cup."

"Forget it!" she exclaimed, passionately. "Forget that I was ever so unwomanly, so ungrateful! Our married life so far has proved a failure, but there is time enough to redeem it."

Col. Holbeck could scarcely believe that he had heard aright.

"Although I have proved recreant to the trust you once reposed in me, I am worthier to-day to be your wife than I was on our bridal morning. If you will only esteem me again as you once did, you shall never have cause to regret it!"

Col. Holbeck gathered her to his heart and pressed his lips to her forehead.

There were but a few thousands left of all the colonel's vast estate, but there was enough to enable them to live in ease and retirement; and Mabel was only too pleased to show by her future conduct that, after all, she was not so heartless and selfish as she had pretended, or even imagined.

Vanderbilt's Love of Speed.

The deceased millionaire could never in life be carried fast enough through the air. He had locomotives built expressly for speed for his private use. When he went on one of his "flyers" he had a special engineer for the occasion, and he has frequently made the fastest time ever made upon an American railway. On May 8, 1884, he passed through Dayton, Ohio, in his special car for Cincinnati, and made pretty fast time. The train consisted of two coaches, and ran a distance of seventy-four miles in sixty-four minutes. It ran from Dayton to Hamilton, according to telegraphic instructions, a distance of thirty-five miles, in thirty-six minutes. This train made the entire trip between Detroit and Cincinnati, 263 miles, over the Canada Southern, Dayton and Michigan and Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton lines, in five hours and thirty minutes—an average of 50.7 miles an hour. A number of stops were made, and engines were changed three times, at Toledo, Lima and Dayton. The train was run through all cities at a rate of speed complying with the ordinances of the city. It was estimated that in some places the train traveled a mile in from forty-eight to fifty-two seconds, and Mr. Vanderbilt was heard to say often since that he didn't go half fast enough.

Arizona as a Live-Stock Country.

Although possessing the necessary elements for raising live stock of all classes, cattle predominate in our territory, says a Prescott paper, over all other kinds. This will no doubt be the case for some time to come, but while the cattle are multiplying very fast, there can be no question that the horse, sheep, and hog industry is receiving more attention daily and gaining ground with the same, if not more, speed than other branches of commerce. However, the production of live stock of the latter description does not attract the attention which the favorable sources Azisona extends should receive. For raising blooded horses or hogs no more favorable place could be found in any state or territory in the union than the Salt river valley. Here feed of all kinds can be raised at little expense, and the climate is such as to warrant the health of stock. Alfalfa, the grass of which so much has been written lately, grows with almost unprecedented rapidity, and as fodder for hogs its equal can not be found, these animals succeeding entirely on this, and growing fat. Arizona as a shipper of cattle is yet in her infancy compared with the balance of the future. The major portion of the cattlemen of this territory are men who started in business with comparatively nothing, but by economy, industry, and enduring great hardships they are fast reaching the top round of the ladder of success, and as a consequence Arizona may fairly now be counted among the best producers of the world.

Two Good Reasons

Why our Millinery Show Rooms ought to be filled open all this week:

First—The weather in the early part of the week was unfavourable.

Second—The last days' openings were so successful that the crowds had not sufficient time to inspect our GRAND DISPLAY.

VERDICT PRONOUNCED:

Millinery Beautiful,
Assortment Complete,
Prices Correct.

We will continue our Millinery Opening until further notice.

JAMES ALEXANDER.

The Daily Examiner.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

Ebonite Gloss.

Ebonite Gloss makes old boots look bright and new. Try it. Only to be had at Foot & McWhinnie's.

Bridge Improvement.

Street and Bridge Inspector Wilson had a staff of men at work repairing the Simcoe street bridge this morning. The bridge will be raised several inches and toned up generally.

Millinery Opening.

We continue our grand millinery opening until Saturday, and we cordially invite a visit from those who could not make it convenient to be present during our first opening days.

R. FAIR.

Enlarged Till Tuesday Next.

Long before the police court opened this morning, a couple of hundred men assembled around the station waiting till the door was opened. They crowded into the court room and were disgusted when they found that the docket consisted of one drunk, the bigamy case having been enlarged till Tuesday next.

The Crop Promise.

A medical gentleman, who drives about forty miles in the country almost every day, and who is also an amateur farmer of considerable extent, reports the wheat crop to be in first-class condition, and with promise of great yield. The season has been exceedingly favourable, and the rain of Monday and Monday night has put on the "cap sheaf." The meadows are looking well also, not having been injured by the frost. The mud crop is at present something tremendous.

"A Stitch in Time."

Now that house-cleaning has begun, you can have any furniture that is out of repair or that wants re-upholstering attended to promptly. A. Clegg will send his express for any such and return the articles when repaired. He will also send men to remove your carpets, have them well cleansed and put down again. This will be a boon to housekeepers, who have no place suitable for shaking and beating carpets.

Retiring from Active Lacrosse.

Lacrosse players and friends of the game will regret to learn that Mr. H. LeBrun intends to retire from active participation in the game this season. Still, he will continue to take a moral interest in the sport. Mr. LeBrun has done more than any one man to promote the interests of the game of Lacrosse in this town, and the victories of the club are largely due to the encouragement, both moral and substantial, which he has exercised. His expected absence from town renders his active personal participation in lacrosse matters impossible the coming season.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held on Monday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. hall. The President, Miss Sanderson, occupied the chair. The meeting opened with the usual devotional exercises. It was decided to offer three prizes to the high and common schools for the best essay on temperance, to be given at the June closing. Communications were received from Mrs. Chisholm and Mr. Schiveras. Mrs. J. W. Flavelle was appointed to fill the position of Treasurer. The membership list was enlarged by the addition of several new names. The meeting closed in the usual way.

The Free Baking School.

The agents of Fleischmann & Co's compressed yeast, who have taken possession of the premises under the Parlor Roller Rink on Water street, where they give gratis lessons in baking with their yeast, are becoming most popular. The ladies flock to the premises to learn the art of baking bread, buns, doughnuts, pancakes, etc., with Fleischmann's yeast, while young gentlemen frequent the rooms seeking what they may devour, and, what they can't devour, carry off. The astonishing rapidity with which some slim, long, lean, lanky-looking men can stow away pancakes is almost incredible, especially when they have an overcoat with the large pockets. These agents, skilled in art of baking with Fleischmann's yeast, will remain in town for several days longer giving free lessons and free feeds. A cordial invitation is given to the ladies, while the gentlemen will come as usual. The rooms are open from 9 o'clock a. m. till 9 p. m. It is unnecessary to puff the gratuitous of these skilled bakers—the yeast does it.

New Spanish Cut.

Spring and summer boots and shoes now opened out at Foot & McWhinnie's. See them, they are sure to please.

Spring Wrap.

For a garlant fitting dolman or wrap, try Miss Gilchrist, artistic dress and mantlemaker, at the Golden Lion.

Nothing Like It.

Nothing like Ebonite Gloss for kid boots, shoes and slippers. It will not crack the leather. Only to be had at Foot & McWhinnie's.

Real Estate.

Lots in the north end of the town; all prices and terms; money advanced to build. Bryson & Delaney, Real Estate Agents. Office, opposite Oriental hotel.

Young Men's Bible Study.

The Rev. F. H. Wallace, M.A., will take charge of the young men's class for Scripture study in the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening. All men are invited to attend.

Notice to Parents.

I have 80 pairs of Boys' Lace Boots that will be sold less than the cost. Men, now is the time to get your boots for your boys. All kinds of boots selling less than cost to make room for hand-made goods. JOHNSTON CAREY.

"Love Conquers."

We shall present in the columns of our Thursday issue, the opening chapters of the charming story, "Love Conquers." It will be continued from day to day till completed. Be sure and secure the opening chapters.

Grand Opening.

The Lansdowne Roller skating rink will be opened to the public this evening. The floor is in prime condition, and devotees of the rollers will find everything in first-class order. The band will be in attendance.

Migratory Movements.

Mr. Jas. Lackie and Mr. H. Armour left town for Brandon to-day by the C.P.R.

Mr. J. Leahy left town to-day for St. Paul, via C. P. R. and connections.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, of the up-town C. P. R. Agency, supplied the tickets.

The Gun Club.

The Gun Club met for practice yesterday afternoon. Owing to the unfavorable state of the weather the scores on the average were not as good as usual. R. Tivey led the score, popping 6 birds out of 8. The following are the scores made:

R. Tivey	1 1 1 0 1 1 0 1—6
H. Calcutt	0 0 0 0 1 0 1 0—2
J. Z. Rogers	0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1
C. H. Castle	1 0 0 1 0 1 1 1—5
Geo. Orde	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—1
H. Neil	0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1—2
D. Cameron	0 1 0 0 1 0 0 0—
W. H. Kent	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—1
M. McFadden	1 1 1 0 1 0 0 0—4

If the weather is favorable on Monday next, the much talked of match between Ashburnham and Peterborough, which has hung fire for a month or more will go off.

Raising the Fallen Engine.

An auxiliary wrecking gang on Sunday commenced the work of raising engine No. 638, thrown over the embankment on Tuesday last by colliding with a tree which fell across the track. The tender was raised to the rails not much the worse for its tumble, and hauled into town. The engine has been raised on jacks and will be hauled to the line probably the first of next week, on a siding laid for the purpose. The damages to the engine are nearly all superficial and are not as serious as at first expected. The cab, smoke stack, dome, bell, whistle, pilot and truck were knocked off during the iron horse's roll, leaving the bare boilers and drivers. It is expected that in a month or so the now helpless locomotive will come out of the shops as powerful as ever. The work of laying the siding to the engine is now going on.

Our New Styles.

At Smart's music store and sewing machine emporium, George street, will be found at present a full stock of sheet music, books, and all kinds of musical goods, including the latest musical publications, received as soon as issued. In the sewing machine department will be found beautiful new designs of the Williams and Domestic sewing machines. The former is provided with new nickle plated attachments and new woodwork, making them one of the completest and most elegant machines in the market. The "Domestics" has always taken the lead in the United States, fully justifying their motto—"The Star that Leads them All." Parties should try these machines (a trial doesn't cost anything) before buying inferior machines at higher figures. Save money by calling at Smart's Music Store and Sewing Machine Emporium, George street, Peterborough.

Personal.

Mr. Andrew Meneilley, a graduate of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company Works, left town this morning to resume his duties as engineer on a Georgian Bay steamer.

Mr. "Joe" Joyal, one of the solid men of Peterborough's first twelve, started for Boston last night, where he will play with the Boston club this season.

Messrs. Louis Mercier and Harry Taggart of Ashburnham, lately in the employ of the Ontario Canoe Company, left yesterday evening for Auburndale, near Boston, Mass. Mr. G. H. Stevenson, lately with the Ontario Canoe Company, and who for the past few months has been employed by Robertson & Sheldon, canoe builders of Auburndale, secured lucrative positions for his companions, which they go to fill.

The widows' and orphans' fund, from collections in the Anglican churches of Belleville, amounted to $2,542 last year.

News Nuggets.

Town, County, and District News Notes Told in a Line.

More cattle is coming.

The warm weather promises to continue.

Natural religion—just now, at any rate—bud-ism.

The seed crop is ripe for removal. Let it move.

Belleville Sons of England will attend church on Good Friday.

Can the Board of Health be called a sound plank in our civic platform?

Chancellor Boyd opened the chancery sittings at Cobourg yesterday.

President Calcutt is spoken of as goal for the first heaviest twelve this year.

His Worship handled the crank at the justice mill this morning.

Cox & Co., stock brokers, Toronto, will open a branch office in Port Hope this week.

Thieves broke into St. George's church, New Castle, and stole two silver communion vessels.

Belleville harbour was open April 12th, the earliest since 1877, when it was a week sooner.

There are nine tenders for the contract of building the new St. Michael's R.C. church, Belleville.

A small sized free fight occurred at an hotel last night. It will come to light later on.

The match committee of the cricket club took an innings yesterday afternoon, but did not score.

A portion of the cornice from the ceiling of the new Council Chamber gave away and fell to the floor.

Counterfeit two dollar notes are in circulation at Kingston. They are engraved and hard to detect.

There was a big crowd at the Police Court this morning, in expectation of a continuation of the Whiteman bigamy case.

It is remarkable that the N. P.—"constant work at high wages"—allows so many idle men to throng the Police Courts in working hours.

The lacrosse club is bound not to get out of breath—they have retained the services of a breezy solicitor to supply "wind."

Prof. Dorenwend, of Toronto, will be at Phelan's hotel for two days only, Wednesday and Thursday, April 21 and 22.

Messrs. Trent & Donnaught, managers of Fleischmann & Co's free baking school, Water street, "have got it down"—light.

Ex-President Harry LeBrun says the best expression of thanks he wants for his services to the club is that the boys win back the championship.

Mr. James Stevenson is laying down material for a handsome new brick tenement on Charlotte street, opposite Dr. Pigeon's office.

A local political economist says:—"The necessities of life are becoming dearer every day"—why not, with a good Tory Government piling on a fresh layer of taxes every session?

Mr. T. Spence, the temperance lecturer, will not visit Peterborough next Thursday. He has left for Nova Scotia, where the battle is raging.

Miss Kate Glassford, the actress, under the medical care of Dr. Kincaid and the careful nursing at the Nicholls hospital, is recovering.

The broken aspect of the Court House Park makes it a fitting place for the gothic design drinking fountain to be erected in memory of Capt. Brown.

The Campbell House hotel, Napanee, rents for exactly half of what it did before the Scott Act was adopted—$1,200 against $2,400.

As bad as the Orillias wanted the medal without winning it, they hadn't the assurance to ask for it—at the annual meeting of the Association.

Mr. James Stenson takes the lead in boulevarding. He has Mr. Dredge engaged putting down a boulevard on the Charlotte street front of Mrs. Whyte's property, corner of Rubidge street.

Police Court.

His Worship Mayor Stevenson occupied the bench at the Police Court this morning. Richard Smith, charged by P. C. Adams with being drunk in a public place, was arraigned before the court. He admitted the charge and pleaded that it was his first appearance in court. His Worship gave him some good advice, imposing a fee of $1, allowing the unfortunate Smith ten days to pay.

What Does it Mean?

From the Port Arthur Sentinel, Mar. 20, '86.

The following letter was received from a New York subscriber to-day:

"Madre E Hijo means Mother and Son. It is queer that a nineteenth century newspaper should ask such a question.

Yours &c.,
DON QUIXOTE.

N. Y., March 16th, 1886.

Gentlemen if you are bald or in want of a Wig or Toupee don't forget that Prof. Dorenwend of the Paris Hair Works will be at Phelan's Hotel on Wednesday and Thursday, April 21st and 22nd, with a large selection of hair goods; he makes a specialty of gents' Wigs and Toupees. They are as natural as ones own hair and give the best of satisfaction to those who are using them. This visit is at the special request of a number of his patrons; he will have the best of goods with him.

Miss M. C. Montague, Galloway, Fayette Co., Texas., suffered for years with a number of troubles incidental to females. Her life was miserable. Applied to Dr. Giles, whose remedies gave her instant relief. She is now enjoying good health, and has recommended a number of her friends to the Doctor for treatment, and all have experienced the same relief by using his Liniment Iodide Ammonia. Sold by John McKee. 486-eod-w14

Madre E Hijo,

What Does it Mean?

Ladies—Nothing so nice as a fine hand dress—go to Phelan's hotel, April 21 and 22, and procure something extra fine in styles of hair goods from Prof. Dorenwend.

Strictly True

In every respect and attested by the testimony of thousands that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a sure and painless cure for corns. The claim that it is just as good made by those endeavoring to palm off imitations for the genuine only proves the superiority of "Putnam's." Use only Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sure, safe painless. d86-6t-w15-1t

Horsemen, Attention!

When your horse is galled, scratched or cut, or has an ugly sore, bathe twice daily, and apply McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. It is undoubtedly the finest healing and cleansing application for it. Be sure you get McGregor & Parke's. Sold for 25c. per box, at John McKee's Drug store. d86-eod-w14

By Special Request of His Patrons,

Prof. Dorenwend, the enterprising hair goods manufacturer, of Toronto, has made arrangements to be in Peterborough for two days only, to enable those who could not see him on his last visit to procure what they required in his line. He will be at Phelan's hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, April 21st and 22nd. The selection he offers on this trip is larger than ever, and all should go and see his new styles of Reversible, Langtry and Parisian Bangs, Water Waves, Switches, Wigs, &c.

Keene.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Indian river here is nearly all open, and the main channel in Rice Lake is clear of ice.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Francis Johnston is at home again from his lecturing trip in the west.

Mr. Souci, a farmer east of this, has purchased the lot and old stove, etc., building on Main street, next Wm. McFarlane's and will reside there.

Mr. Bennett, a young Englishman lately out, who has been stopping with Mr. K. Mark, teacher, has engaged with Mr. Wm. Shearer to study Canadian farming, with the intention of purchasing land in another year or so and becoming one of us.

Mr. Wm. Plunkett, jr., of Otonabee, was married last week to Miss Maggie Plunkett. The young couple will reside on their farm at Havelock.

Mr. Peter McNeil is again seriously ill.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Last Thursday morning the people of Mather's corners and vicinity were shocked to learn that Mrs. Loomis, wife of Mr. Douglas Loomis, had shot herself with a revolver, in the region of the heart. A physician was summoned at once, when it was found that the ball had struck a rib, and glanced round into the flesh, making a considerable wound. The unfortunate lady gives no reason for her desperate act except that she "had to do it." She has a good home, a kind husband, and a sweet little child. But she lost two children in one day by death some time ago, and has been more or less melancholy ever since—in fact, has never wholly recovered from the terrible bereavement. She is now in a fair way of recovery, and her mother, Mrs. Carr, of Monaghan, will remain with her till she is able to resume her duties.

ROWDYISM.

Last Sunday six young men from the vicinity of Allandale came to Keene, and got enough liquor to make them forget their manhood so far as to make the Sabbath hideous with their actions. On their return to Allandale four of them entered the evening service of the English church in the hall there and so conducted themselves, disturbing the worship and acting more like escaped lunatics or wandering baboons than anything else, contrived to place themselves in a position before the respectable public that will not soon be forgotten or forgiven. A repetition of such doings will give their names to the EXAMINER for general use.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

A memorial service in remembrance of the late John B. Gough was instituted by the W. C. T. U., of this place, and held in the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon. Geo. Read, Esq., was called to the chair and in a short and terse speech explained clearly the object of the meeting, and gave honor to whom honor was due in the temperance movement in this locality. His speech was followed by music from the combined choirs of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, who delighted the audience from time to time, between the speeches and at the close, with melody such as has seldom been heard in this place. A professional gentleman remarked since, that the musical one was worth going a long way to hear.

Dr. Massie next gave a short synopsis of Gough's earlier life and general character, and was followed by Dr. Harrison, who clearly defined the influence exerted by the great champion of temperance, and in an attractive speech, held the undivided attention of the audience.

Mr. K. Mark then spoke at some length upon the topic of the hour—and was listened to with undisguised pleasure—his whole heart is with the work, and he impresses all with his earnest faith and thorough knowledge of the subject.

After a collection in aid of the funds of the W. C. T. U. had been taken up the meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mr. Mark. There was a large attendance.

LICENSES.

All the medical men of Keene, have signed a petition against the granting of a license to sell spirituous liquors in the locality under the Scott Act.

Young's Point.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

In a recent letter we stated that Mr. C. Young had purchased the steamer Fairy; it should have been Mr. P. Young.

The water is rapidly rising and is within about a foot of the highest point reached last spring.

During the storm on Tuesday of last week, the roof of Mr. P. Young's house took fire, but a few pails of water, quickly applied, quenched the blaze before much damage had been done.

Mr. C. Young's mills have shut down owing to the high water.

Mr. Thos. N. Lee has tendered his resignation as teacher of the public school here unless his salary is increased one hundred dollars. If our school trustees are alive to the interest of the school they will not allow Mr. Lee to give up his position on account of so reasonable a demand.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

ACCIDENT.

Last week during the severe storm which visited us, Mrs. Richard Hill noticed the stable door had blown open and was in danger of being forced from its hinges. As she approached to fasten it a sudden gust caught the door and dashed it against her, knocking her down. Her head struck a large stone, inflicting a severe wound and also bruising her severely on the body. Medical assistance was called in and she is doing as well as could be expected, though still very sore.

ARBOR DAY.

Arbor Day will soon be at hand. Our School Board have a nice little surplus on hand and cannot do better than invest some of it in young trees. Give the care of one each to the older pupils, and create an interest and rivalry among them as to whose tree will succeed the best. In the course of a few years the new barren school grounds would present such an improved appearance as would more than compensate for the expense and trouble. Our village in there might also encourage tree planting by passing a cow by-law, and, in ten years, Lakefield would be one of the prettiest villages in the Province, as we have all the natural advantages to make it so. All that is now wanted is handsome shade trees on our streets.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The regular meeting of the village Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, 12th April.

Present, the Reeve in the chair, and Messrs. Cox, McWilliams, Moore and Isbister.

Minutes of last regular and adjourned meetings read and confirmed.

Communications from the village solicitor, Provincial Board of Health and R. Hunter were received, and an anonymous letter was thrown out unread.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Cox, that the clerk be instructed to write to the clerks of the city of Toronto and town of Peterborough, and obtain a copy of their by-laws, governing the restrictions placed on users of steam power in regard to protection from fire, and that the clerk draw up a by-law embracing such clauses as will meet the requirements of this municipality. —Carried.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Moore, that the roadmaster be and is hereby instructed to notify all parties who are using any streets or sidewalks that have been opened for public travel, for the purpose of piling lumber, timber, wood, stone, brick or any other article, to have the same removed by the 1st May unless the parties so obstructing the streets shall obtain a permit from this council, and that in future the said roadmaster shall not allow anything to be piled on the street or sidewalks for a longer period than 24 hours, unless the person or persons so doing shall first have obtained a permit from this Council, and that the corporate seal be attached to this motion to give it the effect of a by-law. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Cox,—That the application of Mr. W. McDonald in regard to the Band fund be received and laid over until the next meeting of this Council. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cox, seconded by Mr. McWilliams,—That the clerk be instructed to order the necessary hose required for the fire engine immediately. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cox, seconded by Mr. McWilliams,—That the following accounts be paid and the Reeve's order do issue for the same, viz:—

W. H. Casement, lock for lockup	$ 1 50
David Smith, Spikes, work	1 07
Village Clerk, postage, telegraphing, &c.	2 54
Peter Baptie, lumber and porch at lockup	32 88
Isaac Watson, Sr., wages	3 37
Total	$42 36

Carried.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Moore,—That this Council do now adjourn to meet in two weeks from to-night, the 28th April. Carried.

FIRE.

On Saturday, shortly after noon, the church and mill bells rang out an alarm of fire, which was found to proceed from the cottage on Queen street, next to Mr. Dion's hotel, owned by Isaac Garbutt, sr., and occupied by Mr. F. Dinwoodie. Willing hands were soon on the roof, and with pails of water, aided by our small fire engines, after a short but hard fight, extinguished the flames. Had the fire once got the upper hand the best part of our village would have gone, as a stiff wind was blowing down the main street, and we have no appliances beyond the little hand engines. The fire is believed to have originated by a spark from the steam engine in the furniture factory adjoining, and which it has been prophesied would burn out the village before the year was out. Our council have taken the matter in hand and will place such restrictions as will at least lessen the danger, but the sooner the village procure a good steam fire engine or a system of water works the better for all concerned, as the loss in one day would more than pay for proper protection twenty times over.

DIVISION COURT.

His Honor Judge Weller will hold the Division Court in the Council Chamber on Thursday, the 15th inst., and the recount of the votes taken on the by-law will be held at the same place the following day, Friday, the 16th inst.

NAVIGATION.

The owners of the three steamers that were wintered here are all hard at work with paint pots, etc., getting their crafts in shape for the season's work, which, from all accounts, promises to be an improvement over former years both as regards freight and tourists. We trust the G. T. R. will see their way clear to give us extra train service during the coming summer, as it would prove a great boon, not only to the travelling public, but also to the people of Lakefield and back country.

HIGH WATER.

The water in the river is rising very fast and is now up to, if not over, the average high water level. The snow is still very deep in the woods in the back country and is full of water, so we may look for far higher water when the ice in the lakes breaks up. Then, "look out below."

Apsley.

From Our Own Correspondent.

There was a very high wind here on Tuesday last, with a little snow. Thomas Nesbitt, who resides in Chandos, six miles east of Apsley, had a big log barn blown down that he built last summer.

If this weather continues we shall be able to plough next week.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

To-day is the twenty-first anniversary of one of the most tragic events in the history of this continent—the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

The public debt of the Australian colonies has been increased by building railroads, all of which are owned by the colonies, and operated by them, too, at a profit; and they don't need to charge cotton waste and axle grease to capital account either.

The reports regarding Sir John Macdonald's health are again conflicting. On Monday it was reported that he would be in his place in the House during the afternoon, but another rumour is that his physician has ordered him to give up all attention to public affairs and to go south for a few months.

One of the most important changes proposed in the new Pacific railway resolutions is that providing that as soon as the railway is opened for traffic the directors of the company may become candidates for Parliament. Considering that the company are now represented in Parliament by a number of their employees, it is hard to see why they should seek additional representation unless they want to control the Parliament more completely than they do now.

The Globe points out that this is likely to be a year of many elections in Canada. A general election for the Dominion is expected. An election in Quebec is regarded as likely to take place within a few months. New Brunswick is now in the throes of a general provincial contest. Nova Scotia will probably follow suit before the close of the year. Manitoba is preparing for an election, and the British Columbia Legislature is in the last session of its present Parliament, and before this time next year the Ontario elections will probably be over. And generally the outlook for Toryism is not encouraging.

It is reported that Hon. T. W. Anglin will be requested to contest North Simcoe in the Liberal interest at the next general election. Mr. Dalton McCarthy will have to look to the security of his seat. His popularity has waned so perceptibly, that it is said he no longer considers North Simcoe safe for himself, and as the scandalous revelations in the Beaty-Woodworth job will make West Toronto rather hot for Mr. Beaty, Mr. McCarthy will probably make a try for the representation of this constituency. The Toronto Tory party must, however, be hard to suit, if in that city, the intellectual focus of the Dominion, a representative cannot be found without importing an outsider, who, in many respects, has proven himself a failure.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

MONDAY, April 12th.

In the Commons to-day Mr Kirk called attention to the fact that a paper purporting to be an official report of the debate on the question of better terms for Nova Scotia, and bearing the imprint of the Government printers, had been circulated with misleading headings. The speaker said the proceeding was most improper, and that he would call the attention of the Printing Committee to it.

Mr. Watson obtained an order for the correspondence regarding the abandoned project of sending a flying column to the North-West.

A long debate arose on a motion of Mr. Wilson for correspondence regarding assisted immigration. The discussion lasted until 11.30, when the motion was carried and the House adjourned.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, on its merits. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected to the utmost to make by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent, that will handle it with energy. Our agents make at work now making from $40 to $100 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, among ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like to go more counties and work them through subagents for whom we will pay a liberal commission, can do so by writing us at once. $100 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, one year's all unsold and get their money back. No other employer or agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and more than this number of sales is made in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the best season. Work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and canvassers in the country, and ask the favor of each paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

CAMPBELL'S
TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the ELIXIR contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

Our instantaneous [illegible] considered so all to be marvels of art. Prices to suit the most economical. No necessity now to take the children to inferior studios because of the price. Nothing can surpass the beauty and delicacy of finish, artistic posing and effective lighting, for which specimens have received so many encomiums when exhibited. The excellence and artistic character of our work has given us a wide reputation, and we receive orders from all parts. Now is the time to order, especially coloured work, as time is required to finish such. Large Portraits for framing, at popular prices.

SPROULE'S.

AN IMMENSE RUSH.

It taxed our utmost capacity to wait upon our customers all day yesterday, and we are determined there shall be no let up as long as we can get such extraordinary bargains for our patrons. The backward season is the cause of it and the Manufacturers are determined to reduce and close out their stock. Within the last two weeks we have bought many lines of goods at less than cost of production—among the first arrivals are Short Pant Suits for Children from 4 to 14 years of age at $1.75, 2.00, 2.50, 3.00, 4.00 and 5.00. Each and every suit is well worth from $1.50 to $3.50 more than the price we are selling them for. A large number of them are of the very latest styles. If your child does not need a suit just yet, buy one for future use—Suits for Boys 9 to 18 years of age, $3.50, 4.50, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, also of our late purchases among which will be found some choice selections of patterns. The low prices we have put upon them cannot fail to impress the customer of their cheapness and the poorest judges of Clothing can see at a glance that our BOYS' and CHILDREN'S SUITS are much below their real value.

Our Magnificent Stock of Men's Clothing,

Too much cannot be said in praise of it. Its merits are of so decided a character that they will stand much repeating; it is in size the largest ever placed upon the Counters of any Store in Peterborough, and in variety of style the most complete, while in reliability, thoroughness of workmanship, perfection of finish, the goods cannot be surpassed by any House in the Country. How about a SPRING SUIT for Yourself, your Boys or Children. If you have not bought them yet, certainly now is your time. The immense trade we are having in our Mens', Boys and Children's Departments proves the assertion that the "Ides of March" witnessed in Peterborough the revolution in prices of Clothing, promised by

RUPTURE CURED
IN FROM 20 TO 90 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 2nd, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried [illegible] without success, among cheap, recently-[illegible] York State, costing me $20. Nothing would retain my Rupture. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it. My rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KERR.

This new Spiral Truss [illegible] has taken twenty years to make it perfect; it is guaranteed to hold the very worst cases of Rupture, the hardest work or severest exercise [illegible] cure; and 95 out of every 100 cases. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, price list and [illegible] for you to consult. When writing please state [illegible] paper.

STRIKES, WARS, FLOODS and a GENERAL UPHEAVAL, the SIGNS of the TIMES

Demands for personal rights by the humblest and poorest are making learned and thoughful men grave and fearful.

The principle of Revolution seems to be running riot. It has entered our Institutions of Learning, and old Professors have to succumb to the opinions of pupils and young thinkers, and in the proof given below, we feel assured that the more experienced will agree.

TEACHER (to young lady pupil.)—"Parse the sentence 'Adolphus married Caroline.'"

PUPIL.—"Adolphus is a noun because it is the name of a thing. 'Married' is a conjunction, because it joins Adolphus and Caroline, and 'Caroline' is a verb governing the noun Adolphus."

But not only do our learned Professors wonder, but our financial men stand appaled at THE TUMBLE GOLD HAS MADE; for we are offering to sell eight yards of Gold (paper) for Thirty Cents.

GOLD PAPER, 30 CENTS A ROLL.

Our Stock of Papers from 5c. a roll upwards, is tremendous, and our customers and patrons can rely on always getting the best value. We have not been, nor will we ever submit to being undersold. Our customers can rely on our prices being right in all lines we deal in.

Scotch Fishermen's Houses.

The houses, as I can testify from a recent inspection, are substantial and commodious, and for the most part have been built at a very cheap rate. There is nothing flimsy or ill-finished about them. The smallest, with two good apartments, and out-door conveniences, cost a little more than £100. Some that have been more recently constructed have cost more than £200. But these are fine houses, with a commanding sea-view, and contain not only accommodation for a native family, but likewise apartments to be let to summer visitors. Fishermen and fishermen's families, from the nature of their occupation, are not usually remarkable for neat houses or tidy habits, and those of Cockenzie have not yet got rid of all the old ways. Outside some cottages there is decidedly room for improvement; inside, the houses are usually well kept and comfortable. In visiting a few, I came on one where an invalid girl of 20 had been confined to bed for three years and a half. The best room in the house had been given up to her; it was airy and well lighted, neatly papered, and thoroughly clean. The fisherman's daughter lay on the bed, bright and happy in spite of her long trial; owing much, no doubt, to a good mother and an affectionate family, but much more to the sunshine which divine grace poured down on her, and that made her, "though sorrowing, yet rejoicing."

The construction of comfortable dwellings on land is not the only department of social reform in which these honest fishermen have recently embarked. Their dwellings on the sea have been wonderfully improved. During the last twenty or twenty-five years they have become possessed of a fleet of upward of one hundred decked vessels, worth, perhaps, with their furnishings, £500 each, in which they are enabled to go to the deep-sea fishings; in point of fact, they do their work on a system of rotation, now fishing at home, by-and-by off the coast of Ireland, then proceeding to the herring fishing at Berwick or Peterhead, or perhaps the fishing of Lowestoft. It is a pleasure to think that they are, for the most part, very exemplary in their behavior in these expeditions. Many of them are not only devout, but try to be good to others, they hold their prayer-meetings together, and try to bring in the careless. Most of them are Presbyterians, a few Methodists, and a few Plymouth brethren. Being so much from home, the religious influences they come under are somewhat varied, and some of them get a preference for a more demonstrative style of service than that which is natural in Scotland.

Another work in which they have made great exertions is the construction of a harbon. Port Seton was destroyed by a storm early in the century; and the harbor constructed more recently by Col. Cadell was quite too small for the enlarged and increasing business of the place. So, again under the guidance of Mr. Cvens, and with the help of Joans, they have built a capacious harbor, at a cost of more than £30,000. This cannot fail to react on the prosperity of the place in other respects, so that what seemed thirty years ago a struggling little village is bidding now to become an increasing and prosperous town.—Prof. Blaikie, in the Quiver for February.

Changed His Mind.

Mr. Vanderbilt never gave a thought to an artist's or an architect's reputation. He couldn't understand why a man should complain of a change in his plans which would injure him, so long as the owner and employer paid for it. When the plans for his big house were in course of preparation he was urged by his architect to prepare for a larger dining-room than he was contemplating.

"Why," said the man of art, "you can't give banquets in such a room."

"O, d—n banquets. I'm not going to give any."

"But you must. A man can't live in such a house as you are building without giving large entertainments."

"Well, if I give any," said Vanderbilt, "I'll give them in the picture-gallery."

The picture-gallery adjoined the dining-room, so the butler's pantry was arranged to open into both rooms. But one morning, when the walls of the great house had gone up two stories, Mr. Vanderbilt made his appearance in his architect's office. Hunt was building William K.'s house, and was giving the young man a noble banquet-hall, thirty feet high and splendid with carving.

"Why, my son's dining-room's going to be bigger than mine," shouted the excited millionaire, wiping the perspiration from his brow. "I can't have that, anyhow," he continued.

"I thought this was all settled, I thought ——"

"O, no matter about that. I won't have my son's dining-room bigger than mine. How much will it cost to change mine and make it bigger?"

"A good deal," answered the architect. "There will have to be new foundations, the walls that are up will have to be taken down, and——"

"What do I care for that? How much will it cost?"

The architect made some figures, and told Mr. Vanderbilt that it would cost $30,000.

"Well, go on and do it," was the answer.

But the architect objected. He told Mr. Vanderbilt that to tear down the walls would hurt his reputation. People would think that there had been a defect in his plans. The Cræsus heard this in open-mouthed astonishment, and when the architect at last asked:

"What will the sidewalk committee say?" answered:

"What is that to you? Don't I pay for it?"—Boston Post.

A gentleman who claims to know, and who, by the way, is a scholar and a Christian, says the only difference between Kansas and Paradise is that Kansas is receiving much the heavier immigration and has the best roads.—Leavenworth (Kas.) Times.

There are moments in the life of even the wretched country editor when his tired nerves are thrilled by the touch of joy. There are little intervals when the odor of ink and benzine vanishes like the dewy jewels that sparkle on the rose when kissed by the morning sun, and the polluted air seems laden with richest perfumes. Such a moment came to us yesterday evening, when three of Brockville's best citizens burst in on us all at once like a ray of light and subscribed for the Tribune, each paying a year in advance.—Pemzrutawney Tribune.

Notes to Parents.

I have 50 pairs of Boys' Lace Boots that will be sold less than the cost. Men, now is the time to get your boots for your boys. All kinds of boots selling less than cost to make room for hand-made goods. JOHNSTON CAREY.

Prompt Payment.

This morning Mr. George Stevenson, secretary of the local lodge of A. O. U. W., received from headquarters a check for $2,000, payable to Mrs. Sarah Alford, being the endowment on the life of her late husband, John W. Alford.

The Lansdowne Opened.

The Lansdowne roller rink was opened last night. There was a large attendance of both skaters and spectators. Skaters report the floor in prime condition. The Lansdowne, no doubt, will be the favorite amusement resort until out-door amusements are available.

Rath.

There was a large chorus present at the rehearsal of the cantata "Rath" in St. John's Church last night. This cantata will be given to the public on Monday, the 10th of May, in St. John's Church. This will be the first presentation in town of this great cantata which the British press characterizes as "an honor to English art and one that has elevated its composer (A. R. Gaul) into a place of distinction amongst native musicians." Mr. F. W. Millar will assist Mr. Hampshire, together with a full chorus and a staff of first-class soloists.

Market Items.

The market was rather meagre this morning, probably owing to the muddy state of the roads, in the country especially. Butter which is now a scarce commodity, has risen in price to 30c. per pound, while other articles are about the same as last week. Prices were quoted as follows: Butter, 30c.; chickens, 60c.; eggs, 13c.; veal, 6c. to 7c.; potatoes, per bushel, 60c.; parsnips and beets per peck, 15c.; carrots, per peck, 10c.; turnips, per peck, 8c.; onions, 5c. per bunch; hay, $11 per ton. Maple syrup was retailed at $1.25 per gallon.

Prof. Parker's Piano Recital.

Prof. Parker, assisted by his pupils gave a piano recital in his rooms in Lynch's block yesterday evening. About fifty invited guests were present, who were highly pleased with the evening's entertainment. The first number on the programme was a piano duet by Miss Roper and Mr. Parker, Beethoven's "Allegro from 1st Symphonie," a delightful composition, was given in a most acceptable manner. Mr. Geale followed, singing in capital style "Last Night." Miss A. Hall contributed a beautiful piano solo "The Dying Poet" which was well received. A duet by Miss Mackerras and Mr. Parker, "Kassasin," was given in a finished manner, followed by a piano solo by Mr. Parker. Mery's piano duet, "Pearls of the Ocean," a musical gem, given by Miss Hazlitt and Mr. Parker, was beautifully rendered, as was also the piano duet by Miss Grey and Mr. Parker. Mr. Dugan was very successful in her singing of "Three Tokens." The instrumental duets by Miss Laura Davidson and Mr. Parker, and Miss Alberta Mable Carey and Mr. Parker were remarkably well given, considering the age of the young lady performers. Miss Stevens, always a favorite, gave a charming vocal selection. The performances of those who took part in the recital reflect creditably upon Prof. Parker's ability as an instructor, and he has every reason to be proud of his pupils. The National Anthem brought the programme to a close.

New Opened Out.

Spring and summer boots and shoes now opened out at Foot & McWhinnie's. See them, they are sure to please.

Filling Spaulding's Bay.

Complaints are made to the police daily that Spaulding's bay is being made a place of deposit for refuse—made a veritable nuisance lot. Up to the present it has been impossible to find the depositors.

Nothing Like It.

Nothing like Ebonite Gloss for kid boots, shoes and slippers. It will not crack the leather. Only to be had at Foot & McWhinnie's.

Room Papers.

Those interested in the subject, and that includes almost everybody at this time of year, should read the half-page advertisement of Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co., and note the variety, beauty, extent and cheapness of the immense stock of wall papers offered for sale.

Lighted by Gas.

Last night George street was lighted by gas. As it was supposed to be a moonlight night the electric light did not shine forth, and the police, as directed by Mayor Stevenson, lighted the gas lamps on George street. As per contract neither the Gas Company nor the Electric Light Company light up seven days before the full of the moon and three days after.

Becoming Brantford.

We have received a beautifully gotten up and printed pamphlet descriptive of the city of Brantford. A good idea may be formed of its character by the following reproduction of its modest title page:—"The City of Brantford, Province of Ontario, Canada—The Sheffield of the West, Birthplace of the Telephone, Situated in the Centre of a Magnificent Farming Country, Noted for her Manufacturing Enterprise and for the Progressive Character of her People." The pamphlet is profusely illustrated with cuts of her chief buildings and institutions and contains a large amount of letter press information respecting the resources and advantages of the city. This little work, showing in itself so large a spirit of enterprise, prepares one to accept its statements respecting the city of Brantford and to applaud and admire the progressive spirit and substantial advantages of the foremost amongst our rising provincial cities.

Personal.

Mr. F. H. Brennan, of Norwood, has been formally invested with the degree of M.D. at Trinity College.

Mr. C. C. Hampshire, organist of St. John's Church, has, out of twenty-three competitors, been accepted as organist of St. George's Church, St. Catherines, Ont., and been offered the position, which he has accepted, subject to the terms of his present engagement.

Analyzing the Baking Powders.

Under the direction of the New York State Board of Health, eighty-four different kinds of Baking powders, embracing all the brands that could be found for sale in the State, were submitted to examination and analysis by Prof. C. F. Chandler, a Member of the State Board and President of the New York City Board of Health, assisted by Prof. Edward G. Love, the well-known late United States Government chemist.

The official report shows that a large number of the powders examined were found to contain alum or lime; many of them to such an extent as to render them seriously objectionable for use in the preparation of human food.

Alum was found in twenty-nine samples. This drug is employed in baking powders to cheapen their cost. The presence of lime is attributed to the impure cream of tartar of commerce used in their manufacture. Such cream of tartar was also analyzed, and found to contain lime and other impurities; in some samples to the extent of 93 per cent of their entire weight.

All the baking powders of the market, with the single exception of "Royal" (not including the alum and phosphate powders, which were long since discarded as unsafe or inefficient by prudent housekeepers) are made from the impure cream of tartar of commerce and consequently contain lime to a corresponding extent.

The only baking powder yet found by chemical analysis to be entirely free from lime and absolutely pure is the "Royal." This perfect purity results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes of the N. Y. Tartar Co., which totally remove the tartrate of lime and other impurities. The cost of this chemically pure cream of tartar is much greater than any other, and on account of this greater cost is used in no baking powder but the "Royal."

Prof. Love, who made the analysis of baking powders for the New York State Board of Health, as well as for the Government, says of the purity and wholesomeness of "Royal:"

"I have tested a package of 'Royal Baking Powder' which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates or any injurious substances.

E. G. LOVE, PH. D."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

TUESDAY, APRIL 13th.

In the Commons to-day Mr. Pope moved the third reading of the Bill respecting the extension of the Intercolonial Railway from Stellarton to Pictou. Mr. Vail moved an amendment declaring that other public works in Nova Scotia were more urgently needed. The amendment was lost on a vote of 207 to 51, and the Bill was read a third time.

Mr. Thompson's Bill respecting real estate in the Northwest Territories, Sir H. Langevin's Bill to amend the Interpretation Act, Mr. Thompson's Bill respecting the application of fines and forfeitures, and Mr. Thompson's Bill respecting summary convictions, were read a second time.

The House in committee considered Mr. Foster's resolutions regarding the transfer of the lighthouse at Cape Race to Canada.

Mr. Pope's resolution respecting the subsidy to the Chignecto Marine Railway Company, and Mr. Costigan's resolution to amend the Consolidated Revenue Act were carried, and the Bills founded on the resolutions were introduced and read a first time.

The House went into supply and passed a number of items under the head of Civil Government.

Postponed.

Owing to a pressure of advertisements, the serial story, "Love Conquers," announced to begin in our columns to-day, will not begin till Saturday. Secure the opening chapters.

A Handsome Gasalier.

A beautiful six-jet gasalier was received at the Gas Company's office to-day for the new Central Canada Loan and Savings Company's offices, and will be placed in position immediately. The illuminator was procured in New York, from Mitchell, Vance & Co., and is allowed to be the most handsome gasalier manufactured.

Spring Street Scraping.

A large force of men under the direction of Street and Bridge Inspector Wilson, commenced to remove the mud and muck accumulations off George street this morning. The crop is now all heaped along the street ready to be drawn away. The other business streets will receive like attentions suddenly.

Obituary.

We regret to announce the death, last night, of a leading citizen of Ashburnham, Wm. Mills, Esq. During the past winter Mr. Mills has been in a low condition of health, and since the death of his youngest daughter, recently, he has never rallied, but on the contrary his illness has taken the more decided form that terminated in his death on Wednesday night. The deceased gentleman was a native of England, having been born at Melford, Suffolk County—on the 13th of March, 1813. About thirty years ago he came to Canada, and spent some six years in Hamilton. At the end of that time he purchased and settled on a farm in the neighborhood of Simcoe and Ingersoll, on which he remained ten years. He then purchased the Bellaward property, Ashburnham, on which he has since resided. During his residence here Mr. Mills has been a prominent figure in both a private and public capacity. He sat as a member of the town Council of Peterborough for one term, and at the time of his death was a member of the village Council, Ashburnham. He was also on the commission as one of Her Majesty's Justices of the Peace, and was a member of the Church of England. He leaves behind him a widow and three daughters to mourn his loss, who have, under the circumstances, a special claim on the sympathy of their friends and acquaintances,—bereft of the head of the family so soon after the home circle was broken by the death of a beloved daughter and sister. The funeral will take place from the family residence on Sunday, April 18th, at 3.30 o'clock, p.m.

Strictly True

In every respect and attested by the testimony of thousands that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a sure and painless cure for corns. The claim that it is just as good made by those endeavoring to palm off imitations for the genuine only proves the superiority of "Putnam's." Use only Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sure, safe painless. d36-6t-w15-1t

Meeting of Town Trust Commissioners.

A meeting of the Town Trust Commissioners will be held in the Council chamber tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

Orangemen.

Yesterday a special meeting of the County L. O. L., West Peterborough, was held in the Orange hall, Peterborough, to consider an invitation from the Orangemen of Peterborough to celebrate the coming 12th of July at Belleville. By an almost unanimous vote it was decided to accept the invitation. It is expected that the celebration there will be of very large proportions and enthusiasm.

The Busy Bee.

The Canadian Bee Journal shows signs of deserved popularity by entering upon its second volume, with an increase of size from 16 to 24 pages and with no increase in price. This journal is full of practical information on the subject of bee-keeping, an industry that needs little capital except common sense and common attention to it, to prove most remunerative. None who breed bees with a commercial aim should be without it. Only $1 per year—address, Jones Macpherson & Co., Boston, Ont.

Annual Meeting of St. John's L. A. S.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society in connection with St. John's church, was held in the rectory yesterday afternoon. Mrs. (Dr.) Hadaway, president, occupied the chair. Reports, showing the substantial aid which the society had given to the different church schemes during the year, also showing the flourishing condition of the society, were presented. A letter from the Bishop of Saskatchewan, thanking the society for liberal donations received, was read by the secretary. After the transaction of ordinary business, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

PRESIDENT.—Mrs. Beck.
VICE-PRESIDENTS.—Mrs. Wallis, Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham, Mrs. Rubidge, and Mrs. Vernon.
SECRETARY.—Mrs. Kirkpatrick.
TREASURER.—Miss Hall.

Queen's Birthday Races.

Messrs. E. Brown, A. Elliott, H. LeBrun and J. E. McIntyre, directors of the Driving Park, met this morning to arrange for races on the 24th of May. It was decided to hold a race meeting on that day with a programme of four good events, as follows:—Trotting race, open to the counties of Peterborough, Durham, Northumberland and Victoria. Purse, $100—$60, $25 and $15. Mile heats, best three in five. Running race, purse $50—$30, $15 and $5. Mile heats, best two in three. Hurdle race, purse $25—$15 and $10. Half-mile heats, best two in three. A matched race will be arranged, to come off on the same day. Further particulars will be found in the posters, which are to be issued shortly. Under the auspices of the above directors it may be expected that a fine afternoon's sport will be presented on May 24th at the Peterborough Driving Park.

Police Court.

The charges against Michael Larose, James Clegg, and R. Pim, for fighting, were investigated by Police Magistrate Dumble this morning.

James Clegg was sworn, and stated that upon entering the Queen's hotel he was struck by the prisoner fined yesterday, and that he acted in self-defence. He did not see Larose or Pim fighting.

As no further evidence was forthcoming, the magistrate dismissed the charges against the prisoners.

Tory Tactics.

Making Political Capital at the Public Expense.

Ottawa Free Press.

Mr. Kirk, of Guysboro, brought to the attention of parliament on Monday a matter, which was so grossly dishonorable and unfair on the part of the person responsible for it, that Mr. Speaker unhesitatingly pronounced it to be very improper and stated that he would call the attention of the chairman of the debate's committee to the subject. It appears that by an arrangement with the publishers of the official Hansard, individual members are permitted to obtain at a nominal price to cover expenses, reprints of their speeches as officially reported; and these are circulated with the official headings and the official imprimatura. But Dr. Cameron, of Inverness, thought he could do better than that. He obtained a pamphlet printed with the official heading and the official imprimatura, containing a report of a debate together with such portions of the division list as suited his own peculiar views as to "political exigencies." The cooked pamphlet also boasted this heading:—

Better Terms for Nova Scotia.

The Insincerity of the Grits Exposed.

Only One from Ontario, and One from Quebec in favor of Better Terms for Nova Scotia.

The Member for Guysborough Caught in His own Trap by Cameron (Inverness) and McDougall (Cape Breton).

Dr. Cameron can circulate any falsehood he pleases so long as he does not libel his political opponents; but when he issues from the Parliamentary printing offices, with the official heading—the official imprimatura—a pamphlet professing to be official which is a partizan effusion, he resorts to a species of warfare as contemptible as it is dastardly and dishonorable. Abuses of this kind of a useful privilege is likely to result in its abolition. The only person who condoned this gross offence was Mr. Thomas White, and the possible reason he did this, was that Mr. Speaker had partially condemned a few minutes before, this abuse of the privilege granted to members of reproducing their speeches.

The Canadian Pacific.

The Work of Opening up the Line Through to the Pacific.

A Winnipeg despatch says:—The work of opening up the line of the Canadian Pacific railway, west of Donald, through to the Pacific, has commenced in earnest. Mr. Brothers, superintendent of construction in Winnipeg, is making arrangements for the shipment of laborers to the Rockies, and large gangs are being forwarded by every train. Among the contractors who are starting with outfits are Messrs. Moffat, Sullivan, and Abbott. Between Saturday and Monday last over five hundred immigrants arrived here.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Council met on Friday, April 2nd, pursuant to adjournment. All the members present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

By-law No. 35, legalising the opening up of the original allowance for road between the west halves of lots 15 and 16 in the 3rd concession, received the usual number of readings and passed.

On motion of Mr. Foley, seconded by Mr. Garbutt,—The Auditors' abstract and detailed statement of receipts and expenditure for the year 1885 was received and adopted. The clerk was instructed to get 200 copies of same printed in pamphlet form for distribution among the ratepayers; also that the collector's and treasurer's accounts be allowed as the same was finally audited by the council and found correct.

The clerk was authorized to notify James Blackwell, W. J. Thompson, W. G. Thompson, W. C. Taylor, Wm. King, Mrs. Ferman and the Grand Trunk Railway Company (Midland Branch) that it is the intention of the council to pass a by-law (at its next meeting, to be held on the 29th May next,) legalising the opening up of the original allowance for road between concessions 10 and 11, opposite lots 3, 4 and 5; also that the G. T. Ry. Co. be requested to construct the necessary highway crossing.

By-law No. 436, appointing poundkeepers, fence-viewers and overseers of highways, was read a first, second and third time and passed.

The treasurer was instructed to pay the following accounts, viz.:—

Patrick M. Leahy, services as auditor	$12 00
Thos Russell do. do.	12 00
Patrick Ryan, extra services as collector	5 00
Wm. Condon, part salary as assessor	40 00
Martin Moloney, building culvert	4 00
John Moloney, reeve, expenses as delegate, on the Trent Valley Canal delegation in going to Ottawa	10 00
Patrick Moher do. do	14 00
Edward Foley, as charity to be expended by him for the benefit of John Casey	19 00

Messrs. E. Foley and Jas. McCliggott were authorized to close up the present travelled road opposite lots 13 and 14, between concession 6 and 7, until such time as the bridge over the creek on said road allowance is repaired.

Moved by Mr. Moher, seconded by Mr. McCliggott, that whereas Mrs. Thos. Whibbs has entered into an agreement with the council previous to the passing of by-law No. 435, binding herself to construct and build the road described in said by-law in as good a condition as the travelled road now used in lieu thereof, be it therefore resolved that the said Mrs. Whibbs be, and she is hereby authorised and empowered to open said line of road for the purpose of constructing the same, and that this resolution be signed and sealed to give it the force of a by-law.

Moved by Mr. Moher, seconded by Mr. Foley, that Wm. Garbutt be instructed to inspect a culvert built by Mr. Moloney, and if in his opinion the sum of $4 already appropriated for such culvert be not a sufficient sum for the performed work, that Mr. Garbutt issue his order on the treasurer in favour of Martin Moloney for the balance, if any, and that the treasurer do honour the same.

Council adjourned till May 29th next, then to meet as a court of revision and for the transaction of other business.

Meetings of supporters and of opposition-ists of Gladstone are being organised throughout the kingdom.

Miss M. C. Montague, Galloway, Fayette Co., Texas, suffered for years with a number of troubles incidental to females. Her life was miserable. PARLIAMENTARY TOPICS.

(Correspondence Globe.)

OTTAWA, April 13.—The Minister of Justice again showed his utter ignorance of the ordinary rules of Parliamentary procedure to-day, by insisting that a bill brought in by Mr. Pope to authorise the expenditure of money upon a railway in Picton County, was in order when it was clearly out of order. The Speaker sat upon the bumptious Minister by ruling in favor of Sir Richard Cartwright's contention that the bill was out of order, and some round-about proceedings had to be taken to remedy the difficulty. A few minutes afterwards, Mr. Thompson showed farther ignorance of the rules of the House by attempting to proceed with a public bill which was not printed in French. The insolent tone assumed by the Minister towards private members of the House, brought upon him the castigation from Mr. Kirk, who reviewed Mr. Thompson's political career in Nova Scotia, and predicted that he would wreck the Conservative party of the Dominion as quickly and as completely as he had wrecked the Conservative party which he attempted to lead in the Province of Nova Scotia.

THE CHIGNECTO RAILWAY.

The Chignecto Ship Railway scheme was discussed at length to-night, and the folly of expending $3,750,000 upon such a foolish and unprofitable experiment was fully exposed. Neither the Minister of Railways, nor any other member, who apologised for the voting of so much money, could be induced to hazard an opinion that the proposed ship railway was practicable, or that it would be of the smallest commercial utility if built. Mr. Townsend, through whose constituency the proposed railway will pass, defended the scheme, but Mr. Mitchell, pointed out that he was one of the original shareholders of the subsidised company, and therefore, his opinion was not worth very much. Messrs. Mitchell, Woodworth, Davies and Gillmor showed that there was no traffic, present or prospective, to justify the construction of such a public work, and it was outrageous to propose such an enormous expenditure upon an utterly useless work in the present condition of the public finances.

THE PICTOU JOB.

The Pictou Railway job was consummated to-day, the Bill authorising the Government to build parallel lines in Pictou county being read a third time and passed. Mr. Vail moved an amendment which compelled every Tory member from Nova Scotia to declare by his vote that he was more expedient to build parallel railway lines in Pictou county than to grant the necessary railway accommodation to other sections of their Province which are now crying out for railways. The principal argument used by Mr. Tupper and other members who favored the job was that the proposed expenditure of half a million dollars of the public money would furnish employment to a number of people, and that those Nova Scotians who opposed such expenditure were seeking to prevent public money from being spent in their Province. Mr. Kirk pointed out that an equally strong argument could be put forward in support of a proposition to build a modern tower of Babel on some of the mountains of Nova Scotia. He would oppose every proposition to waste public money upon useless and unnecessary works.

RETURNED.

Hon. Edward Blake returned to Ottawa from Toronto to-night.

IN CONFERENCE.

Messrs. A. F. Wood, Henry Merrick, and A. Broder, Conservative members of the Ontario Legislature, arrived here to-day. It is understood that they came to confer with their political chiefs on matttters relating to party management.

The Mighty Dollar

Is long distanced by a 10 cent bottle of Polson's Nerviline, the newest and best pain remedy. It cures colds, cramps, colic, pain in the head, sciatica, pain in the chest; in fact it is equally efficacious as an external or internal remedy. Try a 10 cent sample bottle of the great pain remedy, Nerviline. Sold by druggists. Large bottles only 25 cents. Try a sample bottle of Nerviline, only 10 cents. Take no substitute.

I had for years been a miserable sufferer from Dyspepsia, and tried all known remedies and the best medical skill of my acquaintance, but still grew worse, until unable to eat anything without great suffering or do any kind of work. I began to think there was no hope for me, and that I must surely die; when, like a drowning man catching at a straw, I determined to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial, I at once began to improve so rapidly that in two months I was as well as I had ever been in my life.—Wm. An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, at yes MINUTE. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the only state to sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to them, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $20 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $60 in this time, shows ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like to see more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $100 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, and would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but 1 are using a day would give a profit of over $600 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the season, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 28th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring-action trusses made in York State, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Hernia. . . . I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 95 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbours' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. STRIKES, WARS, FLOODS and a GENERAL UPHEAVAL, the SIGNS of the TIMES

Demands for personal rights by the humblest and poorest are making learned and thoughful men grave and fearful.

The principle of Revolution seems to be running riot. It has entered our Institutions of Learning, and old Professors have to succumb to the opinions of pupils and young thinkers, and in the proof given below, we feel assured that the more experienced will agree.

TEACHER (to young lady pupil.)—"Parse the sentence 'Adolphus married Caroline.'"

PUPIL.—"Adolphus is a noun because it is the name of a thing. 'Married' is a conjunction, because it joins Adolphus and Caroline, and 'Caroline' is a verb governing the noun Adolphus."

But not only do our learned Professors wonder, but our financial men stand appaled at THE TUMBLE GOLD HAS MADE; for we are offering to sell eight yards of Gold (paper) for Thirty Cents.

GOLD PAPER, 30 CENTS A ROLL.

Our Stock of Papers from 5c. a roll upwards, is tremendous, and our customers and patrons can rely on always getting the best value. We have not been, nor will we ever submit to being undersold. Our customers can rely on our prices being right in all lines we deal in.

DADO WINDOW BLINDS.—A Full Line just put into Stock.

SATCHELS AND PURSES.

Our Special Purse, at $2.25, is pronounced by Ladies who want a good yet plain strong purse, to be very cheap. We GUARANTEE THIS PURSE, and are prepared to take any back that should not prove as represented.

IN SATCHELS, OUR LINE RUNS FROM FIFTY CENTS TO $6.50.

A. L. DAVIS & CO.

The Ostrich's Characteristics.

An Anaheim, Cal., correspondent writes: "The sight of a dog is sufficient to frighten an ostrich badly. At such vision, if permitted, the ostriches in the corrals would immediately be speeding over the sandy plain, through a waste of tall, wild sunflowers, at a gait which would astonish a horse-trainer. Dr. Stetchley has three dogs on his farm, but they are all kept behind the buildings out of sight of the ostriches. When a keeper approaches them to annoy them, they emit a hissing sound, like a goose, and try to bite the intruder. They have no strength in their bills, however, and are harmless unless they get a chance to kick. Unlike the emu, which is exhibited often as an African ostrich, they have but one toe on each foot. This is a terrible weapon. The bird kicks forward. The force is shown in the exploit of one bird, which kicked a stout board on the side of its corral and broke it in two at one blow. The toe is pointed and will cut like a knife. The bird which was killed at one kick had its breast laid open with an ugly wound. Of the young birds all are perfectly shaped except one, which has a club-foot, and walks on the back of the club-bed-foot, the toe turning up. The gait of even this bird is elastic. All the birds walk precisely after the fashion adopted by many young ladies in San Francisco of late, whose gait may, therefore, perhaps, be correctly described in the future as the "ostrich walk." It is as if the birds stepped on hot gridirons. The feet are taken briskly up and raised high, and the body and head oscillate. This style was learned in South Africa and not in San Francisco, and is as old as the race of desert birds."

The Power of the Eye.

The power of the human eye has been tested again and has been found wanting. The tale of the Ancient Mariner, who held the wedding guests by his glance, is becoming more and more improbable every day. In Philadelphia lives an "eye champion," a man who says that by the strength of his look he can tame the Nubian lion, and all that sort of thing, and who recently advertised that he could put out an electric light by simply gazing at it. This aroused the newspapers, and the man with the fierce eye was called upon to make the test. He was placed before an electric light and told to go in and win, but he didn't. That is, he went in, but he didn't win. He glared at the light with an awful intensity, but it burned away serenely. It didn't even flicker. The experiment was an abject failure, and the charlatan has lapsed back into obscurity. And yet there is a mysterious power in the human eye. A pair of them, gazing steadily from the head of the stairway as a man enters the house at 2 a. m., will transfix him through and through, and a careless remark dropped at the table in the hearing of dear mamma by marriage will produce from the human eye a look which seems to scorch the vitals. The failure of the Philadelphia experiment proves nothing save that the right person was not employed to look at the electric light.

Fresh discoveries of gold are constantly being made in Japan.

Buckingham Palace.

Considering that for a long time past the Queen has only occupied Buckingham Palace for five nights in each year, and that the doors of the palace are only opened in the season for four drawing-rooms, two balls, and two concerts, most rational people will be of opinion that, instead of expending many thousands of public money in enlarging Marlborough House, the proper plan would have been to quarter the Prince and Princess of Wales and their family at the deserted palace, especially as there would be ample accommodation for them without interfering in any way with the rooms occupied by the Queen or with the state departments.

If, however, Buckingham Palace is to be kept closed, as it has been for the last twenty-four years, I think that, since it is maintained (like the other royal residences) by the taxpayers it would be well to admit the public (under proper restrictions, as at Windsor) to view the state rooms and the picture gallery. The collection of pictures at the palace is one of the finest in the world, and not a soul ever sees them from one year's end to another. In addition to the numerous "gems" which are in the state apartments there are enough pictures (principally portraits) stowed away in corridors and back rooms to stock half a dozen museums. There is also a splendid collection of miniatures representing celebrities of the reign of George III. and his successor. All these interesting and valuable objects belong to the crown (i. e., to the nation), and it is rather hard that they should be kept where nobody can see them. The Prince consort was a zealous advocate for admitting the public to private galleries (and was, indeed, the principal pioneer of that movement) and he did everything in his power to facilitate the throwing open of the state apartments at Windsor Castle in spite of the desperate opposition of a few pedantic, wooden-headed court functionaries. If he were yet alive I have no doubt that Buckingham Palace and its priceless contents would long ago have been thrown open, but now, unluckily, there is nobody to represent the matter properly to the Queen.—London Truth.

It seems that the want of entire success with steel sleepers on some of the English railways has led to the substitution of an article which, it is thought, will meet the difficulties hitherto experienced. According to the new system the metallic sleeper is rolled to the requisite trough-like section. Under each rail is a sole plate to strengthen it there. The chair is formed of two jaws of steel plate stamped into form and ribbed centrally so as to give strength to resist the pressure of the wedges. The jaws, sole plate and sleeper are united by rivets passing through the three thicknesses. The iron sleepers that these are intended to take the place of were sufficiently elastic and did not rust sensibly, but, being seriously weakened by the large holes necessitated by the character of the fastenings, and these holes being situated on either side of the rail just where the strain on the sleepers was greatest, the latter were continually breaking there, thus rendering it obvious that the acknowledged advantages of metal sleepers must be realized under an improved system.

Has Decided to Change His Condition.

A good looking young bachelor who feasted on pancakes and ladies' smiles at the Fleischmann baking school yesterday afternoon, after he had satisfied his appetite remarked to "another bach." that the single state was not blessedness, but very up-hill work and he was determined to contract matrimony at the earliest opportunity. It's a poor school that doesn't teach somebody something.

Sent Down for Repairs.

Engine No. 638, which left the narrow path of safety on Tuesday, the 6th, overturned by an elm tree, was raised from the mirey pit in which it rolled, had trucks placed under it, and was hauled back to the track yesterday evening. The mighty engine, shorn of its strength, muddy, and generally banged up, passed through town on its way to the G. T. R. shops at Port Hope, where it will receive necessary attention and repairs.

Condolence.

The following resolution of condolence, elegantly engrossed, has been presented to Mrs. John W. Alford by the Peterborough Lodge A. O. U. W., together with a cheque for $2,000:—

[COPY.]

Resolved,—That this lodge records with feelings of deep regret the removal by death of our late esteemed brother, John W. Alford, and that we deeply deplore the loss sustained by the wife and family of our late brother by this untimely visitation. We wish to assure them of our heartfelt sympathy, our best wishes and kindly interest in their welfare, with the prayer that our allwise and loving Father will temper this affliction as He doth the wind to the shorn lamb, and bestow on them His richest benediction and blessing.

A Sensational Rumor.

A rumor has been current in town during the past two days, says the Port Hope Times, that a young emigrant girl, a domestic in a house in town, had had her head split open by an axe in the hands of one of the family members of the family. The facts of the case, so far as we can learn, are that on Sunday evening the girl was despatched for some medicine, and remaining away some hours, was punished on her return. In a fit of anger she hammered her head against the brick wall, causing concussion of the brain, and rendering herself insensible. The family physician being called, put the patient under treatment, but only succeeded in restoring consciousness on Monday afternoon. The girl yet lies in a critical condition, but hopes are entertained of her ultimate recovery.

HON. SIMON CAMERON.

HIS 87TH BIRTHDAY PASSED HAPPILY AT HIS OLD HOME.

A Lively Talk About Old Times—In Perfect Health and Spirits, He Would be Quite Equal to Being Senator Again.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 20.—Ex-Senator Simon Cameron, of this state, has just had another birthday. He is a year older than this century, being now 87. Yet he is hale and hearty, full of enthusiasm, and enjoying life far more than his son does, if accounts of John Donald's dyspepsia and delicate health are true.

In fact, it wasn't so much bother, this gay old boy, Gen. Simon Cameron, could be a United States senator to-day just as well as ever. He is living quietly at his beautiful old country home on the banks of the Susquehanna, near this city. For sixty years he has practically carried the politics of Pennsylvania in his pocket. In a monarchy of the old time he would have been a maker of kings. He has been, in fact, a maker of presidents. He made possible the nomination of Van Buren for the vice-presidency in Jackson's time, he made Buchanan senator from Pennsylvania, he turned over the Pennsylvania votes to Lincoln in 1860, in the convention, and nominated him; and again, in 1864, he came home from Russia to renominate Lincoln.

EX-SENATOR SIMON CAMERON.

Simon Cameron was the poorest of poor boys. He who was to be adjutant general of Pennsylvania, United States senator for eighteen years, minister to Russia, secretary of war, railroad builder and railroad president was the son of a tailor who had more children than customers. They were so poor that Simon was put to live out with one of the neighbors when he was 10 years old. There is something pathetic in the story of his early struggles. From his mother he gets the strength and courage that has led him to success.

He learned the printing trade, and wandered to Washington, where he put into type congressional debate in 1821, "by the light of a tallow candle," as he himself says. He worked twelve hours a day and got $10 a week pay. But he had a liking for presidents even then, and though only a "jour" printer, while in Washington he made the acquaintance of President Monroe, and he has known personally every president since. It would not be easy for a jour printer to be on friendly terms with a president to-day. At the age of 24 he was elected public printer of Pennsylvania. Before that, however, he had been a newspaper editor. He went with the governor of Pennsylvania to meet Gen. Lafayette in 1825. Besides the other irons he had in the fire, he began to take contracts for canal building. He got his start in life from a canal running from Lake Pontchartrain to New Orleans. President Jackson was about to be renominated, but he wished to defeat John C. Calhoun for vice-president. This he did by calling a national nominating convention, the first ever held in the United States. Cameron had begun life as a Democrat, and Jackson summoned him home from his canal building at New Orleans to look after Pennsylvania. Cameron was a leader of men from the beginning.

SIMON CAMERON'S HOME.

He was a delegate to that first convention. There were only four states more than the present thirteen then.

On the formation of the Republican party, in 1856, Cameron joined it. He has worked for it with enthusiasm ever since. He had been a Democratic United States senator under Polk. Buchanan had been senator before him, but went into Polk's cabinet. He asked Cameron who should succeed him.

"If I am not mistaken, I will," answered Simon, pert enough.

And he did succeed him, but Buchanan never liked him afterwards.

Mr. Cameron admits modestly that he had a talent for money making. But he also had a talent for politics, and he could not let that alone. Between one and the other he has passed his life "a busy but pleasant one," he says.

It was on Simon's own recommendation that Edwin M. Stanton succeeded him as secretary of war in Lincoln's cabinet. Chase and Seward had conservative, not to say timid, notions about carrying on the war. Cameron was for bold and thorough-going measures. So there was a disagreement and Cameron became to minister to Russia. But Lincoln could not do without his planner of campaigns. Simon came home. Some of those whose names we revere as patriots now—Chase, Seward and Ben Wade among them—were trying to defeat Lincoln for the second term. Lincoln sadly and anxiously talked with Cameron about it. Cameron said: "Why, Mr. President, don't you remember what was done when Andrew Jackson was a candidate for the second time? They went around and got the legislature of every state in the Union to sign a paper asking him to be a candidate for re-election. This created such a sentiment in his favor that no other man could stand against him. I shall go to Pennsylvania to-night and it shall be the first state to start the ball."

It was done, and in a very short time nearly every state in the Union had done likewise. The great wire-puller then went back to Washington to see the president. He came in during a reception at the Executive Mansion, when hundreds of persons were passing in a line to shake hands with the president, who saw his faithful organizer approaching. He, Lincoln, wore white cotton gloves. He waved one gaunt white hand in the air and cried out: "Cameron, three more states in to-day!"

All this and more the veteran told the newspaper correspondent who visited him on his 87th birthday. SARAH KING.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14th.

In the Commons to-day, Mr. O'Brien moved for copies of petitions or letters from the Indians on the north shore of Lake Huron or Lake Nipissing, with reference to their rights of fishing in those waters, and a discussion arose in which various suggestions were made for bettering the condition of the Indians in that district.

Mr. Edgar moved for papers showing the honors conferred upon the officers who took part in suppressing the Northwest rebellion, and upon the officers engaged in connection with the Fenian raid and Red River expedition. The motion was carried after a debate in which Sir. A. Caron and Sir R. Cartwright took part.

There was some discussion on Mr. Vail's motion for correspondence on the subject of a flag treaty between Spain and the United States.

After recess Mr. Charlton's Bill to punish seduction was passed through committee, and read a third time.

Mr. McCarthy's Bill, respecting carriers by land, was withdrawn on the statement that the matter would be considered by the promised Royal Commission.

Mr. Cameron (Huron) moved the second reading of the Bill allowing a prisoner to testify on his own behalf. The Minister of Justice opposed the second reading, and the motion was lost on a vote of 80 to 57. The House adjourned at 10.25 p.m.

A New Industry.

The Government Legalizes Bogus Butter—Leading its Aid to Counterfeiting Butter, to Impose on the Public.

(Hamilton Times.)

Finance Minister McLelan the other day imposed an import duty of 8 cents a pound on oleomargarine. Minister of Inland Revenue Costigan yesterday introduced legislation to license the manufacture of the stuff in Canada. Apparently, some pet of the Tory Government proposes to enter upon this dirty business and he is going to have lots of protection to make it profitable. The home market for honest butter will be curtailed, and the people of Canada will have the inestimable privilege of spreading their bread with an extract of dead dogs, horses and cattle, supposed to be purified by some chemical process. It is hard on the farmers who make butter, and it is harder on consumers who have a preference for eating butter, but the situation is not without its compensations. Proprietors of cemeteries of dead animals will find a market for their raw material, and the Finance Minister will be able to boast of another new industry, the existance of which is due to him and his N. P.

NOTE.—The United States Congress proposes to require all oleomargarine or bogus butter to be put in regulation packages and labelled "Imitation Butter," to prevent its being sold as a dairy product.

The Devastating Cyclone.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 15.—Revised estimates of the killed and wounded are:—At St. Cloud, 15 killed and 40 injured; Sauk Rapids, 30 killed and 100 injured; Rice's Station, 22 killed and the number injured yet unknown.

JAMESTOWN, Dak., April 15.—This town was visited yesterday afternoon by a small cyclone, followed by heavy electrical storms. Buildings and sidewalks were torn up.

A DEATH DEALING CLOUD.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., April 15.—The city has been visited with a calamity, the ghastly details of which have never been equalled. Each hour brings to light fresh evidences of the terrible work of the elements. At four o'clock yesterday afternoon a great black mass rose over the hills south-west of the city, and coming with terrible velocity toward the western outskirts. The clouds hung low, and rolled over and over, and were accompanied by a loud roaring and smacking sound. The cloud was funnel shaped, and the point dragged along the ground, lashing everything that came in its path into atoms. The citizens had hardly time to flee to their cellars and seek refuge before the air was filled with flying boards, shingles, bricks and other debris that was strewn over the country and piled in promiscuous heaps. It came from the southward and moved in a northeasterly direction until it reached the river, where it followed the river banks until it reached Sauk Rapids, where it passed through the centre of the town. The people were not warned of the danger before it was upon them. They were picked up and tossed into the air and sent into a thousand pieces. The earth was ploughed up in the line of the cyclone and covered nearly a quarter of a mile in width. The cries and shrieks of the wounded rent the air and the ground was strewn with the bodies of the dead.

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

[illegible] Council Chamber a few evenings since to discuss the forming of a band for the village. The meeting was quite attended and there present approved of the project. A committee of [illegible] of band was handed in and a subscription list started, which is being generously signed by all classes, and but little will be found in starting on a satisfactory footing.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield School Board was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, April 13th.

Present—Dr. Caldwell, chairman, in the chair, and all members of the Board.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The Head Master's report for March was received, showing 254 pupils on the roll and an average attendance of 208.

Moved by Mr. Gordon, seconded by Mr. Abbott,—That the following accounts be paid, viz.:—David Smith, repairs to pump, 40c.; W. H. Cammeat, supplies, $4.55; Isaac Watson, sr., salary for quarter, $20. Total, $24.95.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Abbott, seconded by Mr. Gordon,—That this Board do now adjourn.—Carried.

"OPEN AIR ARMY."

Wednesday evening being "Soldier's night" at the salvation barracks, a number of the young people who were unable to gain admission, organized an open air meeting on their own account on the steps in front of the P. O. & A. Hall; your correspondent while passing with a friend was so amazed at the interrupted remarks between some of the songs that he could not forbear making a note of some for the benefit of your Lakefield readers—the following is a specimen—

"We're hallelujah soldiers,
The blood and fire brigade,
Though some would try to harm us,
Yet we are not afraid."

("Willie don't handle me as you would an old tin can,"
"Oh! oh you're hurting my sore finger."
"Fire up, Conch! fire a volley.")

"Oh! I'm glad I am converted,
I'm [illegible] of the Lord"—
"I feel like some [illegible] school."
"Oh! I'm glad I am converted,
In the [illegible] of the Lord,
Glad I'm [illegible] my saviour."

("Put on brakes, Jimmie, you're going too fast.")
("Johnny you smell of assafoetida to-night."
"Gordon you head is as soft as a basswood plank."
"Do keep quiet, Ella, every one will hear you.")

"We'll be heroes, we'll be heroes,
When the battle is fierce,
When the raging storm grows louder,
Will our courage increase.

A parade then took place, but as the youngsters were [illegible], they took the back streets and varied the programme by pulling bells, knocking at doors, etc. as they passed, and received a "Dutch" sermon the next evening on their sins.

LAUNCHED.

The steamer Gruiser was placed in the water on Wednesday and looks as "fresh as a daisy" after the paint brush. Her engine is being put in to-day, and she will be all ready for her summer's work as soon as the ice leaves Clear Lake, which will be in a few days, as the ice is now broken up for a long distance up the lake, and a good wind will finish it. The "Undine" has been launched and repainted, and the workmen are now engaged on the Fairy, and she will not belie her name when finished.

Home Rule for Ireland.

Gladstone's Last Words Before the First Reading.

LONDON, April 15.—The discussion in the House of Commons on Tuesday evening had gone for eight hours before Mr. Gladstone's speech. It produced a tremendous effect, and concluded as follows: "We have come to the time for decisive action. We have come to the time for throwing aside, not only private interests and partial affections, but private devices and partial remedies. We have come to the time for looking at the whole breadth of this subject, and endeavoring to compass it in our minds, when we cannot answer this question, whether we will make one bold attempt to free Parliament for its great and necessary work and to establish harmony at Irish hearths for Ireland, or whether we will continue, on the other hand, to struggle on as we have done before, living from hand to mouth, leaving England and Scotland to be famine stricken, useful legislation, and Ireland to a continuance of a social disease, the depths of which we have never understood, and a social disease that you do not know how to deal with, which, in angry discord with Great Britain, you make no attempt to cure." His voice was as clear as a bell, and his gesture as exuberant and full of spirits as the youngest member of the House. The enthusiasm of the Irishmen was indescribable. Then the Speaker put the motion for leave to bring in the bill. The roar of "aye" lasted for several minutes.

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

A Cure for Baldness.

To get a good head of hair and keep it, use Dr. Dorenwend's Great German "Hair Magic." This remarkable preparation will, without fail, (if the roots are not all gone) promote a luxuriant growth of hair on bald spots. It will restore the natural color to gray and faded hair, prevent falling, and remove every trace of dandruff from the head. For sale everywhere. Ask your druggist for it and take no other. A. Strictly True

In every respect and attested by the testimony of thousands that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a sure and painless cure for corns. The claim that it is just as good made by those endeavoring to palm off imitations for the genuine only proves the superiority of "Putnam's." Use only Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sure, safe painless. 266-6t-w15-1t

The Hamilton Spectator had an advertisement in its issue of April 1 asking for information about one Peter Kavanagh, and stating that said Peter was heir to a million dollars left him by a sister in Australia. Mr. Kavanagh has been found in poor circumstances in Detroit, and is much tickled over the change in his fortunes.

The Irish Problem.

CHURCHILL'S PEPPERY PREMIERS.

LONDON, April 15.—Lord Randolph Churchill [illegible] Grosvenor Chamber this evening. He said [illegible] meant the absolute repeal of the union. The Irish problem was formidable. He urged the application to Ireland of the principles of [illegible] England [illegible]

FRIENDS ARE IN CLOVER.

GLASGOW, April 15.—A full meeting of the opponents of Mr. Gladstone's policy was held in the City hall last evening. Frequent interruptions were caused by disorderly persons. Dr. Hanna, of Belfast, leader of the Presbyterians of that city, made a speech in which he said that he wanted Mr. Gladstone's measure rejected with contempt and scorn. It was the most unworkable, grotesque and mischievous proposal that had ever emanated from the brain of a statesman, sane or insane. Dr. Vernon White, of London, said if Ireland got Home Rule there would be civil war, which might also result from the rejection of Mr. Gladstone's measure. If the worst came the Irish Loyalists, like their forefathers, would not be afraid to fight and die for Christ, the Crown and Covenant. Resolutions were adopted in favour of upholding the Union, and opposing Mr. Gladstone's bill.

The War-Loving Greek.

ATHENS, April 15.—Premier Delyannis stated in the Chamber the Government was continuing the policy of preparing for war.

Ten Millions Short.

LONDON, April 15.—Sir Wm. Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, introduced the Budget in the House of Commons this evening. It shows an actual deficit of £2,642,943.

Dominion Doings.

Wolves are killing great numbers of sheep around Cowichan, B.C.

The Chinese population of Victoria, B.C., is 2,978. Two hundred only of these are women.

At Wellington, B.C., a Chinaman committed suicide by hanging himself to a tree by his shoe laces.

John Hoenberger, a deaf old man, was killed on the railway track near Beamsville on Tuesday.

A lazaretto is to be established at Victoria, B.C. Leprosy has been brought into the country by the Chinese.

The population of Winnipeg, it is estimated, has increased 2,000 during the last six months, and is now placed at 25,000.

On Tuesday a man named Geo. Sutherland was struck on the head by a piece of wood from a circular saw in Nozon's works, Ingersoll. He is not expected to live.

A diminutive burglar, only 13 years of age, was convicted on Monday of eleven different cases of housebreaking in Montreal, and sentenced to five years in the Reformatory.

James Shannon, for 27 years Secretary of the Kingston Board of Trade, was on Tuesday made the recipient of a handsome testimonial from the citizens on his retirement from the office.

A little boy named Dewar, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., was found in a stable with his brains kicked out by a horse. The old woman who found him ran to tell a neighbor and dropped dead through fright.

A G.T.R. brakeman, Geo. Moody, of St. Thomas, was fired on by some unknown miscreant yesterday evening. Moody was in the caboose of a freight running between Stratford and St. Mary's at the time.

The Ottawa police have effected the capture of three burglars, John and Israel Johnson and Charles Smith, who, from evidence found in their possession, have been the principals in all the recent burglaries committed in the capital.

Californians in China.

Siberia has always been regarded as rich in auriferous deposits, and travelers' tales have been heard describing the rich results of washing the mud of the rivers, while the soil was mingled with golden scales. Strange, these stories did not seem to attract the hordes of needy adventurers who flock wherever gold is, or is supposed to be, in existence; but recently, for some months past, a busy community of diggers has been at work in a place so inaccessible that, until last winter, the Chinese were unaware that a tribe of foreign devils were gathering up wealth on the borders of their own empire. The mining camp is composed of detachments from Australia and California, and a sprinkling of diamond seekers from South Africa: and these men have formed a government of their own over a republic they have coolly appropriated from the Chinese empire, entering the Russian administration on the other side of the river. The results of the work are good, upward of 2,000 pounds weight of gold having been purchased last year by Russian agents, who have paid excellent prices, ranging up to 75 shillings for the troy ounce.

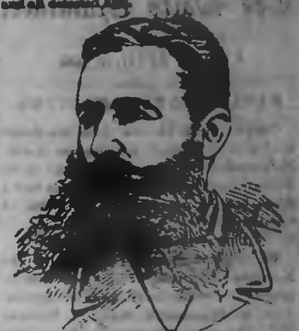
This new "nation" founded on the banks of the Amoor river is likely, if the stories told about it are true, to become a power in the world; for as its only trouble is likely to be with China the bold diggers have taken the initiative and defied the "ten thousand" which the irate and disappointed mandarins threatened them with. This incident is another painful leaf in the history of China. The brother of the sun and the moon, the son of heaven, to be defied by a gang of outer barbarians clad in flannel shirts, corduroys, and knee-boots, and speaking an unknown but emphatic language, and to see the golden treasures of his land taken away from under his very nose, is humiliation too great to be submitted to; yet what can be done? The "ten thousand" had better keep at home, and let well alone.—Japan Gazette.

Among the entries in the accounts of the German government for the past year is the following: "Cost of providing a snuff-box set with brilliants for the Russian Minister von Giers, as a remembrance of the imperial meeting at Skierniewice, 17,000 marks." Four thousand two hundred and fifty dollars for M. de Giers' snuff-box is a tolerable amount.

Removal of Governor Murray.

HON. E. BLAKE, Irish patriot, ex-member of Ontario, who has been appointed by President Hayes, is a native of Kentucky, which may account for his great ability. He is a Republican, and came into the empty honor of being the candidate of his party for governor of his native state. When President Cleveland was inaugurated, Governor Murray, recognizing that [illegible] to do, resigned [illegible] whenever it was wanted, in order that Mr. Cleveland might feel free to appoint a man of his own political [illegible] if he wished. The resignation has not been acted on until now, however, Governor Murray, of the Interior department, [illegible] while other business held over, notified the governor that it would be accepted.

If the Irish [illegible] a terror to Mormon policemen during the long term of office. Under him the vigorous prosecutions of the defiant law breakers took place. They can and all detested [illegible]



GOVERNOR ELI H. MURRAY.

Some time since the non-Mormon residents of Utah appointed Mr. R. N. Baskin a delegate to go to Washington and represent their interests to congress. The resignation of Mr. Murray was forwarded through him to the president. Governor Murray has had a bitter contest with the present Utah legislature, and has vetoed several of their bills. With his resignation he forwarded a report of government matters in the territory for the last year.

New Bridge at Louisville.

A new bridge has just been built over the Ohio river, at Louisville, which is unique in architecture, in some respects. Over it the trains of the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railway will cross the Ohio on their way to the south.

This is the second bridge across the river at Louisville. It is on the cantilever plan, the central idea of which is the balancing of bridge spans upon upright pillars. The spans are fixed in the center, and anchored and chained fast at the shore ends. The Louisville structure is unique because it is at present the longest system of connected cantilevers in the world.

NEW BRIDGE AT LOUISVILLE.

The bridge proper, exclusive of the approaches, is nearly half a mile long. The longest span measured 490 feet, and extends from an island in the river to the Kentucky shore. This is over the steamboat channel. From low water mark to the lowest timber of the bridge the distance is 109 feet.

The structure is built of cast and wrought iron and steel. Twenty-seven thousand tons of these, altogether, were used in the building, and it cost $1,200,000. It has a double railway track, two roads for wagons, two for street cars, and two for foot passengers. The scenery, both on the Kentucky and Indiana sides of the river here, is extremely picturesque and attractive.

[illegible]ng cantilever bridges are quite the vogue now with engineers. There is that one over the Niagara river, and another one over the Fraser river on the Canada Pacific railway. This build of bridge has been made possible by the the invention of cast steel.

Speaking in Congress.

The most nervous moment for a new member of congress is just before he is to make a speech. Many of the old members, even, are seized with "stage fright." The idea that the official reporters have ears for the whole country gives every speaker an uncomfortably large audience. Each man has his peculiar way of going about it. You can't tell when Randall or Morrison are going to speak until they are pretty well on toward their remarks. Morrison always stands for a moment half way down the second aisle on the Democratic side, with hands on the desks on either side. Then he speaks with deliberation, always taking two or three steps toward the speaker when much in earnest. He is always soon through. Randall always speaks from behind his own desk, and makes no preliminary movement. Hewitt is probably the only other who speaks entirely without warning. He goes off like powder—all in an instant. Some members load their desks for a speech; some load themselves. Some times three or four desks give warning of speeches. They are piled up with Congressional Records, revised statutes, official reports, newspaper clippings, and on top of all huge rolls of manuscript. These are always threatening.

Some members of experience put all this material inside their desks, and look very innocent, as if they were not going to say much. Then they take out a little at a time. There is a great difference in the bearing of a man when he is loaded with a speech. Butterworth, of Ohio, is one of those who lumbers up to a speech. For a few moments before he begins he seems to be engaged in unloading himself and hunching his joints, as an athlete who is about to make a wonderful leap. He crouches low in his desk and omits his chance. His face brightens up, the part gets out of his hair, and one look falls down on his forehead. He stretches out his arms and legs, works his shoulders to see that every joint is free, and when he gets up to speak he is like a willow.

Some members walk two or three times past the speaker's desk before they try to catch his eye. Some stand up in their places, clear their throats several times, pull up their sleeves, button their coats, feel their ties, and shut their desks two or three times, till their walk down the aisle is a long one indeed, say, "Mr. Speaker," frown all around, and sit down. Others do nothing in particular, and you can tell they are going to speak by the nervous glances they throw up at the speaker.—Washington Star.

PARLIAMENTARY MATTERS.

OTTAWA, April 14.—Sir John Macdonald is reported to be much improved in health. He attended a meeting of the Cabinet in the Eastern Block to-day, and afterwards took a drive, but did not come to the House of Commons.

ONE DISAPPOINTED—ONE GRATIFIED.

Mr. Thomas Speece, late Clerk of the Manitoba Legislature, who has been here for some time pressing his claims to an appointment as Immigration Agent at Medicine Hat, has been disappointed, the position having been given to Mr. Sutherland, son of the Tory Senator of that name.

GEORGIAN BAY FISHERMEN.

The unjust manner in which the fishermen of Collingwood and vicinity have been treated by the Fisheries Department is likely to become the subject of a Parliamentary discussion. Mr. Cook has given notice that on Monday next he will ask whether the Government have leased Squaw Island without reserving the privileges hitherto enjoyed by fishermen on that island, and whether they are aware that Clark & Co., of Collingwood, claim to have leased the said island, and refuse to allow fishermen to occupy their cabins or dry their nets unless all the fish caught by such fishermen are sold to Clark & Co.

THE TITLES QUESTION.

The question of titles and decorations was brought up to-day by Mr. Edgar, who criticised the selfish course of the Minister of Militia and General Middleton in recommending only themselves as persons to be decorated for service rendered in connection with the suppression of the North-West rebellion to the exclusion of all officers of the Canadian militia. Sir Adolphe, in reply, got off a lot of nonsense about "the action of Her Majesty," but Sir Richard pricked the Minister bubble by showing that the Dominion Government were fully responsible for the distribution of titles and decorations in all cases, because Her Majesty's Government had to depend for advice in such cases upon the Canadian Ministers. Sir Richard agreed with Mr. Edgar that the ignoring of the claims of all the Canadian militia officers who had taken an active part in suppressing the rebellion, and was also a manifest injustice, for which the Dominion Government were fully responsible.

A TOTTERING GOVERNMENT.

The Ministerial majority is tumbling fast, and judged by the standard applied to the Reform party by the Government organs, it is clear that the Tory party is fast going to pieces. In three weeks the Government majority has fallen from 94 to 23. The New Minister of Justice has turned out a veritable Jonah to his party. His domineering manner has aroused the hostility of his political friends and opponents, and when he attempted to apply the party whip to-night the result was a serious bolt from the Tory party. Without assigning any reason for his course, the Minister undertook to oppose Mr. M. C. Cameron's Bill to enable prisoners to give evidence in their own behalf, and called upon his followers to vote down the motion for the second reading, but a large number of prominent Conservatives refused to be dragooned in that fashion, although Mr. Thompson announced the opposition to the bill as part of the Government's policy. A very large number of the members were absent, otherwise the Minister might have found himself beaten. As it was, he escaped by a bare majority of twenty-three, Messrs. McCarthy, Beaty, O'Brien, Kilvert, Kranz, Wallace, of York, Burnham Hilliard, McNeill, Kinney and Woodworth voting with the Opposition.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The London Advertiser, in speaking of the services in St. Peter's Cathedral of that city on Sunday last, says:—"In the absence of Dr. Verrinder, who has been visiting in Detroit for a week past, Miss Hurley, the assistant organist, presided at the organ, and conducted the musical services at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday both morning and evening. The musical portion of the services was, as usual, first-class, and displayed to good advantage Miss Hurley's musical abilities." Miss Hurley is a daughter of Mr. T. Hurley, real estate agent, of this town.

Not only have the present Tory Government made it harder for the laborer and working man to live, by the imposition of grinding taxes; but these very taxes have been used to pay the passage of "assisted immigrants" into an already over-stocked labor market, to lower wages and enslave Canadian workmen out of a job. And the supporters of the government, continue to defend the unjust and unfair practice. In the discussion on Immigration matters in the House of Commons on Monday the Ministerialists defended their policy of paying the passages of immigrants coming to Canada, and announced that the same system was to be continued. While taxes are being piled up to protect monopolists, the money raised by the increased taxes is being spent in bringing out immigrants to compete in our already overcrowded labor market. The next general election will tell whether working men are the fools their Tory friends seem to think they are—and were in 1878 and 1882.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

AN ABLE AND ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO THE NEWSPAPER.

Text to the Bible is Preacher Christianity to the World—The Editor, Reporter and Compositor are Pictured in the Pulpit.

BROOKLYN, April 11.—Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., preached before a vast congregation this morning. The opening hymn began:

Grace Abounds to vilest Sinner,
The commonest of the colored jay
After supplying the pulpit with a text in reference to the spread of the Word all over the world, the eloquent speaker announced his text: Zechariah v. 1: "Behold a flying roll!" Dr. Talmage said:

This winged object of the text had on it a prophecy. The flying roll quickly is the newspaper. In interpreting the influences that civilized society you can no more afford to ignore it than you can ignore the noonday sun or the Atlantic ocean. It is high time that I preach a sermon expressing my appreciation of what the newspaper press has done and is doing. No man, living or dead, to or has been so indebted to it as I am, for it gives me perpetual audience in every city, town and neighborhood of Christendom, and I take this opportunity, before God and this people, to thank the editors and publishers and compositors the world over; and I give fair notice that I shall take every opportunity of enlarging this field, whether by stenographic report on the Sabbath or going speech on Monday or previous dictation. I have said again and again to the officers of this church, whoever else are crowded, don't let the reporters be crowded. Each responsible and intelligent reporter is worth to [illegible] churches built on to [illegible] Ninety-five per cent. of [illegible] now my friends, [illegible] still justice and more than justice, and the other five of the hundred are such notorious liars that nobody believes them. It was in self-defense that sixteen years ago I employed an official stenographer of my own because of the appalling misrepresentations of myself and church. From that, things have miraculously changed, until now it is just as appalling in the marvelous opportunity opened.

The newspaper is the great character of the Nineteenth century. There is no force compared with it. It is book, pulpit, platform, forum—all in one. And there is not an interest—religious, literary, commercial, artistic, agricultural or mechanical—that is not within its grasp. All our churches and schools and colleges and asylums and art galleries feel the quaking of the printing press.

The institution of newspapers arose in Italy. In Venice the first newspaper was published, and monthly, during the time that Venice was warring against Solyman II in Dalmatia, it was printed for the purpose of giving military and commercial information to the Venetians. The first newspaper published in England was in 1588, and called The English Mercury. Others were styled The Weekly Discoverer, The Secret Owl, Heraclitus Ridens, etc.

Who can estimate the political, scientific, commercial and religious revolutions roused up in England for many years past by Bell's Weekly Dispatch, The Standard, The Morning Chronicle, The Post and The London Times!

The first attempt at this institution in France was in 1631, by a physician, who published The News for the amusement and health of his patients. The French nation understood fully how to appreciate this power. Napoleon, with his own hand, wrote articles for the press, and so early as in 1809 there were in Paris 180 journals. But in the United States the newspaper has come to unlimited sway. Though in 1775 there were but thirty-seven in the whole country, the number of published journals is now counted by thousands, and to-day—we may as well acknowledge it as not—the religious and secular newspaper are the great educators of the country.

I find no difficulty in accounting for the world's advance. Four centuries ago, in Germany, in courts of justice men fought with their fists to see who should have the decision of the court, and if the judge's decision was unsatisfactory then the judge fought with counsel. Many of the lords could not read the deeds of their own estates. What has made the change?

Books, you say.

No sir! The vast majority of citizens do not read books. Take this audience, or any other of like number in this land. How many [illegible] on constitutional law, or political economy, or works of science? How many elaborate poems or books of travel? How much of Boyle, or De Tocqueville, Xenophon, or Herodotus, or Percival? Not many! In the United States the people would not average buy such book a year for each individual!

Whence, then, this intelligence; this capacity to talk about all themes—secular and religious; this acquaintances with science and art; this power to appreciate the beautiful and grand? Next to the Bible, the newspaper, spirit-winged, and every where present, flying over the fences, shoved under the door, tossed into the counting house, laid on the work bench, hawked through the cars! All read it, white and black, German, Irishman, Swiss, Spaniard, American, old and young, good and bad, sick and well, before breakfast and after tea, Monday morning Saturday night, Sunday and week day.

I now declare that I consider the newspaper to be the grand agency by which the gospel is to be preached, ignorance cast out, oppression dethroned, crime extirpated, the world united, heaven rejoiced and God glorified.

In the clanking of the printing press, as the sheets fly out, I hear the voice of the Lord Almighty proclaiming to all the dead nations of the earth: "Lazarus, come forth!" and to the retreating surges of darkness: "Let there be light!" In many of our city newspapers, professing no more than secular information, there have appeared during the past ten years some of the grandest appeals in behalf of religion, and some of the most effective interpretations of God's government among the nations.

There are only two kinds of newspapers—the one good; very good, the other bad, very bad. A newspaper may be started with an embodied character, but after it has been going on for years everybody finds out just what it is, and it is very good or it is very bad. The one paper is the embodiment of news, the ally of virtue, the foe of crime, the [illegible] of elegant taste, the mightiest agency on earth for making the world better. The other paper is a brigand amid moral forces, it is a [illegible] of corruption, it is the right arm of [illegible] hell, it is the mightiest agency in the universe for [illegible] the world worse and hurling the curse of God. The one is the angel of intelligence and mercy; the other a fiend of darkness. Between the [illegible] and this fury is to be fought the great battle which is to decide the fate of the sparkling [illegible] there any doubt as to which will be victorious? Read the prophecies. God, the chief patteries with [illegible] thunderbolts vindicate the right and thunder down the wrong. Jesus not yet [illegible] conquered. The great Armageddon of the REV. SAM JONES.

Brief Extracts From the Sermons of the Celebrated Southern Revivalist.

[illegible] let us let [illegible] alone and [illegible] go on and [illegible] When we hit things the far will fly, and when the far flies we are going to get the enemy out, and when we get the enemy out let us track them with the hounds of the Gospel and run them down. That is the idea. You know what I mean when I say there are questions, and [illegible] and I mean they are Hard. What has a liar got to do in the church of God? And I want to say here something that I wish to be understood. We have several different denominations. Do you know a denomination in this town that has not pronounced emphatic [illegible] against [illegible] dancing, theatre-going, card playing, [illegible] drinking? Do you know a church in this city of any denomination that has not thundered out against these things in the highest voice of that church? Do you know of a single one? Do you know every time a Presbyterian, [illegible] an Episcopalian, or a Lutheran, or a Methodist, or a Catholic, or a Baptist, or a Cumberland Presbyterian—do you know that every time one of their members says "our church has no objection to these things" that he tells a falsehood as black as any he ever told in his life? Thank God there is not a Christian church in the world that has not pronounced against these things.

Now you say; "Well, our little church around the corner don't object." Well, that little rotten thing you belong to—I wouldn't stay in there long enough to put my hat on, as I would be afraid it would fall down on me. "My church don't." I was going along some day on a train, and it stopped at the platform of a depot, and, as the train rolled up, I beheld three ladies standing there. And while the train stood there—I was right at the window of the [illegible] I heard one of these ladies say to another, "Are you going to the ball to-night?" The other said, "No! I am not going." "Are you not invited?" "Well," she says, "if I am I don't expect to go." "Oh," the first one said, "I beg your pardon, you are a Methodist, and you never go to such places. You are puritanical in your views." "Well, I must admit of being a Methodist, but I don't care to go to such places." "Oh, that is the way with you Methodists." About that time the train rolled off, and I wanted to jump up on the car and hurrah for Methodism.

That is like the Methodist preacher who preached away as hard as he could lam it on infant baptism, and every old sinner going to hell and the babies all asleep in their little beds.

And the Baptist preacher will be preaching much water, much water, much water, and half of his crowd going where they can't get a drop. God pity them! And the Presbyterian. He will preach as hard as he can lam it on election, and he has hardly got a candidate in his church. O brethren, let us lay aside such foolishness. And the Episcopalian preacher will be just giving his views on Apostolic succession, and there his crowd is, and what little they know on that subject will last them between this and the grave. They are going where they won't want to hear any more about it. The Lord pity you, filling ourselves up with all that, and saying: "We are right! We are right! We are right!" Brother, let me say to you: "I don't ask you how you was baptised, and whether you were in the regular line of Apostolic succession, but have you quit your meanness, and are you living right before God?" That is the rub! That is the rub!

As God is my judge, if I was the pastor of a charge in this city—and I never will be because I will never be called, and if I was called I wouldn't answer. I have got something that will beat it. But, hear me, If some of you who are running your churches belonged to my church, I would turn you out of my church, or I would burst that church into ten thousand pieces. You would have to get a new pastor or get out. You couldn't play cards, and dance, and go to the theatre and be one of my members. You hear that?

I had one old fellow say to me, "I will tell you how I felt." He said: "I love to sin a little; it makes me feel humble to sin." The old goose didn't know the difference between feeling mean and feeling humble. Said "I know thy works." I know you now, brother. If your works are right that is the best proof in the world that your faith is right. That is my doctrine. We get the cart before the horse frequently, and don't make much headway. You show me your faith without your works, and I will show you what I believe by the way I do.

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—The trade are respectfully requested to send in their orders without delay. S. DAVIS & SONS, Montreal and Toronto.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every household (it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but its saleability by any agent that will handle it) step sharp. Our agents now at work are making from $100 to $600 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a fair trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such an offer, for we if we did not know that five hundred agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and these one of our agents took thirteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

Two Good Reasons

Why our Millinery Show Rooms ought to be kept open all this week:

First—The weather in the early part of the week was unfavorable.

Second—The last days' openings were so encumbered that the crowds had not sufficient time to inspect our GRAND DISPLAY.

VERDICT PRONOUNCED:

Millinery Beautiful,

Assortment Complete,

Prices Correct.

We will continue our Millinery Opening until further notice.

Notice to Parents.

I have 50 pairs of Boys' Lace Boots that will be sold less than the cost. Men, now is the time to get your boots for your boys. All kinds of boots selling less than cost to make room for hand-made goods. JOHNSTON CASEY.

He Stopped the Army.

A party while driving down George street last night, stopped his steed in front of the Salvation Army lines when they were crossing the street at Hunter street. The army, instead of "Rolling the Old Chariot Along," as was expected they would, called a halt till the exultant driver was pleased to allow them to pass.

Funeral of the Late A. C. White.

The Oddfellows of the different lodges in town attended in a body the funeral of the late A. C. White, yesterday afternoon. The procession, which was a very large one, was headed by the Fire Brigade Band, followed by the brethren, wearing floral badges.

Ontario and Quebec Railway.

The Ontario and Quebec railway advertises for tenders for the construction of the extension from Smith's Falls to a point on the Atlantic and North-Western railway near Montreal, a distance of 121 miles. The work will be let in sections and classes, and is to be done in accordance with the plans and specifications, which may be seen at the engineer's office of the Canadian Pacific railway on and after May 1st.

Ran into the River.

Two steers, bought by Mr. W. Dancon for shipment, when being driven through town town to-day took it into their heads to give their driver the slip. They each took a separate course, running at a smart gait. One of the pair ran down Simcoe street into the river, but was easily persuaded to come out again. After having taken a bath it was a cooler and cleaner beast and consented to be driven to Mr. Dancon's stables. The other animal, which took an opposite course, had not been found at the time of writing.

A Horse's Joke on a Harness-Maker.

Mr. W. Paterson's driver took his horse to Mr. John Armstrong's harness shop this morning for a new collar, tie, etc. The animal allowed the driver to unhitch it from the vehicle to which it was attached, but when Mr. Armstrong placed the collar on its neck, it plunged, kicked and struggled till it broke the halter holding it, when it trotted off around the corner to Mr. B. Shortly's harness shop where it stopped short. Mr. Shortly, who happened to be at the door at the time, stepped to the side of the road, and, taking the horse by the forelock, held it till Mr. Armstrong and the driver appeared on the scene. Mr. Shortly procured a halter for the animal, after which it submitted to its fate and was led away, Mr. Shortly remarking, "Armstrong, that's a good joke on you; the horse knew it shouldn't go to you for harness."

South Ward School Promotions.

In consequence of the crowded state of Miss Sim's room, the following promotions have been made:—

Horses for the Northwest.

Mr. T. Cavanagh is buying for Ross & McDermott's stock farm in the Northwest Territory, a car load of young heavy draught horses. He has already purchased several fine animals and hopes to make up the number before the end of next week.

Assisting Schiverea.

Mr. Geo. B. Sproule has been in Lindsay for the past few days assisting F. Schiverea, the evangelist, in his work in that place. Rev. E. F. Torrance was up to Lindsay on Tuesday and took part in the services that evening. Mr. Geo. E. Williams, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has also been in Lindsay for the past few days, taking steps towards the establishment of a branch of the Y. M. C. A. in that town.

For Easter Beef.

Mr. C. D. Moore, of Smith, brought to town to-day a magnificent Durham steer, purchased by Mr. W. Wainwright, butcher, for his Easter beef display. Mr. Moore purchased the animal at the Central last fall, at which exhibition it took first prize for the best fat steer. Since that time Mr. Moore has fed the animal for the Easter market. It has not been weighed yet, but the purchaser is confident it will go 1,800 lbs.

Meet for the Season.

Mr. T. Cavanagh, of the Stewart House has for several weeks past been hiring men to go on the drives of Messrs. Ullyot Irwin and Rathbun, lumber merchants. Mr. Jas. Lynch, foreman for Mr. Ullyott will take a party of 25 men to Minden to-morrow. Messrs. John Morris and Michael Parks will each take over thirty men to Mr. Ullyot's camps at Burleigh. Mr. Coburn, foreman for Rathbun & Co., will leave town on Tuesday for the back lakes with a party of seventy men.

Queen's College Scholarship.

The Queen's College authorities, in acknowledging the receipt of the donation of Mrs. Nicholls to the endowment fund of Queen's University, Kingston, have given her the privilege of nominating a student to a scholarship, embracing the arts course, and Dr. Tassie has been chosen to select from the classes of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute the pupil most deserving of the honor. Both his judgment and fairness may be trusted to make the proper choice.

A Handsome Delivery Waggon.

Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger, carriage and waggon manufacturers, have just turned out of their shops a new and handsome double democrat delivery waggon for Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co. The box of the vehicle is painted a rich carmine, while the wheels and frame appear in the fashionable buttercup yellow with appropriate filigree scroll. The new rig will be put on the road to-morrow, drawn by two jet black horses, and it is said will be the handsomest delivery turnout in town.

P. B. C.

The annual meeting of the club is to be held at the boat house this evening. Notwithstanding the fact that boating interests have been very quiet for some time past, there is still a good deal of spirit and life in the club, and with proper management there is no reason why it should not be as prosperous in the future as in the past. The canoeing element this season promises to be more active than ever before. In this connection we may mention that on Monday last Mr. Porteous, Mr. J. G. Edwards and Mr. Stewart, of the Lindsay canoe club, were in Peterborough, and while here had some [illegible] of the P. B. C. with a view of [illegible] Lindsay, to be competed for annually between the two clubs. It was also agreed to hold a joint spring meet of the members of the Lindsay, Peterborough and Bobcaygeon clubs [illegible] to that held last year. Jacob's Island, on Pigeon Lake, and Sturgeon Point were suggested as places for holding the meet. The members of the three clubs would go into camp on Saturday evening and remain over Monday, the 24th, on which day sailing and paddling races could be carried out. These matters, amongst others, will be discussed at the meeting this evening.

The weather is reported splendid in Manitoba. Seeding, which commenced the latter part of March, is well advanced.

A Handsome Delivery Waggon.

Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger, carriage and waggon manufacturers, have just turned out of their shops a new and handsome double democrat delivery waggon for Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co. The box of the vehicle is painted a rich carmine, while the wheels and frame appear in the fashionable buttercup yellow with appropriate filigree scroll. The new rig will be put on the road to-morrow, drawn by two jet black horses, and it is said will be the handsomest delivery turnout in town.

P. B. C.

The annual meeting of the club is to be held at the boat house this evening. Notwithstanding the fact that boating interests have been very quiet for some time past, there is still a good deal of spirit and life in the club, and with proper management there is no reason why it should not be as prosperous in the future as in the past. The canoeing element this season promises to be more active than ever before. In this connection we may mention that on Monday last Mr. Porteous, Mr. J. G. Edwards and Mr. Stewart, of the Lindsay canoe club, were in Peterborough, and while here had some [illegible] of the P. B. C. with a view of [illegible] Lindsay, to be competed for annually between the two clubs. It was also agreed to hold a joint spring meet of the members of the Lindsay, Peterborough and Bobcaygeon clubs [illegible] to that held last year. Jacob's Island, on Pigeon Lake, and Sturgeon Point were suggested as places for holding the meet. The members of the three clubs would go into camp on Saturday evening and remain over Monday, the 24th, on which day sailing and paddling races could be carried out. These matters, amongst others, will be discussed at the meeting this evening.

The weather is reported splendid in Manitoba. Seeding, which commenced the latter part of March, is well advanced.

Town Council.

Town Council met last night. All the members present except Councillor [illegible]. The Town Treasurer's [illegible] to-day.

Several parties were last heating yesterday evening.

Madre E Hijo (nine) Reina Victoria, 2 for 25 cents.

The river is still rising—it is now up to high water mark.

The close season for bass and pickerel began yesterday.

The street cleaning brigade are busy as bees in clover time.

Next Sunday is Superannuation Sunday in the Methodist churches.

Madre E Hijo Cigars (nine) Pins, 10 cents. Try them; very choice.

The pensioners of the Belleville district were paid off on Thursday.

The [illegible] Committee is busy arranging for the sports on the 24th.

The official programme of P. A. A. A. 24th athletic sports will be issued shortly.

Hunter and Water streets have had their winter and spring overcoats removed.

Queen street has a juvenile lacrosse club, which has commenced practice in earnest.

The first train of square timber passed south over the Grand Junction yesterday.

An Italian harper was around town this morning in endowment of the real advent of spring.

Madre E Hijo Cigars.—Try them. Exceptionally fine. Superior to any Imported cigar in the market.

Football has opened in Belleville. The [illegible] was [illegible] by one of the players breaking a leg.

Sport doesn't pay in Prince Edward. Picton driving park, which cost $5,800, is offered for sale for $2,500.

Kingston is "in for" a terrible calamity. There is to be a competition in that city between the Salvation and Army bands.

Cox & Co's branch office, commission and stock broking, is now open in the Opera House block, Mr. F. Scrimger, manager.

Madre E Hijo Cigars.—Sizes Perfectors, 15 cents, Pins, 10 cents. S. Davis & Sons new brand. They speak for themselves.

Norley, ex-coach of the cricket club, will go in a day or two to fill his engagement with the Buffalo Cricket Club.

There is abundance of athlete rehearsing these days by members of the different clubs and by prospective participants in the games.

The spring pools and brooks in the suburbs are imitating human society—they are full of croakers. The frogs are in full chorus.

Madre E Hijo Cigars.—Dealers will kindly forward their orders for the above brand, with as little delay as possible as our stock on hand is limited.

Mr. James Watson, who was one of the caretakers of the skating rink last winter, has been appointed custodian of the grounds of the P.A.A.A., Ashburnham.

Spring ballasting operations are brisk on the Midland system of the G. T. R.—to get ready for the timber traffic which is expected to begin at once.

For the best value in groceries, wines and liquors, go to Morrow, Tierney & Co's, where will be found a full stock of the cheapest groceries and purest liquors. Call and secure the full value of your money.

Wm. Coe, of Madoc, sues S. J. Ritchie, et al, of the Coe Mining Company, for $50,000 due on shares, and Ritchie retaliates by suing for $500,000 in respect of wrongful information.

Mr. R. Fanning, employed in the Wm. Hamilton manufacturing works, strained himself while lifting a heavy weight, and in consequence will be confined to his house for a few days.

We are now showing the largest and best assorted stock of spring and summer Dress Goods we have ever shown. You can buy a good Stuff Dress at the Golden Lion from 75c. up. Try our Miss Gilchrist for your Spring Wrap or Dolman. Fit guaranteed.

R. FAIR.

Personal.

Mr. John Garvey, of London, is in town to-day.

Mr. T. W. Casey, Provincial License Inspector, was in town yesterday, and left this morning for Belleville.

Mr. O. Telgmann, advance agent for the Telgmann Septette Club, was in town yesterday, arranging for the appearance of the club in Peterborough on the 29th inst. The organization has been strengthened since its appearance in Peterborough last fall, having added to the company Mr. J. Kelly, the leading banjo of Canada.

Police Court.

His Worship Mayor Stevenson presided at the Police Court this morning. Thomas Meyers, [illegible] Lockport, N. Y., arrested by P. C. Adams last night, was arraigned before the court this morning on a charge of larceny preferred by George Waters.

Waters stated that the prisoner had entered [illegible] Roddy's hotel last night and stolen about $17 from him, taking it out of his trousers pocket. Mr. Roddy informed him that he saw the prisoner in his room searching his pockets.

The prisoner denied all knowledge of the theft, and commenced to give an account of where he had been during the evening. When asked to plead guilty or not guilty, he said, with an engaging smile, "Not guilty."

His Worship enlarged the case till to-morrow morning, committing the prisoner to jail.

Nothing Like It.

Nothing like Rhonite Gloss for kid boots; cheap and elegant. It will not crack either; only to be had at Foot & McWhinnie's.

Boots for Spring.

Spring and summer boots and shoes now opened out at Foot & McWhinnie's. See them, they are sure to please.

Real Estate.

Lots in the north end of the town; all prices and terms; money advanced to build. Bryson & Delaney, Real Estate Agents. Office, opposite Criterion hotel.

Rolls to Setting.

The Peterborough Yeast Company's baking school on Water street is drawing larger crowds than the Lansdowne rink. Hot rolls are evidently a greater attraction than rollers; then there are other attractions, too.

Special Sermon.

On Sunday morning, in the Charlotte street Methodist church, the Rev. F. H. Wallis will preach a special sermon to [illegible] and in the evening Rev. I. Tovell will occupy the pulpit.

The Twelfth of July.

By a clerical error it was stated in yesterday's issue that the County Orange Lodge had accepted the invitation of "Peterborough" to spend the Twelfth in Belleville. The error is self-evident—of course "Hastings" was meant.

Horses for the Northwest.

Mr. T. Cavanagh is buying for Ross & McDermott's stock farm in the Northwest Territory, a car load of young heavy draught horses. He has already purchased several fine animals and hopes to make up the number before the end of next week.

Assisting Schiverea.

Mr. Geo. B. Sproule has been in Lindsay for the past few days assisting F. Schiverea, the evangelist, in his work in that place. Rev. E. F. Torrance was up to Lindsay on Tuesday and took part in the services that evening. Mr. Geo. E. Williams, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has also been in Lindsay for the past few days, taking steps towards the establishment of a branch of the Y. M. C. A. in that town.

For Easter Beef.

Mr. C. D. Moore, of Smith, brought to town to-day a magnificent Durham steer, purchased by Mr. W. Wainwright, butcher, for his Easter beef display. Mr. Moore purchased the animal at the Central last fall, at which exhibition it took first prize for the best fat steer. Since that time Mr. Moore has fed the animal for the Easter market. It has not been weighed yet, but the purchaser is confident it will go 1,800 lbs.

Meet for the Season.

Mr. T. Cavanagh, of the Stewart House has for several weeks past been hiring men to go on the drives of Messrs. Ullyot Irwin and Rathbun, lumber merchants. Mr. Jas. Lynch, foreman for Mr. Ullyott will take a party of 25 men to Minden to-morrow. Messrs. John Morris and Michael Parks will each take over thirty men to Mr. Ullyot's camps at Burleigh. Mr. Coburn, foreman for Rathbun & Co., will leave town on Tuesday for the back lakes with a party of seventy men.

Queen's College Scholarship.

The Queen's College authorities, in acknowledging the receipt of the donation of Mrs. Nicholls to the endowment fund of Queen's University, Kingston, have given her the privilege of nominating a student to a scholarship, embracing the arts course, and Dr. Tassie has been chosen to select from the classes of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute the pupil most deserving of the honor. Both his judgment and fairness may be trusted to make the proper choice.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

CHAPTER I.

Sir Raye Vibart was tired, worn out with work, weary of the dusty city and of the arduous labor that had once been the keenest delight of his life. He had never spared himself; he had labored with head and with brain from early morning until late at night, and had never remembered that the time must come when brain and hand would both tire. He worked entirely for love of his work. He had no wife to share his honors and riches, no children to inherit them, and he was quite alone in the world. When friends asked him why he worked so hard, having neither wife nor child, with nor kin, his answer was always—

"For the love of it."

He had amassed a large fortune, and had purchased a magnificent estate called Eulworth, near the pretty town of Tor Beacon, in Surrey. He had successfully conducted a great engineering feat, having built a bridge over one of the swiftest rivers and broadest streams in England. It had been a gigantic undertaking, on which the eyes of scientific men had been fixed with eager attention, for the river deepened and broadened until it was neither more nor less than the arm of the sea, with a strong tide ebbing and flowing; and the bridge had to be built where the stream was widest. Sceptics had refused to believe it was possible; but Sir Raye smiled and said there was no feat so difficult but that time and patience could accomplish it.

What obstacles he met with, what difficulties he overcame, what remarkable talent he displayed, what energy and resource, were topics that were discussed almost daily.

A royal personage went to open the bridge, and commended it as one of the greatest works of the age. The Queen knighted the engineer and spoke words of praise that almost brought tears to his eyes; and the world of science and art and fashion did homage to him.

And now life seemed suddenly to collapse; his brain was tired, and he could not work. The world seemed all at once to have grown empty; and he sat with aching head and with slowly-beating heart, wondering what had come over him, what was the matter, and why life had changed and gone wrong. Grave-faced doctors came to him and told him that he must rest. He smiled as he heard the word.—If he went to Eulworth Hall, the princely residence which he had purchased, there would be no rest. People would come to see him; he would be compelled to entertain and visit; and he did not feel equal to either.

"If I were in your place, Sir Raye," said the first doctor—one of the most skilful professional men in London—"I should leave all care behind me, and go to some quiet farm-house, far in the heart of the country, and really rest from everything. Spend your time in the fields, and listen to nothing save the songs of birds."

Sir Raye saw reason in the advice, and complied with it. Fate led him to the pretty country town of Holwood, in Kent, and he found lodgings in a small neat farm-house near there. Every care was left behind, and he gave himself up to the full enjoyment of a sleepy country life, which was so unlike the other life he had led.

Meadow Farm was an old-fashioned house, built of gray stone, and covered with trailing roses, a large white jessamine almost hiding the porch from view. The farm looked most picturesque, with its rich meadow-land, its green foliage, its clear pools where the cattle drank, its cornfields and stacks of hay.

On a lovely June day Sir Raye Vibart stood at the white gate that gave access to the meadows, lost in admiration, his heart warmer than it had been since he knelt at his mother's knee, for there was something in the blue sky, in the sweet fresh breath of the wind, in the joyous song of the birds, in the odors that arose from the leaves and flowers, that sent his thoughts to Heaven, and left him like a simple child before the great open heart of Nature.

Behind him was the pretty farm, and before him was field after field, until the green grass resembled a great green sea. In the midst of the verdant expanse golden buttercups and white daisies gleamed.—He had forgotten his busy life, with its cares and troubles, and his heart was at peace under the smile of the summer heavens. A lark rose suddenly and soared higher and higher in the air until lost to sight, leaving an echo of song behind it; on the blackthorn near him the thrush began its sweet music; rabbits peeped from the green banks, and a group of rosy-faced children crossed the meadow, laden with flowers. He watched them all with the eye of an artist. Then he saw a herd of cattle going to one of the clear bright pools to drink, and he slowly followed them.—The pool at the end of the meadow was called the Meadow Pond; and there he saw something that interested him far more than the cows.

A fair-haired boy, with a sweet thoughtful face, was trying to launch a little toy steamer, and make it keep steady in the water. A memory of the deep rushing river, the strong tides, and the fierce winds that did their best to destroy his bridges came over him as he watched the boy. The steamer would not keep steady. It leaned first on one side, then on the other; and the boy with infinite patience, took it from the water, time after time, but could not remedy the defect.

The man understood the patient struggle with difficulties, and he went to where the boy knelt among the long lush grass.

"Did you make the little boat yourself?" he asked.

The boy's face colored as he answered—

"Yes."

"Let me look at it," said Sir Raye.

The wet boat was placed in his hand.

"Suppose we see where the defect lies. What is your name?"

"Vane Fraser," answered the boy, starting as though, in his interest concerning the boat, he had forgotten his own identity.

"Vane Fraser! Then you live at the farm where I lodge?"

"Yes," was the brief answer.

"I will show you, Vane Fraser, where you have erred in making your boat."

Sir Raye knelt in the grass by the boy's side and explained clearly and briefly the cause of the defect.

"Do you understand?" he asked after a time, and the boy's face brightened as he replied—

"Yes. I have made dozens of boats," he added, "and none of them were right. Now I shall never have another failure."

"You seem sure of success!" laughed Sir Raye.

"Yes—because I know now how to make them," answered Vane Fraser; "and, when I knew how to make anything succeed, I could not let it fail."

This spirited answer delighted Sir Raye. He looked more intently at the eager handsome face.

"So you live at the farm?" he said. "Do you like farming?"

"No; I detest it," answered Vane.—"Nothing could ever make me a farmer."

"Why?" asked Sir Raye.

The boy looked thoughtful.

"I am not quite sure whether I understand myself why I dislike it," he answered. "I do not care for the life; and another thing is, I am not quite sure if I should care to wait so long for the result of my work as a farmer must wait. He sows, but he must wait a long time until he reaps. He must wait for the sun and the rain and the dew to perfect what he's done. I should like the work of my life to be that which I can begin and finish without long waiting."

"The secret of genius is patience," sighed Sir Raye.

The boy's face brightened.

"Ah, yes; I know! Of that patience I shall have plenty. I make and remake a boat twenty—nay, a hundred times, if needed. But I should not like to wait while bad weather ruined the crops. My mother has promised never to ask me to stay at home."

"What do you want to do then?" asked the man who had conquered all difficulties by his own industry.

"I want to be an engineer—to make railways, to build bridges. I should like to level mountains and to fill up valleys. I should like to have made the Suez Canal. The earth seems made for men to master and not to work upon."

"You have strange ideas for a boy of your age," said Sir Raye. "How is it?"

"I was afraid you would think me strange," he replied shyly. "My mother says the same thing. I do not know why it is. My brother loves farm-work, and takes to it naturally. My mother says I made bridges out of bread-crumbs when I was quite a little child."

"You have a strongly marked vocation," said Sir Raye.

"I wish I could believe so. If loving anything means having a vocation for it, then you are right," returned the boy.

Sir Ray looked at him thoughtfully.

"Would you like to leave the farm, and study, so as to qualify yourself for the building of bridges?" he asked; and the boy's face brightened wonderfully.

"That is what I should like if it could be!" he cried.

"We will think it over and talk about it," said Sir Raye; and then he left him.

CHAPTER II.

In many parts of England one may find pretty picturesque farms embowered in trees like the Meadow Farm; but in every farm-house one cannot find a genius—"born, not made." Nature had been lavish in her gifts to this son of the people. She had given him a handsome face, with a broad open brow, rounded at the temples, and large, frank, clear blue eyes, with a sweetness all their own. It was a singular face, although a handsome one.—The upper part—the open brow, the clear eloquent eyes—was the face of a poet.—The lower part—the firm well-closed lips, the determined chin betokened great aptitude for business. Nature had also given him a musical voice, a cheery genial laugh, a small well-knit figure, with broad chest and broad shoulders. Yet these were the least of her gifts. He had a poet's soul, and a quick, keen, loving appreciation of all that was beautiful. Vane Fraser had ambition, which upheld his genius, and made it of use to him. He was out of place at the farm, where everyone worked from sunrise to sunset, where ambition and enterprise were dead letters, and the quality most valued was stolid industry.

The household at the farm was limited. The father, Stephen Fraser, was a simple honest man who had not an idea outside his farm—to whom the rain and the sunshine, the frost and the warmth, made up the sum total of life. He loved his wife and his children in a plain unaffected fashion. He was a perfect type of the English tenant-farmer—learned in all matters that concerned the weather, the crops, and cattle, but utterly ignorant of life or the world outside the farm. His younger son Vane he did not understand—indeed he had something like contempt for the boy who pored over books while everyone else slept, and yet did not care to put his hand to the plow. But, when he found that his son, by a simple invention of his own, lessened to some extent the labor of plowing, his contempt was absorbed in admiration.

"He is not like the rest of us," he would say, alluding to Vane.

With wondering eyes he followed the boy's movements. Vane invented a fastening for the gates, which the farmer never wearied of showing to his friends and neighbors; in fact, the little farm was full of his inventions. There was not a gate, a door, or a window, that Vane had not in some way improved, altered or replaced. He had made the pretty rustic stance over the brook; he had designed a rough bridge that should save people walking a distance of two miles; and the good homely father, plodding along contentedly at his plow, wondered how it was that he had so clever a son, and whence the largeness his talent.

The mother, for the Meadow Farm, Catherine Fraser, was superior to her husband. She was a woman of great natural talent, but of little education; and it was from her that Vane inherited his genius.—The farmer had a great respect for his wife. He daily lifted perfections her homely famous for its excellence; her butter was the richest and the milk the sweetest, for miles round. Had any one told the farmer that the wife of his youthful longings—the wife never grumbled, whose chief thought was the comfort of others, thought that knew no wording he would have suffered to endure to our ideal—Catherine Fraser had one idol on earth, and it was the gifted son in whom her soul found voice.

SIR JOHN RESIGNS.

The Chieftain Retires from Public Life.

To-day's Toronto News announces that Sir John Macdonald has resolved to retire from public life, and that journal publishes a five column letter signed by the Premier purporting to be his farewell address to the people of Canada.

If the rumor is a hoax it is a most elaborate one. We have wired Ottawa for confirmation or disproof, but up to press have received no reply.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

THURSDAY, APRIL 15th.

In the House of Commons to-day, Dr. Orton introduced a Bill to allow the sale of beer, wine, &c., in Scott Act counties.

Sir Hector Langevin's Bill to amend the Postoffice Act, 1875, was read the third time.

Mr. Pope introduced a Bill founded on a resolution respecting the subsidy to the Chignecto Valley Railway Co. Sir Hector Langevin, to amend the Interpretation Act, and Mr. Thompson's Bill respecting the application of certain fines and forfeitures were passed in committee and read the third time.

The House went into committee on Mr. Thompson's Bill respecting summary proceedings before magistrates and other justices, and made some progress with it.

After recess, on motion to go into supply, Mr. Cameron (Huron) moved an amendment, condemning the Indian policy of the Government. Sir Hector Langevin, Mr. Paterson (Brant), Mr. Ferguson (Leeds), Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Fairbank, Mr. Cameron (Middlesex), Mr. Charlton, and Mr. Watson took part in the debate which followed. The amendment was lost on a vote of 114 to 65, a majority of only 49. The House adjourned at 2.05.

Police Court.

Thos. Meyers, remanded to jail yesterday on a charge of larceny, preferred by George Waters, was brought before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning. The prisoner again pleaded not guilty.

George Waters, sworn.—On the 15th inst. I put up at Roddy's hotel; I had about $17 in my possession. Before going to bed I treated at the bar, paying 25c. Mr. Roddy showed me to bed; I was not drunk, but had been drinking. Roddy called me in the morning telling me that a friend had been in my room last night with my trousers in his hands. I said I had no friend. On searching my pockets I found that my money was gone, with the exception of 5c. In company with Roddy I went out and found the prisoner. I asked him to give me back what money he had left of what he had taken; he denied taking the money. I then had him arrested.

When questioned by the prisoner the witness denied that Myers had assisted him to bed. He also stated that he did not ever remember seeing the prisoner until Mr. Roddy pointed him out as the man who was in his room. The prisoner asked him if he had not asked him to take him to Roddy's hotel when he was standing in front of it, to which he answered no.

R. N. Roddy.—The prisoner boarded at my house till I put him out on the 16th; I escorted Watters to his room that night; I saw the prisoner in Watters' room with Watters' trousers in his hands; I was passing the room and the door was open; I asked him what business he had in Watters' room, and he replied that he was a friend of his and that he was seeing him to bed. I ordered him out, and he refused to go at first; when I spoke of calling a policeman, he, the prisoner, said he would go for one, and left the house. I believe he returned with a policeman. Watters had been drinking but was not drunk; he could take care of himself.

To the prisoner.—Watters did break a window during the night; he did not ask you for the remainder of the money in my presence before he had you arrested; I said in the bar-room that Watters was good to crack a bottle of wine.

Other witnesses also gave evidence.

The magistrate, after summing up the evidence, discharged the prisoner.

Handsome It Was!

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—In your last evening's issue you gave a descriptive notice of Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co's delivery waggon, which you very correctly say was "one of the handsomest in town," but you made a mistake in saying that it was built by Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger. The rig was built by us for Mr. H. Rush last season, but when their business changed hands to Morrow, Tierney & Co., it was re-lettered and varnished to suit, but it was incorrect to say it was built by F. & S. It is one of the most popular delivery rigs built by us, and was simply re-lettered by F. & S. It is a really first-class delivery waggon, and our only object in writing you is that credit will be given where credit is due. Our work speaks for itself and we do not intend that other businesses shall be built up on our reputation.

Sons of Toil.

Items of Interest to Working Men.

Trouble has arisen at Guelph between the Bell Organ Co. and its employes.

Fifty cutters employed in a boot and shoe factory at Newburyport, Mass., lately struck for an increase of wages.

J. J. Hunter, of Norristown, Pa., recently raised the wages of his mill hands 10 per cent. without solicitation.

The miners at Mount Pulaski, Ill., are still on strike for 72½c. per ton, as against 70c. per ton formerly received.

Hereafter the plumbers and gas-fitters of Brooklyn, N. Y., will only work nine hours per day and eight hours on Saturday.

Nearly all the unions of a local character in Toronto which have not already done so are taking steps to join the Knights of Labour.

S. Baron & Co., of Brooklyn, N.Y., manufacturers of cardigan jackets, have granted their employes an increase of 17 per cent. in wages.

Redcliffe Bros., manufacturers of woolen goods at Shelton, Conn., have reduced the working hours of their employes from 11 to 10 hours per day.

The joint committee of the hatmakers and hatfinishers which met recently in New York adopted a resolution to join the Knights of Labour in a body.

The 10 per cent. advance demanded by the iron moulders of Pittsburgh, Pa., has been conceded by the great majority of firms, and all danger of a strike has been averted.

The New Jersey rod-carriers have decided on nine hours as a day's work, except on Saturday, which will be only eight hours. The wages will be $2.50 per day, and no non-union bricklayers are to be served.

At a recent meeting of the master tailors and employers of Philadelphia, it was resolved to complete a permanent organization and apply for admission to the K. of L.

Messrs. Hill & Fritz, tobacco manufacturers, of St. Louis, Mo., have voluntarily inaugurated the eight-hour system in their factory, without any reduction from the existing rate of wages.

The Medina Hollow-ware Works, of Cleveland, Ohio, have granted an increase of wages of 10 per cent. to employees. This establishment is one of the largest of its kind on the Continent.

It is reported that the Toronto Street Railway is flagrantly violating the conditions upon which its employees recently resumed work, and considerable influence is required to keep the men at work for the present.

Some two hundred employees of the Lancaster Gingham mills at Clinton, Mass., were about to make a demand for higher wages, but were agreeably anticipated by the firm announcing an increase over former wages.

Fifteen hundred employees of the Muller Morocco factory at Wilmington, Del., are out again on strike, owing to the firm not keeping faith with the Knights of Labour in adhering to a settlement recently entered into.

Between 400 and 500 men employed in a silk dye works at Paterson, N. J., lately struck because two foremen were discharged for being Knights of Labour. As work was very busy, it is not expected the strike will last long.

Nearly all the carriage-body manufacturers of New Haven, Conn., having conceded the increase asked for by the employees, the latter will return to work. The few who still decline to grant the increase are expected to submit to arbitration.

The strike of 3,000 operatives at Cohoes, N. Y., has ended, the employers having, after fifteen days, conceded to the demand made. The Knights of Labour succeeded in effecting the settlement, one condition of which is that no operatives shall be discharged because of the strike.

Three of the largest cigar factories in Reading, Pa., have closed down, throwing some 400 persons out of employment. For this movement various causes are assigned, among which is one that the firms are anxious that the men, who belong to the Cigar-makers' Union, should become Knights of Labor, so that the cigars may bear the K. of L. labels.

The Trades and Labor Assembly of Chicago, which corresponds to the Central Labor Union of New York, has adopted a resolution declaring that hereafter any union of the assembly desiring the support of the central organization in a strike must submit a statement of its grievances to the latter. The assembly will then place the whole matter in the hands of an arbitration committee which "shall use all honorable and peaceful means for the adjustment of the difficulty, and no boycott shall be issued against any firm until such arbitration shall have failed." The responsibility of no boycott or strike will be assumed by the assembly unless its absolute authority in the matter in conjunction with a committee from the union shall be recognized.

By Special Request of His Patrons.

Prof. Dorenwend, the enterprising hair goods manufacturer, of Toronto, has made arrangements to be in Peterborough for two days only, to enable those who could not see him on his last visit to procure what they required in his line. He will be at Phelan's Hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, April 21st and 22nd. The selection he offers on this trip is larger than ever, and all should go and see his new styles of Reversible, Langtry and Parisian Bangs, Water Waves, Switches, Wigs, &c.

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—Since Perfectos, 15 cents, Pins, 10 cents. S. Davis & Sons new brand. They speak for themselves.

Don't Be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Fluid Lightning.

All sufferers from that terrible torment, Neuralgia, can be made happy in one moment by a single application of Fluid Lightning briskly rubbed on painful parts, and without using any disgusting medicine day after day with little or no result. Fluid Lightning also cures as effectually Toothache, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Headache, and is only 25 cents per bottle at J. McKee's Drug Store. d86-eod-w14

Strictly True

In every respect and attested by the testimony of thousands that Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is a sure and painless cure for corns. The claim that it is just as good made by those endeavoring to palm off imitations for the genuine only proves the superiority of "Putnam's." Use only Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sure, safe painless. d86-9t-w15'14

CAMPBELL'S
TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

AN ABLE AND ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO THE NEWSPAPER.

Due to the Bible it Preaches Christianity to the World—The Editor, Reporter and Compositor are Praised and Criticised Alike.

(Published After Yesterday.)

...odern is not to be fought with swords, but with steel pens; not with bullets, but with type; not with cannon, but with lightning-speaking; printer and the Sunday-...the Gospels of that combine with the editorial and reportorial rooms of our great newspaper establishments. Men of the press, under God, you are to decide whether the human race shall be saved or lost. God has put a more stupendous responsibility upon you than upon any other class of persons. What lofty studies your profession has made in Edinburgh and Paris since the day when Peter Shoffer invented cast metal type, and because two books were found just alike they were ascribed to the work of the devil; and books were printed on strips of bamboo; and Rev. Jesse Glover originated the first American printing press; and the common council of New York, in solemn resolution, offered £40 to any printer who would come there and live; and when the speaker of the house of parliament in England announced with indignation that the public prints had recognized some of their doings, until in this day, when we have in this country about five hundred skilled compositors, and about thirteen thousand newspapers printing, in one year, two billion five hundred million copies. The press and the telegraph have come down into the same ground to reap, and the telegraph says to the newspaper: "I'll rake while you bind," and the iron teeth of the telegraph ...ll sweep at one end of the harvest field, and the press at the other, and the newspaper gathers up the sheaves, setting down one sheaf on the breakfast table in the shape of a morning newspaper, and putting down another sheaf on the tea table in the shape of an evening newspaper; and that man who neither reads nor takes a newspaper would be a curiosity. What vast progress since the day when Cardinal Wolsey declared that either the printing press must go down or the Church of God must go down, to this time, when the printing press and the pulpit are in combination; and a man on the Sabbath day may preach the gospel to 500 people, while on Monday morning, through the secular journals, he may preach that gospel to millions.

Notwithstanding all this that you have gained in position and influence, men of the press, how many words of sympathy do you get during the course of a year? Not ten. How many sermons of practical helpfulness for your profession are preached during the twelve months? Not one. How many words of execration and denunciation and hypercriticism do you get in that same length of time? About 10,000. If you are a typesetter and get the type in the wrong font the foreman storms at you. If you are a foreman and cannot surmount the insurmountable, and get the "forms" ready at just the time, the publisher denounces you. If you are a publisher and make mismanagement, then the owners of the paper will be hard on ...t of dividend. If you are an ...and you announce an unpopular sentiment, all the pens of Christendom are flung at you. If you are a reporter, you shall be held responsible for the indistinctness of public speakers, and for the blunders of typesetters, and for the fact that you cannot work quite so well in the flickering gaslight and after midnight as you do in the noonday. If you are a proofreader, upon you shall come the united wrath of editor, reporter and reader, because you do not properly arrange the periods, and the semicolons, and the exclamation points and the asterisks. Plenty of abuse for you, but no sympathy. Having been in a position where I could see these things going on from year to year I have thought that this morning I would preach a sermon on the trials of the newspaper profession, praying that God may bless the sermon to all those to whom this message may come and treating those not in the profession to a more kindly and lenient bearing toward those who are.

One of the great trials of this newspaper profession is the fact that they are compelled to see more of the shams of the world than any other profession. Through every newspaper office, day by day, go the weaknesses of the world that vanities that want to be puffed, the frauds that want to be ferreted, all the mistakes that want to be corrected, all the dull speakers who want to be thought eloquent, all the meannesses that wants to get its wares noticed gratis in the editorial columns, in order to save the tax of the advertising column; all the men who want to be set right, who never were right; all the crack-brained philosophers, with puzzled look at their hair and as gloomy as their finger nails in mourning because bereft of soap; all the itinerant bores who come to stay five minutes and stop an hour. From the editorial and reportorial rooms all the follies and shams of the world are seen day by day, and the temptation is to believe neither in God, man nor woman. It is no surprise to me that in your profession there are some skeptical men. I only wonder that you believe anything. Unless an editor or reporter has in his present or his early home a model of earnest character, or he throw himself upon the upholding grace of God, he must make temporal and eternal shipwreck.

Another great trial of the newspaper profession is inadequate compensation. Since the days of Haslitt, and Sheridan, and John Milton, and the wailings of Grub street, London, literary toil, with very few exceptions, has not been properly requited. When Oliver Goldsmith received a friend in his house, he, the author, had to sit on the window, because there was only one chair. Linacre sold his splendid work for a denot. De Foe, the author of 248 volumes, died penniless. The learned Johnson dined behind the screen because his clothes were too shabby to allow him to dine with the gentlemen who, on the other side of the screen were applauding his works. And so on down to the present time, literary toil is a great struggle for bread. The world seems to have a grudge against a man who, as they say, gets his living by his wits; and the day laborer says to the man of literary toil: "You come down and shovel asphalt, and hammer a pavement, and break cobblestones and earn an honest living as I do, instead of sitting there in idleness scribbling!" But God knows that no more laborious worked man in all this world than the newspaper people of this country. It is not a matter of hard times; it is a characteristic of all times. Men have a better appreciation for that which appeals to the stomach, than for that which appeals to the brain. They have no idea of the immense financial and intellectual enterprises of the newspaper press. They grumble because they have to pay five cents a copy, and wish they had only to pay three, or paying three, they wish they had only to pay one. While there are a few exceptions—both among low do make large fortunes—the large majority of newspaper people in this day, have a struggle for livelihood; and if in their hardships and ...they sometimes think things they ought not to write, let these facts be an alleviation. O, men of the press, it will be a great help to you if when you come home late at night, fagged out and nervous with your work, you would just kneel down and commend your case to God, who has promised to be your friend and will take care of you another hour.

Another great trial of the newspaper profession is the diseased appetite for unhealthy intelligence. You blame the newspaper for giving such prominence to murders and outrages. Maybe, because God in many cases makes it the duty of the press to bring ...to light. If the people did not demand them! I go into the most modest of a foreign city, and I find that the butchers hang up on the most conspicuous hooks meat that is tainted, while the meat that is fresh and tempting is put away private and shrouded care. I argue to the conclusion that the people of that city love tainted meat. You know very well that if the great mass of people in this country got hold of a newspaper, and there are in it no runaway matches, no broken-up families, no denunciation of men in high position, they would ...the paper behind. That say, "It is abominably dull to-night." I believe it some of the trials of the newspaper press that the people of this country demand moral stuff instead of healthy, intellectual food. Now, you are a respectable man, an intelligent man, and a paper comes into your hand. You open it, and there are three columns of splendidly written editorial, recommending some moral sentiment, or evolving some scientific theory. In the next column there is a miserable, contemptible divorce case. Which do you read first? You dip into the editorial long enough to say: "Well, that's very ably written," and you read the divorce case from the "long primer" type at the top to the "nonpareil" type at the bottom, and then you ask your wife if she has read it! O, it is only a case of supply and demand. Newspaper men are not fools. They know what they are about, and they give it to you. I believe that if the church and the world became thoroughly ...best pure, honest, healthful newspapers, nothing but pure, honest and healthful newspapers would be published. If you should gather all the editors and the reporters of this country in one great convention and then ask of them what kind of a paper they would prefer to publish, I believe they would unanimously say: "We would prefer to publish an elevating paper." So long as there is an iniquitous demand there will be an iniquitous supply. I make no apology for a distasteful newspaper, but I am saying these things in order to divide the responsibility between those that print and those who read.

Another temptation of the newspaper profession is the great allurement that surrounds them. Every occupation and profession has temptations peculiar to itself, and the newspaper profession is not an exception. The great draught, as you know, is on the nervous forces, and the brain is racked. The blundering political speech must read well for the sake of the party, and so the reporter, or the editor, has to make it read well, although every sentence was a catastrophe to the English language. The reporter must hear all that an insensible speaker, who thinks it is vulgar to speak out, says; and it must be right the next morning or the next night in the papers, though the night before the whole audience sat with its hand behind its ear, in vain trying to catch it. This man must go through killing night work. He must go into heated assemblages and into unventilated audience rooms that are enough to take the life out of him. He must visit court rooms, which are almost always disgusting with rum and tobacco. He must expose himself at the fire. He must write in fetid alleyways. Added to all that he must have hasty mastication and irregular habits. To bear up under this tremendous nervous strain, they are tempted to artificial stimulus, and how many thousands have gone down under that pressure, God only knows. They must have something to counteract the wet, they must have something to keep out the chill, and after a scant night's sleep they must have something to revive them for the morning's work. This is what made Horace Greeley such a stout temperance man. He told me that he had seen so many of his comrades go down under that temptation. O, my brother of the newspaper profession, what you cannot do without artificial stimulus, God does not want you to do. There is no half-way ground for our literary people between teetotalism and dissipation. Your professional success, your domestic peace, your eternal salvation, will depend upon your theories in regard to artificial stimulus. I have had so many friends go down under the temptation, their brilliancy quenched, their homes blasted, that I cry out this morning, in the words of another: "Look not upon the wine when it is red, when it moveth itself aright in the cup, for at the last it bit th like a serpent and it stingeth like an adder."

Another trial of this profession, is the fact that no one seems to care for their souls. They feel bitterly about it, though they laugh. People sometimes laugh the loudest when they feel the worst. They are expected to gather up religious proceedings, and to discuss religious doctrines in the editorial columns, but who expects them to be saved by the sermons they phonograph, or by the doctrines they discuss in the editorial columns? The world looks upon them as professional. Who preaches to reporters and editors? Some of them came from religious homes, and when they left the parental roof, however regarded or disregarded, they come off with a father's benediction and a mother's prayer. They never think of those good old times but tears come into their eyes, and they move around this great, roaring metropolis homesick. O, if they only knew what a helpful thing it is for a man to put his weary head down on the bosom of a sympathetic Christ! He knows how nervous and tired you are. He has a heart large enough to take in all your interests for this world and the next. O, men of newspaper press, you sometimes get sick of this world, it seems so hollow and unsatisfying. If there are any people in all the earth that need God, you are the men, and you shall have him, if only this day you implore his mercy.

A man was found at the foot of Canal street. As they picked him up from the water and brought him to the morgue they saw by the contour of his forehead that he had great mental capacity. He had entered the newspaper profession. He had gone down in health. He took to artificial stimulus. He went down further and further, until one summer day, hot and hungry and sick and in despair, he flung himself off the dock. They found in his pocket a reporter's pad, a lead pencil, a photograph of some one who had loved him long ago. Death, as sometimes it will, smoothed out all the wrinkles that had gathered prematurely on his brow, and as he lay there his face was as fair as when seven years ago he left his country home, and they bade him good-by forever. The world looks through the window of the morgue, and says: "He's nothing but an outcast;" but God says it was a gigantic soul that perished, because the world gave him no chance.

Let me ask all men connected with the printing press that they help us more and more in the effort to make the world better. I charge you in the name of God, before whom you must account for the tremendous influence you hold in this country, to consecrate yourselves to higher endeavors. You are the men to fight back this invasion of corrupt literature. Lift up your right hand and swear new allegiance to the cause of philanthropy and religion. And when, at last, standing on the plains of judgment, you look out upon the remembered throngs over whom you have sent influences, may it be found that you were among the brightest energies that lifted men upon the exalted pathway that leads to the mansion of heaven. Better than to have sat in editorial chair, from which, with the finger of type, you decided the destinies of empires, but decided them wrong; that you had been some disinterested exile, who, by the light of windows illumined, cry outright of a Host ...ing the pathway to rescue lost ...spoiled and ...souls of men who ...down over the brink of the world.

Eternity Divine is that longest!

Well, my friends, we will all soon get through writing and printing, and proof-reading and publishing. What then? Our life is a book. Our years are the chapters. Our sins are the paragraphs. Our days are the sentences. Our thoughts are the interrogation points. Our hesitations the commas. Our confessions the quotation marks. Our attempts at display a dash. Death the period. Eternity the paragraph. O God, where will we spend it? Have you heard the news, more startling than any found in the journals of the land or world? It is the tidings that soon is lost. Have you heard the news, the gladdest that was ever announced, coming this day from the throne of God, lightning courier leaping from the palace gate, the newest ...glorious news! What good is passing for ...and comfort for all hearts. Put it up in "double-leaded" columns, and direct it to the whole race.

A Scotch poet, insane on everything but religion, wrote this beautiful, yet strange, rhythm:

God hath sprinkled all my sin.
Touch the record, there's no more!
I feel the witness down within.
That's the news! That's the news!
And since He took my sins away,
And taught me how to watch and pray,
I'm happy now from day to day.
That's the news! That's the news!

And now, if any one should say:
What's the news? What's the news?
O, tell him you've begun to pray.
That's the news! That's the news!
Then you have joined the conquering band,
And now, with joy at God's command,
You're speeding to the better land.
That's the news! That's the news!

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—The trade are respectfully requested to send in their orders without delay. S. DAVIS & SONS, Montreal and Toronto.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may purchase from us. With these advantages to best agents and the first time it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would given profit of over $100 a month, and this lack of only a few took thirteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the season, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

W. C. T. U.

A special meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held on Monday afternoon, April 9th, at 4 o'clock, in the Y. M. C. A. hall. All members are urgently requested to attended, as business of importance will be brought before the meeting.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

Mr. W. Gilbert, of Chicago, and Mr. Aeister, of London, will take part in the young men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms tonight at 8 o'clock. Messrs. W. F. Hilliard and F. Brownscombe will also take part. All young men should attend this meeting. The subject will be "True Manliness." Another young men's meeting is also held on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be the usual song service on Sunday evening after church service.

A Pleasant Hour Together.

The new members received into the George street Methodist church were invited by the pastor to a social tea on Friday evening, in the lecture room, to meet the official members, their wives, and the Sunday School workers, in order to become better acquainted with one another. The ladies of the congregation sent in an excellent and more than ample supply of refreshments. Nearly 200 of the new members were present. An interesting programme of music and addresses was rendered. Mrs. Daly sang two very appropriate solos. Rev. Mr. Davis spoke to the converts. The new members were assigned last evening to their respective classes in the church, the leaders of which will have an oversight and care of them. On Sunday morning the rite of Christian baptism will be administered to several adults.

The Late Joseph Lounsley.

The many friends of Mr. Joseph Lounsley, of Apsley, will learn with deep regret that he died at Allan's Temperance house this morning at 7 o'clock. It will be remembered that some years ago he injured his foot severely, and in endeavouring to save it from amputation, allowed his whole system to become run down, from which he has never wholly recovered. The injured member was finally amputated, and last year was replaced at New York by an artificial one. Mr. Lounsley, after his visit to New York, returned to Apsley, but not recovering his health, he thought of putting into execution a long cherished idea of seeking the benefit of the climate of California, and came to town and consulted a local physician respecting his case. His ailment not yielding to the treatment employed, Mr. Lounsley decided to consult the noted surgeon, Dr. Aikens, of Toronto, and, accompanied by Mr. Little, he went to Toronto, where Dr. Aikens agreed with the diagnosis of his case that had been prepared by Dr. Clarke, of this town, and with the treatment recommended, but no hope of a cure was held out. On returning to Peterborough, Mr. Lounsley's illness had assumed an aggravated form, and he was unable to continue his homeward journey. He went to Allan's Temperance house, where he had been previously staying, and took to the bed from which he never rose, dying rather unexpectedly (though his recovery was beyond hope) this morning. Mrs. Lounsley has our sympathy in this affliction. The deceased gentleman was highly respected by those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

Market Items.

This morning's market was exceptionally large and lively. Eggs, butter, vegetables, meats, etc. were offered in great abundance, while the [illegible] to the offerings. The platform north of the market was used as a butter market, the inside market not being large enough. Quotations were as follows: Butter, 22 to 30c.; eggs, 11 to 12c.; chickens, 60c.; turkeys, $1 to $1.25; veal, 5 to 7c.; mutton and lamb, 6 to 7c.; potatoes, 60c. per bushel; parsnips and beets, per peck, 15c.; carrots, 10c. per peck; turnips, 8c. per peck; cabbages, 5 to 10c.; seed peas, 80 to 90c. per quart; seed onions, 10c. per quart; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; maple syrup sold at $1.25 per gallon. Messrs. Ho Winch, J. J. Hawden, and W. Wainright exhibited herds of fine cattle for the Easter market. A professional horse trainer attracted considerable attention by exhibiting his trained horses.

Town Trust Commission.

A meeting of the Town Trust Commissioners was held in the Council Chamber yesterday afternoon. There were present His Worship Mayor Stevenson, in the chair, and Messrs. Wm. Clarkson, W. Robinson, jr., John Carnegie, M. P. P., and E. Chamberlain. A communication from the Ontario Agents of the Scottish Loan Company of Glasgow, asking the town to pay $114,000 town debentures and interest, on debentures, for that amount now due held by them, but which were lost with the Chicago, and agreeing to indemnify the town against all loss should the debentures ever be presented for payment, was considered. The Secretary was instructed to write to the Company's agents at Hamilton, informing them that the town had placed in the Bank of Ontario a sum sufficient to redeem the debentures and interest, but that they could not accept the security offered as it was foreign. Local security would be required. Mr. Carnegie's claim for $100 paid the Commissioner, was allowed. On application, Mr. Carnegie was given a lot in Spaulding's Bay on condition that it should be filled up. The chairman was authorized to get the old Music Hall repaired and fitted up. The meeting then adjourned.

P. B. C. Annual Meeting.

A meeting of the Peterborough Boating Club was held in the club boat house yesterday evening. It was not very largely attended, but all who were present were determined to bring the club to the front this season. Mr. R. E. Wood occupied the chair. After routine the reports of the Treasurer and Secretary were presented. Mr. E. J. Toker and G. K. Loch were appointed auditors of accounts.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

PRESIDENT—R. E. Wood.
VICE-PRESIDENT—E. J. Toker.
SECRETARY—Arthur Stevenson.
TREASURER—J. D. Collins.
ROWING CAPTAIN—G. K. Loch.
CANOE CAPTAIN—E. B. Edwards.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—D. Breese, H. W. Kent, W. E. Matthews and R. Neill.

It was decided that all [illegible] for which rack room had not been paid for, should be impounded until the racks were paid for.

The consideration of the question of arranging with the Lindsay and Bobcaygeon clubs for a joint camp and regatta on the Queen's Birthday, and also the establishment of a challenge trophy to be competed for annually between the clubs, was left until Tuesday, on which evening the club will again meet. On the afternoon of Tuesday a meeting of the officers and Executive Committee will be held in the boat house to rent racks, etc. [illegible] desiring [illegible] the boat house shall receive.

Easter Beef.

An Extensive Exhibit of Fine Cattle on the Market this Morning.

The market this morning had the appearance of a fat cattle fair, Messrs. H. Winch, J. J. Howden and W. Wainright, with their usual enterprise, each showing a herd of choice cattle for the Easter consumption. These cattle, which were greatly admired, are allowed by competent judges to be the finest lot ever exhibited in Peterborough, and no doubt will be tested by the beef eating public.

Mr. H. Winch showed an exceptionally fine steer, from the herd of Mr. Wm. Forster, of Monaghan; five head fed by Mr. Wm. Miller, of Otonabee, a noted contributor to the Easter market; four prime animals from the herd Mr. Joseph Whitfield, of Cavan; two fine steers fed by Mr. E. Palmer, of Smith; four beauties fed by Joseph Wallis, of "Merino Farm," North Monaghan, a famous stock feeder; three animals fed by Robert and Thomas Howden, one of which is an exceeding fine yearling; one steer, a perfect beauty, from the herd of Mr. Wm. Short, of Otonabee; and a fine Ayrshire cow, fed by Mr. Wm. Carter, of Smith.

Mr. J. J. Howden's exhibit was made up of six fine cattle from the herd of Geo. McKee, of Smith, who always contributes choice cattle for the Easter market, two of these being exceptionally fine one-year-olds, weighing 1,060 and 1,080 respectively; and four prime steers and two fine heifers fed by the noted stock-raiser, Mr. Sutton, of Cavan. Also a thoroughbred Durham calf, from Dr. Kincaid's thoroughbred Durham cow, "Duchess of Newcastle."

Mr. W. Wainwright also made a fine exhibit. His herd consisted of one Durham steer, weighing 1,760 lbs., fed by Mr. Chas. Moore, of Smith, which took the first prize for fat steers at the Central last fall; a fine pair of steers, fed by Mr. T. Fitzgerald, of Smith; two choice steers from the herd of Mr. P. Elmhirst, of Otonabee; one heifer, fed by Mr. Sandeman, of Smith, and a fine pair of steers, fed by Mr. T. Hall, of Smith.

A dastardly attempt was made to wreck a train on the C. P. R. between Ramford and Whanglong. A lad giving the name of Xavier Perrier has been arrested on suspicion.

Justice Rose, in his address to the Grand Jury at the [illegible] Assizes, briefly alluded to the labor troubles at the present time. In the case of differences between employers and employees, His Lordship suggested that the New Testament plan be adopted:—"Let the men go to their employer and state their grievances. If they fail, let them take others with them—a board of arbitration. If that also fails, then let the strike go on."

"The Pioneers of Methodism."

A Sermon on the Above Subject Delivered by Rev. F. H. Wallace, B. D., in the Charlotte Street Church.

On Sunday morning Rev. F. H. Wallace delivered, in the Charlotte street church, an interesting sermon on "The Pioneers of Methodism," a synopsis of which will be found below. Before commencing the sermon Rev. Mr. Wallace read several items relating to the superannuation of aged and infirm ministers and the maintenance of widows and orphans. As the text for his sermon the reverend gentleman took the words: "Other men labored and ye are entered into their labors," contained in the 38th verse of the 4th chapter of John.

He said Jesus had used these words when speaking to His disciples at Jacob's well, at which He met the woman of Samaria. Jesus showed His disciples that they would reap what John and the prophets had sown. The people of the middle ages never found the philosopher's stone, but in searching for it they had brought to light the science of chemistry, which the whole world now reaps the benefit of. This was also an excellent illustration of Methodism. The pioneers of Methodism in Canada have labored and we have entered into their labors. Our fathers labored hard and long; they sowed with tears and

WE REAP WITH JOY.

The speaker then proceeded to give a sketch of those men who did the work which the Methodist churches of to-day are now reaping the benefit of. He did not wish to depreciate the work of the other churches, but to present those whose labors they had entered into. Methodist preaching began in Western Canada in 1790, since which date missionaries from the Wesleyan Bible Christian, Primitive Methodist churches have taken possession of the whole country. Canada at that time was nothing but a primitive wilderness. Occasionally some brave men pushed their way through the pathless forests that fringed the great lakes to explore their boundless depths. The eastern part of Canada was settled by the French, while the U. E. Loyalists, driven from their southern possessions, came up the St. Lawrence in boats and settled in little colonies along the shores of Lake Ontario, while others crossed the country on pack horses, settling in different localities. These people went to work to chop down the forests, built little cabins, sowing and harvesting grain, and living on the products of their labors. Gradually roads were built and settlements sprang up in every direction. Men grew up without secular or religious training and danger of a moral and spiritual famine was imminent. A cry went up for men who would sacrifice themselves working for that which they probably would not live to enjoy the result of. God sent men to do the work. In 1766 Phillip Embury and Barbara Lake began their work in New York. In 1784 the Methodist Episcopal Church was organised in New York. In 1790 William Loss crossed the St. Lawrence, and riding along the banks of the St. Lawrence, preached the word to the settlers. At Pembroke he found the first Methodist settlement in Canada, formed by a Methodist family from New York. Wherever he went he established class meetings.

In 1791 Loss was formally appointed

THE FIRST METHODIST MINISTER

for Canada. Helpers were raised up among the people who entered into the work with great energy. These men were as different in style and temperament as other men, but all met with signal success. Loss was a man of great courage, energy and earnestness. Although possessing only one arm he was a fearless horseman and on horseback travelled thousands of miles through forests, rivers and many dangers, preaching the gospel to the settlers. John Brant was a particularly handsome man, but was filled with great zeal for the cause. William case had been a New England farmer and was a quiet man, scholarly, and of very polished manners. Henry Ryan,

AT ONE TIME A PRIZE-FIGHTER,

a man of lion-like courage and strength, who overcame every obstacle. Wm. Euge, at one time a surveyor, did a great work in the Niagara district. Carman, who fought beside Brock at Queenstown, of whom it was said, "he prayed like a saint and fought like a devil." Also Pope, Sawyers, Matthew Reynald, all scholarly men but full of energy. Many also were ignorant men and depreciated learning. One old man when asked why they had no doctors of divinity among the Methodist ministers, replied that their religion required no doctoring. The preachers generally knew more than those to whom they preached and besides were filled with the power of God. Many though not grammatical in their speech were well acquainted with their bibles, their hymn books Wesley's sermons and human nature. Many of those pioneer preachers studied as they journeyed from settlement to settlement until they eventually became men of great knowledge John Dempsey while thus studying mastered the Greek, Latin and Hebrew classics. He afterwards became one of the founders of the first Theological seminary established in America. Terry, an energetic young preacher who had including 20 days' ... a salary of $100 a year. Out of this he managed to save enough in a few years to purchase a Clark's Commentary costing $60, which work he mastered thoroughly in a short period. Let us then sneer at these preachers when we have made as good use of our opportunities. They were men of great faith, preaching of righteousness and judgement to come, of Heaven, Hell, and of salvation, they also made the woods ring with their grand hymns. Although they were no uniforms they were warriors who fought a good fight and won grand victories. Many left homes and friends to go hundreds of miles away to preach the gospel, and often die the death of a martyr. Of those recorded one-half died before they were 33 years of age, succumbing to the miasma of the swamps and the diseases brought on by privations and exposure.

A CIRCUIT COVERING HUNDREDS OF MILES,

LARGE CIRCUITS.

Nathan Bangs had a circuit from Long Point to the Thames. Keller's circuit extended from Gananoque to La Chute and as far north as settlement extended. The circuits were called two, four and sixweek circuits, and two or three sermons were preached every day. In 1826 there were 9 or 10 preachers in Canada and 12 circuits. George Ferguson, in 27 years, travelled 100,000 miles, preaching 7,000 sermons, had 9,000 converts, baptised 3,000 children and adults, married 200 couples, and buried 400 persons.

PRIVATIONS AND EXPOSURE.

During the earlier years there were no roads and the preachers had to follow the blazed paths through the forests, directed by their pocket compasses. At night they sometimes rested at an Indian's camp or a settler's hut, but oftener camped out in the forests with fire to keep off the wolves and other wild animals. Bridges were almost unknown and many streams had to be crossed and sometimes men were drowned. In winter, while the rivers and lakes could be crossed with greater ease, the country was covered with snow to the depth of several feet. Occasionally a preacher had the misfortune to break through the ice. After travelling through the snow for miles these courageous men often found only a small handful of men and women assembled at a house or barn to hear the word preached. These itinerant ministers were not itinerent in the same sense as they are now.

THEY HAD NO HOMES

and had homes everywhere. They were welcomed at every fireside and received the best of everything procurable. Their salaries were:—Married men, $160 a year, and single men $80, in some instances as low as $25. The majority of these married men, after a few years of work, were compelled to locate—become local preachers.

In these days the people were EAGER FOR AMUSEMENT.

Excitement called them out. The thundering out of the gospel truths of repentance and judgment attracted the settlers' attention, while the ready wit and knowledge of nature possessed by the preachers in applying the truths convinced their hearers and many were saved. After the country began to be well settled school houses were used as places of worship. Dr. Ryerson, on one occasion, preached in a log school house in St. Catharines, the room being lighted by one candle. The efforts put forth by these ministers were marvellous, and, as the result, the people were elevated mentally and spiritually. If there was excitement there were also conversions.

ONE OF THE GRANDEST WORKS of the Methodists was that among the Indians, missions having been established among them from Rice Lake, east, west, north and south, all over the Dominion. The speaker said he believed the only way of overcoming the Indian difficulties was to resort to the plan adopted by Grant, who allowed the churches to appoint the Indian agents.

WE HONOR THE MEN who spent themselves in Christianizing Canada. They died at their work, but it did not die with them. These men encouraged settlement and were the news-carriers of the day. In 1830 the Christian Guardian was established, the first Methodist publication. In the same year Victoria College was founded and established at Cobourg, and in 1840 was chartered a university, with Dr. Ryerson, ever to be reverenced by Canadians, at its head. To these preachers we also owe, in a great measure, the civil and religious liberties we now enjoy, by instilling into the people a thorough sense of freedom and liberty.

From 1805 to 1840 four Methodist denominations were established in Canada, which in 1884 finally united, forming the present Methodist Church of Canada. The Methodists are now the largest evangelical body in Canada, with 1,600 ministers, 185,000 communicants, and 800,000 adherents. They should thank God and take courage. Besides being the greatest in numbers it is also the foremost in missionary zeal and in proportionate increase. The footsteps of their pioneers should be followed and their work carried on. Methods should be employed to suit the occasion and time. The ministers should receive a liberal education and training to keep up with the advancement of civilization. Another consideration was to make the old age of those pioneers who remained as happy as possible. There were a few who still remained and who have a claim upon their followers. They should be placed where they will enjoy the sunbeams of their followers' liberality.

At the conclusion of the service a special collection was taken up in aid of the superannuation fund.

I had for years been a miserable sufferer from Dyspepsia, and tried all known remedies and the best medical skill of my acquaintance, but still grew worse, until unable to eat anything without great suffering or do any kind of work. I began to think there was no hope for me, and that I must surely die; when, like a drowning man catching at a straw, I determined to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial. I at once began to improve so rapidly that in two months I was as well as I had ever been in my life.—Wm. Rivers, Leamington. Sold by John McKee, Druggist. Free trial bottles. d86-eod-w14

Foreign Ministers.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Only two foreign governments have permanent legation residences at Washington. These are the British and German.

BRITISH LEGATION RESIDENCE.

Twenty-five foreign governments have state representation at Washington. The British legation is, of course, at the head. The official residence is a handsome and commodious house, brown, with white stone trimmings. It is near P street circle, in that uncharted part of Washington which always puts the small letters "N. W." after its address upon a card. The magic letters mean "northwest," in the northwest part of the city, and indicate the fashionable living neighborhood of the capital. "N. W." in the Fifth avenue of Washington. A house may be handsome, healthy and in the best of repair, but it rents for a third or more less if it is not "N. W."

The Alpha and Omega of presentation in the snob world of Washington used to be to be introduced to the British minister, when Sir Edward Thornton was the official representative. It is not so to quite the same extent now, though the present British minister, Hon. Lionel Sackville West, still leads all the rest of the diplomatic corps socially. (Some wicked newspaper men call it the diplomatic corpse.)

Minister West is a very able diplomatist. He has been trained to it from boyhood in Europe, where state trickery is as much a profession as that of the soldier. Some of the wily old foxes in Germany or Russia could probably overreach Mr. West in gambling for international advantages, but certainly nobody in America can. It is said he quite got the better of our astute state department in the matter of the Canada fisheries last spring. But, indeed, nobody in America is ever trained to diplomacy. We had men who understood the trade during the early days of the republic, but they are all dead. Our representatives abroad are guileless babes in the hands of European state managers.

Minister West is a widower, and his daughters keep house for him.

RUSSIAN LEGATION.

The residence of the Russian legation is a rented building, but a stately private residence. The Russian minister is Baron Charles de Struve, who is out of the country most of the time. The affairs of the realm of the White Czar, what little there are, are in charge of Mr. Alexandre Iswolsky, secretary of legation. The fine house in the picture is in the most fashionable part of K street.

Monsieur Theodore Roustan is the French envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary. That is the full official title of the boss representative of a foreign court. The minister from our sister republic across the water is a dark, lively individual whom the ladies like very much. For one thing, they are sure he is a bachelor. Most of the diplomatic corps pose as bachelors in Washington, although it is said that many have left wives and families behind them. The bachelorhood of a member of the diplomatic corps here is a very uncertain quantity.

The German minister, Baron Von Alvensleben, is another single man, but he keeps house to himself in the mansion owned by his government on Fifteenth street.

The Italian minister is Baron de Fava, who tries to make believe that diplomacy in America amounts to something, but he can't make it out. He is a handsome, dark eyed, white haired man.

SPANISH LEGATION RESIDENCE.

The Spanish headquarters is a plain house on Massachusetts avenue. The minister is Senor Don Juan Valera. He is the most literary man in the diplomatic corps. I don't know whether he is otherwise a Don Juan or not. If countries took rank according to the intellectual ability of their representatives here Spain would go up head. Senor Valera is an author of much distinction in his own land. He is soon to leave Washington, however.

Five of the diplomats are married to American wives. One of them is the Mexican representative, Senor Romero. He was Gen. Grant's great friend. The Chilian minister also, Senor Godoy, has an American wife. He is a cross-grained, chuckle-headed old creature whom nobody likes. Probably his wife has got quite enough of marrying a fascinating foreigner by this time.

The greatest member in the lot is Comte de Lovenson, the Danish minister. He is no great things of a diplomat, but he is tremendous in society. He is a handsome man and a great dandy in his dress.

The Austrian minister, Baron Von Schaeffer, is absent. The gentleman herein named are the leading ministers at present in Washington. All speak French, the language of diplomacy. One reason our illustrious Americans statesmen appointed to foreign lands cut no great figure officially is that not one in 10,000 of them can speak French. Linguistic education is neglected shamefully in this country.

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—Try them. Exceptionally fine. Superior to any Imported cigar in the market.

The Nile Voyageurs.

Medals for the Peterborough Contingent Arrived.

This morning Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, postmaster, received from the Postmaster General at Ottawa, a letter stating that he had sent by express and insured, a package of medals for the Peterborough contingent of the Nile expedition, forwarded from London, England, to the Governor-General by the Secretary of State for War, to be distributed to the Canadian voyageurs.

The medals, designed for the decoration of the participants in the Nile Expedition, who won the highest praise from the highest authorities, are worthy of the object of their issue. The medal is of sterling silver, of the weight of about three half dollar pieces. The face of the medal contains on a plain polished field a profile medallion of the Queen, encircled by the words "Victoria Regina et Imperatrix." The obverse has there in high relief the conventional representation of the Sphynx, surmounted by the one word "Egypt" and on the edge is engraved the name of the voyager his position in the expeditionary forces and figures corresponding to a regimental number. The usual clasp is attached, and the ribbon is composed of marginal and medial stripes of blue relieved by two white stripes. Each medal is enclosed in a neat case on which is the name of the man and the words: "Egypt medal; the Nile, 1884-85." Accompanying the medals was the pay sheet or rather medal sheet containing the following names: A. Anderson, T. Hanson, J. Faulkner (drowned in the Nile), M. Matheson, J. Mowery, W. Lowry, A. Ross, W. Harris, A. Bradshaw, J. Sherlock (deceased), P. Phelan, J. Welsh, J. Gorman, S. Blade, J. White.

There were directions in the letter accompanying the medals requesting Col. Rogers to deliver the late J. Faulkner's medal to his widow. She called at the postoffice this morning and received the medal, due her late husband, and was the first to sign the roll. The Canadian Nile voyageurs won great glory on the Nile expedition for their courage, intelligence, hardiness, quickness of resource, and generally excellent soldierly and sailorly qualities, and the medals which arrived this morning will, in addition to their great value as tangible recognitions of Her Majesty's appreciation, receive an added value from the fact that they have been worthily won and will be worthily worn.

Sanitary.

To the Editor of THE DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—Allow me again to call attention to the following clauses in the Public Health Act:—

"All wells in this municipality which are in use shall be cleaned out before the 1st day of July in each year, and in case the Board of Health certifies that any well should be filled up, such well should be forthwith filled up by the owner of the premises."

"Privy-vaults, cess-pools or reservoirs shall be cleaned out once a year on or before the 15th day of May, and from the 15th day of May to the 1st day of November in each year they shall be thoroughly disinfected by adding to the contents of the vault, cesspool or reservoir, once a month, not less than two pounds of sulphate of copper, dissolved in two pailsful of water, or other suitable disinfectant."

"All putrid or decaying animal or vegetable matter must be removed from all cellars, buildings, outbuildings and yards on or before the 15th day of May in each year."

"Every householder and every hotel and restaurant keeper or other person shall dispose of all garbage for which he is responsible either by burning the same or by placing it in a proper covered receptacle, swill and house offal the contents of which shall between the 15th day of May and the 1st day of November, be regularly removed as often as twice a week."

"Between the 15th day of May and the 1st day of November, no hog shall be kept within the limits of this municipality except in pens 70 feet from any house, with floors kept free from standing water and regularly cleaned and disinfected."

As warm weather has come on early this year, no time should be lost in putting everything in good sanitary condition. It should be remembered that although the 15th of May is the limit, nuisances at any time of the year are prohibited. It seems necessary to mention this, as a good many complaints are coming in.

Yours, etc.,
J. CLARKE,
Medical Health Officer.
Peterborough, April 19th, 1886.

Bensfort.

Mr. R. E. Wood's old associates of South Monaghan heartily congratulate him on his late promotion to the office of County Crown Attorney, being confident he will discharge the duties of the office with credit to himself, and the interests of the public will be carefully guarded. Success to a former Bensfort boy.

Now that the question of closer trade relations between Peterborough and the township of South Monaghan is fairly before the Peterborough Council in the matter of the Ross bridge, which has been delegated to the Finance Committee to report upon, they will do well to remember that the proposed bridge would very much shorten the distance to Peterborough for a large number of the farmers of South Monaghan. If they give it the encouragement it is deserving of it would unquestionably be of great advantage to both parties. If they should decide otherwise the great bulk of the trade of the township will flow in the present channels and find its way to Port Hope and Millbrook as it now does. An investment by Peterborough such as suggested would give ample returns for all time to come.

A football club has been organised to be known as the Bensfort Football Club, Mr. J. H. Morrison, captain, and Thos. Pue, secretary-treasurer. They are negotiating with Mr. Ball, of Centerville, for a suitable costume for the members, and frequent practice is intended.

Now Opened Out.
Spring and summer boots and shoes now opened out at Foot & McWhinnie's. See them, they are sure to please.

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—Dealers will kindly forward their orders for the above brand, with as little delay as possible as our stock on hand is limited.

Don't be Duped.
Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

BRINGING ABOUT RERELLION

Mr. M. C. Cameron's Speech on Indian Affairs

In the House of Commons at Ottawa on Wednesday, Mr. M. C. Cameron dealt trenchantly with the course of treatment, or rather mal-treatment, pursued by the Government towards the Northwest Indians, showing that the injustice under which they suffered, the bad faith exercised towards them, had gone far towards deciding them in assuming an attitude of open outbreak against the power so grossly abused. Sir Hector Langevin, of course, denied Mr. Cameron's allegations, but the returns of papers, brought down on motion of Mr. Mulock, testified to the substantial truth of Mr. Cameron's charges, and show that the Government policy of starving the Indians to enrich the agents was fully carried out. We give below an instalment of Mr. Cameron's speech and will continue it from day to day as our space permits:—

On motion for a Committee of Supply, Mr. Cameron (Huron) rose to present a resolution respecting Indian affairs. He regretted the absence of the Premier, who was also the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. He regretted it especially for its cause, but even were the cause less serious he would still regret it, for, as he desired to criticise the department of that hon. gentleman, he would much prefer that he was present to hear, and if he desired, to reply. The report of Indian affairs said that no cause had been given for any rising on the part of the Indians. This, however, would not relieve the Government and the department of the responsibility for their revolt against the sovereign power of the Dominion. The officers of the department were not reliable witnesses on this question. Those who ill-treated and sinned against the Indians, and those who starved the Indians and left them to die in misery, were not likely to disclose their own wrongdoing. The Minister at the head of the department should have brought more reliable testimony than that of the officers implicated in the charges against which it was intended to defend them. He proposed to show by the evidence of the few honest men in the department and a mass of outside testimony, that the statement made in the departmental report was not justified. The record of the department was a record of lying, cheating and robbery conducted against the Indians. Those who wrote with highest authority upon the agreed with the authoress of "A Century of Dishonour," that the Indians when properly treated were docile and easily managed, but when unfairly dealt with were rebellious, dishonest and turbulent. In view of this fact it was of vital importance that the men sent to represent the Government in dealing with the Indians of the North-west should be men of high character and honesty. But the officials sent, as a matter of fact, were such as could not be tolerated in the older Provinces, but who the Government must provide for. From Commissioner Dewdney down to the lowest official they were, with a few exceptions, utterly unfit for their positions. The Indians had no confidence in Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney. They knew him too well. They found him cruelly tyrannical, unfair, dishonest, and unreliable. In support of this he quoted from The Winnipeg Times (Government organ) three years ago, denunciations of Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney as dishonest and cruel. It stated that Long Lodge, one of the Indian chiefs, asked for beef at 12½ cents a pound, instead of bacon at 19c, as the latter was hurting his people. Commissioner Dewdney, one of whose partners in a land syndicate had 90,000 pounds of bacon he wished to sell, said the Indians could and be damned to them. It stated also that he had shown an example of how to grow rich in office, and thought he should be asked to go elsewhere and introduce the system of greed and shamelessness he had introduced in the Northwest. The Ottawa Sun, also a paper not unfriendly to the Government, denounced Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney and other officials, as incompetent and corrupt. Mr. Jackson, a member of the North-west Council, who boasted he was 25 years an active supporter of the Premier, speaking at Qu'Appelle, denounced Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney for having allowed the Indians to starve, and said that when he read the Premier's utterances in the session of 1883 that Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney was one of the best appointments he had ever made, it knocked the wind out of him. It might well knock the wind out of any man who knew of the shameful conduct of that officer. The Mail of the 2nd of February, 1886, published an interview with Jas. Green, who said one great evil in connection with Indian affairs was the appointment of carpet baggers. The Rev. Mr. Robertson, a missionary among the Indians, said that the Government officials treated the Indians like dogs. The Rev. Mr. Robertson and the Rev. Mr. Flett, also missionaries, agreed with him. Mr. MacDougall, one of the Methodist missionaries among the Indians, stated that the officers were unfit for their positions. Mr. Lawrence Clark, once a member of the Northwest Council, stated that brutal ruffians were appointed as farm instructors. Let a commission be appointed or a committee of Parliament, and he pledged himself to show the people of this Dominion such facts as would make them wonder how rebellion had not broken out years ago. Archbishop Taché, in his manifesto, while saying that there were some well-qualified men among the Government employes like Indians, said that many were not qualified with, while good men were turned out of office because ten, fifteen, or twenty years ago they were opposed in politics to the Government. Mr. Jackson, in the Qu'Appelle speech already referred to, said that the white men never believed in Governor Dewdney. The Winnipeg Times, a Government organ, said, "For the first time in the history of the British Empire a representative of the Queen is known to engage

EAT BACON OR DIE

TO BE A LIAR."

Could it be wondered at that the Indians rebelled? Was it not rather a wonder that they did not protest years ago in the only way known to the Indians, against the manner in which they were treated. The whitemen had lowered the character of the Indians until now there was only the memory of the noble red man of the plains. One of the agents was living under the shadow of the Methodist mission, in open adultery with three young Indian women. This representative of the Indian Department was revelling in the several enjoyments of a western harem stocked with the pick of the flowers of the prairie, a young Englishman whose relatives thought him good for nothing at home, and who was shipped to Canada consigned to the Prime Minister. He was sent to the west to represent the Indian Department. The people of Canada sent missionaries to Christianize the Indians, and improve them, but how could those noble, self-sacrificing men carry on their work when the official missionaries were sent to debauch, demoralize, and degrade these Indians? He quoted from the official reports of the departments show that shameful immorality existed among a large class of the Indian officials. The Mail of 30th of January, 1886, published an interview with a missionary, who urged that the department should send married men, and above all Christian men, and he thanked God such were to be found. A stop should be put to officials living with Indian women unless married to them, and the shameful

SALE OF INDIAN GIRLS

or immoral purposes should be sternly repressed. This appointment of vile men he (Mr. Cameron) held to be a disgrace to the country that tolerated the Government. He would show from official documents and other sources that the solemn bargains made by the Dominion with the Indians had been shamefully and systematically violated. The Indians could no longer rely upon the promises made them by the representatives of the Crown. There was a deep distrust among the Indians. He believed the people of the Dominion were standing on the brink of a volcano which might any moment burst into terrible action. The Rev. Father Scollier, missionary priest, and now or lately employed by the Government, declared that although the Indians revolted at the time of the half-breed uprising they had been ready long before, waiting only a favorable opportunity. The treaties with the Indians had not been carried out by the Government, and the Indians were in consequence anxious for a chance to show their power. In the department last year the Indian Agent, Mr. McKay, wrote that the Inspector of Indian Agencies promised to supply the Indians all they might require, but the promise was not kept. Mr. McColl, Inspector of Indian Agencies, said the waggons promised had not been supplied, and serious consequences were feared unless their claims were recognised. Mr. McDonnell, the agent on Treaty 4, published a letter from Poundmaker to Governor Dewdney reminding him that the promises of a portable mill and waggons had not been kept. The Indians had been supplied with trousers which were so bad that they lasted only three days. Another report stated that the Indians were miserably poor—although this House granted them a magnificent donation of a million dollars a year—miserably poor because this Government negligently allowed the contractors to supply the Indians with worthless supplies. One agent reported that the contractors carelessly dumped off the supplies in the mud. The same agent reported that the Indians in his vicinity were starving. Another agent said that he had to purchase cattle from persons other than contractors, because the contractors did not supply them, and the supply of beef would have run out. In spite of all these things there was no investigation and no inquiry by the Government. These were not the only complaints which the Indians had made. We were under obligations to supply the Indians with fresh beef. Instead of this we supplied them with

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.
GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $30. Nothing would retain my Hernia. Since I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. R. KING.
This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

The third important member of the household who made bright Kate, the only daughter, whom both parents worshipped—the farmer, after a stolid fashion of his own; the mother, with an unexpressed wish that the poetry and romance which had so completely failed in her own life might brighten that of her daughter. Mrs. Fraser hoped great things from the genius of her son Vane; but she hoped still greater from the fresh bright beauty of her daughter Kate. Kate was a village beauty, with a creamy clear brown skin, having the vivid hue of a damask rose, a mouth like a clover rose, rippling black hair, and a strong, well-formed, symmetrical figure.

"Kate ought to do well," sighed the anxious mother. "She ought to marry one of the richest farmers in the neighborhood. Even a young squire might do worse than to marry one of the prettiest, brightest girls in the county, and one who understands a dairy thoroughly well."

The remaining members of the family was the eldest son, Desford. He was a boy after his father's own heart. He would plod patiently at the plow or the harrow, content to run in the same groove from year's end to year's end, all the beauty of the green earth and all the mysteries of life being sealed books to him.

It was a curious household, yet a common one; and the day came when Sir Raye Vibart gathered this little group around him and made a proposition to them.

None of them ever forgot the scene or the hour. Behind the farmhouse stood a magnificent clump of lime-trees, the great green branches of which formed a beautiful shade; and one evening, when the farmer was unusually pleasant he ordered supper to be brought out and eaten there. The evening air was fragrant with the new-mown hay which lay in the meadows.

"It is so sweet," said the farmer, that it seems a pity to lose even one breath of it."

So the brown bread, the golden butter, and the foaming jugs of cider were brought out; and Sir Raye, looking from a distance, thought he had never seen a more picturesque group—the honest, simple farmer, with his sunburnt face and rugged figure, the comely bright-eyed wife, the beautiful young daughter, the gifted son, and the burly figure of Desford. He went up to them. The farmer ceased eating, and sat, glass in hand, mute with wonder. It was so seldom that the lodger joined their little circle.

"It is Kate he wants to see," thought the simple mother; and Kate unconsciously smoothed her rippling hair as he drew near.

But Sir Raye had no eyes for even the fairest of maidens. He never saw the dark beautiful face with its rose-like hue. He took a seat by the farmer's side. A large green bough hung so low that he was compelled to thrust it aside before he could see the group of faces.

"I am glad to meet you all together," he said. "I have a proposition to make that it will be best for you all to hear."

"It has nothing to do with my pretty Kate," sighed the mother.

"If he wants me to buy a steam plow, I shall not do it," thought the farmer; while the beautiful face of the younger son flushed and paled.

"For some few days I have been thinking over what I have to say, and how I should best say it," said Sir Raye. "You know that I leave you next week, strong and well, thanks to the bracing air and to your kind care."

Something like a murmur of regret came from the lips of the comely matron. The farmer still held his glass in the air.

"You will follow me in what I am going to say. You would think it a sad pity to shut up in a dark box, where its beauty and perfume would be lost, a flower with brilliant colors and sweet smell."

"To be sure," said the farmer, with a nod—"to be sure."

"If a bird has strong pinions, and can cut the air like a sharp knife with its wings, you would think it sad to shut up such a bird in a cage, where the strong wings could never expand."

"It would be cruel," said the farmer's wife, with unmistakable emphasis.

"In like manner," continued Sir Raye, "if a young man has great gifts, an artist's soul, a thirst for knowledge, talents that will make themselves known, the will and the power to raise himself high above his fellow-men, do you not think it quite as sad to see such a one tied down to some commonplace life?"

He saw the first faint dawn of awakening fear in the mother's face, the first flutter of pride and ambition; and he saw the first sign of disapproval in the face of the old farmer. Instinct rather than reason told them what was coming.

"That is the case with your boy Vane," said Sir Raye. "To your son has been given great talent. It would be cruel to tie him down to the routine of farm-life; for he has no taste for it, and never will have. Let him try his wings, let him fly away, from the home nest, and work his way, which I prophesy will be a triumphant one, and lead him to great honors. Now I make this offer. I am a lonely man. In all the wide world there is not one creature who calls me kinsman; there is not one who loves or cares for me. I have no brother to be proud of the honors I have won, and I have no son to succeed me. I am alone in the world."

There was a ring of pain and passion in his voice which might have touched any one.

"My proposition is this," he resumed.—"I see in Vane Fraser, your son, gifts and talents that will, if cultivated, make him a leader amongst men. Having no son of my own, I will adopt him—I will take him home with me, and educate him in those arts and sciences for which he has most taste. I will instruct him in my profession, for which he appears to have special aptitude. He shall be to me an adopted son. A grand career, a magnificent future lies open to him; but there are a few conditions to which his parents must consent before I can carry out my scheme."

The summer air stirred the lime-boughs, a half-prophetic shadow came over the mother's comely face, while the farmer, suddenly remembering that his glass was in the air, emptied it with a look of most profound wisdom.

"The conditions I wish to make," continued Sir Raye—"and you must think them over well before you decide as to their acceptance or rejection—are these.—First, if your son leaves you at all, he leaves you forever. After teaching, training, and looking upon him as my son, I could not tolerate the idea of his returning here and leaving me. He must give up home if he comes with me."

"That seems hard," said the farmer.—And the mother shook her head slowly.

"Hard, I grant; still it is just. If I adopt him and bring him up as my son, I shall not care to know that some day he may leave me, and that all my trouble will have been in vain."

Vane's face grew pale, and his lips quivered. He did not speak, but looked at his mother the whole time.

"I should treat him as though he were my own son; I should wish that he would take my name. Let him be called Vane Fraser Vibart. Unless I am greatly mistaken in him, he will concede any name. Understand me rightly. I am neither cruel nor unkind. I do not for one moment say that you are never to see the boy again, never to hear of or from him, or anything of the kind. He can write to you as often as he will; he can come and see you when he wishes. But to all intents and purposes you must give him up. If he acts as I believe he will, he will one day stand foremost in the ranks of men, and then it might be to his disadvantage to have his origin known; it might in that case be against him."

The farmer in a low dull voice said—

"My son will never be ashamed of his parents.

"No," returned Sir Raye; "he never need be ashamed of you. But it is possible that, if he makes a great name in the world, his lowly origin may be against him. If you give me the boy at all, you must give him to me entirely. I assure you will see the wisdom of it. I give you three days in which to consider; and then you can let me know your decision."—With these words by way of conclusion, he stood up, bowed, and moved away.

CHAPTER III.

The leaves of the lime-trees quivered, the wind moaned softly, the flowers shook their little bells, and over the bright blue sky the shadows gathered.

The farmer was the first to break the silence.

"I will never sell my own child!" he cried.

"It is not a question of selling, father, for you gain nothing," remarked Kate.

"No child of mine shall ever learn to despise his mother and me," he went on.

"He need not despise us because he rises above us," said Kate.

The farmer turned to Vane.

"What do you say yourself, my son?—Are you willing to go with this stranger, and leave us, you own father and mother, you know—your mother, who nursed you; your father who has worked for you—to leave the home where you have never heard a cross word, where you have lived all your life? Are you willing to give it all up and go with this stranger?"

There was a rugged dignity about the farmer as he spoke.

"Stephen," put in his wife, "do not let us interfere. The boy has a chance that does not come to one in ten thousand. He is to be a gentleman; we will not stand in his way. Think what being a gentleman means. And he will not desert us; he will never be ashamed of us; if anything, he will help us in our old age. Think twice before you stand in his light, Stephen. Let us leave it to him; he can judge best for himself; he is not a child. Vane, what do you think yourself? Tell us."

"Mother, I must have time. Nothing could take my love and duty from home; but——"

"But you want to try the strength of your own wings," said his mother, with a smile and a sigh. "Think about it yourself, Vane, and decide for yourself. See, the sun has set; it is time we went in.—We must be up by sun-rise to attend to the hay."

But pretty Kate remained with her brother.

"Vane," she said, "go—go and be a gentleman. I wish some lady would offer in the same way to adopt me. I should not be long in deciding. Go and be a gentleman, Vane."

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—The trade are respectfully requested to send in their orders without delay. S. DAVIS & SONS, Montreal and Toronto.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salesability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

Notes and Comments.

I have 50 pairs of Men's Long Boots that will be sold less than cost. Men, now is the time to get your boots for your boys. All kinds of boots selling less than cost to make room for hand-made goods. JOHNSTON CAREY.

A Grade Needed.

On the west side of Rubidge street between Charlotte and Simcoe, fine boulevard's have been laid in front of the residence of Mr. Innis and the Cox terrace; but property owners opposite say that though desirous of making their premises uniform, in this respect, they are not able to do so on account of the proper grade not having been struck. If this is the only cause of delay, as it is asserted to be so, the local authorities should not delay a moment in having the grade struck. The spirit of improvement is abroad, and it should receive every encouragement instead of the passive discouragment of neglect.

Salvation Army Anniversary.

The anniversary meetings in commemoration of the first storming of Peterborough by the Salvation army were commenced on Saturday evening. At 8 o'clock a mustering of the forces of the 112th Royals (the Peterborough corps) was held in the barracks. About 150 soldiers, under the command of Capt. Bertha Smith, assembled. A specially enthusiastic testimony meeting was held, after which special Capt. Philpot and Staff-Capt. Eadie, commander of the Eastern Ontario District, addressed the meeting. A copper collection was taken at the door.

On Sunday a warriors' convention was held, extending over four meetings. Capts. Eadie and Philpot also assisted the local officers in conducting these meetings. In the evening "big guns were brought to bear at short range." The street parade was exceptionally large, while the crowds that followed were in proportion.

This evening a big anniversary banquet will be held in the deserted billiard rooms under Bradburn's Opera House. A jubilee meeting will be held in the Opera House, addressed by commandant T. B. Coombs, Capts. Eadie and Philpot and other officers.

The Sawdust Nuisance.

The following is the decision of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries on this subject. It is to be hoped that it will result in not only greatly reducing the quantity of sawdust going into the river, but also be frankly accepted and faithfully carried out by both parties in producing a feeling of harmony between the representatives of the different interests affected by it. A meeting of the anti-Sawdust Association will be held at the Mechanics' Institute Wednesday at 8 o'clock p.m., to consider the proposals of the Minister:—

"The fact has, I am of the opinion, been established that the rivers in question are filling up and navigation is being impeded. The anti-Sawdust Association, representing the complainant, presented their views with much moderation, while the mill-owners have expressed their willingness to do all in their power to remedy the evil complained of. It certainly would be a serious matter to stop the milling industry.

"After a careful review of all the circumstances, I would suggest that the owners of saw-mills on the Otonabee river, express in writing to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries their willingness to keep all mill refuse from falling into the river, from their respective mills, and also all sawdust except that which may unavoidably fall into the pitman hole, so-called, when the saw or saws are working; and that this department send an officer, from time to time, as may be deemed necessary, to see the proposed arrangement is faithfully carried out.

"I would further suggest that the anti-Sawdust Association do address the Minister, accepting on its part, the arrangement referred to, and that the Association and its members shall agree to abstain from any attempt to enforce the requirements of the Fisheries or other Acts, bearing upon this question, so long as the arrangement referred to is carried out by the mill-owners in good faith."

Fire Brigade Band Meeting.

A meeting of the Fire Brigade Band will be held in their rooms this evening. All members are requested to be present.

Real Estate.

The Fire Brigade Band will perform in the Court House Park on the afternoon of Good Friday. Several new selections will be given including some from Verdis' "Rigoletto."

Dressmaking.

We are unusually busy in this department and our Miss Gilchrist is meeting with the utmost success as a dress and mantle maker. We recommend her with confidence to our patrons. R. FAIR.

A Special Meeting of the True Blues.

A special meeting of the True Blues will be held at their rooms on Simcoe street, to-morrow afternoon, at two o'clock, preparatory to attending the funeral of the late Bro. Frederick Albert Campbell, of Nassau. All members are requested to be present.

A Fine Title Heading.

The new title heading of the Dominion Oddfellow is decidedly neat and tasty, and more in keeping with the splendid typographical appearance which has characterized the journal since it came into the present publishers' hands, Mr. C. Blackett Robinson. The literary and social character of the paper is also greatly improved and it is now on a par with the best society papers published.

Sudden Death.

Just as we go to press we learn that Mr. Edward Chamberlain, a well-known and respected resident of Peterborough, dropped suddenly dead at his residence at the head of Patterson street. It is learned that the sad event took place between two and three o'clock. The deceased gentleman has for years been a prominent figure in Peterborough, having been connected with the building of important public works, the locks and the Court house. We have not time to refer more fully to the event in this issue.

The Foresters.

The semi-annual election of officers in connection with Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, was held in the Court room on George street Friday evening. The following were elected:

A. McNeil	P. C. R.
A. McFarlane	C.R.
Wm. Galley	V. C. R.
J. Alexander	Chaplain.
J. Fraser	Fin. Sec.
J. Fanning	Rec. Sec.
Geo. Kingdon	Treas.
R. H. Adams	Sr. Woodward.
Wm. Robinson	Jr. Woodward.
J. Sabine	Sr Beadle.
J. Fuller	Jr. Beadle.
H. Long	Organist.

Messrs. McNeil and Kendry were elected representatives to the High Court, which will be held in Chatham in June.

Sunday Services.

In the George street church on Sunday morning, Rev. I. Tovell, pastor, at the conclusion of his sermon, administered the rite of Christian baptism to a number of adults.

On Sunday evening, in the Murray street Baptist church, Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor, at the conclusion of a powerful sermon on Baptism, administered the Christian rite to a number of adults, immersing them in the baptismal font.

Rev. W. C. Windall occupied the pulpit in St. Andrew's church yesterday, morning and evening, delivering eloquent and impressive sermons.

The services in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday consisted of the regular Palm Sunday services and the distribution of palms by His Lordship Bishop Jamot.

The Late John Ludgate.

On Sunday evening Mr. John Ludgate, who is well known in every part of the country hereabouts, died, after a long illness, at his residence, "The Highlands," Ashburnham. For several years Mr. Ludgate had been afflicted with ill-health, and although he sought all means of effecting a cure, even spending some time in the mild climate of the Pacific Slope, no amendment of his condition was effected. About six weeks ago his illness took so aggravated a form that he was confined to his room, and though no hope was entertained of his recovery, his comparatively sudden death was unexpected. On Sunday evening, while the members of the family, excepting Mrs. Ludgate, not having reason to fear any change in his condition, were at church, death made its dread demand. The deceased gentleman, who was of Scotch extraction, has been a long time a resident of this vicinity, and is well known through his connection with extensive lumbering operations. About the year 1870, soon after the destruction by fire (July 17th, 1868) of Messrs. Macdougall & Co.'s mills, Ashburnham, and on their re-establishment at Harwood, Mr. Ludgate became a partner of the new firm of Macdougall & Ludgate, which existed for about a quarter of a century, becoming dissolved on the death of the late Mr. Macdougall. From this time Mr. Ludgate ceased active business operations and retired to his suburban farm, "The Highlands." At the time of his death Mr. Ludgate was 57 years of age. He was a pronounced Liberal in politics, and his extensive business operations have made his name familiar with thousands who will receive the announcement of his death with deep regret. The funeral will take place from the late residence to-morrow, at 3 o'clock p.m., to the Little Lake cemetery.

Lost and Found.

Mr. John Simpson, of the Queen hotel, corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets, had a valuable waterproof overcoat stolen from his hotel last winter, and whilst the closest search failed to find. Yesterday Mr. H. R. Rogers, employed by the C. P. R. company, while looking around his garden, spied a fur coat answering to the article lost by Mr. Simpson, lying in the fence corner, partially covered with snow, which had melted away sufficiently to leave the coat recognizable. Mr. Rogers, knowing of Mr. Simpson's loss, informed that gentleman of his find. Mr. Simpson on examining the coat recognized it as the one he had lost. The joy at finding the coat was very brief, however, as it was found that the article was worthless, the materials having all become destroyed by the exposure.

Handsome It Is.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—In your issue of Saturday last we observe a communication or local advertisement, we know not which, wherein Porter Bros. mistakeably imagine that we are anxious to build up our business on their reputation. A reputation they certainly have, but not such a one that we envy it.

Whoever inserted the descriptive notice of the rig in question is responsible for the two words "new" in it that seem to be as gall to Porter Bros.

"It is the handsomest in town" since it was repainted, relettered and varnished, and we accept the compliment of Messrs. Porter Bros. It reflects credit on our painter, Mr. W. Wing, than whom there is not a better, we believe, outside the cities. In the production of a great picture, the weaver who manufactures the canvass does not get credit for the painting of a masterpiece. Porter Bros. say that they are determined to lead not follow, but it is a well-known scientific axiom that the fountain cannot rise higher than its source. We have no desire to claim any credit that is not our due, and we make the above explanation to show that we are willing to stand on our merits.

Yours, etc.,
FITZGERALD & STANGER.

Ashburnham Council.

A Short Session—Business Disposed of Briskly.

A meeting of the Ashburnham Council was held in the Village hall yesterday evening.

There were present Reeve Burnham in the chair, Councillors Calcutt, Craig and Faint.

After routine the following communications were read:—

From the Secretary of the Peterborough Board of Education, intimating that pupils from Ashburnham would be admitted to the schools on the same terms as residents, on consideration of the grant received from the village, and hoping that the council would see fit to increase the grant next year.—Received.

From Samuel McGregor and others, asking that certain streets be graded.—Received.

MOTION OF CONDOLENCE.

Moved by Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. Craig,—That this council regret to hear of the death of William Mills, Esq., J. P., a member of this council, and desire to express sympathy with his widow and family in their bereavement; and that the clerk send a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Mills.—Carried.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—

Pay lists, amounting to $23 and $13.75	$36 75
William Wand	1 92
L. Dobbin	5 00
Mr. Moore	9 33

Moved by Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. Craig,—That this Council be the Road and Bridge Committee, Mr. Faint to be chairman, and that the chairman be authorized to certify all accounts.—Carried.

Mr Faint showed a map showing the two forks of the creek through the village, and pointed out where the creek branches might be joined and the whole, by a short canal, turned into the river, and pointed out the benefits to be derived thereby.

Moved by Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. Craig,—That an engineer be employed by Mr. Faint and Mr. Craig, to report on the proposed scheme of turning the creek into the river above Clifton street, with an estimate of costs, and that a public meeting be called on the receipt of such report to decide upon the matter.—Carried.

Messrs. Lang, Wright, and several others addressed the Council, applying for street improvements.

Street Inspector Craig was instructed to make such repairs as the chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee (Mr. Faint) directed, as soon as possible.

BY-LAW TO RAISE MONEY.

A by-law to empower the Treasurer to borrow money to meet the current expenditures received its several readings and was finally passed, signed and sealed.

The Council then adjourned.

Horticultural Society.

A Union Society for Peterborough and Ashburnham Formed Under the Amended Act.

According to announcement, a public meeting was held in the Council Chamber yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a Horticultural Society for the town of Peterborough and the village of Ashburnham, under the provisions of the amended Agricultural and Arts Act. The meeting was fairly well attended by prominent citizens who take an active part in such matters.

His Worship Mayor Stevenson was voted to the chair, and Mr. J. H. Roper acted as Secretary pro tem.

THE FIRST MOVE.

Moved by Rev. V. Clementi, seconded by Col. H. C. Rogers, that a society be now organized under the name of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society.—Carried.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

PRESIDENT—J. H. Roper.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—Jas. Stevenson.
2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—John Burnham, M. P.
SECRETARY—J. D. Collins.
TREASURER—F. J. Lewis.
DIRECTORS—Dr. Burnham, John McClelland, D. W. Dumble, J. R. Stratton, Geo. A. Cox, W. Van Every, Col. H. C. Rogers, Rev. V. Clementi and Rev. C. W. Bradshaw.

Rev. V. Clementi, J. H. Roper, and Mayor Stevenson were appointed a committee to revise the old by-laws and prepare a new set for the new society.

A committee composed of Dr. Burnham, J. R. Stratton, John McClelland, and D. W. Dumble was appointed to collect membership subscriptions and also to collect subscriptions to meet the deficiency caused by the large expenditure on the Court House park last year.

Mr. H. Nesbitt, was appointed caretaker of the Court House Park.

On motion of Mr. Dumble seconded by Col. H. C. Rogers, Messrs Dr. Burnham, John McClelland, John Burnham, M. P., Geo A. Cox and the Mayor, were appointed a committee to ask the Council to appoint a Park commissioner.

MORE TREES.

Mr. Roper suggested the advisability of the members taking advantage of Arbor Day.

Mr. Dumble intimated that he had ordered 200 elm trees from Rochester, which would cost 34 cents each delivered here.

The chairman added that he had ordered 50 trees for the Central Park.

A committee composed of John Burnham, D. W. Dumble, and John McClelland was appointed to prepare a petition and have it signed, asking the council to submit a by-law to the ratepayers for their approval, as required by the Act, with regard to the imposing of a rate, not to exceed half a mill, the proceeds to go toward beautifying the grounds and to be applied by the society.

Col. H. C. Rogers addressed the meeting with regard to placing the Brown memorial drinking fountain. It was almost unanimously decided that the Central Park should be the place for its location, a fountain having already been placed in the Court House Park.

The President and Mr. D. W. Dumble were appointed a committee to wait upon the council, with a view to securing an increased grant for the society, also with regard to the changing of rules and the imposing of a fine on impounded cattle for damage done.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Late Edmund Chamberlen.

In yesterday's impression of the EXAMINER there was a reference to the shockingly sudden death of Mr. Edmund Chamberlen To-day we are able to furnish particulars. For the past two years he has not been in the enjoyment of good health, having had more than one attack of a paralytic nature, but two or three days before his death he was feeling better than usual, and on the day of his death he took dinner with the family for the first time in a year, (having previously had his meals sent to his room) and partook heartily of food. Yesterday after dinner he took a stroll in the grounds and watched the men at work near the house and was chatting more cheerfully with them. Apparently becoming wearied, he sat down on a large flat stone that projects from underneath the fence skirting the drive. This stone was a favorite seat of Mr. Chamberlen. While it affords protection from the glare of the sun, being shaded by the pines that overhang the drive, it gives a full panoramic view of the town. Mr. Chamberlen had not been sitting here more than two or three minutes when he was discovered lying alongside his favorite seat. When he was raised up he breathed a few times gaspingly, but he was dead before he could be carried into the house. There is a striking and melancholy similarity in the incidents attending the demise of Mr. Chamberlen and those of his son-in-law, Mr. Isaac Robinson, who, it will be well remembered, died instantly in his pew in St. John's Church on Sunday, a few weeks since.

It would almost seem that the poor old gentleman had some warning of his approaching end. A legal gentleman, Mr. Harry Smith, of Winnipeg, called in the morning on business and in the course of conversation the matter of making a will came up. Mr. Chamberlen, as a result, had his will drawn, and the signatures were not appended to it more than an hour and a half before his death.

The deceased gentleman, Mr. Chamberlen, was a native of England, having been born on Trinity Sunday, June 17th, 1810, in Patney, Wiltshire. In his early youth he went to London, where he learned the trade of carpenter and joiner. In the year 1832 he came to Peterborough with his uncle and "settled" here, and almost immediately after his arrival he built a residence for himself—a log house, which is still standing—on the west side of Aylmer street, nearly opposite the residence of Mr. George Stethem. In 1840, on New Year's day, he was united in marriage with Miss Rebecca Whitfield. The marriage took place in Cobourg, having been celebrated by Rev. Mr. Bethune.

Mr. Chamberlen is best known, to the ageing generation especially, by his connection with the building of important and well-known public works, including the Court house. He also had a hand in the building of the present residence of Mr. R. A. Morrow, whose solid walls of unusual thickness show that Mr. Chamberlen brought the idea of solid building from England with him. He was also connected with the construction of Bedford's brewery, now the Peterborough Protestant Home, Stewart street, and other minor and less well-known structures, erecting the residence he last occupied in 1854. He was appointed at one time superintendent of the Trent Navigation Works, and the locks, slides, dams, etc., at Burleigh, Healy's Falls, and other points were built during his incumbency.

Mr. Chamberlen died a wealthy man, his possessions consisting chiefly of real estate, much of which came into his possession years ago, when the value was inconsiderable, but which has grown in value by the progress of time. Mr. Chamberlen was at one time a member of the County Council, and for several terms a member of the Town Council, occupying a seat in that body when the town was separated from the county. He was a prudent, careful constadian of the people's interests, applying to the public business the same principles of prudent dealery that conduced to his personal success. He was also a member of the Board of town Trust Commissioners and no earlier than last Friday he attended a meeting of that body.

In the death of Mr. Chamberlen, one of the best known of Peterborough's pioneer citizens passes from the scene. He was a gentleman of many excellent qualities. His impulsive nature concealed a kindliness of heart that the poor have many a time had reason to be thankful for, and they can cherish the memory of many a kindly act of forbearance and leniency, which the world at large knew nothing of.

Mr. Chamberlen leaves behind him three daughters to mourn his death, Mrs. Isaac Robinson, Mrs. Harry Wisch, and Miss Chamberlen, the latter having been, in every way, the model of a dutiful daughter—the stay and support of her father's declining years. The children were seven in number, six daughters and one son, but four have died, and Mrs. Chamberlen passed away some twenty-five years ago.

The funeral takes place from the family residence to-morrow at eleven o'clock.

It is claimed that the loss by the flood on St. Paul street, Montreal, will aggregate $2,000,000.

The committee of the French Chamber of Deputies has reported in favor of the petition to grant M. de Lesseps power to issue a lottery loan of 600,000,000 francs.

Our Fisheries.

Interesting Facts in Regard to this Great Industry.

(Special Correspondence.)

BOSTON, April 17.—When Josh Billings said that "the codfish is the fruit of the cahoos, which accounts for their being so salt," it was without doubt the first time it dawned on the mind of many people that the dried codfish of commerce was not always thus, nor was he always flat and spread out like the old-fashioned cross stick kite. A Boston Globe artist made some sketches recently among the fisheries, from which we produce our illustrations.

MAP OF THE FISHING GROUNDS.

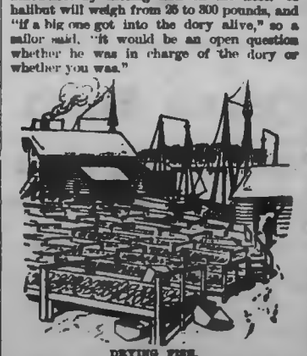
Mackerel, cod and halibut.
Cod and halibut grounds.
Mackerel fishing grounds.
Inshore fishing grounds granted to the U. S. by treaty of 1818.

As the map shows, the mackerel is the most common fish, and for that reason the least profitable. The season for mackerel begins in March and ends in November, and what becomes of these fish in the meantime "the Lord only knows," so an old skipper said.

Mackerel are caught in schools with immense seines of about 1,000 feet in length. This seine is dropped slowly out of a large row boat in such a manner as to describe a great circle, and thus inclose a great portion of the school of fish. Along the lower edge of the seine, which hangs 100 feet below the surface, are rings through which a rope runs like a running string. This is drawn taut when the circle is completed, thus closing the bottom and making an immense purse of the net. It frequently happens, though, that before the bottom of the net is closed it is found that "school is out," which means that the mackerel have detected the fishermen's little game and escaped by diving. To keep the mackerel school in, while the net is being dropped, barrels of chopped up porgies and clams are thrown into the water. One successful haul will yield 100 to 200 barrels of fish. When loaded on deck these fish are split open, cleaned and packed on ice or in salt, according as it is intended to deliver them in the market.

COD FISHING FROM THE RAIL.

In cod fishing, according to the old skipper, "you do not get so much pork for your shilling." The fishing grounds, as shown by the map, are situated at a greater distance. The Georges bank, for instance, is due east of Cape Cod about 200 miles. It is where the tide is strongest, the winds fiercest, and the sea the roughest, that the cod and halibut make their homes, and it requires a brave heart to face the cold and other dangers of this calling. Often during the winter the deck and rigging are constantly covered with ice. There are two methods of fishing. Fishing over the rail is shown in the illustration. Here each member of the crew tends a single line fastened to a peg in the rail called a "soldier;" this is the customary method in rough weather. When the sea moderates sufficiently trawl fishing is practiced. Trawls are lines which are buoyed so as to float on the water and extend for a quarter mile or more out from the vessel, each vessel carrying about two miles of these trawl lines. At every six feet on the trawls are fastened smaller lines with baited hooks. Small boats called dories, containing two men each, go out twice a day to follow up the trawl, haul in the smaller lines, remove the fish and rebait the hooks. If a cod is caught he is simply thrown into the boat, while a halibut is killed first by hitting him on the nose. A halibut will weigh from 25 to 300 pounds, and "if a big one got into the dory alive," so a sailor said, "it would be an open question whether he was in charge of the dory or whether you was."



DRYING FISH.

All fish are cut open, and the entrails removed before packing on board the vessel. When a cargo is obtained of from 30,000 to 50,000 pounds of fish, the vessel sails for its harbor; here the fresh fish is shipped in refrigerator cars to market, and that intended for drying, smoking, or packing in brine is turned in to immense warehouses on shore. The illustration presents a scene in one of the yards where the codfish are dried. This is done by exposing them on "flakes" for a day or so in the open air. In case of rain, the fish are collected in piles, and covered with the odd-shaped boxes shown in the illustration. The dried cod is fed into a machine, which cuts it into bricks for packing at the rate of 110 pounds a minute. Then there are smoke houses where the halibut and mackerel are cured. Some of the packing concerns have their own vessels. One possesses fifteen schooners, worth about $10,000 each. The total catch of mackerel for one year is about 300,000 barrels. Of fish 160,000,000 pounds is a fair annual average catch. This will give some idea of the magnitude of this industry, which is just now attracting attention before congress.

The county of St. John votes on the Act to-day.

British Politics.

Great Opposition to the Irish Land Proposals.

LONDON, April 19.—The defection of Scotch Radical members of the House of Commons has been growing since the Land bill was made known. In the lobby of the Commons to-night it was estimated that 25 would vote against Mr. Gladstone, and that more would abstain from voting. Duncan McLaren, a former member for Edinburgh, and a prominent Radical since 1820, denounces the whole scheme. He is Mr. Bright's brother-in-law.

Mr. Bright's hostility to the land proposals is pronounced. He considers the terms of purchase intolerable. It is reported that he urges Mr. Gladstone to appeal to the country if the Home Rule Bill passes by only a small majority.

BRINGING ABOUT REBELLION

Mr. M. C. Cameron's Speech on Indian Affairs

OLD AND RUSTY PORK,

although pork was fully double the price of beef. This was done, although Mr. Herchmer, the agent, reported in 1883 that there was much sickness among the Indians on account of lack of fresh meat. Beef was life to the Indians, while salt pork was disease and death, and yet, although the department was teeming with the reports of the havoc caused among the Indians by the use of salt pork, they supplied the Indians with twelve times as much pork as beef. He charged, further, that the Government had allowed the Indians to freeze and starve to death. Commissioner McLeod stated that he had experienced great difficulty from applications by starving bands of Indians. Another agent said that want of food, followed by disease, had caused an epidemic among the Indians, which was marked by many graves in the Wood Mountain. Was ever such an indictment preferred against any Government? The Government never enquired, the Commissioner never stirred, but luxuriated in his comfortable quarters at Regina, while Indians might starve to death. The Moose Jaw News of the 12th of June, 1884, said that the record would remain a foul blot upon our history, and that the sufferings of the Indians were a burning shame to us. Mr. Jackson, a member of the North-west Council, said that it was a matter of personal knowledge with him that ten per cent. of the Indians on one reserve had died in six months. It must be remembered that this

POLICY OF STARVATION,

this cruel and atrocious policy, had been deliberately adopted by the Agent-General of Indian Affairs six years ago. At that time the Agent-General said:—"It had been a dangerous thing to commence a system of feeding the Indians. We must be rigid, even stingy, in distributing food, requiring absolute proof of starvation before distributing." This policy, begun six years ago, had been pursued since. It proved a failure, but time taught the Government no lessons. The reports of the best of their officials fell upon deaf ears. Only last session the Agent-General said that the Indians must not be given enough food to keep them hanging about the stations, that they must be kept on short rations. Proceeding with the proof of the ill-treatment of the Indians, he cited a case where an Indian, who said he was dying of starvation, was told to walk to Regina and see Governor Dewdney. He was so thinly clad that his legs were frozen to the knees. Mr. Herchmer, in his report of last year, said he visited one reserve and found the Indians suffering from hunger, but was unable to supply them with food. All these things happened in the midst of plenty and in spite of the bountiful donations of this Parliament. He charged that last winter many Indians at Indian Head starved to death, that Dr. Edwards, an employee of this Government, reported this to Governor Dewdney; and that this report was so scandalous that it was suppressed by Mr. Herchmer and had never yet seen the light of day, and that this scandalous condition of affairs was well known by the Government for a long time. On the 10th of December, 1885, there was a great deal of sickness among Piapot's people, and Governor Dewdney sent Dr. Edwards to make an inspection. Dr. Edwards reported that some of the Indians had

DIED OF STARVATION

because they could not eat the bacon and flour supplied to them. He charged further that many of the Indians on the File Hills reserve died of starvation last winter, and that Governor Dewdney instructed his agents to go and warn these people that if they disclosed their misery to the world their rations would be stopped. (Cries of "Shame.") He challenged the Administration to appoint a committee of honest, sensible men to enquire into this matter. Every statement he had made was capable of the clearest proof. The policy of starvation announced in 1882, and again announced in 1885, the policy announced by Mr. Herchmer when he said a little starvation would do the Indians good, had been carried out only too faithfully. Need one be surprised that the Indians rose? He would like to see that experiment tried upon the officials, from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and Agent Herchmer down to the lowest official. The policy of fraud, misconduct, robbery, violated treaties, and broken promises and pledges had been

TRIED IN THE UNITED STATES

for a hundred years. It had failed in the United States. It had failed in Canada. It would fail until the end of the chapter. Nothing but discontent and rebellion could be expected from such a policy. This being the condition of affairs, how were they to account for the enormous expenditure on Indian affairs? That question was easily answered. The Indians were charged with supplies they never received, they were charged twice for what they did receive, they were robbed by agents and middlemen. In three years $92,237 was charged as spent for tools and agricultural implements on seven reserves; of this sum $37,444 was spent upon three reserves, Nos. 4, 6 and 7. The number of Indians on these three reserves was 12,102, and the number of acres under cultivation was 4,614. It was simply incredible that $37,444 worth of tools and agricultural implements could have been used by these people on 4,614 acres in three years. In one case 1,120 Indians were charged with receiving 1,120 hoes in one year and 1,014 hoes in the succeeding year. He quoted many similar instances. The

INDIANS WERE STARVED,

the country was robbed, and the only people who profited were agents and middlemen. In 1883 the Indian account was charged with $3,620, paid to J. G. Baker & Co., for commission on advances made to Indians. Why should the Government, with money voted by Parliament, require advances from Baker & Co.? In the same year $68,312 were paid for travelling expenses for agents, although the Government supplied agents with horses, buck-boards, etc., and all other equipment. Every Indian agent in the Northwest could have travelled for the whole year for that sum. In the sessional papers of 1884 the Indian account was charged with the payments for supplies for 4,636 Indians in Treaty No. 6. In the following year the account was charged payment for supplies to 8,157, yet the Indian reports showed that there was a decrease in the number of Indians in that treaty for that year.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DONA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

The two had walked to the end of the lime-trees, and stood looking over the white gate that gave access to the clovers fields. The air was heavy with summer-drowse and fragrance, the moon had risen, and grateful shadows lay over the grass. The beauty of the pale moonlight touched the boy's heart, so full of longing and ambition.

"It would not be of much use for me to be a gentleman, Kate, if I could never come home to it or one of you again."

"What would it matter about being one of us? You would be a gentleman and in time you might marry Marjory Lynn."

The boy's face flushed.

"I must not think about Marjory Lynn," he said, "when I go out into the world to work."

"If you say 'No,' Vane, you will be sorry for it all your life afterwards; of that I am quite sure. Be wise and be warned in time."

"But I really love home, Kate, and I love all of you. I shall not like to leave you."

"Think how much you could do to help us if you were a gentleman. You could keep father and mother without work, Desford could have the farm, and I—well, I could be a lady, Vane. Why should I not?"

"Leave me Kate, I should like to think it over alone," he said. "Good night, pretty sister, happy dreams!"

"Let me be a lady, Vane," she requested, as she kissed him and left him alone in the moonlight.

The whisper of the wind among the lilies, the rustle of the long grass, the ripple of the water in the mill-stream, the song of the birds, all came to him like long-forgotten music—sweet familiar sounds that helped to make up what he called home; his father's kindly rugged voice, his mother's sweeter tones, and Marjory Lynn's musical laughter were mixed with them. There came before him the quaint old-fashioned farm-house, with its home legends, the Holwood Forest, the river Mead, and the grand old Bandon hills.—How he loved them all! His heart seemed so warm and cling to them as it never could to any other place. Should he leave them for the great unknown world?

He loved his father—he understood his sterling honesty and simplicity, his kindly rough manner—his mother too, with her gentle pride and loving heart. He loved his pretty sister, and had a genuine affection for his brother. Could no give them all up, and in all probability cut himself off from them? The dream of riches and power was sweet, but the love of home was sweeter.

If he said "No," how dreary and flat all the rest of his life would seem to him!—He would do nothing but spend it at home in work that was most distasteful to himself and almost useless to others. Yet, he thought, he would remain with those who loved him, safe in the haven of home.—Then the great gift that Heaven had given to him stirred his soul, and he felt that he must go out into the world and use them. One voice, the voice of home and kindred, bade him stay, a thousand other voices urged him to go. On his decision the rest of his life depended. It seemed to his excited fancy as though the whole world of ac-No wonder that he was a little dazed by his good fortune, and considered it a grand thing to be a genius.

Sir Raye was delighted with his protege. The boy was soon quite at home in the midst of his luxurious surroundings; by no word or gesture did he betray himself; he was quick and keen, and he waited always to see first what Sir Raye did at table, then he imitated him. Before a week had passed, Vane knew as much of table etiquette as though he had lived at Lulworth all his life; the consequence was that in no way did his behavior jar upon Sir Raye, who was one of the most fastidious of men.

Two pleasant rooms were set apart for Vane's use, and the privilege he valued most, a place in Sir Raye's studio, was given to him. He made wonderful progress, as his patron had foreseen; he had already, in his studies at home, mastered many of the rudiments of knowledge. After a few lessons and a little patient teaching from Sir Raye he became of the greatest assistance to his master. It pleased Sir Raye to see the thoughtful head bent over papers, plans, and designs of all kinds—Vane was so much like himself, so silent at his work, so absorbed in it, never interrupting it by an idle or careless word.

"You are more like a hermit at his devotions than a student at his lessons," said Sir Raye to him one day.

After a time he began to take keen delight in the work of his protege.

"Give me your notion, Vane, of a bridge that should span a river, with hills on either bank," or show me something original in the shape of a pier that is to run half a mile out to sea." And then with proud delight he would examine his pupil's sketch.

"You will be more clever some day, Vane, than I have ever been," he said to him one morning.

"I shall owe everything to you, sir," was the grateful reply.

The year following, when the pressure of business had in some measure abated, Sir Raye resolved to take his protege for a Continental tour. Nothing, he was of opinion, would educate him one half so quickly. He would let him see some of the greatest bridges of the world, bridges that had been built in spite of almost insurmountable difficulties—let him see the triumphs of science, and how men could bring the very elements under control.—The greater part of a year was spent in traveling about, and they saw nearly every engineering work of magnitude.

When Vane returned with his patron to Lulworth, he was only nineteen years of age, but he was a man. A fair moustache shaded the sensitive mouth, the cluster of fair hair had grown deeper in color, the tall slender figure had in it the grace and strength of manhood, and his manners were perfect. He was grave, kindly, and courteous, deferential to all women, pleasant to all men. Although only nineteen, the world had begun to talk about him. He had taken a warm interest in connecting England and France by means of a tunnel under the sea; he had pondered it, studied it, and lavished skill and genius on it; and one morning the scientific world was taken by surprise, for a pamphlet appeared called "The Best and Safest Way to France Under the Sea." That little brochure made him famous. Every one had asked who had written it, and the answer was, "Young Vibart." No one mentioned that he was only an adopted son of Sir Raye's, and the world in general, careless enough, never stopped to inquire; so that the general impression was that the rising genius of the day, "young Vibart," was the son of the famous Sir Raye. Of the thousands who read his book, not more than twenty knew that he was not the real son of the master of Lulworth.

"Your way in life lies straight before you, Vane," said his patron; "it will be a fine march on to victory. You could do without me now, but I could never again live without you—without my accepted son—never again."

When flattering notices and honors were lavished upon Vane, Sir Raye gave him one happy piece of advice.

"The world is ready enough to flatter you, and to welcome you with open arms. Fight shy of it for a time; keep to study and work. You will have invitations here and there, first to one great house, and then to another; refuse them one and all. The proper place for work is a man should work in quiet; rest and age should come together."

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. As article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $120 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in that time, above ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. ANY agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $120 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to these out of employment to make money.

ECLIPSE POULTRY YARD.

Wyandottes, Partridge Cochins, Light Brahmas, Plymouth Rocks and Brown Leghorns.

I would take this opportunity to assure all in want of superior specimens to introduce new blood that will surely improve their stock, and also those who are about to start new in the breeding of Fancy Poultry, that my stock stands second to none in Canada. Having mated for this season's breeding 7 pens of choice birds, many of them prize winners, of large size, vigorous constitutions, and extraordinary laying qualities, the chicks hatched from eggs laid cannot fail to please all.

Orders booked for eggs on receipt of 50c. First come, first served. Eggs for hatching P. Cochins, L. Brahmas, $1.50 per 13. P. Rocks and B. Leghorns $1.00. (Specialty, Wyandottes. Hall Strain, $2.00.) Send stamp for circular. My prices are reasonable and I guarantee satisfaction.

Murray Street Baptist Church.

There will be an evangelistic service in this church at 8 o'clock this evening. The Advisory Committee will meet at the same hour.

St. Andrew's Sale.

Look out for the sale of useful articles in the St. Andrew's Church school room on the 3rd of May. Particulars later.

Notes to Parents.

I have 50 pairs of Boys' Lace Boots that will be sold less than the cost. Men, now is the time to get your boots for your boys. All kinds of boots selling less than cost to make room for hand-made goods. JOHNSTON CAREY.

They Will Arrive To-night.

Chief Cooper received a telegram from Chief McKinnon, at noon to-day, stating that David Yeomans, Benjamin Yeomans, and Ellen Clark, witnesses in the Whiteman bigamy case, had left Belleville, and would arrive in town to-night at 8 o'clock.

Selecting a Man.

Mr. Bannel Sawyer, Principal of the Peterborough Business College, this week received a communication from the principal of a western business college, who stated that the Writing and Book-keeping Master of the college had resigned, and asking Mr. Sawyer to select from his graduating class a student capable of taking the position. Mr. Sawyer will do so.

Easter Holidays.

The schools will close for the Easter Holidays on Tuesday evening, April 20th, and re-open on the following Tuesday morning, April 27th. This is contrary to the arrangement previously announced by the Board, but the youngsters brought such strong pressure to bear, by petition and otherwise, that the change was made.

Grand Crop Prospects.

During a brief chat with Mr. T. Blezard, M.P.P., our reporter was informed by him respecting the crop prospects, and Mr. Blezard states that from present appearances the outlook is good. The wheat crop is excellent, at least, as to his observation in the eastern part of the county. It has passed the trying ordeal of winter and early spring triumphantly; not a single root has been distanded by frost. The clover has also altogether escaped, and if the rest of the season proves favorable, we shall have great crops of both wheat and clover.

The Gun Club.

The regular weekly meet of the Gun Club was held at the Riverside Park yesterday afternoon. Mr. R. Tivey again headed the score, breaking 9 birds out of 10. The other members stood lower than usual, and more birds were lost in the water which floods the park than by shot. The following is the score:

The S. A. Anniversary Banquet.

Yesterday evening the Salvation Army in carrying out the programme of its anniversary celebration, gave a big banquet in the late Opera House billiard rooms, continuing from 5 till 7.30 o'clock. The friends of the Army in large numbers patronized the banquet, and showed their good will by disposing in a decidedly friendly way of the sumptuous fare provided. The ante-room leading to the dining room was filled up with sandwiches, buns, cakes, pies, etc., in great profusion, which edibles were supplied to a great extent by the liberal friends of the Army. The spacious dining room was lined on either sides by two long tables, laden with all kinds of cakes, from ginger snaps to a three-storey iced fruit cake with candy flowers on the top, (wedding cake and oil cake excepted), while choice fruits and flowers invigorated the appetite. Smiling Salvation Army lasses, behind monster aprons and aided by liveried male assistants, served their guests in grand style, seeing that the appetites of all were thoroughly appeased. At half-past seven the banquetting hall was cleared, the singing soldiers formed in line and paraded the streets, while a small company looked after the dish washing, etc. At 8 o'clock the whole force assembled at the Opera House, where a grand jubilee was held, conducted by Staff-Capt. Eadie, assisted by Capt. Phillpot, Capt. Bertha Smith and her staff, Capt. Bell and Cadet Shiteh, of Lindsay, and numerous other officers from the surrounding villages.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Gumpricht is in town for a few days. Orders may be left at Mr. T. Menzies Bookstore or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store.

Real Estate.

Dressmaking.

We are unusually busy in this department and our Miss Gilchrist is meeting with the utmost success as a dress and mantle maker. We recommend her with confidence to our patrons. R. FAIR.

Young Men's Bible Study.

"What the Word of God says about God's Holiness" will be the subject for the Bible study in the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening. The class is open to all young men.

Fell in a Faint.

Mrs. Boller, an elderly lady, who resides in the southern part of the town, near the locks, fell in a fainting fit in the postoffice on Saturday afternoon. Postmaster Col. H. C. Rogers raised the prostrated lady, and, carrying her into the private office, placed her in a chair. Restoratives were immediately applied and the lady soon wholly recovered. She said she had never fainted before and attributed the swoon to exhaustion, as she had walked briskly from her home to the office. She left the office in company with her daughter, apparently as well as ever.

Widening George Street.

It is understood that the Street and Bridge Committee have in contemplation the addition of two feet on each side to the width of the foot passenger pavements on George street. The reason is that on many occasions, Saturdays especially, the great numbers that throng the walks make locomotion exceedingly difficult and delay the expedition of business. The proposed widening of the walks will necessarily narrow the space for vehicles by four feet, but the gain to foot passengers would be correspondingly great.

Once More on the Turf.

"Gray Eagle," Mr. A. P. Morgan's trotter, which has been laid up since fall, is once more on the turf, sound as a bell, and will appear in the "free-for-all" trot in the Driving park on May 24th. We understand that from injuries received during training last fall, "Gray Eagle" was put on the retired list. After receiving veterinary treatment without satisfactory result, the case was put in the hands of Dr. Stevenson, V.S., and now the trotter is sound from nostril to tail. This gratifying issue of his treatment reflects great credit on the skilful management of a difficult case by Dr. Stevenson, and should go far to create public confidence in his veterinary skill. 93-1t

The Bigamy Case Enlarged till To-morrow

The Whiteman bigamy case was called at the Police Court this morning. Joseph (John) Whiteman appeared in court morose and sullen looking, evidently suffering under a surfeit of female fidelity and feeling like this, "How happy could I be with either, were t'other dear charmer away." Mrs. Whiteman No. 1 was slightly improved and seemed satisfied that she should accomplish her object of bringing her recreant spouse to justice. Mrs. Whiteman No. 2 appeared excited and when the court adjourned walked over to John Joseph and gave him a tender pressure of the hand. Thos. White, the prosecutor, and his daughter were also present. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown and Mr. C. W. Sawyers for the prisoner. The names of witnesses were called but they did not answer, not having arrived in town. The case was adjourned for an hour and finally till to-morrow at nine o'clock.

Sun Life Assurance Company.

This company has already made a remarkable record, as a perusal of its annual report, widely published, will show. The report shows that the Sun now ranks second in all Canada in the amount of new business. This business has features of the most favorable kind. Besides being largely in excess of any previous year in the company's history—evidence of its increased popularity with the insuring public—an unusually large percentage of its risks is noticeably from men of position and influence in the country—moneyed men looking for a profitable investment, combined with life assurance, evidently find the Sun among the safest and most reliable to patronize. The best financial talent in the land are daily giving to this company the most indubitable evidence of their implicit confidence. Last year 1,722 policies were issued, meaning an assurance amounting to $2,328,140.84 in the life department. In the accident department there were issued 1,028 policies, total amount, $1,715,000.00. The number of life policies is 5,144, and these amount to $7,930,878.77. The accident policies now in force number 1,777, amounting to $3,136,500.00. Total assurance in force amounts to the handsome sum of $11,067,378.77. The income for last year was $319,937.05, an increase of $41,607.40 over that of the previous year. This indicates the Sun's phenomenal prosperity. The assets in 1872 were $546,461.95; in 1876 they had grown to $715,944.64; in 1880 they had further increased to $911,132.93, and at the end of 1885 they were $1,411,-004.33. There is nothing in the whole report which shows the company to better advantage than its investments. The interest received is over 6 per cent. of the funds invested, while the over-due interest on the whole is only $2,631—a quarter of 1 per cent. There is not a life company in Canada to-day whose investments show so well. The Sun is no stranger in this locality and its name is synonymous with liberality and fair dealing.

Messrs. Croft & Mooney, furniture dealers and upholsterers, shipped to-day, per C.P.R., a car load of furniture to Prince Albert, N. W. T., for the Messrs. McCall Bros., formerly of this town, but now of Prince Albert. It is a high compliment to the excellence of the furniture of this firm that their products should be in demand from, as it were, so "distant a clime."

Sabrevois Mission.

Rev. T. A. Haslam, of Montreal, is in town presenting the claims of the Protestant mission amongst the French Canadians, known as the Sabrevois Mission. The work is endorsed by the Bishop of Montreal and the Bishop of this diocese. In connection with it there are employed seven missionaries, and four schools are maintained, two of which are boarding schools. The annual expenditure in connection with the above mission is about $5,000, the bulk of which is derived from voluntary contributions. Rev. Mr Haslam preached in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on Sunday morning and in St. John's on Sunday evening, scholarly and earnest sermons.

Mr. Wm. Breckenridge has the contract for the excavation of the new public buildings on Hunter and Water streets.

Mr. J. J. Hartley began building operations yesterday in earnest. He has secured a good supply of brick.

Mr. Joseph Lundy has broken ground for a two-story brick tenement on Aylmer street, between Charlotte and Simcoe.

At the Union school yesterday morning a little girl had her head severely cut by a stone carelessly thrown by a boy.

Chief of Police Cooper has become one of us. Last night his wife and family arrived in town, to become permanent citizens.

Mr. Marsh, the provincial organizer, is expected to organize an assembly of the Knights of Labor in town on Thursday.

A child was christened at the S. A. jubilee last night. The parents of the child handed her to Capt. Eadie, who kissed her and gave a name.

Ladies—Nothing so nice as a fine head dress—go to Phelan's hotel, April 21 and 22, and procure something extra fine in styles of hair goods from Prof. Dorenwend.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Belleville, District Inspector of Weights and Measures, and Mr. Samuel Irwin, of Lindsay, assistant, were in town on official business to-day.

Mr. Thos. Beavis and Mr. Geo. McCoomb are the only gentlemen now living who were in town on the arrival of the late Edmund Chamberlain to Peterborough in 1832.

At noon on Wednesday, April 27th, the C. P. R. exhibition car will arrive at the station here and remain till the 28th at 7.30 p. m. Seed grain given away. Car open from 9 a. m. till 9 p. m.

In the West Riding there are five applicants for wholesale licenses under the Scott Act—four, Peterborough—one, Lakefield. There are two applicants for druggists' licenses in town.

For the best value in groceries, wines and liquors, go to Morrow, Tierney & Co's, where will be found a full stock of the cheapest groceries and purest liquors. Call and secure the full value of your money.

Personal.

Mr. G. V. Clementi left town this morning on a trip to Jacksonville, Florida, where he will spend some time in prospecting for a fruit farm.

Messrs. G. W. Ostrom, Mayor of Trenton; D. M. Murphy, Trenton; Geo. Thompson, Orillia, and Hon. H. Cross, Barrie, registered at the Oriental to-day. They will attend the T.V.C. Association meeting at the Oriental this afternoon.

Police Court.

A short session of the Police Court was held yesterday evening. Elwyn Thompson was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble, charged by P. C. McGinty with using profane language. He admitted the charge and was fined $2.

William Long was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning charged by Wm. Johnson, of Belleville, District Inspector of Weights and Measures, with refusing to produce weigh scales used by him for trading purposes when notified to that effect by the assistant inspector. The defendant pleaded not guilty. Mr. Samuel Irwin, Assistant Inspector, stated that he notified Long, who had some produce at the Peterborough market on the 20 of January, and who admitted having weighed his produce with a pair of scales, to bring the scales to the Inland Revenue office for inspection.

The magistrate, after hearing the evidence and the defendant's statement, imposed a fine of $10 and costs. Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the defendant, and Mr. A. E. Peck for the prosecution.

A similar charge was preferred against an other pany, which was, however, withdrawn, the prisoner being the wrong man.

McKee, druggist. d72-eod-w15

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

By Special Request of His Patrons.

Prof. Dorenwend, the enterprising hair goods manufacturer, of Toronto has made arrangements to be in Peterborough for two days only, to enable those who could not see him on his last visit to procure what they required in his line. He will be at Phelan's hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, April 21st and 22nd. The selection he offers on this trip is larger than ever, and all should go and see his new styles of Reversible, Langtry and Parisian Bangs, Water Waves, Switches, Wigs, &c.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spirial Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 80 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our "rebilee"; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address, Women's Noble Work.

Presbyterian Women's Benefactions Acknowledged.

During the summer of 1885 a call was made by missionaries in the North-west upon the generosity of the people of Ontario, who were asked to minister to the needs of destitute Indians suffering directly or indirectly from the effects of the late rebellion. The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society took the matter in hand, and appealed to the women of the Presbyterian Church to send articles of clothing and other things specified by the missionaries. The appeal was responded to promptly, many boxes and bales of valuable clothing, etc., were soon dispatched, and the manner of their reception, and the effect produced upon the Indians by this tangible proof of the interest taken in them by the conquering white man will be seen in the following extracts from letters lately published among the various branches of the W. F. M. S., and will doubtless cause many to feel humiliated by the thought of the very small sacrifice and cost on any one's part, that raised such a fervour of delight and gratitude in the hearts of our dusky fellow-subjects.

"INDIAN HEAD, Assiniboine Reserve, October 21, 1885.

On behalf of the Indians under "Jack," I beg to acknowledge receipt of five cases of clothing. The Chief, in speaking for this band, stated that things of this kind are just what are wanted, the Indians being poor and not yet sufficiently acquainted with the ways of the white man to earn a proper livelihood. And, more, he thinks that it proves that the Indians have some friends who sympathise with them in their efforts to farm and procure a living.

W. S. GRANT,
Acting Indian Agent.

"BIRD TAIL, Sioux Reserve, Nov. 1, '85

On behalf of the people of this reserve, I beg to thank you and all the other ladies who have united in sending us such a handsome present of clothing, most heartily. The Indians are charmed with the things, especially the old people, who, for the most part, received a warm pair of socks or stockings. One old woman to-day insisted on shaking hands with me at intervals. I told her who had sent her the clothes, when she repeated, "Good, good!" the only English word she knew. The women require warm things much more than the men. Their only protection in winter against the intense cold is a thin print dress, chosen on account of its cheapness and bright color, moccasins, and a blanket over their head. They cut and carry all the firewood in winter, and also fetch water from the springs.

J. G. BURGESS,
Teacher."

"MOOSOMIN, N.W.T., Nov. 10, 1885.

I received eleven cases of clothing, including one for Rev. H. Mackay, of Broadview, which I forwarded to him. I shall be obliged to make two trips, as I cannot take all on one team, which is my own, and to hire would be too expensive. * * * I shall now close, leaving you in the hands of the giver of every good and perfect gift.

C. G. MACKAY,
Assessippi P.O., Fort Pelly."

OKANASE, Nov. 28, 1885.

I have received your six boxes of clothing, for which receive best thanks. The Indians here had a meeting a few nights ago and expressed their appreciation of the gifts sent by you and other kind friends, and desired me to thank you all when next I wrote.

GEORGE FLETT.

"OMBE-MEE MISSION, Nov. 29th

I could hardly believe my eyes when I was shown into the freight office (at Moosomin) and beheld ten large cases. * * * The news spread like wild-fire throughout the reserve, and I had hardly been at home half an hour, when I was besieged by an anxious crowd, all of whom I found had suddenly become my sworn friends for life. I found it was no use putting off the hour of distribution, as they had quite made up their minds to encamp around the house until something had been given them. Many were the "wahwah's" as each article was taken out. The chief was the first to receive anything. I may here mention that he has promised me his best head-dress to be presented to your Society.

Cure for Baldness.

To get a good head of hair and keep it, use Dr. Dorenwend's Great German "Hair Magic." This remarkable preparation will, without fail, (if the roots are not all gone) promote a luxuriant growth of hair on bald spots. It will restore the natural color to gray and faded hair, prevent falling, and remove every trace of dandruff from the head. For sale everywhere. Ask your druggist for it and take no other. A. The Trent Valley Canal.

A Meeting of the Association Decides that $350,000 of a Supplemental Grant will be required.

A meeting of the Board of the Trent Valley Canal Association was held at the Oriental Hotel, yesterday afternoon.

There were present, Mr. R. C. Strickland Reeve of Lakefield, President, in the chair, Mr. W. H. Cross, Reeve of Burrie, Vice-President, Mr. James Stevenson Mayor of Peterborough, Mr. D. R. Murphy, Trenton. Mr. G. W. Ostrom, Mayor of Trenton, Mr. W. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, and Mr. Nelson Hesslip, Warden of Victoria.

A letter was read from Mr. J. L. Bartes, of Barrie, regretting his unavoidable absence; and urging strongly that the government should be pressed to carry out its pledge to the deputation of placing $350,000 in the estimates for the year.

A telegram from Mr. D. Kavanagh, Warden of Hastings, also regretted that he was prevented from attending. The following resolution was carried unanimously:

Mr. James Stevenson moved, seconded by G. W. Ostrom,—That the directors of the Trent Valley Canal Association request the members of the House of Commons for constituencies along the route of the canal and interested in its construction, viz., Messrs. Dalton McCarthy, M.P., R. Tyrwhitt, M.P., H. E. Cook, M.P., Wm. Mulock, M.P., A. P. Cockburn, M.P., H. A. Wood, M.P., W. E. O'Brien, M.P., J. R. Dundas, M.P., Hector Cameron, M.P., George Hilliard, M.P., John Barahaam, M.P., John White, M.P., Alexander Robertson, M.P., Hon. Mr. Bowell, M.P., Edward Cochrane, M.P., George Guillet, M.P., S. J. Dawson, M.P., A. Gunn, M.P., J. M. Platt, M.P., J. T. Curran, M.P., C. J. Coursal, M.P., M. H. Gualt, M.P., to make arrangements to wait in a body upon the Minister of Railway and Canals to remonstrate against any non-fulfilment of the promises made by the Minister to the delegation to Ottawa, and to press upon the Government to place in the supplemental estimates the amount promised to the delegation on that occasion, viz., $350,000, for the purpose of commencing new work in connection with the canal; and that a copy of this resolution be sent to each of the said members, with a request to report the result of their interview with the Minister to the Association.—Carried.

Col. Deacon, Mayor of Lindsay; J. B. Thompson, Reeve of Orillia; Mr. J. Carnegie and Mr. D. W. Dumble were added to the Board.

Mr. R. C. Strickland resigned the presidency on the ground of pressure on his time, having only accepted it for the purpose of organization.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson, Mayor of Peterborough, was appointed president.

Moved by Mr. Nelson Hesslip, seconded by Mr. G. W. Ostrom, that the Secretary be and is hereby requested to ascertain for the benefit of this association all data possible relative to the present position of the work and surveys of the Trent Valley Canal, particularly the latter, and if necessary, procure the valuable assistance of some member interested in this great canal scheme, to move the Government to bring down or furnish a full statement or report of the present position of the work on surveys as aforesaid.—Carried.

Mr. Strickland moved, seconded by Mr. Boyd, that the members of the Board arrange for a meeting in their respective localities during the summer months to have the benefits of the Trent Valley Canal duly laid before the public.

The meeting then adjourned.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

BY-LAW SCRUTINY.

On Friday, the 16th ult., His Honor Judge Weller held a court of inquiry in the council chamber on the late vote on the property by-law in Lakefield. The supporters of the by-law were represented by A. P. Poussette, Esq., while D. W. Dumble, Esq., looked after the interests of those who were opposed to it. The large number of ratepayers present indicated the interest taken in the proceedings. After hearing arguments for and against the scrutiny, His Honor decided that the Act only empowered him to make a recount of the ballots and returns of such scrutiny to the village council, and that he had no power to inquire into the legality of the votes taken or to order a revote. The ballot box was then opened and the ballots examined and recounted and found to correspond with the returns made to the council by the returning-officer. The question of costs was reserved.

OUT DOOR ARMY.

On Saturday afternoon there was a large demand for copies of the DAILY EXAMINER of the previous evening and many were the anxious inquiries of the young recruits who composed the "out door army," "Is my name in it?" and many a sigh of relief was heaved by the fair ones when it was found that no names were mentioned, while the unfortunate authors of the "interludes," whom the "cap fitted," were the subjects of untold chaff, which will act as a damper on such future escapades.

COUNCIL MEETING.

An adjourned meeting of the village council will be held next Monday evening in the Council chamber at 8 p.m.

FORESTERS.

The regular meeting of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C. O. F., will be held in the court room next Thursday evening, the 22nd inst. Election of officers.

Thanks to the delightful weather with which we have been favoured during the last week, the farmers have been able to begin operations and the plough and the seeder are to be seen at work in every direction. The fall wheat looks splendid, very little being winter killed. The roads are still very bad and require a warm rain to settle them and take the frost out.

LOOK OUT BELOW.

One day last week a report was circulated through the village that a large drive of logs and boom stuff, owned by Mr. Hilliard, (which had been wintered up in the lake) had broken loose and was coming down. Men were at once sent up and Mr. Hilliard telephoned. The men found the boom stuff loose in the lake, but the logs were still held by one mashing rope. Immediate steps were taken to secure the block and collect the timber. Had the one rope not held, the chances are there would have been a clean sweep made between here and the Little Lake.

A Journalist Answers Ingersoll.

A Few Extracts from "Nym Crinkle's" Lecture, "Skylarks and Daises."

(Special Correspondence.)

NEW YORK, April 19.—The latest and possibly the best antagonists whom Mr. Robert Ingersoll will have to meet in the future promises to be Mr. A. C. Wheeler, a New York journalist, who, as a dramatic critic and feuilletonist has long been known under the name "Nym Crinkle." In a lecture which he recently delivered, entitled, "Skylarks and Daises," he replied to Mr. Ingersoll's "Myths and Miracles." He commenced his lecture by stating his reason for it. He said he spoke not as one charged to defend the evangel, but as a man of the world, a man of the Nineteenth century, depending on the foundation of the civilization in which he was protected in life and in property, educated and freed. He did not question the sincerity of Mr. Ingersoll. He simply doubted that gentleman's omniscience. He simply believed that that gentle man's faith in himself and his own errors was sufficient to remove mountains. He quoted from the infidel's lecture on "Myths and Miracles" as follows:

A. C. WHEELER.

"All these old fellows were sun gods. There was Samson. He was a sun god. When his hair was cut off he lost his beams of light. There was Apollo, another sun god. He shot the demon of darkness with his rays of light. There was Little Red Riding Hood and there was Christ, another sun god. It won't do. They say he raised people from the dead. Well, why didn't he raise somebody we knew? If you was to go around trying to start a religion by raising people from the dead, you would raise somebody of, some importance, wouldn't you? Why didn't he tell us something of importance? Would't you? Why didn't he tell us something about slavery when he was on the cross? Why didn't he utter those inspired words, 'Liberty, equality and fraternity?' I tell you it won't do."

Mr. Wheeler simply burlesqued this to show its shallowness. He said that in another year, if agnosticism succeeded in getting up a class of pupils, this style would undoubtedly be adopted with effect by the infidel teacher. He could then say: "There was the Goddess of Liberty; she was a sun god. She shot the demon of bondage with her shaft and men worshipped her. There was a Hall Columbia and Uncle Sam, another sun god.

There was the man who struck Billy Patterson, and there was George Washington, another sun god. They said he was the father of a free country. Well, why didn't he abolish slavery, if he was? If you were going round trying to start a free country, you wouldn't own slaves, would you? Why didn't he tell us, in his farewell address, about Mormonism and rapid transit? Why didn't he utter those inspired words, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead"?

The effect of this satire of Mr. Ingersoll's method of mixing up historical and mythical personages was, to say the least, hilarious. He poured all his sarcasm upon Mr. Ingersoll's statement, made in one of his lectures, that he could write a better book than the Bible himself. "If," said he, "you can only get that sentence into the heads of the people they will never bother much with what Mr. Ingersoll thinks of the Bible. They will be too completely overwhelmed with what he thinks of himself." Mr. Wheeler's closing tribute to the spirit of Christianity was worthy of the best pulpit. It was fervid, pictorial, eloquent. He told what a newspaper man in the great metropolis, who had spent the greater part of his life in active journalism, knew about it. He spoke with earnest reverence of that Master whose mission opened with a benediction of peace and closed with a prayer for his own murderers, and then said:

"During twenty odd years of eventful toil in the great city I never found a depth of misery so deep, a poverty so rank, a crime so atrocious, a despair so black, that some humble follower of that Master did not find it out. Into all the holes and corners of wretchedness where vice and poverty, like twin wolves, had hunted down their prey, the policeman and the reporter always found the hooded sister or the missionary ahead of them. They were the first to come. They were the last to go. They stayed and put up their supplication when all else of earth had forsaken the wretch. They followed him to the prison cell, and they stood beside him on the gallows, and they never forgot in all the obloquy of sin and the cry of human vengeance the eternal brotherhood of man. And they wanted no pay, and they got no praise. They were doing that Master's work. True, it was 1800 years ago when He called them and bid them go out and bind up the broken hearts and dry the tears, and thus, with tender touches of tone, they carry out His mission; and in that time empires have fallen and races have become extinct, but these little streams have widened and deepened till they encircle our globe like its atmosphere and sweeten myriads of arid hearts"

These extracts will give an idea of the lecturer's style. In appearance Mr. Wheeler is a quiet gentleman of just 50 years. He speaks earnestly but with admirable control. His new departure is considerable of a surprise to his friends, who acknowledge him to be be the most brilliant of writers and considerable of a philosopher, though unaware before that he was an admirer of the meek and lowly Nazarene. The New Governor of Arizona.

The successor of Frederick A. Tritle as governor of Arizona is C. Meyer Zulick, of Newark, N. J. His term of office began in February last, but his confirmation was strenuously opposed by some members of the senate from the moment of its first announcement. A strong delegation went from Arizona to defeat the confirmation on the ground, it is claimed, that Arizonians believe in the doctrine of home rule and that Governor Zulick's way of doing business since he has assumed the duties of the office may do very well for the east, but they will not answer for the wild west. The salary attached to the office is but $3,000 a year. Yet ten times that amount has already been spent in efforts to prevent Governor Zulick drawing it.

C. MEYER ZULICK.

Personal.

Mr. A. E. Yelland, medical student at Trinity, has returned home from Smith's Falls, where he had charge of the smallpox hospital for six weeks. Of ten patients under his care, all but one, an infirm old man, have recovered. Mr. Yelland is in his fourth year in medicine, and his selection by the Provincial Board of Health for so important and responsible a mission, speaks volumes for the manner in which he has improved his time and opportunities, as the written document to that effect furnished by the Provincial Board shows.

At the time of going to press the case of Dobbin v. Dobbin was being heard.

Police Court.

The Bigamy Case Continued—Convincing Evidence Against the Prisoner—Joseph (John) Sent up for Trial at the Fall Assizes.

The Whiteman bigamy case was called at the police court this morning at 9 o'clock. All those immediately interested in the case, including the counsel for the Crown and the defence, were present. The witnesses who were expected to be present failed to put in an appearance, in consequence of which the court was adjourned till 11.30 a.m.

The Whiteman bigamy case was resumed at 11.30, the witnesses, Benjamin Yeomans, father of Mrs. Whiteman, and Mrs. Clark, a witness of the first marriage, having arrived on the 10.20 train, and being present in court, Mrs. McLennan, sister of Mrs. Whiteman No. 2, and several other relatives and friends were also present.

The first witness called was Mrs. Alice McLennan, of town.

Mrs. Alice McLennan, sworn.—I live in Peterborough; I am a sister of Whiteman's wife (nee Isabella White); I knew Whiteman before he married my sister; I did not know he was a married man; he told me he had five children; I supposed he was a widower; I did not know he was going to marry my sister; he was a stranger and stopped at my father's, in company with my husband, on the way back from the shanties; he was married to my sister several months before I heard of it.

Benjamin Yeomans, sworn.—I live in the township of Camden, near Enterprise: Mrs. Whiteman is my daughter; her maiden name was Annie Yeomans; she was married to Whiteman, the prisoner, at my house in Enterprise by Rev. John Bull; Mr. Ball is now dead, he died at Belleville; I was present at the ceremony; Mrs. Clarke, then Ellen Wagar, and Mr. and Mrs. Carswell, now of Montana, were also present and witnessed the ceremony; the rest of my family were there; I understood the banns were published in Enterprise church; they lived together as man and wife for about 18 years; residing in Camden most of the time; they had five children; I last saw the prisoner when he came for my daughter when she first left him at Madoc; she left him because he would not support her; Whiteman has not changed much since; (The witness walked over, placed his hand on Whiteman's head and took a searching look at his face); he has lost an eye since; there used to be a small red spot on the side of his face; it is there now.

To Mr. Sawers—He was not deformed; I did not read the evidence given by my daughter; this gentleman (pointing to Chief Cooper) spoke to me about the mark on the prisoner's face.

Ellenor Jane Clarke sworn.—I live near Enterprise; I know this woman, Annie Whiteman, formerly Annie Yeomans; I knew her before she was married; I was at her wedding; It was celebrated at her father's house, Camden; over twenty years ago; I was a young woman then; Rev. John Ball performed the ceremony; he is dead now; I would not swear that the prisoner is the Joseph Whiteman who married Annie Yeomans; I would recognize one side of his face, but the side without the eye I do not recognize; I did not keep track of them after their marriage; I saw four or five of their children. I recognize Anna Whiteman as Anna Yeomans who married Joseph Whiteman.

To Mr. Sawers—I do not remember ever hearing him preach; I never saw him in church; oh! I thought you meant the prisoner; (laughter)—Rev. John Bull was stationed at Newburgh and preached at Enterprise; I heard him preach at Enterprise.

This concluded the evidence.

The magistrate said the evidence was sufficient to send the prisoner up for trial. Ordinary proof of both marriages had been given and both women were alive and present. The evidence was sufficient without that of Mrs. Whiteman, which he did not take into consideration, and the prisoner was committed for trial at the Fall Assizes.

At the conclusion of the trial Mr. Yeomans asked the Magistrate for expenses, and was informed that the judge who tried the case would settle the matter, as he (the Magistrate) had no power to allow expenses.

The prisoner entered into a conversation with his favorite wife, maintaining his innocence and fidelity to her to the last.

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—The trade are respectfully requested to send in their orders without delay. S. DAVIS & SONS, Montreal and Toronto.

BRINGING ABOUT REBELLION

Mr. M. C. Cameron's Speech on Indian Affairs

Parliament granted $1,100,000 for Indian expenditure last year; Dewdney said it cost $458,000 to feed and clothe the Indians. What had become of the other?

AN ARMY OF OFFICIALS

received $92,000; the Tory press, from the Ottawa Citizen down to the Montreal Gazette, got $8,000; then there was the extravagant charge of $92,000 for agricultural implements, which he had already mentioned. The accounts contained some curious items; for instance, 90 cents for a silk handkerchief to J. Creighton; $36 for a magic lantern; two officers were paid $135 for superintending Indians while fishing. This was ridiculous, surely, when Indians knew more about fishing than Government officials and the Government to boot. For Venetian blinds for the Indian office at Regina $453 was charged. There was hardly a gentleman's house in Ottawa, or the Dominion for which Venetian blinds cost so much. In three years, $36,470 had been spent for oxen for Indians, and reports showed these oxen were in many cases old or disabled, and had to be replaced from year to year, the highest price being charged every time. Mr. Baker was paid $96 each for three waggons, whereas better waggons were bought under contract for $56. Dewdney was paid $4,000 as Lieut.-Governor, $3,000 as Chief Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and about $2,000 for travelling expenses; he had a house furnished him and other important perquisites, and yet charges were found for washing, for varnishing carriages, and other things of that kind. Also every year horses and waggons were bought, in one year five being bought. Bookboards were bought for from $90 to $125, and everybody who had been in the Northwest knew that a buckboard fit for any gentleman to travel in could be bought for from $40 to $60. For Indians under treaty No. 6 in three years $2,027 was spent.

FOR GARDEN SEEDS.

This sum was enough to buy seeds for every garden in the North-west and then leave enough to seed Ontario. (Cheers.) Supporters of the Government, in Parliament and out of Parliament, clamoured for the blood of Riel because he had incited the Indians to rise; Riel's act was the spark which lighted the train, but the explosive material was ready for that or any other spark. Rev. Mr. McLean, Methodist missionary among the Blood Indians near Fort McLeod, discussed the Indian question in the August number of The Canadian Methodist Magazine; he said some of the men employed had been given their places for political reasons, and were incompetent for their respective duties. Promises were frequently made by these officers on behalf of the Government

AND NEVER KEPT.

Millions of dollars yearly were voted by Parliament for Indians, but a prominent official had given authority for the statement that not more than one-fourth reached the Indians; the rest found its way into the hands of jobbers and middlemen. Archbishop Taché charged that some of the Government officials were revoltingly immoral. The Indians lost confidence in these officials. This massacres which had taken place were not without previous provocation, as two of those massacred had treated the Indians very harshly. The First Minister declared that Dewdney was one of the best officials he had ever appointed, but he (Mr. Cameron) took issue and declared him to be one of the worst and

MOST DANGEROUS OFFICIALS

ever entrusted with an important position in the North-west Territories. In his report as to what drove the Indians to take part in the rebellion, Dewdney said:—"The bands implicated in the rebellion were those of Ote Arrow, Beardy, Okemovis, and part of Pelequakeys in the Carlton district and the whole of the Indians in the Battleford and Fort Pitt districts, excepting Mocosmin's and part of Thunder Child's, the latter refusing to approach the rebel camps until starvation drove him and his following to do so. The Minister of Justice had declared that if the man who incited the Indians to revolt came to him and asked for mercy he would get justice. He (Mr. Cameron) agreed with that sentiment, but the Minister had power, and if he would deal out justice to those who, by mal-administration, had provoked the Indians to revolt he would be left alone on the treasury benches. (Loud cheers.) There was nothing the Government so much feared or dreaded as justice. They would get justice from the people when the people were next appealed to for judgment, and for his own part he looked forward with pleasure to that time. He concluded: Believing as I do, Mr. Speaker, the administration of this Government has been harsh and cruel; that many of the officers appointed to administer affairs in the Northwest are notably unfit for their positions, but are men of bad character and worse morals; believing that the Indian grants have been robbed for years' to the interests of officials of this Government and of middlemen; believing the Government have from year to year failed to investigate complaints made by the Indians, and have kept these incompetent, immoral men in public service; believing the Indians have been systematically and piecemeal robbed and cheated and swindled, and in many instances to death or starved; believing the recent uprising of Indians of the Northwest was the result of mal-administration and incompetency of this Administration; believing that the whole policy and conduct of the Government towards the Indians is, and will be fraught with danger, I move it be resolved that the administration of Indian affairs in Manitoba and Northwest Territory under the present Government, has been characterized by extravagance, mismanagement, incapacity and culpable neglect. (Loud and prolonged cheering.)

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hand-to-hand to it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and owning a pair ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two trusses I ordered made in York State, costing me $25. Nothing would retain my Rupture. * * I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. B. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every case; and 99 out of every 100 of adults. If your case don't warrant your sending us the money back, but send stamp for our trouble; it contains full information, your testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. LOVE

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

If he said "No," how dreary and flat all the rest of his life would seem to him! He would do nothing but spend it as hated in work that was most distasteful to himself and almost useless to others. Yet, he thought, he would remain with those who loved him, safe in the haven of home—Then the great gifts that Heaven had given to him stirred his soul, and he felt that he must go out into the world and use them. One voice, the voice of home and kindred, bade him stay, a thousand other voices urged him to go. On his decision the rest of his life depended. It seemed to his excited fancy as though the whole world of nature stood still while he decided on what he should do with his life.

"Stay!" cried home-love.

"Go!" cried the voices of pride and ambition; and the boy, listening to them said to himself that he would "go."

His parents said little when he announced his decision, his father's hands trembled slightly, and his mother's face paled.

"You have the right to please yourself, Vane," said the old farmer. "You are going to be a gentleman. To my mind the truest gentleman in the world is the one who honors the place where Heaven has placed him. You will never be a gentleman in my eyes if you live to be ashamed of your home and your kindred!"

"I never shall do that, father—never!" he answered proudly; while his mother looked at him with tender yearning in her eyes.

"For your own sake I am glad you are going," she said; "what my heart will be empty, Vane. I never knew how much I loved you, or how proud I was of you until now. I know you will never forget us."

So Vane Fraser had decided his fate, and resolved on trying his strength.

Gravely enough the farmer and his wife waited on Sir Raye, to tell him that their son had made up his mind to accept his offer.

"I think," said Sir Raye Vibart, "he has decided most wisely. Such great talent is given to be used."

At the same time the emotion in the old farmer's face and the quivering lips of the mother touched him with keen pity and compassion.

There was a great deal of silent grief during the next few days at the farm—There were no preparations to make; Sir Raye had told them that as they went through London he would get all Vane required. And they quite understood what he meant—that nothing they could get for him would be of any use.

If the farmer's face was clouded and his wife shed many tears, no one noticed it.—Desford, in his stolid, silent fashion, said nothing.

Kate was wildly excited because Vane was going to be a gentleman; the prospect seemed to open vistas of delight to her.

The summer morning came when Vane rose early and went to the mill-stream, to the beautiful banks of the river, to Holwood Forest, and round the meadows to say good-bye to each and all the lovely familiar spots he had known from his childhood. The time for his departure was come; and now he stood in a blaze of July sunlight, and bade good-bye to father and mother, sister and brother, kindred and home.

"You will be a gentleman when you come back, Vane," said Kate.

"Do not forget us," cried his mother—and there was a ring of passionate pain in her voice. "Come back to us my darling, as good and as true as you leave us."

"You must make your own way now, my boy," said the farmer. "I shall see what you are made when we meet again."

There was a mist as of blinding rain before Vane's eyes as the old homestead disappeared from his gaze, and he turned his face to the new world which awaited him.

CHAPTER IV.

"Welcome to Lulworth!" said Sir Raye Vibart. "I hope you will make your home here for many happy years."

The words were kind, and the boy's heart warmed to the speaker. One warm sultry evening in July the travelers had reached home. No surprise was expressed in Sir Raye's household when he brought home with him a youth who seemed to take the place of an adopted son. Sir Raye never did the same as other people. He was a genius; therefore it was impossible for him to marry and be happy, or to have a son; he must, just because he was a genius, love unhappily, and adopt some one else's child.

Lulworth was a "revelation" to Vane Fraser; he had never dreamed of such a place. It was a magnificent old country mansion with oaken floors, oriel windows, corridors as large as rooms, stately towers, ivy-clad turrets, and grand terraces that sloped down to gardens filled with flowers; a mansion with an old-fashioned charm about it, yet furnished with modern luxury; and this superb abode was henceforward to be the abode of the boy who had nothing to distinguish him save genius.—No wonder that he was a little dazed by his good fortune, and considered it a grand thing to be a genius.

Sir Raye was delighted with his protege. The boy was soon quite at home in the midst of his luxurious surroundings; by no word or gesture did he betray himself; he was quick and keen, and he waited always to see first what Sir Raye did at table, then he imitated him. Before a week had passed, Vane knew as much of table etiquette as though he had lived at Lulworth all his life; the consequence was that in no way did his behavior jar upon Sir Raye, who was one of the most fastidious of men.

Two pleasant rooms were set apart for Vane's use, and the privilege he valued most, a place in Sir Raye's studio, was given to him. He made wonderful progress, as his patron had foreseen; he had already, in his studies at home, mastered many of the rudiments of knowledge. After a few lessons and a little patient teaching from Sir Raye he became of the greatest assistance to his master. It pleased Sir Raye to see the thoughtful head bent over papers, plans, and designs of all kinds—Vane was so much like himself, so silent at his work, so absorbed in it, never interrupting it by an idle or careless word.

"You are more like a hermit at his devotions than a student at his lessons," said Sir Raye to him one day.

After a time he began to take keen delight in the work of his protege.

"Give me your notion, Vane, of a bridge that should span a river, with hills on either bank," he shew me something original in the shape of a pier that is to run half a mile out to sea." And, then with great delight he would examine the pupil's sketch.

"You will be more clever some day, Vane, than I have ever been," he said to him one morning.

"I shall owe everything to you, sir," was the grateful reply.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To all Wishing Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a number of articles of great merit, on the market. An article having a large sale, paying good profits, and which the people want to buy. We also offer each agent a large sale, paying profits, and which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all advantages in our favor, and the fact that it is an article that is sold to every householder, it should be to the interest of any one to make an engagement with us at once, as we intend to secure a large number of agents, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our inventions, but in their ability by any agent that will handle it, to make money. One agents now at work are making from $100 to $200 a month clear and this agent makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $60 in this time, AFTER ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like to take one or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $720 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, and would we if we did not know that we have agents how making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but few make a day which gives a profit of over $120 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those who wish to send to everyone out of complacency who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the spring season. Address work on the terms named in our correspondence offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and canvassers in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us address like same and interest will mean their honor. Address once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

Nominating a Councillor.

A public meeting will be held in the Council Chamber, Ashburnham, on Thursday, April 29th, at 12 o'clock, noon, for the purpose of nominating a candidate or candidates for the position of councillor, in the stead of the late Wm. Mills, Esq.,

Notice to Parents.

I have 50 pairs of Boys' Lace Boots that will be sold less than the cost. Men, now is the time to get your boots for your boys. All kinds of boots selling less than cost to make room for hand-made goods. JOHNSTON CAREY.

Contributions Solicited.

The lady managers of the Peterborough Protestant Home respectfully solicit contributions from the friends of the Home and the public, as they are entirely out of funds. Payable to Mrs. Vernon, President, or Mrs. Geo. A. Cox, Treasurer.

Dressmaking.

We are unusually busy in this department and our Miss Gilchrist is meeting with the utmost success as a dress and mantle maker. We recommend her with confidence to our patrons. R. FAIR.

Unseated.

A verdant equestrian was thrown from his steed yesterday afternoon, when leaving the Grand Central yard. The unseated rider was only severely shaken and slightly soiled by his fall. The horse was captured after a short run and returned to its stable.

A Dynamo for Brodie's Mill.

A twelve-light electric dynamo for Brodie's mill arrived in town yesterday afternoon from the Royal Electric Light Company's Works, Montreal. It is probable the machine will be set up in the mill and the lights placed during this week by Mr. W. A. Brown, Superintendent of the Peterborough Electric Light Works, and in future the mill will be supplied with light from this dynamo.

Market Items.

The market this morning was dull, notwithstanding the fine weather, the farmers probably preparing for spring work. Prices are about the same as last week, with the exception of butter, which has decreased in value. Quotations were:—Butter, 22 to 25c.; eggs, for shipment, 10c., for local consumption, 11c.; potatoes, 50 to 60c. per bag; parsnips and beets, 15c. per peck; carrots, 10c. per peck; turnips, 8c. per peck; cabbages, 5c. per head; green onions and lettuce, 5c. per bunch; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bag; hay, $12 per ton.

Yesterday's Funerals.

The Foresters of the local court attended in a body the funeral of the late George Wood, which took place from his father's residence, Weller street, yesterday afternoon, and proceeded to the Little Lake cemetery.

The funeral of the late John Ludgate, which took place from his late residence, Ashburnham, to the Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon, was largely attended by residents of the town and Ashburnham, there being over seventy vehicles in the procession.

The Peterborough Lodge of True Blues and the members of L. O. L., No. 49, and L. O. L. of Peterborough, and of the Nassau L. O. L. attended the funeral of the late Frederick Albert Campbell, of Nassau, a member of the society, marching in the order given above. The Fire Brigade band led the procession, playing the "Dead March" in Saul as it passed through the streets.

The Witnesses Did Not Arrive.

Benjamin Yeomans and David Yeomans, of Enterprise, father and brother of Mrs. Whiteman, and Mrs. Ellen Clarke, a witness of the marriage of Miss Yeomans to Whiteman, witnesses summoned in the Whiteman bigamy case, who, it was announced, would arrive in town last night, having left Belleville during the day, did not arrive, and, of course, did not put in an appearance at the police court this morning. Mrs. Whiteman, who was at the station when the train arrived last night, was very much disappointed at the absence and does not know what to think of it. In consequence of the absence of these witnesses, the police court was adjourned from 9 o'clock this morning till 11.30.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Gumpricht is in town for a few days. Orders may be left at Mr. T. Menzies Bookstore or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store.

Real Estate.

Late in the north end of the town; all prices and terms; money advanced to build. Bryans & Delaney, Real Estate Agents. Office, opposite Oriental hotel.

High Water.

The water in the back lakes was never higher at this time of the year than it is at present, and is up to the standard of the flood spring of 1870. The dam at Warsaw is dangerously strained and it would not be surprising to hear of considerable damage being done by too much of a good thing in the way of water, in different parts of the district.

Migratory Movements.

Mr. B. Elliott and party of four left town for Pierre, Dakota, yesterday morning.

Mr. J. Lockie left town yesterday for Brandon.

Mr. G. Hilliard, of Moosejaw, and Mr. Jas. Bryant, of Winnipeg, left town for their homes yesterday.

Mr. Alex. Elliott, of the C.P.R. Up-town Agency, ticketed the party, also supplying accident policies.

Pidgeon Creek Bridge.

Yesterday the joint committee composed of Messrs. Warden Kidd and Mr. Sanderson Reeve of Smith, representing Peterborough, and Messrs. Chas. Fairbairn Reeve of Verulam and T. A. McQuade, Reeve of Emily, for Victoria, went out to look over the Pidgeon Creek Bridge and after due inspection, let the contract for the necessary repairs to Mr. J. Flood of Eanismore, for $175. The repairs, which include the strengthening of the bridge, the adjusting of anchors and adding two passing places at broken points in the bridge, and general fitting up, are to be completed on or before the first of June. The committee furnish $98 worth of timber, anchor chains etc., The cost is equally divided between the two counties interested.

Scientific Photography.

Mr. G. B. Sproule has just executed a splendid specimen of photography, the portrait of a gentleman on the porcelain dial of a ladies' watch—about the size of a cent piece. The face of the picture can be covered by the head of a fair-sized pin, yet every feature is as distinct as a life-size oil painting, and the likeness is strikingly correct. This is something of which Mr. Sproule may be proud, there being no other place besides his in Canada where a similar picture can be taken. The process is Mr. Sproule's own, and the picture is warranted not to fade. Mr. Sproule is one of Canada's leading photographic artists. Combined with the true artistic instinct are a scientific knowledge of photographic processes and an intelligent striving after and attainment, too, of perpetual improvement in both processes and results.

A Fine Delivery Waggon.

Messrs. Porter Bros., the enterprising carriage builders, have just completed for Mr. H. Calcutt a remarkably fine delivery waggon. This waggon is provided with the tubular axle, which is a perfect wrought iron tube, made from the best brands of double refined iron by the most perfect machinery, giving the spindles the required taper and case-hardening them, making the strongest and most durable axle ever invented. Waggons fitted with them are both stronger and lighter of draught than the ordinary axle. The delivery waggon in question has besides the very best of wood work and is creditably finished throughout, the painting and lettering being something unusually artistic. While excelling in the general line of carriage building, Messrs. Porter Bros. enjoy a special pre-eminence in the manufacture of all kinds of delivery waggons, of which the beautiful vehicle turned out for Mr. Calcutt is palpable and material proof. Parties desiring thoroughly first-class vehicles of this kind cannot do better than place their order with Messrs. Porter Bros. Their work is characterized by strength, neatness, durability and promptness of execution.

Installation of Officers.

The installation of officers of Corinthian R. A. Chapter, No. 36, G. R. C., took place in the Masonic hall yesterday evening. R. E. Comp., E. H. D. Hall, assisted by M. E. Comp., C. D. McDonald; V. E. Comp., H. Rush; V. E. Comp., R. H. Green, and E. Comp., W. Paterson, jr., I. P. Z., installed and invested the following officers:—

"ARMADALE MISSION, Mississauga's Reserve, Nov. 10th.

I am happy to let you know we received the cases. The day after we received the goods we brought in all the pupils and gave what each required. I just wished that even one of our Christian ladies were here to see how happy each child looked as they thanked us and went away. I have some of the girls knitting, and they seem quite delighted with the change. They are always pleased to have anything extra to do.

CHRISTIE B. MACKAY."

"BIRD TAIL, Sioux Reserve, Dec. 3rd.

I am sure the ladies who have gone to so much trouble for our poor people would be amply repaid could they see our congregation in the new church on Sundays, looking so happy and comfortable. You will be glad to hear that all the wool sent has been made into mitts, etc., by the Indians; they are very proud of them, and often ask me if they are not well made.

J. G. BURGESS."

"BIRD TAIL, Sioux Reserve, Jan. 13, '86.

The Indians of this reserve desire me to tell you that they are very grateful to the ladies of your society for their most valuable gift of clothing. Money has been very scarce this year, and we thought we were going to be very badly off, but now we are well clad and comfortable. We are very glad to see the bundles of yarn; our women have been very busy making mits and socks, and now almost every one has a pair and we feel very proud of them. We would also like to tell you, that should there be any more fighting among our people and the "whites," we shall remain loyal at all costs; we would die on the white side. * * * Next year if you think of sending us anything, we shall be very glad of some dolls and pictures. * * * There is one thing we would like to say to our white sisters. If they like to help us next year, we would like to send them the number of our people on the reserve, as perhaps it would be easier to fit them with clothes. We have one man called "Cankagg," or "Big Log," he weighs 230 pounds and nothing is big enough for him. Another man is very tall and comes too far through his clothes. Then we have many big women.

We remain your very grateful friends,
(Signed for the Indians,)
CHIEF ENOCH MALIPPE-A-HADINOPE."

"PIAPOT'S RESERVE, Feb. 6, '86.

I must say that the clothing is going to be a great benefit to the Indians, as there are a great many old widows and orphans on this reserve.

McKINNON,
Farm Instructor."

"ASSINIBOINE AGENCY, Indian Head, Feb. 5th, 1886.

I received five boxes of clothing, also one bale. The articles were suitable and had been well packed. I had no additional expense, the Indians themselves being only too glad to freight them from the railway station. I think I may say this has been the most comfortable winter that these Indians ever experienced in their lives, being well and sufficiently clad.

—. GRANT,
Acting Indian Agent."

"BROADVIEW, Feb. 14th, 1886.

The W. F. M. S. have sent us much this winter; they have clothed many a poor, shivering body; and if they could hear the expressions of gratitude that we have heard, they would never regret that they had engaged in this good work.

H. McKAY."

"The warm quilts and blankets sent by several societies have been much appreciated, as they have helped to cover the little beds of Indian children, whom the missionaries have taken in to provide for and shelter.

CLARA HAULTAIN,
Sec. St. Paul's Auxiliary."

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—The trade are respectfully requested to send in their orders without delay. S. DAVIS & SONS, Montreal and Toronto.

In the Imperial Parliament.

Where Gladstone Makes His Great Speech on the Irish Question.

Next to the American civil war, the settlement of Ireland's troubles is the most important history that has been made in the last half of the Nineteenth century—if they are settled, that is to say. Every lover of civilization and progress is hoping that they may be, and that they may be decided as Ireland wants them to be.

Nothing is more remarkable than the change which has taken place; both in Great Britain and America, in the sentiment on the Irish question. Home rule for the unhappy Island was an idea occupied with darkness by all but a handful of dreamers and malcontents twenty years ago. "Solid" Americans and Englishmen alike ridiculed it.

But the Irish began to come over to America by the thousands. Shiploads after shipload of them, exiles from their native isle, landed at Castle Garden and scattered themselves throughout the length and breadth of the republic.

Along with him he brought his love for the old country, the hapless mother land. He thrived and begat children by the half score. To every one of these he gave as a sacred trust the love of Ireland and the remembrance of her wrongs. These children in turn thrived. They got education and money in this free land. They became lawyers, editors, congressmen, high officials and millionaires, and they multiplied. How they did multiply and increase! And every one of them to a man, and every daughter among the women cherished still the remembrance of old Ireland and her wrongs. Behold! Almost before anybody knew it there was a new Ireland in America—rich, united and strong. It became an element that no political aspirant dared ignore. Then at last the "solid" Americans themselves began to see that Ireland had wrongs and it suddenly became clear to the soldiest that the Green Isle ought to have her own sayso about her own affairs.

So the change came about. It came about the same way in Great Britain.

The Irish element, united under intelligent leadership, became too strong to be ignored.

GLADSTONE RISES TO SPEAK.

Those who have followed English politics have watched Gladstone gradually growing to the occasion. Year by year the course of natural statesmanlike development has brought him to the lofty plane whence the other day he looked benignantly down on his fellow countrymen and proposed home rule for Ireland.

He is the most splendid figure in European statesmanship to-day. If he carry home rule for Ireland, he will be the grandest figure in Europe in the Nineteenth century. Bismarck cemented a nation with blood and iron, but Gladstone will have freed a people by the divine arts of peace. It is better, far better, to be Gladstone than Bismarck.

Undoubtedly the greatest day of the premier's life will be that on which he introduced his bill for home rule for Ireland. They say there never was heard such cheering in the house of commons in all the centuries as when he arose to introduce his bill. It was so tremendous that it disconcerted him little, and he paled before it when he first arose.

Very different is the English house of commons from our American house of representatives at Washington, and the difference is not in favor of the British organization either. For one thing, an English member has no particular seat through the season. It is first come, first served. A member may preserve a seat to himself for one night by putting his card into a little brass receptacle at the back of a chair. He may also secure a squatter's claim by placing his hat upon a chair beforehand. This is called "hatting," and is very common. But it must be the hat which the member wears for the day; consequently he is obliged to walk around bareheaded while his hat guards his seat.

GLADSTONE SPEAKING.

Our American congress begins its sessions at 12 noon, which is a very decent hour. The English parliament does not commence until 4, public business at 4:30.

The sessions are therefore prolonged far into the night. Both this suits the habit of living for which the English are so famous. Mr. Gladstone began speaking on his home rule measure at 4:30, and kept it up three hours.

Another feature of the British house which an American will not like is the difficulty of getting into it. Strangers must be invited by a member, and have a ticket to show the police that line the doorways and corridors, before he can get inside. But there is only room for 200 in the strangers' gallery. There are often 1,000 applicants. Visitors' names must, therefore, be balloted for, and this must be done a week inland of the proposed visit, so long is the list of persons applying.

The present parliament house is upon the site of an old one which dated back to the time of Edward VI. The visitors' entrance to both the lords and commons is through a beautiful long marble gallery called St. Stephen's hall. The legal duration of one parliament is seven years. More here of both houses sit in session with their hats on. This is an old custom and a bad one.

Cake Walk at Congoville.

One of the amusements peculiar to fashionable colored society is the cake walk. Ladies and gentlemen in couples promenade up and down and around a vacant floor in a circle. The prize for the most fashionable, performed specially for the occasion by a dandy-silkened couple. There are likewise many promenade, most valuable than the cake. Sums of $25, $15, $10 and $5 are variously distributed according to the grace and agility of the high steppers in the race—first, second, third or fourth class. There are four judges, usually white gentlemen, six or eleven in the center of the room, observe the gait of the belles and beaux, and decide on it. The couple that walks with most dignity and elegance takes the cake. All the walkers must be dressed in the extreme of fashion and good clothes. This is an absolute requirement.

Colored society pays much more attention to its waist, if not to its conversation, than white folks do. The cake walk is especially the mode with hotel waiters, who comprise the most fashionable and aristocratic wing of colored society everywhere. In summer the competitions take place at watering place resorts; in winter, at large hotels and club houses in the city.

THEY TAKE THE CAKE.

"Does yo' see me, does my boy Toussaint L'Ouverture Johnsing, know what a cake walk is?" says Bver Jones. "Ax Toussaint's grandad if he knows what 'possum fat is?"

But in Congoville the colored population have a club house all their own. They are advancing rapidly in civilization. They dedicated the club house with the most brilliant cake walk on record. All the wealth and beauty of Congoville were there. There were four prizes and ten couples competing for them. Toussaint L'Ouverture Johnsing's shirt front was blazed with the unspeakable glare of a $3 diamond. Miss Arethusa Simpkinson walked with him. She wore a cream colored satin, brocaded with hearts, and Turkey red embroidered silk stockings. Miss Aredonia Golladay, an exquisite octoroon, wore brown satin, with an aigrette of pink feathers in her bonnet. Ciel blue silk stockings. The ladies' bustles had the true V avenue wobble. Mr. Eugene Swalladay was Miss Aredonia's companion. He wore a shirt front and canary-colored kids.

The couples glided around to the melting strains of the air "Am I not fondly thine own?" performed by the colored string band. The erectness of gait, the turning out of the toes, the swelling of the chests, the cocking of the chins in the air formed a picture of esthetic beauty that lingers in the memory like a dream. The bewildering glare of the shirt fronts added not a little to the scene. Miss Arethusa Simpkinson was a beautiful brunette. Aredonia Golladay and Mr. Eugene Swalladay would have taken the cake only for one little matter. They walked the premium, but they could not take it. Alas! Mr. Swalladay did not wear a swallow-tail coat, but a Prince Albert. He was not therefore in full dress, and had to be ruled out. The requirements of society are strict.

The cake consequently fell to the next best couple, who were Miss Simpkinson and Mr. Johnsing, the pair in the picture. The lithe, rythmic swing of their hip joints and elbows, has been caught by our artist on the spot with lifelike fidelity.

A prize of a frosted cake was also given for the most complicated walk. One who has seen the shines and didoes cut by a colored waiter entering a dining room with a loaded tray in his hands will understand what that means. It takes years to learn even the in and out elbow motion. Complicated! Rather. Mr. Alonzo Thompking took the prize for complicated walking. He spread himself out over half the room, till he looked a combination of parabolic curves and clockwork. He fetched the frosted cake amid the cheers of the multitude, while the eyes of his rivals stuck out with envy.

College Closing Exercises.

The closing exercises in connection with the Peterborough Business College will be held in the college lecture room this evening, during which the graduating students will be presented with their diplomas. It is expected that Principal Grant, of Queen's University, and other prominent educators will be present and take part in the exercises.

Hardened Her Heart.

Mrs. Whiteman, in conversation with an EXAMINER reporter last night, stated that when she heard that her recreant spouse had been captured, her heart went out toward him and she would have freely forgiven him if he had repented and gone back to the first love of his heart. But when he denied her in the jail, the love springs of her heart changed to hatred, and she would not now replace him in her affections on any conditions.

Beautifying the Separate School Grounds.

Yesterday was an arbor day for the Separate school grounds, a large number of young trees having been planted, under the supervision of Rev. Father Conway, who takes an active interest in beautifying the grounds, as well as in promoting the interests of the school. A double row of healthy maple trees were placed in position around the grounds at a distance of about thirty feet apart, forming an avenue, about twelve feet wide. The country friends of the school supplied the trees, which appear to be a particularly fine lot. During the summer the school grounds will be levelled off, which, with the addition of these trees, will greatly enhance their beauty.

Bridgenorth.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. W. B. Kelly is repairing and repainting his stepping, the Bells Pub, for service on Chemong Lake. The repair is a thorough one for pleasure parties and excursionists, and, as Mr. Kelly has a score in connection with it, I hope these advantages will lead to many happy and pleasing events during the coming season.

Mr. M. S. Dunn has been putting some more new machinery into Mr. Gold's mill. Mr. Dunn is bound to have a first-class mill in all respects. Bridgenorth for enterprise!

"In the spring a fuller crimson comes upon the robin's breast,
In the spring the wanton lapwing gets himself another crest."

This may all be very true of the birds, but I think if the last line had been rendered "In the spring frost-bitten mankind," etc., we in Bridgenorth would feel that the lines are more applicable to us. But I suppose man is too proud an animal to have such lines connect in connection with his nature. Nevertheless that does not prevent us from changing our crests, a change which has been made necessary this last week by the enquiring glances which "Old Sol" has been kind enough to dart in our direction. Caps and other head gear of non-shading qualities have been discarded and in their place appear the more congenial broad-brimmed articles, both straw and felt.

The ice has not left the lake yet, but it seems to be pretty well decayed.

Broom & Blain's Handsome and Commodious Premises in the New Crystal Block.

The business of Mr. D. Broom, who is long and favorably known to the Peterborough public, having carried on business in town for the past fourteen years with marked success, has assumed such proportions that he has been compelled to take into partnership an active business man, in the person of Mr. W. G. Bain, lately of Toronto. The increasing business has outgrown Mr. Broom's late premises and the firm has secured and taken possession of the new and handsome four-story Crystal Block, with the exception of the premises occupied by Mr. H. S. Griffin, on the ground floor. The premises, in addition to being one of the most commodious and handsome business places in town, has been built with the latest architectural improvements and with particular attention to convenience. The fronts of the first and second flats are almost entirely of plate glass, from which peculiarity the block derives the name of "crystal." Above the usual crystal plates are head lights of skillfully executed imitations of stained glass, consisting of the application of a peculiar translucent material called glacine. They are the handiwork of Mr. H. W. Watson, the designs and disposition of the material being his, and great credit is due him for the artistic manner in which he has treated the different lights, nearly every one being a different design.

THE GROUND FLOOR,

which will be used as a sale room, will be particularly neat and attractive. On either side extensive shelving accommodation is afforded, the woodwork of which is grained a beautiful mahogany, the whole being capped by an elaborate cornice. Each section of the shelving is provided with a plate glass, movable front, which, while displaying the goods to advantage, will protect them from dust. A suitable counter graces the southern side of the shop, giving the room a business air. The walls are wainscotted with oiled and finished ash, while the ceiling is panneled with the same material, giving the apartment a highly artistic appearance. Near the rear of the room a small office is partioned off, the woodwork of which is in harmony with the rest. In the south-west corner a Tenson hoist of the most modern construction with complete apparatus, having a surface of about 4x6 feet, joins the cellar with the third flat. The hoist will greatly facilitate the handling of stoves and heavy articles. In addition to the hoist a wide and handsomely railed stairway, with landing midway, leads to the upper stories.

THE SECOND FLAT,

including that portion over H. S. Griffin & Co's store, is a show room for the very fine stock of stoves, mantels and grates, which the firm will carry. Having secured the exclusive sale in town of the stoves manufactured by the Powell & Jones Company, of Peterborough, they will make a specialty of these goods, which cannot be excelled. Also carrying a full stock of other makes, in consequence of which purchasers will have as large a stock to select from as at any wholesale room in the country. The firm having also made special arrangements with Messrs. Ewing & Co., of Toronto, for their celebrated mantels, will keep a large stock of them on exhibit. This flat, which is practically one room, has also a plate glass front, being lighted by four immense sheets of plate glass, with stained glass head lights, similar to those of the ground floor. The walls of this room are also wainscotted with oiled ash, while the ceiling is panelled with pine painted white. It is calculated when this elegant apartment is stocked with handsome stoves, mantels and grates, enhanced with burnished metals, plating, etc., it will be as attractive as a millinery show room on the occasion of a spring opening.

THE THIRD FLAT

will be used as the workshop, and is most completely equipped with all the modern machinery and appliances required in the trade, and is one of the largest and best appointed workshops of the kind in this district. The front windows of this apartment are also of plate glass, but not as large as those of the first and second flats. The fourth flat will be used as a storeroom for light articles.

THE BASEMENT.

It is the intention of the firm to carry an exceptionally fine stock of stoves, housefurnishing hardware, cutlery, tinware, woodenware, brushes, etc., lamp goods, American and Canadian oils, besides carrying on the tinsmithing in all its branches, gas fitting, plumbing, etc. Mr. Broom will personally superintend the mechanical department, devoting his whole time and attention to it, which is a sufficient guarantee that all work turned out will be of the highest class. Mr. Bain will assume the entire business management, and being a man of energy and experience, will no doubt materially assist in further building up the business of the firm.

THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1886.

A NATIONAL JUNKETTING PROPOSAL.

Mr. Tasse, the exotic representative of Ottawa, has a big head, which has evolved a big scheme, that is, a national pow-wow at the expense of the taxpayers to celebrate the completion and opening of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Hamilton Times thus pertinently, sensibly, moralises on Mr. Tasse's bid for a life dead-head pass on the people's transcontinental railway:

"No doubt the occasion is worth celebrating. But we would like to see the Canadian Pacific Company to the fore in this matter. The celebration will be a merry-making and an advertisement. The merry-making can only be enjoyed by the merest fraction of the people of Canada, and it is not fair that those who cannot take part in it should have to pay for the fun of those who can. The advertisement will redound to the profit of the proprietors of the road. Therefore the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and not the people of Canada, should foot the bill. When the people of Canada become well assured that they will not be asked to pay any more money on Pacific Railway account, they will not require a proclamation from the Governor-General, nor a resolution in Parliament, to induce them to give thanks. The Canadian Pacific has cost the people, directly and indirectly, considerably more than one hundred million dollars—more than $20 for each man, woman and child in the country, and the "last calls" have been so frequently repeated that no one can tell how many more of them it is safe to expect. The people are weary of subscribing. They want a period of rest, in which they can apply their earnings to their own use and gradually reduce their public and private indebtedness. They are in no mood for celebrations or jamborees at heir own expense. They see how the people of the United States, after a long and exhaustive war, have paid their current public expenses and reduced their public debt, until the prospect of wiping out the whole of it is good. England, too, has been reducing her debt. But Canada, which has not had any great wars in which to waste wealth, has been heaping up mountains of debt without any thought of the hereafter. It is time to call a halt. It is time to scrutinize the big and the little items of public expenditure. What encouragement is there for a man to work and save for himself and his family, if the Government is going to levy heavy toll on his present earnings? Let the Canadian Pacific Company indulge in as many festivities as it can afford or enjoy. But let the people's money be applied only for the people's good."

Apropos of all this, when is the railway to be really completed? In his Opera House speech, Hon. Thos. White, in a triumphant burst of stagey spread-eagleism, gave his hearers to understand that the C.P.R., from ocean to ocean, was an accomplished fact, when, as a matter of fact, there was a gap of sufficient magnitude to involve an expenditure of millions. It might not be impertinent to enquire what "political exigency" made it necessary for the Hon. Minister of the Interior to convey the misleading impression his hearers received from his words.
